Xi Psi Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega was chartered on May 9, 1964 in what has grown to be the largest National Fraternity in the country. APO is not a social fraternity in the sense that a house is not maintained for its Brothers. Instead, they are bound in the spirit of Friendship, Leadership, and Service.

APO, through its service program, offers a unique opportunity of working with the many revered members of the administration and faculty. It offers a chance to be of genuine service to the campus, the community, and the nation through such projects as: Boys' Club Games Day, aid in the Red Cross Bloodmobile, Boy and Girl Scout Camp work, Distribution of Campus Calendars, Sponsorship of a Boy Scout Troop, to name just a few. Lastly, the service program offers a chance to experience that certain satisfaction from knowing that someone else is much better because of you.

APO is not, however, an all-work service organization. If it were, then it could not call itself a fraternity. It offers a varied social program designed not only for many good times, but also allows for the building of character. Some of the social functions include: parties and mixers, banquets, a Spring Formal and various other activities including sporting events.

Membership in APO is open to all men. There is a pledge period in which the pledges learn about the fraternity and enter into the various chapter programs. There is no hazing. Also, because APO does not have a house, many APO's can and do join a regular social fraternity.

We therefore invite you to consider Alpha Phi Omega and we look forward to meeting you.

Everybody's Gotta Have A Gang . . .

Alpha Phi Omega is the National Service Fraternity for college and university men. Its purpose is to develop Leadership, to promote Friendship, to provide Service to humanity, and to further the freedom that is our national, educational and intellectual heritage. This is just some of the literature we distribute to inform men of our fraternity.

A pledge program is conducted for new members to achieve the following objectives:

- a. To serve as an introduction to Alpha Phi Omega.*
- b. To inform the pledges about our Fraternity, past and present.*
- c. To unify pledges with each other and with the active Brothers.*
- d. To allow each man to qualify himself in Leadership, Friendship, and Service.*
- e. To give the pledge and the chapter a trial period with each other and to give the pledge a definite opportunity to decide for himself whether or not to accept the invitation of the chapter to become an active member.*

There is no hazing or informal initiation in connection with Alpha Phi Omega. Your pledge program will allow you to demonstrate your interest in service, but in no way will it demean you as an individual nor will it require you to perform personal service for the active Brothers.

PROGRAM

SERVICE TO COMMUNITY

John P.

From the very beginning, the service motive has been foremost in Alpha Phi Omega. Service rendered extends not only to the Campus, to Youth, to the Community, and to the Nation; but to the Members themselves. Here is just one of the many projects which are directed to the community, the Humane Society.

SERVICE TO THE CAMPUS

In this phase of APO activities, the chapters carry out projects which are beneficial to the student body and faculty. One such project was for homecoming. The morning of homecoming the fraternity blew up the balloons for the pregame festivities. Although it was a small project it added much color to the activities.

SERVICE TO YOUTH

Members of APO are ready and willing to pass along to others some of the benefits gained in earlier years. Many projects are directed in service to Scout councils and to other youth groups. Here we are cleaning up the yard at the Girls' Club in Bowling Green. We also work with the Boys' Club in such things as Games Day, in which we sponsor events and give prizes to the boys.

The Bloodmobile is probably the most complete service project the two Service Organizations work at every semester. We, with the help of the Warren County Chapter of the Red Cross, set the date. Then we start by publicizing the event by TV, radio and posters. Lastly comes the event we set up the needed equipment, provide the needed manpower for the length of the Bloodmobile, and cleanup.

MONEY-MAKING

The Service Project can be classified in two ways: service which directly benefits and service which will produce revenue to be used to benefit others, commonly called money-making projects. One of our regular money-making projects we share with Gamma Sigma Sigma Sorority, our sister organization. This is the Herald Project, in it we fold and address our school newspaper to send all over the country and several countries. Projects like this not only bring in money for the fraternity but provides a service for the university in that it is able to save money with us doing the work.

Ronstadt concert 'sparkling'

By JAY WETHINGTON

The many forms of country music provided by Linda Ronstadt and Goose Creek Symphony entertained more than 6,300 persons in Diddle Arena Saturday night.

Linda Ronstadt and her accompanying band exhibited a sparkling, professional performance as Ronstadt led the audience to new heights of tonal quality and clarity. Her range and resonance were impressive, but her lack of effort in achieving these qualities was even more amazing.

Ronstadt's voice is suited ideally for the mellow lines of the country ballads she performs. Opening with "Colorado" from her album "Don't Cry Now," she quieted a restless audience with her vocal perfection and childlike innocence.

But her innocent appearance was shortlived as she belted the gutsy rock-and-roll lines of "That'll Be the Day."

Ronstadt received warm crowd response throughout the show as she performed the country

Concert review

ballads "Love Has No Pride," "Willin'," "Faithless Love" and "Desperado."

The country rock songs "When Will I Be Loved," "Roll Me Easy" and the rockers "You're No Good" and "Heat Wave" brought hot reaction from the crowd.

Andrew Gold proved to be more than adequate on lead and harmony, which made up for his flat performance at the opening of the concert.

The remaining members of the band performed very well, matching Ronstadt's flawless voice with flawless accompaniment. Dan Dugmore on steel guitar was impeccable.

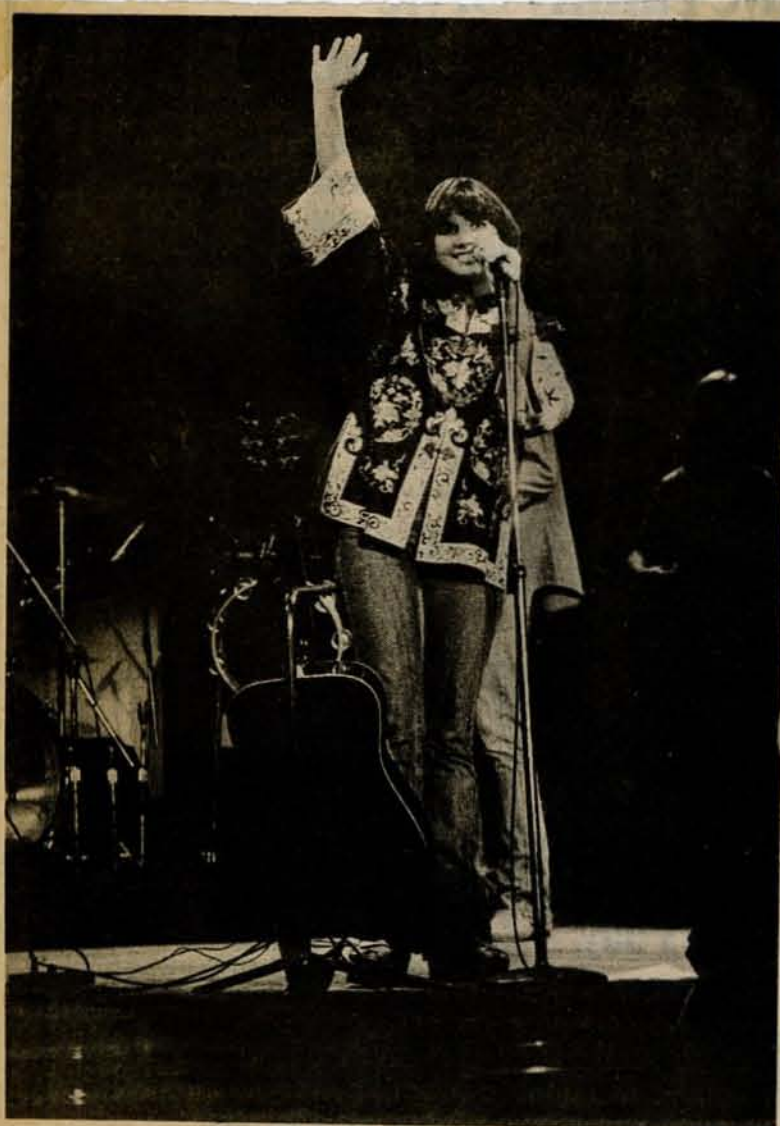

The country boogie of Goose Creek Symphony brought the audience to its feet several times as Goose Creek filled the arena with good harmony and strong rhythm.

Goose Creek showed more instrumental proficiency than Ronstadt's band as it progressed from country to jazz, then to rock and roll and gospel in the song "Saturday Night at the Orange."

Fiddler Ellis Schwied got a standing ovation as he reconstructed some old country favorites in a song called "Fiddle Tune."

Normally, drum solos are dull, boring and in bad taste at a concert when the musicians are expected to be seasoned, but Jamie Nichol (congas) and Dennis Kenmore (drums) displayed exceptional timing and syncopation during "Hot Dog Daddy It's Saturday Night" at the close of Goose Creek's set.

—Bob Coffey

Asylum recording artist Linda Ronstadt waves good-bye to a cheering audience of approximately 6,300 in Diddle Arena Saturday night. The Homecoming concert, which was sponsored by Associated Student Government, also featured Goose Creek Symphony.

Ushering University concerts with the Women of Gamma Sigma Sigma is another of our money-making service projects. We have had the privilege of ushering such groups as: Linda Ronstadt, James Taylor, "War", the "Fifth Dimension", "Blood, Sweat, and Tears", and several others.

Taylor, Gross concerts were 'big successes'

Rick Kelley, Associated Student Government activities vice-president, termed the James Taylor and Henry Gross concerts "big successes."

Kelley said that approximately 6,000 people were on hand for Friday night's James Taylor concert in Diddle Arena, which was free to full-time Western students with an ID.

Of the 6,000, about 4,300 were full-time students. The remaining 1,700 paid to see the concert, Kelley said.

He said that Taylor's fee was $15,000 and production costs totaled about $5,000.

"We actually made a profit of $1,000 from the people that paid to see the concert," Kelley said.

The Henry Gross concert, which also was sponsored by ASG, began with a little confusion, "but I believe everyone really enjoyed the concert," Kelley said.

The confusion began when the concert, originally scheduled to take place at 8 p.m. in L.T. Smith Stadium, was moved to Garrett Ballroom.

The move was made after Gross refused to appear outside because of cold weather.

"At 7:15 (Monday night) it became evident that there would be more people that wanted to see the concert than Garrett would seat," Kelley said.

He said that Gross agreed to a second performance at 10:30 p.m., for an additional $1,000.

Kelley said that Gross received $2,500 for the first show.

He said that 1,400 people were at the first show and that approximately 1,300 people showed up for the 10:30 performance.

"Student Affairs was surprised he (Gross) attracted so many people, but I think they (Student Affairs) did a good job," Kelley said.

"A few people were upset because they didn't get in to see the first show," he said. Kelley said that everyone in line for the first show received a free ticket for the second show.

Western Kentucky University

Ushering University lectures is yet another money-making service project. The lectures have brought in such people as: Jules Bergman, John Dean, Art Linkletter, David Brinkley, and Chet Huntley; just to name a few. The fraternity distributes posters for the lectures, concerts, and any other University functions.

Ugly man contest to hold balloting

Voting for the "Ugly Man on Campus" will be conducted next week in the contest sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega and Gamma Sigma Sigma service organizations.

Voters will deposit money in a ballot box that has pictures of the candidates, who are sponsored by various organizations.

The voting tables will be in the lobby of the university center Monday and Tuesday and in Garrett Conference Center Wednesday and Thursday.

A pageant will be held Nov. 20 in the Garrett Conference Center Ballroom. The "Ugly Man on Campus" will be crowned at that time.

All proceeds from the contest and the pageant will be given to the Toys for Tots program.

This activity is designed to raise money for worthy causes. The APO chapter, sometimes with the help of our sister sorority, organizes the contest by getting social fraternities, residence halls, and the like to nominate candidates. "Votes" for the candidates are cast by placing penny, nickel or dime containers in front of photographs of the candidates. Usually the men chosen appear in grotesque facial make-up representing weird characters.

A car wash is one of our popular money-making projects. They have used its profits for transportation to service projects across the state, for the national convention, for the pledge class, and many other worthwhile projects.

Dear Friends,

I want to thank you for your cooperation in making the Blood Drive a tremendous success. I know there were some hard feelings between our organizations prior to the event. However, I hope the success of the event will supersede any bad feelings.

The fraternities are not out to steal the thunder of the service organizations. We simply want to be a viable, constructive part of the community. We feel service projects are one means of achieving this goal. Just look at the state of the world; cancer claiming thousands of lives, muscular dystrophy crippling young children and countless other tragic events. It is easy to comprehend; if the number of organizations involved in community work were multiplied in geometric proportions, the number of causes they could work for would be limited only by the number of hours in a day and days in a year.

Once again, thank you.

Sincerely,

THE MEETING

The meetings of our fraternity exemplify two of our basic principles very well — Leadership and Friendship. It is important that every member, every advisor and every pledge be assigned specific responsibilities giving each a real part in the activities of the chapter. Our willingness to work shows not only our organization but our friendship we have earned in the fraternity.

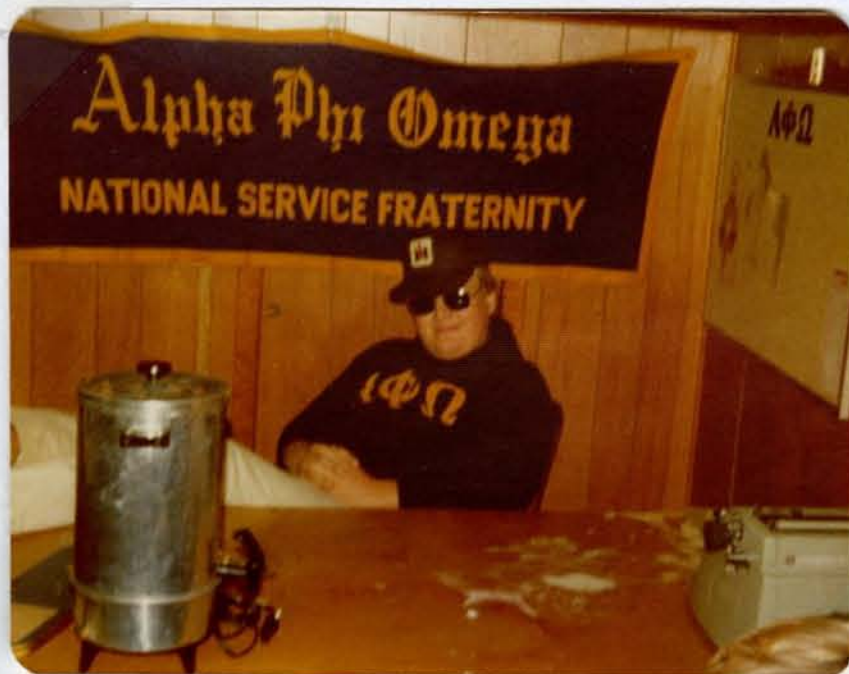

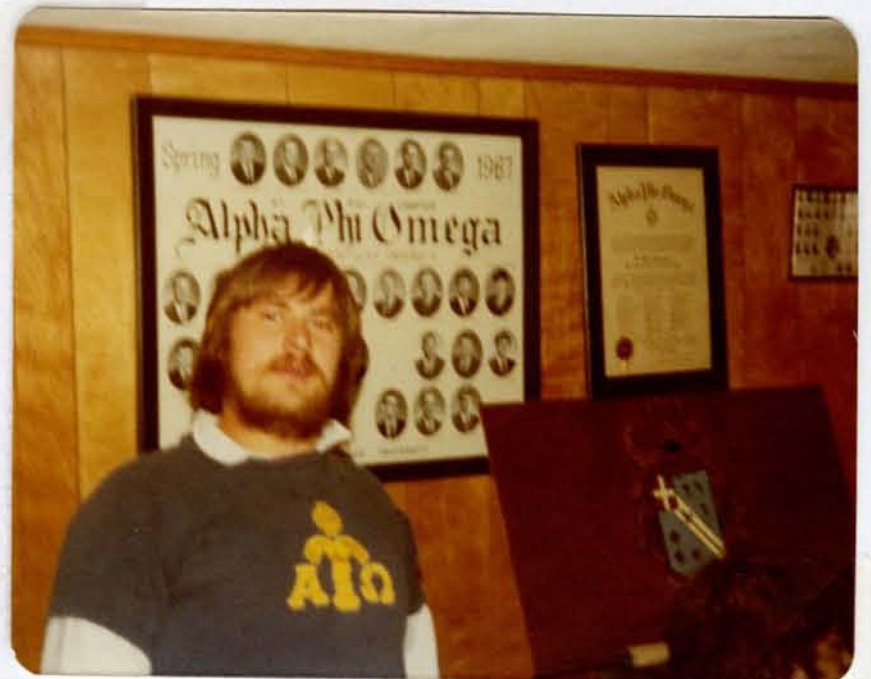

John Pennehl

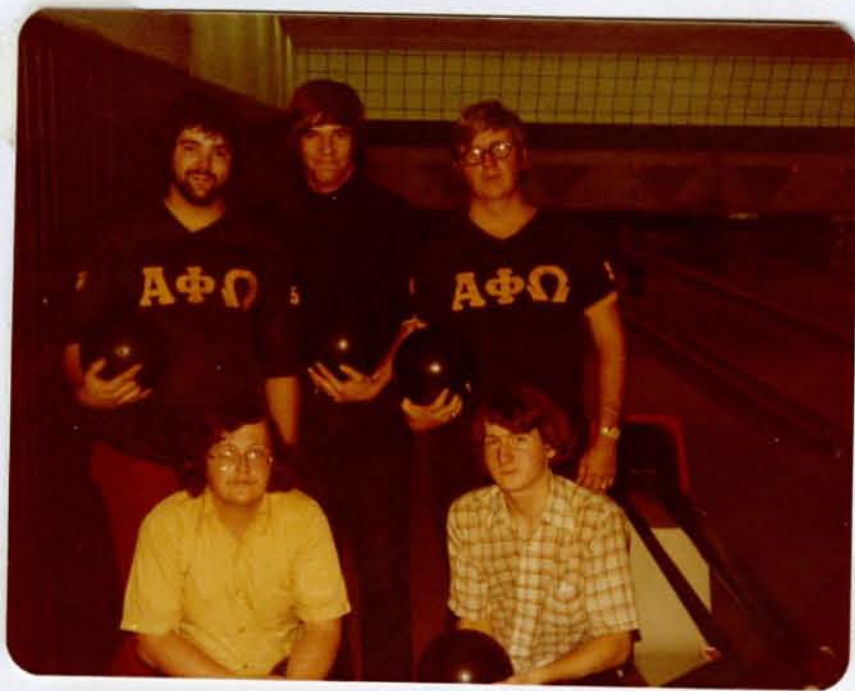

BOB BARTSCH

A chapter office is a valuable asset to the chapter. It serves as a center of chapter activity, a place for committee meetings and membership recruitment, and as a place for storage of chapter materials.

FELLOWSHIP

A bowling team is a good way to maintain fellowship in our fraternity. Our fraternity participates in two leagues so more brothers can relax and compete in the spirit of APO Brotherhood.

Members of our fraternity often take part in road rallies sponsored by campus groups since they are usually conducted for some worthwhile charity. Here a couple of our brothers were in trouble but some of us were able to come to the aid due to a couple of trusty B's.

To all brothers of Alpha Phi Omega, Xi Psi;

Greetings and salutations,

Our summer fellowship this year is to be held on Saturday, August 2 at Opryland in Nashville. A convoy will be leaving Jerry's on the Russellville Rd. about 9 a.m. We'll be gathering there for breakfast about eight. If you need a place to stay, we'll fix you up, just let us know. The cost at the gate will be about $6.50, maybe less if we can work it. Let us know if you're coming so we won't leave you behind.

As to the Baggage Project (Sorry, not that kind of baggage.), JSG will be letting you know soon about time and date, etc.

Hope to see you soon.

Service Organization Pin Worn by Lovell to Moon

When Capt. James O. Lovell, jr., blasted off from Cape Kennedy December 21 for the moon aboard the Apollo 8 spacecraft, one item he carried was strictly non-regulation and had nothing to do with the performance of the spacecraft.

The astronaut was wearing his Alpha Phi Omega service pin. Lovell has been a member of the Kansas City-based fraternity since 1947 when he joined the University of Wisconsin chapter at Madison. The national service fraternity headquarters are in the Waltower building, 1100 Walnut street.

According to Joseph Scanlon, national director, Lovell plans to give the pin to the national fraternity. It is to be enclosed in lucite with an appropriate plate bearing an inscription of the space flight and any message Lovell wishes to add to it, Scanlon said.

The fraternity was to confer its highest award for service to mankind to Lovell at the national convention held in Washington Friday through Sunday.

H. Roe Bartle, former mayor of Kansas City, is the fraternity's senior past president.

THE ALPHA PHI OMEGA FRATERNITY PIN shown here is a duplicate of the one worn by Capt. James A. Lovell, jr., on his trip to the moon last week. It is gold with small pearls inset on the outer edges. There is a circular raised part in the center also inset with pearls. The Greek letters for the fraternity are gold on a background of dark blue.

Like most fraternities we have mixers, usually every semester. We are lucky enough to be able to have our mixers with a great group of women, Gamma Sigma Sigma Sorority. Our mixers give us a chance to meet some good looking girls. Often brothers of APO have met and married one of these young ladies.

As you can probably tell we often play football with the Gamma Sigs. Although we have our own sporting events among the chapter members and other fraternities we often challenge the Gamma Sigs in events such as bowling and softball, because we enjoy their company so very much.

The Spring Formal is the highlight of every fraternity and sorority of the school year. We are no exception. APO and the Gamma Sigma Sigma Sorority start planning in the Fall semester. This planning is worth all the time since it is always our most successful social event of the year.

The Chairman of the Advisory Committee is Dr. T. Alan Yungbluth. He is a great help to our chapter. He often serves as a personal advisor and counselor on chapter matters. He attends most fraternity meetings. As most of us know he is one of the most important assets our chapter has had. His experience in various activities offers the chapter an unlimited reservoir of ideas and a valuable contact with campus and community officials. To him we have awarded the fraternity's highest award, "The Distinguished Service Award".
