"SOCIETY NOTES"

S.K.G.S. presently has three projects underway: (1) a book of Family Bible Records, (2) a Surname Index, (3) a new edition of Five Generation Charts. We will need every member's help and contributions in order to bring these fruits to bear. Please see the following two pages concerning the Surname Index and Family Bible Records.

At the past meeting of the S.K.G.S. Executive Board, a decision was made to compile and publish a new edition of Five Generation Family Charts (to be contributed by members of the Society). The chairman of this committee will also accept family group sheets. Please send your family charts to the address on cover and mark "Attention: Chairman of Chart Book." Our previously published book of Five Generation Charts has sold nationwide. It appears to be an excellent means of making contact with persons working on common genealogical lines.

At the April meeting of S.K.G.S., Ronald A. Bremer, author of Compendium of Historical Sources, Editor of the Roots Digest Magazine, and Professional Genealogist, was the guest speaker. Since everyone enjoyed his informative presentation so very much, plans are underway for a seminar in late summer or early fall with Mr. Bremer as guest lecturer. Members will be informed of this event as soon as plans are finalized.

"Marine Hero of Tripoli Lies in Kentucky Grave"

Reprinted from The Courier-Journal
November 3, 1957

Frankfort, Ky.: On a small knoll in Frankfort Cemetery--overlooking the graves of vice-presidents, senators, governors, artists, and scores of Kentucky patriots who fell in war against the wilderness and foreign aggressors--stands the simple stone marking the grave of Marine Corps Lt. Presley Neville O'Bannon, "The Hero of Derne.

In 1805, O'Bannon, leading seven Marines and a group of recruited mercenaries, started from Egypt on a 600-mile trek across the Desert of Barca to the stronghold of Tripoli, the sanctuary of renegades who looted American ships in the waters off the North African coast.

After the capture of Derne, the chief fortress of Tripoli, O'Bannon personally lowered the Tripolitan flag and hoisted the Stars and Stripes for the first time on foreign soil.

The new ruler of the captured nation presented the Marine lieutenant with his own jeweled sword. Today Marine officers still carry similar swords, commemorating the corps' service during this campaign.

The actions of O'Bannon and his men are remembered in the Marine Corps hymn with the words, "To the shores of Tripoli." These same words were also inscribed across the top of the first standard adopted by the corps.

After his separation from service, O'Bannon came to Kentucky, where his brother, Maj. John O'Bannon, was living. Shortly after his arrival, he was elected by the people of Logan County to represent them in the State Legislature from 1812 until 1820.

At O'Bannon's death in 1850, he was buried in Henry County. In 1919, through the efforts of the Daughters of The American Revolution, his body was moved to Frankfort Cemetery.

Surname Index

The Southern Kentucky Genealogical Society is now in the process of compiling a SURNAME INDEX. This will be a listing of the Society's members, complete with address & phone number, and the surnames which they are researching. Its purpose is to enable people who are researching the same lines to make contact and perhaps share information. Upon completion, the entire INDEX will be made available at a modest fee to S.K.G.S. members.

To be included in the INDEX, please complete the following form as soon as possible and mail to:

"LET'S HAVE A FAMILY REUNION"

A family reunion can be a memorable event--good food, renewing friendships, finding long-lost cousins, games for children, sharing genealogical information. On the other hand, a family reunion can be turned into a disaster by a simple, unprepared for, summer rain storm or other unforseen incident. The following tips are offered by various S.K.G.S. members for planning a more successful family gathering.

DATE Establish a date for the reunion as early as possible so that out-of-town guests can work the date into their vacation plans. It is generally agreed that Memorial Day, 4th of July, or Labor Day are not the best times--one reason being too much traffic on the roads. You might wish to set a fixed date for an annual reunion, such as first Saturday & Sunday in August.

ATTENDANCE Try to establish a general idea of expected attendance and age groups. Reunions are sometimes held with only a small number in attendance or with several hundred people. For a large reunion, do not try to do everything yourself. Place various people in charge of food, entertainment, program, games for children, registering guests, advertising the event, family memorabilia, etc.

LOCATION Hold reunion as close to where family originated as facilities will permit. Consider using State park, school gym, church building and grounds, public picnic area, camp grounds, motel (especially if most everyone will be coming from out of town). In considering facilities, always plan for the unexpected rain storm. Parks usually have shelters. Reserve facility well in advance. Will parking be a problem? Are there ample restroom facilities, electricity, water supply? Picnic tables? Seating? Picnic grounds and camp areas usually have playground equipment which the children will enjoy. A real plus for using a motel is the availability of a swimming pool--nice when the event is held over a two-day period.

FOOD Local people will usually bring enough food for themselves and others too, but out-of-town people also sometimes bring food. As a rule, food is not a problem and no expense to one's setting up an event. Out-of-town guests might be asked to bring paper cups, plates, or napkins, rather than food. If the reunion is held at a motel, guests might wish to purchase "family-size" dinners from one of the various quick-service restaurants, and travel to a public park for an outdoor picnic.

EVENTS Plan a program for all times during day/days but remain flexible; keep it structured but with the appearance of informality. Have a good public-address system on the scene as family reunions have a way of becoming very talkative events--you will need to get their attention at various times.

ENTERTAINMENT By all means, do not forget the children! Make it an especially fun day for them. Send them home with a warm feeling and good memories of "our family." Put someone or several people in charge of entertaining the little ones. Consider dividing into two teams, give each team the name of an Indian tribe, compete in various contests such as sack racing, three-legged racing, wheelbarrow racing, or circle games. As a rule, the "old-time" games will get the adults involved and thus the children become better acquainted with their older cousins.

Senior family members will probably enjoy more stationary games such as a game of horseshoes, croquet, or charades (could pantomime a legendary family character or act out a past family event). Music can be furnished by families themselves--sing along, family songs, preferably old songs that they know and that mean something to them, songs with local flavor. Children always enjoy learning the old-time way of "lining a song."

FAMILY MEMORABILIA Include in exhibits photo albums (label each picture), obituary notices, news items, deeds, copies of wills. One suggestion is that pictures be placed on an old-fashioned clothes line--any novel idea such as this. You may wish to have genealogy forms on hand or even a copy machine.

STARTING TIME Set up for 9:00 A.M. Saturday. Do not make the mistake of placing too much emphasis on the meal. People eat everyday--the idea today is to renew acquaintances, share good friendship and to strengthen family ties. Most families will want to offer a blessing before the meal--ask someone ahead of time to do this. Also, before the meal, advise guests of any formal program which might be scheduled after the meal. If need be, a nice door prize to be given away at day's end will help to keep people from leaving immediately after the meal.

GREETERS Have official greeters--people who can make guests feel at home and help them to find their way around. Have each guest register as he or she comes on the site. Furnish each guest with a name tag, perhaps with different color ribbons to designate various branches of the family. Display genealogical charts and encourage each guest to fill out one and/or have 3X5 cards to complete with name, address, phone number, branch of family, who they married, etc.

Another excellent idea is to have a large family chart mounted on a wall with lines running to each branch of the family. Then give each guest an extra name tag or sticker of some sort to mount on the chart beside his/her branch.

PROGRAM Have a family roll call and have those attending give information on those who could not attend. You might wish to give special recognition to certain family members such as oldest, youngest, one who came from farthest away, one who has the most children, young people in armed services or college, newlyweds, recent deaths, etc.

You might wish to briefly mention those who wrote but were unable to attend (prepare a summary of their remarks and/or make letters available on display table).

Ask someone to prepare and deliver a general over-view history of the family, oriented toward younger members of the family, which basically relates those things which the family has traditionally stood for.

It can be fun and interesting for the older adults to bring a toy, clothing or other item from their childhood and tell a brief story concerning the item.

You might consider collecting a love offering for family members who have suffered a special disaster or extreme illness during the year.

TOURS If possible, you may wish to organize trips (by vans, bus, or even hiking) to family cemeteries, homesites, old schools, etc. Try to arrange the transportation so that the group will be kept together. Make sure persons who know the area are in charge of driving vehicles. A good narrator (equipped with a portable microphone) will make all the difference in making these type outings successful.

EXPENSES You may wish to create a family newsletter. If so, you will need to charge a modest figure for annual dues. Otherwise, you may wish to "pass the hat" or ask for contributions to cover the cost of postage, renting facility, printing material, etc.

It certainly sounds like a lot of work and preplanning! And it is--but well worth the effort. A good family reunion can redefine one's sense of place and, like a good country revival, it can strengthen the soul. But first of all, someone must take the initiative and say, "Let's have a family reunion!"

(Material for this article was gathered by S.K.G.S. member, Chester Bays.)

DONOHO REUNION

The DONOHO family reunion will be held the second weekend of June each year (June 8-9, 1985), at the Donoho Hotel in Red Boiling Springs, Tennessee.

Edith Walsh, owner-operator of the hotel will need reservations made for meals or rooms. Her phone is 615-699-3141 and the address is Donoho Hotel, Red Boiling Spring, Tennessee 37150. Be sure to let her know you are attending the Donoho Reunion.

For further information please contact Ramona Hewitt Bobbitt, 2718 Smallhouse Road, Bowling Green, KY 42101, Phone 501-843-6918.

Glasgow Junction reunion

Plans are being made to have a Glasgow Junction High School reunion Friday, June 7. This reunion is for any person who attended high school in the old frame building at Glasgow Junction (Park City), Ky.

For more information, please contact Gertrude H. Bloniarczyk, Route 2, Cave City, Ky. 42127; Marilouise Chamberlain, Route 2, Glasgow, Ky. 42141; or the undersigned.

SKETCHES OF SOME EARLY WARREN COUNTY CITIZENS

by E. G. Dent

The following interesting sketches of some early citizens of Warren County, Kentucky, were composed by the late E. G. Dent of Bowling Green, in the early 1900's. We thank S.K.G.S. member Neel Jackson, who remembers Mr. Dent, for sharing these sketches with THE LONG-HUNTER audience.

Major John Loving

Came to Warren County from Nelson County, Virginia, in 1810. Gave to the trustees of the town of Bowling Green the old Cemetery on College Street where sleep many of the early settlers of Bowling Green. Was a large landowner. Was highly educated and taught the neighbor boys the classics. On his tomb is this inscription, "He was a scholar and a gentleman."

John J. Valentine

Born in Bowling Green, Kentucky. Began his career with Younglove's Drug Store. Started in the express business at said store. Went West and rose to be president and general manager, Wells-Fargo Company. A man of broad affairs, wide learning, big heart, great ability, who forever carried with him the love of his native city. He was a world's authority on the output of precious metals.

John C. Underwood

Son of Joseph R. Underwood. Was educated as a civil engineer and while mayor of the City of Bowling Green he brought to the discharge of his duties his engineering knowledge and transformed Bowling Green from a country village into a progressive, wide-awake little city. Moved the Court House from the Public Square and established Fountain Park, and the beautiful park in the heart of the city is his monument.

Joseph Rogers Underwood

One of the greatest lawyers Kentucky ever produced. Congressman and United States Senator and the grandfather of Hon. Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, present Democratic leader of the Senate. Was Chief Justice of Kentucky.

Thomas Stephens

One of the pioneers of Warren County. A large landowner and one of the contractors on Brown's Lock. Made seventeen trips by flatboat from Bowling Green to New Orleans and walked home from New Orleans seventeen times. Was on the Mississippi River in 1812 when an earthquake formed Reel Foot Lake and caused his flatboat to run up stream twelve miles.

James Rumsey Skiles

Born 1800. Built the world's first horse railroad. Built first flour mill of Warren County. Represented Warren in General Assembly. Father of slack water navigation on Green and Barren Rivers. Spent a large fortune in various public enterprises. Was a grandson of James Rumsey who built the first steamboat for which Fulton received the credit.

Dr. T. B. Wright

Born in Warren County in 1806. Educated at Transylvania University. A doctor of the "Old School." Practiced his profession successfully for forty years. Under his direction, management and superintendence the Water Works System of Bowling Green was installed and through his foresight Reservoir Park was extablished. He also served a term of mayor of the city.

Major Robert W. Ogden

Born in Loudoun County, Virginia, in 1796. Died in Warren County, Kentucky, November 18, 1873. Founder of Ogden College. By his munificent donation to Warren County and the state at large in the interest of Education he has proven himself a public benefactor and erected for himself in the hearts of a grateful people an imperishable monument.

Robert Craddock

Born in Virginia. Died in 1837. A Revolutionary soldier, a large land and slave owner. In his will he freed his slaves leaving each of them a part of his property and established the Craddock school fund, the income from which has been used by Warren County for more than eighty years in the purchase of school books for indigent children. He was a bachelor and his campanion an educated Frenchman named Tardevieil. They were both buried on his old home place, but Craddock's remains now rest in Fairview Cemetery.

David Chapman

Born in Warren County, Kentucky, October 25, 1791. He was born in the Fort at McFadden's Station which was located at the mouth of Drake's Creek on what is now known as the Walter Phillips farm. He was the first White child born in Kentucky south of Green River. He lived to the ripe old age of ninety-three years.

Pleasant J. Potter

A large landowner of Warren County and who contributed to the establishment of Potter College, which bore his name.

Mrs. Mary K. Jones

Who for more than thirty-five years conducted a young ladies' seminary in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church, corner of State and Tenth Streets. At this institution a great many Warren County women were educated. She was a teacher of rare ability and those of her students who are now living tenderly rever her memory.

Sister Angelica

Was for many years the Sister Superior of St. Columbia's Academy. The refinement and gentleness of this woman coupled with the broad education and artistic ability contributed largely to the success of this institution which for so many years assisted in the education and development of Bowling Green and its vicinity. This institution was located where the High School now stands. The sisters of this school, not only added to the educational advantages of Bowling Green, but in times of epidemic were ministering angels to the afflicted.

Judge H. K. Thomas

1806-1888. Member of the Kentucky General Assembly 1871. County Judge 1873-1878. Refused to sign Warren County bonds in aid of the Bowling Green and Madisonville Railroad. Resisted all legal proceedings to compel him to sign and was sustained by the Court of Appeals of Kentucky. His firmness and foresight saved the tax payers of Warren County $1,000,000.00 in principal and interest.

The Reverend Joseph DeVries

Born in Holland in 1831. Came to Kentucky in May 1853. In 1857 he took up his residence in Bowling Green where he continued to labor unremittingly in the Lord's Vineyard until his death in 1889. He built St. Joseph's Church in this city and a modest marble slab marks his resting place beside the main altar of the church. He gave all of his worldly goods to the parish.

Henry Grider

Born in Warren County the latter part of the 18th Century. Son of John Grider, pioneer immigrant from Pennsylvania to Kentucky in 1783, who fought in the battle of the Blue Licks. Henry Grider was in the War of 1812 and also fought against the Indians. He was a prominent member of the Bowling Green Bar and several times a member of Congress from this district, and during the Civil War was a firm supporter of Abraham Lincoln.

Dr. Albert Covington

A representative type of one of the oldest families in Warren County. Was educated in Italy, lived a long life, and was a notable figure and citizen in our community.

Harvey L. Eads

For many years the head and active trustee of the Society of Shakers, South Union, Kentucky. A man of education, a writer of ability and humanitarian. When he became the head of the society it was in a flourishing condition. Only a few of its members survive and the picturesque buildings are monuments to the thrift of that society during its progressive days.

Prof. B. F. Cabell

Having for many years conducted successfully a girls' school at Cedar Bluff, Warren County, Professor Cabell came to Bowling Green, discovered Normal Hill, and founded thereon Potter College. Many a southern home is presided over by a woman made better from having been educated under his genial care.

Gen. William F. Perry

Born in Georgia in 1823. Died in Bowling Green, Kentucky, in 1901. Superintendent of Education in Alabama. Colonel of the Forty-Fourth Alabama Regiment and Brigadier General in the Army of Virginia. Conspicuous on many bloody fields. The south had no braver, more faithful son. Professor in Ogden College for many years. He spent forty years in the professor's chair where his wide learning, rare eloquence, and the beauty of his Christian character inspired many youths to high resolves and noble purposes.

Professor W. B. Wiley

First superintendent of the public schools of Bowling Green and through his organization the beginning of our splendid public school system was started.

Samuel T. Scott

Taught a school for boys for many years in Bowling Green where many of our present citizenship were educated.

William F. Whitesides

President of Cedar Bluff College near Woodburn, Kentucky, where many young ladies of Kentucky and the South were educated.

Judge Ninian Edwards

Born in Maryland in 1775. He came to Kentucky when 19 years of age and settled at Bardstown. Member of the General Assembly in 1799. He removed to Russellville, Kentucky, and in 1803, he became the first Judge of the Circuit Court of Warren County. In 1809 he became first Territorial Governor of Illinois and Abraham Lincoln married Miss Todd of Kentucky at his residence.

Dillard Duncan

A representative of one of the oldest families of Warren County. Lived in what is known as the "Kettle Creek" country. Lived to be ninety years of age and was known as the peace-maker in his community. He touched the fiddle bow and was ever a delight in any company or crowd.

The "Burton Place" Cemetery

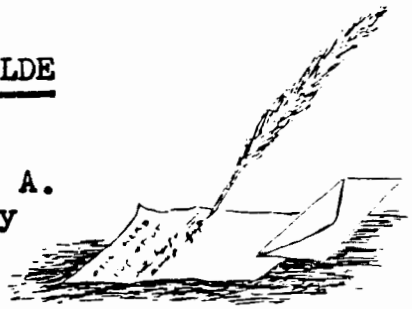
Recorded by S.K.G.S. members Gary Hays and Lloyd Raymer

This cemetery is near the mouth of Indian Creek at Green River, in the Anna community of northern Warren County. There are at least 30 graves marked only by fieldstones. The following were the only marked tombstones:

Henry Sulser d. Apr 13, 1863 Abe [sic] 51 yrs. 11 months	Fredonia L. Hurst wife of Lewis Hurst Sept 18, 1843 - June 12, 1869

This cemetery was located on "The Old Burton Farm" but the farm is now owned by the H. F. McChesney family. (Recorded in March 1985)

LETTERS FROM DAYS OF OLDE



The following letter was written to Philip A. Railey, by his friend M. E. Samuel. Railey was a member of Co. R, 7th KY Cavalry of the Confederate Army.

Railey was taken prisoner by the Union Army on 25 Jul 1863 at Georgetown, Ohio. He was first sent to Wheeling, West Virginia, then to Camp Chase, Ohio, on 29 Feb 1864. He was later transferred to Fort Delaware, a Union prison on Pea Patch Island near Delaware City, Delaware, where he remained until 4 Jan 1865. On this date, he signed the Oath of Allegiance and was sent home. While in prison, he contracted smallpox and, as a result, was in poor health until his death in June of 1877.

Feb the 21, 1865

Dear friend, I received your kind letter yesterday and was very much surprised to hear that you had got home. I was glad to hear it. You said that you was a going to come or send after your close [sic]. Don't send after them come after them your self and come soon and stay three or fore [sic] weeks if you can't stay no longer. Fill, I reckon you will be surprised to hear of Aunt Margaret's death. She died the 8 of last month but all the rest are well. Aunt Arrena has been very sick since, but she has got nearly well. We are all well and doing very well. You wanted to know where Uncle George was and Bob. Uncle George is in Virginia well and hearty and Uncle Billy is there to. But they are not together, they are about a 100 miles apart. Uncle Billy has bin [sic] wounded in the shoulder. He has got about well. I got a letter from you new years day and I answered it but I don't hardly guess you will get it. Fill, the yankeys got paps henry horse and you ought to seen me cry. I never was so mad hardly. They have left pap two. Fill, come as soon as you can. I have got several mity pretty rebel song ballets [sic]. You have bin in prison so long that I guess you have most forgotten how to sing.

I am a going to school yet it will be out in about a week and commence again in a few days. Bob is at camp douglas aprisoner. Antney Rose is there to. The yanky was here last Sunday a two week ago and searched the house from bottom to top. They took two mity nice beef and a shoulder of meat and paps hats and they lock up that man that lived with us last and shot him. I never did hate nothing so bad hardly in my life. He was shot for nothing at all. If they had of given him a trial, I guess he would got back home safe. Believe I have wrote about all. Come down soon and I will tell you more. I remain your friend as ever.

[to] P. A. Railey at home
[from] M. E. Samuel at home

On the back of the foregoing letter is written another message to Philip A. Railey, as follows:

> Well Mr. Philip, I so glad to hear that you was at home once more. I wrote to you about three weeks ago concerning comeing home. I called at the office yesterday to see if you had answered it. I was a little surprised to see you had got home. I want you to come down. I want to see what you look like and stay as long as you can. There is no danger this side of Franklin. You take the left hand this side of town at the Pond and keep the big road the Cross Plains til you come in sight of my house. I would write more but it is near 10 o'clock and may have to go to Bowlingreen tomorrow so will wait until you come down so no more at present.
> Yours respectfully,
> R. J. Samuel

The letter was sent from Robertson County, Tennessee. Philip A. Railey was the great grandfather of S.K.G.S. member Laurita Sledge of 835 Sledge Road, Alvaton, Kentucky 42122. Mrs. Sledge would like to hear from anyone who can identify R. J. Samuel or M. E. Samuel. (Thank you Laurita, for sharing this most interesting "letter from days of olde" with THE LONGHUNTER.)

Jonathan Ferguson received a land grant in Logan County, Ky. on Oct. 4, 1807.

His father, Paul Ferguson, received an earlier grant on the Gasper River in Logan County, Ky. on Sept. 20, 1799.

Paul Ferguson, son of Jonathan, shows on the Census records that he was born in Kentucky (He was born 18 Feb. 1799)

So their date of emigration from Chester Dist. S.C. to Kentucky must have been Pre 1799. (It is noted that Paul Ferguson, father of Jonathan, resigned as Constable and Deputy Sheriff of Chester Co. S.C. on 27 July 1796)

GRAVIL

Was Abraham Raymer Jr. (1766 PA - 1844 Edmondson Co. KY) related to the Watt/Watts family of the Warren/Edmonson Co. KY area? The two families seem to have lived close to each other in not only this area but in Hardin Co. KY and perhaps PA as well. Who were the parents of Rev. Granville Newton Schroader (1838 KY? - 1886 Warren Co.)? His first marriage was to America F. Arnold. I need proof that Joseph Painter/Panther who was in Logan Co. by 1796 but later in Grayson Co. KY, was the father of John Painter/Panther (ca. 1775-1829 Edmonson Co. KY). The 2nd wife of John Painter was Patience Oller. I will appreciate any help on the John Musick/Music b 1770 NC and the John Grabill/Gravil b 1770 families. They both lived in Warren and Edmonson Cos. KY in the early 1800's.

DEED ABSTRACTS OF WARREN COUNTY

1797 - 1812

by Joyce Martin Murray

This excellent work covers the first five deed books of Warren County, Kentucky. Warren was formed from Logan in the year 1797.

Counties which were later formed, in part, from Warren include: Barren (1799), Allen (1815), Simpson (1819), and Edmonson (1825).

This handsome volume is indexed and easy to use, with a good clear print. Contains 147 pages. Hardback cover. Price $20 (postpaid).

SUMNER COUNTY TENNESSEE MARRIAGES

1839 - 1875

* * * * * *

Compiled & Edited by Era W. Stinson and Elizabeth Sue Spurlock

In this 220 page volume, containing over 7,000 marriages, the compilers of the work have attempted to record every existing record for a marriage in Sumner County during the 1839 - 1875 time period by first recording each marriage from the existing marriage books and then matching these with bonds and/or certificates. The compilers did find bonds and/or certificates which had not been recorded in the marriage books and, as expected, recorded marriages for which the bonds or certificates no longer exist.

In this book, the marriages are arranged alphabetically by groom surnames. An alphabetized bride-surname index is also included. Other research aids which have been incorporated into this work include a cross-referencing guide to the variant spellings of family names and information regarding misplaced bonds. Also, Kenneth C. Thomas, the Sumner County Historian, has completed many given names for this work from initials, and he presents a most informative historical summary of Sumner County during this period.

Over one year of research has gone into this work. We are extremely pleased with the final result. We believe it will prove to be a most valuable aid in researching "Historic Sumner County."
