Bowling Green Civil War Round Table

AUGUST 2011 NEWSLETTER

President - Dr Ron Hatcher; Vice President –Jonathan Jeffrey; Secretary – Jeff Hayes; Treasurer – Kathy Leath; Advisors –Dr Glenn LaFantasie and Greg Biggs(CCWRT)

ATTENTION: Our next meeting is this Thursday, August 18, at 7:00 pm at Cherry Hall in room 125. This is the location of our first meeting, and will be our regular meeting room. Please arrive about 15 minutes early to ensure that the meeting begins on time.

I hope everyone has had a great summer. I am excited about the speaker line up for the fall and spring as well as the many events associated with the 150th anniversary of the Civil War. I hope you can join us as we learn more about these events that changed our country. Secretary-Jeff Hayes

SPEAKER: For August 2011, our speaker will be Ross Massey. The presentation title will be “The Battle of Nashville.”

About the Speaker:

Ross Massey has been interested in the Battle of Nashville since a 1964, 100th anniversary reenactment of the battle. Learning that fighting took place near his home, he set out to determine if it overflowed into his neighborhood. He consequently learned where actions took place across the city. In 1987 he located long forgotten earthworks at Bell’s Bend on the Cumberland River, and Granbury’s Lunette. The river site is now a Metro Parks greenway. Massey’s Sons of Confederate Veterans (S.C.V) camp (#28) preserved the lunette remains, and they are also open to the public. In 1991 Massey was a founding member of the Battle of Nashville Preservation Society. This nonprofit group raised money to buy the remains of Redoubt One, and land on Shy’s Hill. It has also been recognized for its role in Metro Parks reopening Fort Negley. In 1993 Massey organized the S.C.V’s first Mount Olivet Cemetery walking tours. It is the burial place for nearly all of the Confederate dead from the Battle of Nashville, as well as several generals that survived it. Noteworthy women who risked their lives in the battle are also buried there, and all are covered in this battlefield guide. Proceeds from fifteen annual tours have enabled the S.C.V. to make repairs and improvements. The restoration of an old holding vault into Mount Olivet Confederate Memorial Hall led to a Metro Historical Commission award. In 2003 Nashville’s mayor presented it to Massey. In 1994 Massey appeared on the popular program “Civil War Journal.” The episode, which covered the Battle of Nashville, has been seen by over 10,000,000 viewers on A&E and the History Channel. He has advocated historical preservation as a guest on local radio shows and made numerous local television appearances. Massey resides in Nashville with his wife Lynda. They have enjoyed organizing historical symposiums, conducting tours, and public speaking. Massey has also created numerous historical markers in the area, including the first Confederate markers on the Murfreesborough battlefield. He hopes this guidebook generates further interest in preserving area sites.

PRESIDENT’S NOTES:

August, 2011

Now that summer vacation is drawing to an end, perhaps it’s fitting that we pause from considering unsettling current events and spend an enjoyable evening learning more about the greatest crisis our National union ever faced. We all know that credit and capitol are essential national ingredients for both war and peace and have heard about the mistaken notion of “King Cotton” and its ability to bring international recognition (perhaps rescue?) to the Confederacy. It may be historic to undergo a downgrade by S&P, but we have survived national economic peril before.

Certainly part of the “draw” of history is to appreciate the problems of the past and admire and learn from both the solutions and failures of those who came before us and made an effort to deal with the problems of their day. Our program this month is on the Battle of Nashville. Gen. Thomas exemplified “preparedness” in all he did, just as Gen. Hood demonstrated “inflexibility” to the nth degree. Let’s hear it for leaders who are prepared to change with conditions and lead with resolute calmness. Such an attitude can be contagious, uplifting and most importantly successful—history tells us so.

Ron Hatcher

Filson Historical Society Fall Civil War Tour - November 3-5, 2011

The Filson Historical Society of Louisville, Kentucky, announces its Fall Civil War Institute Field Trip. On November 3-5, 2011, the society will tour the Tullahoma Campaign. The tour will visit the fields of the little known but vitally important war of maneuver waged by Union General William S. Rosecrans. Beginning in late June 1863 and ending on July 4, the campaign, at the cost of only 1100 men, drove the Confederate army under Braxton Bragg from Tennessee. This directly led to the capture of Chattanooga and the Confederate counter-attack at Chickamauga in mid-September 1863. Rosecrans' campaign was dwarfed by events at Vicksburg and Gettysburg, and also by the Battle of Helena, Arkansas, which occurred at the same time. All of them had far greater casualties and thus headlines. Yet Rosecrans' campaign was worthy of Napoleon or Frederick the Great and his ultimate goal of smashing Bragg's army was only way-laid by the constant rain that turned Middle Tennessee into seas of mud. It also brought the rise of the Union cavalry in the Western Theater who shattered the Confederate cavalry in the Battle of Shelbyville. The tour will base out of Murfreesboro, Tennessee and venture to Hoover's Gap, Liberty Gap, Fairfield, Shelbyville, Guy's Gap, Tullahoma, Decherd, Bell Buckle, Wartrace, Cowan and end on Sewanee Mountain. This is one of the most beautiful parts of Tennessee.

Tour guides will be our own Greg Biggs and Michael Bradley, a future BG CWRT speaker and author of the only book so far on the campaign. Biggs and Bradley also collaborated on the Tullahoma campaign issue for Blue & Gray magazine that was issued in the Summer of 2010.

The tour is open to everyone. For more information please contact Scott Sarboro of the Filson Historical Society at sscarboro@filsonhistorical.org. Filson members get a price discount so joining them will save you some money. They offer a number of tours and lecture programs.
