The Class of Nineteen Forty-two has come
 To where the roads run every way at once;
 And yet for some the way is only one
 And it may lead at last to distant fronts.
 A task of huge proportions looms ahead;
 To it you consecrate your minds and hearts;
 Yet on beyond there lies, outlined in red,
 Huge undertakings after Mars departs.
 If need is any measure of your hopes,
 Then certain magnitude of life is yours,
 And greater glory than belongs to kings or popes,
 If the peace you build, resisting shocks, endures.
 God speed the Class of Nineteen Forty-two
 And may the Master's will be done by you.

Miss Mary Stallard

A host of present and former students, many members of the faculty and friends in the city here and elsewhere were shocked and distressed to learn of the death of Miss Mary Stallard on Monday afternoon, October 13. Her ever faithful and efficient work for the past eighteen years as assistant Registrar in the offices of the Dean and Registrar at Teachers College, her sympathetic interest in all who came in contact with her, her consecrated work in business and the church endeared her to all who knew her. No more beautiful spirit ever existed on College Heights and the sympathy of the entire institution was extended to her family. Her passing is felt as a distinct loss at this place.

FAMOUS SCULPTOR HEARD AT CHAPEL HOUR AT WESTERN

Lorado Taft Gives Illustrated Lecture, "A Florentine Vista"

Speaking before 2,000 people who crowded Van Meter Auditorium, Dr. Lorado Taft, renowned sculptor and professorial lecturer, gave his famous illustrated lecture, "A Florentine Vista" at the chapel exercises of Western Teachers College Monday morning, June 8.

For approximately an hour and a half, Dr. Taft held his listeners enthralled as he recreated on the screen of the darkened auditorium the spirit and art of Renaissance Italy through the medium of his lantern slides of Florentine sculpture, painting and architecture. Mr. Taft's explanations and comments on the cathedral sculpture and painting of the old masters of Florence, Italy, were concise, informative and charmingly personal.

Something of the sculptor's joy in his work and his appreciation of the spirit of art that pervaded the fifteenth century was afforded in the glimpses of the Renaissance scenes and episodes which Mr. Taft has reproduced for his Chicago studio.

The rapt attention of the large audience and the prolonged applause while standing with which the crowd greeted Dr. Taft at the close of the lecture attested their interest, appreciation and delight.

Dr. Taft, who is 75 years old, came to Bowling Green at the special invitation of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Cherry, who entertained with a luncheon in his honor at noon Monday, June 8, in the Cedar House on College Heights.

He is member of the National Academy of Design, of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, and honorary member of the American Institute of Architects.

Mr. Taft is described as a man of charm, culture, and a fine sense of humor. It would be difficult to find a lecturer who combines a greater number of attractive qualities. He has made a name for himself as a platform speaker in addition to his reputation as an artist and author.

Professor Taft has spoken at Western twice before. On July 9, 1931, he spoke at chapel on "Beauty in American Life," and "My Dream Museum," and Thursday, June 1, 1933, he delivered the commencement address.

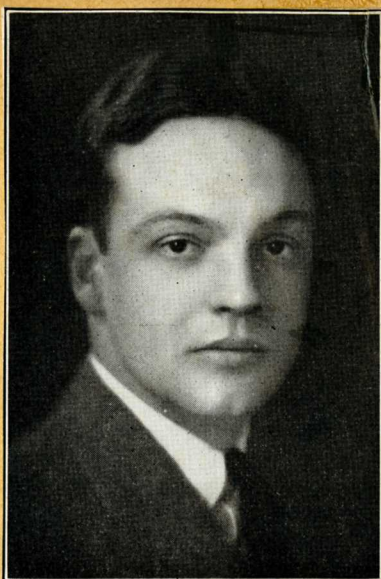

In addition to his work in sculpture, Mr. Taft has also had a prominent career in the field of education. He was for years an instructor and lecturer at the Art Institute of Chicago; has been professional lecturer at the University of Chicago since 1909, and non-resident professor of art, University of Illinois, since 1919.

He is the author of "The History of American Sculpture" which was published in 1903, and "Recent Tendencies in Sculpture," 1921.

DR. EDWARD HOWARD GRIGGS,
Lecturer, Educator and Author.

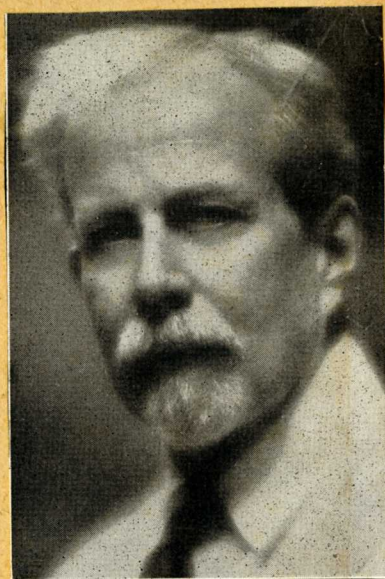

For the week of June 18 Dr. Griggs has been secured to give a series of lectures on the life and work of the great novelist and dramatist, Ibsen. Dr. Griggs has lectured at College Heights repeatedly and each return adds even greater popularity and effectiveness to his record.

Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, President of the University of Chicago.

MISS MATTYE REID.

MR. TAFT

Mr. Lorado Taft, one of America's foremost sculptors, will give two lectures on July 9, one at the chapel hour and the other in the evening. The subjects will be "Beauty in American Life" and "My Dream Museum."

Mr. Taft is not only outstanding as a creative artist, but is nationally known as an author, art critic, and lecturer. Some of Mr. Taft's well-known sculptures are: "The Fountain of the Great Lakes," in Chicago, the "Washington Monument," in Seattle, "Black Hawk," at Oregon, Illinois, "Fountain of Time," on the Midway Plaisance, Chicago, the sculpture of the "Columbus Memorial Fountain," at Washington, D. C., "The Solitude of the Soul," the Art Institute, Chicago.

The noted sculptor's connection with the Art Institute of Chicago extends over forty years. He is Professorial Lecturer at the University of Chicago; Non-resident Professor of Art, University of Illinois; member of the National Academy of Design, of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, and honorary member of the American Institute of Architects.

Mr. Taft is described as a man of charm, culture, and a fine sense of humor. It would be difficult to find a lecturer who combines in greater number and degree desirable and attractive qualities. He has made a name for himself as a platform speaker in addition to his reputation as an artist and author.

AUDIENCE THRILLED BY SPANISH TENOR

Senor Don Jose Mojica, leading tenor of the Chicago, Ravinia, and San Francisco Operas, gave one of the best musical programs that has even been given on College Heights. One of the largest crowds that has ever been in the Auditorium of the Administration building was there to hear him, and all seemed to go away satisfied.

Senor Mojica, who is a Spaniard by birth, sang almost wholly in his native tongue, but this did not detract from the wonder of his marvelous voice. He seemed to cast a spell upon the audience which was broken only by the dying away of a song. When he sang "In a Little Spanish Town," and "Marcheta," songs that we all know, the applause seemed to grow greater as he responded to encore after encore. The folk songs which he rendered in native costume were colorful and beautiful.

Senor Mojica's personality, and acting on the stage were just as wonderful as his voice. If one could not have heard a word of his singing and had been an observer, it would have been worth the time and effort.

Mr. Sanders, pianist, also received deserved applause by his instrumental selections. He played several beautiful and difficult numbers, one of which was arranged by himself.

Never has a program been given on the Hill that seemed to please everyone as this one did. All are looking forward to the time when they can hear Mojica again.

The Teachers College Band, which is conducted by Mr. Elliott Orr, has appeared recently in several local concerts as well as programs in other nearby towns.

NOTE: Because of the increased enrollment in the Teachers College there will be fewer seats to offer for sale for the MOJICA concert than for any preceding number. Because of this fact, seats for the Mojica concert will be placed on sale tomorrow, Saturday morning, at eleven o'clock; positively no reservations will be considered before that time. There are only a few of the $3.00 seats available, most of them having been reserved by season ticket holders. There are a goodly number of $2.00 seats, and a few at $1.00. The unusual interest in Mojica's return engagement, after his unprecedented success of last year, indicates that every seat in the Auditorium will be sold, and an early reservation will insure a seat of your choice.

YES! WE HAVE NO HOMESICKNESS

YES! We have no homesickness; we have no homesickness today;
We've rep and we've pep, and
We keep right in step, and
We've everything good they say
We have some new fashioned teachers,
And a few bobbed-haired creatures
But, YES! we have no homesickness, we have no homesickness today.

HUMMING

Keep on hum-ming, Al-though the skies are gray,
Keep on hum-ming, Till troub-le flies a-way
Bright days are com-ing, Sun-shine fills the air,
Just keep on hum-ming, Sad-ness will dis-ap-pear
Keep on hum-ming, The world will smile at you,
Sun-beams your love-dreams will be
Just hum a song as you trav-el a-long,
Keep right on hum-ming with me.

FOUNDATION SONG

To tune; "Reuben and Rachel".

Normal students, I've been thinking
What a great school this will be
When the buildings are erected
On the hill by you and me.
Oh! how happy it will make us
Just to know we've done our bit
And we'll put the Foundation over,
Just to show we've got some grit.

So, onward now you loyal students,
Help us hold the banners high,
As we go forth to the victory
With a joyous battle cry.
Dig down deep into your pockets
And get those rusty iron men.
We'll put the fellows into service
Transforming children into men.

Changing
And when the river you cross over,
Peter'll meet you at the gate
With his arms held out to welcome;
And the others'll have to wait.
How the harps will play in heaven
As you walk along the street,
And the words: "Well done" will greet you
When you sit upon the seat.

The Western Normal Letter

Entered as second class matter April 21, 1915, at the post office at Bowling Green, Kentucky, under the act of August 24, 1912. Published monthly by the Western Kentucky State Normal School.

VOL. I, No. 3

BOWLING GREEN, KENTUCKY

JUNE 1915

1916 CLASS NUMBER.

This number of the Letter belongs by right of title to the class of 1916. This class plans to be the biggest and best ever. Its Junior year has been especially promising. We wish all teachers and students of Western Kentucky who can and ought to come and work off the Normal School Course could be induced to do so at an early date. The demand for trained teachers is great and is certainly on the increase. What a blessed thing it would be for our State if two or three times as many young men and women would come and prepare themselves to meet this demand by two or three years' earnest work in the State Normal School.

In addition to the space we here devote to the class of 1916, we shall make a passing reference to the class of 1915 and shall try to introduce the classes of 1917 and 1918 to themselves and to the public.

THE CLASS OF 1916.

The class of 1916 has been the largest in point of numbers of any Junior class the Normal has yet had. During the fall terms the literary society of this class gave a great many programs of strictly literary work, making debating a specialty. During the latter two terms of the year, the work of the society betook more of a social nature. During the entire year the attendance at the society and the individual work of the members have been excellent.

The banquet, given on Valentine's day, together with the special Valentine program, at that time, was one reflecting great credit upon the class and the school in general. This class will give an exercise at graduation time somewhat on the order of the class day of most institutions. This entertainment promises to be one that will create an unusual interest.

The slogan of the class just now is "Be a Senior," and from the present indications the class will come to graduation next year with possibly the largest graduating class the institution has yet put out.

DR. EDWARD GRIGGS DELIVERS SERIES OF LECTURES ON HILL

"The progress of man through intellectual advancement: there is no safety but in that" This passage from the pen of Victor Hugo seems to have been the central thought in the mind of Dr. Edward Howard Griggs, noted teacher and lecturer, when he came to Western for a series of lectures beginning June 18.

The fact that this is the fourth time at this place is sufficient evidence of his popularity; and indeed after listening to these lectures it is easy to see the reason for his high standing among the citizens, teachers and students. His clear, ringing voice and easy-flowing English, coupled with the fine sequence of thought keeps one ever-attentive throughout the speech, and at the end still wishing that the trance, so to speak, could go on indefinitely.

Any attempt to analyze one of these speeches, or to pick out the high points for publication is futile because there are no minor points. Every sentence has a dual significance. Hence it follows that those who were so unfortunate as not to hear him have missed their last chance.

Dr. Griggs gave two lectures daily, one at chapel and one in the evening. The subject of the morning lecture was "Moral Leaders," taking as examples of these leaders, Socrates, the Athenian teacher; Gospel loving St. Francis of Assise, Savanorola, the Italian, ever true to his callings; the great Emerson; and Tolstoy.

The subject of the evening lectures was "The Dramas of Isben." The speaker took five of these dramas, and as was said of the morning speeches, so complete was the discussion and so concentrated was the thought that there was no possibility of "boiling it down" to any further degree. As exemplifiers of the work of Ibsen Dr. Griggs took "Ghosts," "Dolls House," "Rasmus Home," "Lady From the Sea," and "When We Dead Awaken."

This institution was very fortunate in securing the services of this thinking man. He seems to have borrowed the motto of Ibsen which was "To make my people think great thoughts," for truly that was the result, or rather the influence he had on all those who heard him. He made us think; he made us think clearly, and he made us think great thoughts, and we value the man the more for this. We sincerely hope he will be with us again in the coming year.

Governor Flem D. Sampson presented the Hearst Trophy to the champion rifle team of the R. O. T. C. Unit on Tuesday morning, June 19. It was a great occasion.

Susanne Keener, Metropolitan Opera Star, appeared in the Auditorium in a return engagement.

Fritz Leiber, distinguished Shakespearean actor and his company presented "Othello" and "Merchant of Venice" as the fourth number of the All-Star Concert Series.

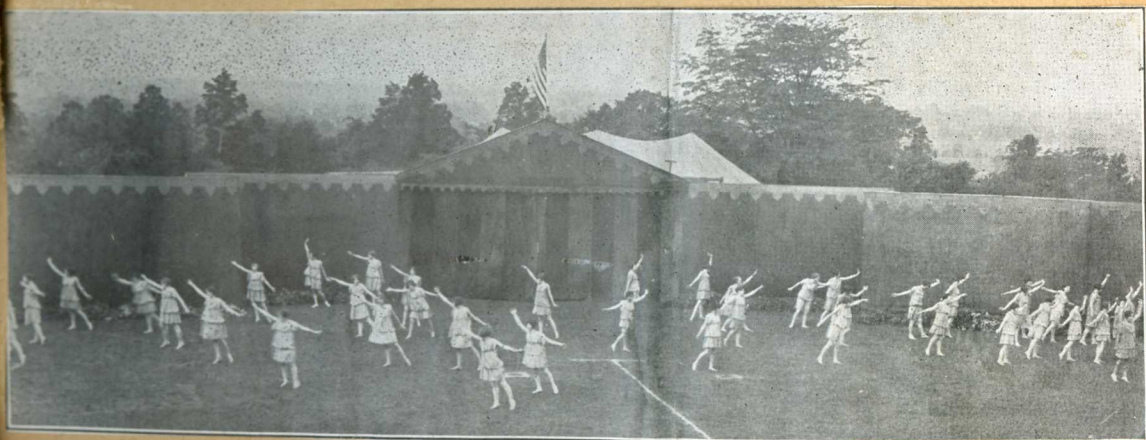

Dr. Edward Howard Griggs, lecturer, author and noted educator gave a series of ten lectures the week of June 18.

Pageant Scene—Finale—U. S. A. as the Melting Pot

THE PAGEANT

A great historical pageant given by the institution was staged on College Heights on the evenings of May 28, 29 and 30. The magnificent stadium seating an audience of more than 4000 was used for these occasions as well as for other programs of the commencement week. Visitors from nearby towns and even distant cities and communities agreed that the spectacle presented on these three evenings was instructive and inspiring. The pageant opened with the dance of the Dawn of Creation, followed by a scene from Indian and Pioneer Life. The next portrayal was events of the Revolutionary and Civil Wars. Then came the Masque of Nations, a mammoth spectacle symbolizing the spirit and growth of America, the Melting Pot of the Nations, where peoples from every corner of the earth were united in a union, one and inseparable. Character dances of many nations were given, from the smallest to the mightiest—U. S. A.

A. GORDON WILSON

Gordon Wilson's infantile cry first broke the primeval stillness of eastern Calloway County. Since then his cry has broken various and sundry other stillnesses. He attended the local temple of learning, and from some group pictures made of the institution during his patronage the notion got out that rural schools were located in the country. Attended Clinton College. Taught three years in rural schools of Hickman County. Attended Western State Normal during closed season for rural schools. In 1912-13 taught English and Latin as student assistant. Took Baccalaureate degree University of Indiana in 1915. That fall became associated as regular member of Western's staff. Since 1928 has been head of English Department. Awarded Ph. D. degree by Indiana—which has subsequently added no new degrees. Otherwise, they would have him on their hands again. In 1923 collaborated with Professor M. A. Leiper in writing A New English Grammar. Editor of six English workbooks—Forward Steps in Thinking and Writing. His interest in Ornithology has resulted in four major regional studies and more than a hundred articles on Kentucky birds. One of the founders of Kentucky Ornithological Society. Editor of its publications since the beginning. Officer, editor, and patron of Kentucky Folk Lore Society. For several years member of editorial staff of The Wilson Bulletin, organ of great National Ornithological Society. Member Advisory Staff National Association of Audubon Societies. Democrat. Methodist. Phi Beta Kappan. Commence Orator de luxe. Has no scruples against speaking between commencements. Classicist, Naturalist, Historian, Litterateur. Can flavor the vespertine quiet with a resounding musical note. Married Avis Hines. Two children, Gordon, Jr., and Winifred. Has enormous energy, all of which is available on immediate demand.

cy of Central Normal School at Danville, Indiana. From there he came to Bowling Green, to accept the position of Dean of Pedagogy at the Teachers College.

Dr. Kinnaman was always active in religious and civic affairs. He was a member of the First Christian Church while in residence here; served as chairman of the official board; and taught the Student Class in Sunday School.

In 1885 Dr. Kinnaman was united in marriage to Miss Mattie Lang. Two sons were born to this union. One died when two years of age; the other is Dr. Howard Kinnaman of Crawfordsville.

A memorial service was held in our chapel on June 13. Everyone who knew his was there to honor the name of a great man. Anyone who knew him or was in class under him will always remember him as a teacher and worker; one who instilled in the hearts of his pupils a desire for the bigger and better things of life. The writer cannot help but remember the morning when he heard Dr. Kinnaman utter the following words: "I believe that I will fall dead at the top of my steps someday, but I am ready." He failed in that, but we who knew him feel that God will say: "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

Dr. A. J. Kinnaman, Dean of Pedagogy at Western State Teachers College from 1906 to 1926, died June 12, 1928, at his home in Crawfordsville, Indiana, following a stroke of paralysis received in December 1925.

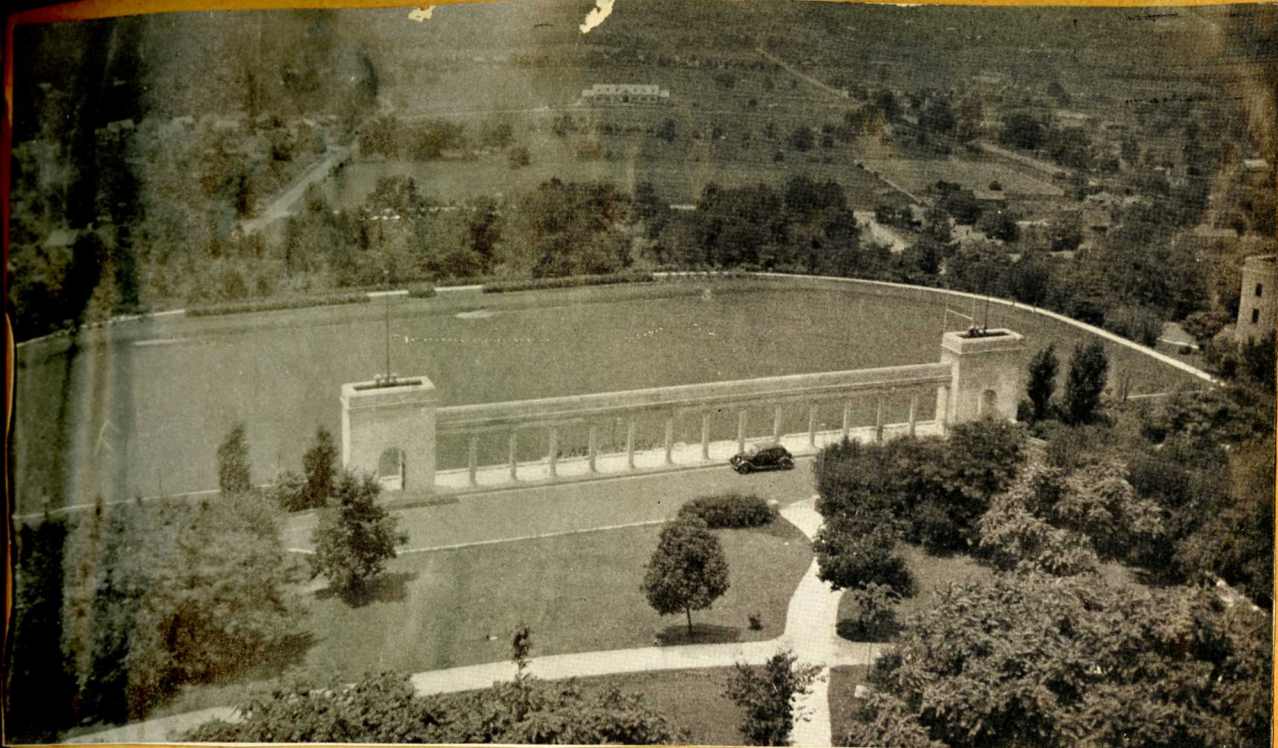

Dr. Kinnaman's boyhood was spent on a farm in Cass county, Indiana. He prepared himself for teaching and taught his first school when but nineteen years of age. When twenty he entered the Central Normal School, his first year beginning in the summer of 1883. He completed the scientific course in 1884, the classic course in 1885, and was at once given a place on the faculty. In 1892 he received a leave of absence for one year to take up special work in the School of Pedagogy in the University of New York. He graduated there in one year. In 1889 he resigned his position at Central Normal School and finished his A. B. course in Indiana University. He then went to Worcester, Mass., for two years of special research along psychological lines in Clark University. He was given his Ph. D. in June, 1902. He was then elected to vice-principal of the State Normal at East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania. At the end of one year he resigned to accept the presiden-

GRADUATE STUDENTS ATTENDING 1935 SUMMER SCHOOL AT WESTERN

One hundred forty-nine students were enrolled in the Graduate School during the summer session of 1935. Of those in attendance, eighty-four were men and sixty were women. They held the baccalaureate degree from sixteen different colleges and came from forty-three different counties in Kentucky. The distribution of these students according to their fields of specialization was as follows: Education, administration and supervision, seventy; English, thirty; Biology, sixteen; History, twelve.

The group last summer was composed largely of mature men and women who held positions as principals, superintendents, supervisors, college teachers, high school and elementary teachers, and were pursuing courses leading to the Master of Arts degree, with a view to giving themselves a more thorough and extensive preparation for the positions which they were holding. In this group were thirty principals and superintendents, eight college teachers, fourteen elementary teachers, four athletic coaches, and three attendance officers, and three who expected to continue graduate study during the present year.

Four hundred sixteen different students have enrolled in the Graduate School since its organization in 1931. Of these, seventy-one have been awarded the Master of Arts degree. An unusually large number of candidates are expected to receive this degree at the commencement exercises in June and August, 1936.

Dr. Cherry, Teachers College Head, Dies At Bowling Green

Fall Injuries Fatal To School Founder

Special to The Courier-Journal.
Bowling Green, Ky., Aug. 1.—
Dr. Henry Hardin Cherry, 73, president of Western Kentucky Teachers College here since he organized the institution in 1907, died this afternoon at his home on the college campus.

He had been in a serious condition for several days as a result of injuries he suffered in a fall three weeks ago.

Dr. Cherry was elected first president of Western Normal, and under his guidance, the college rapidly developed into one of the best known educational institutions of its kind in this section of the country.

The Western Kentucky Normal School and Teachers College, however, was not the first institution organized by Dr. Cherry. In 1892, three years after he was graduated from college, he organized the Bowling Green University, which he and his brother, T. C. Cherry, conducted under the firm name of Cherry Brothers, Principals, until 1898.

Advocated Normal Schools.

Believing strongly in the need for normal schools in Kentucky, Dr. Cherry in 1905 entered upon a campaign for the establishment of such institutions. The Legislature, in the following year, passed an act providing for the establishment of two normal schools, one of which was to be at Bowling Green. By a special arrangement entered into by the owners of the Southern Normal School and the State of Kentucky, the former institution which had operated in Bowling Green under private ownership since 1889, was transferred to the State and dedicated to the training of teachers in Western Kentucky.

Under the direction of Dr. Cherry, the college expanded until in 1911 it was transferred to its present site on College Heights. Dr. Cherry also was largely responsible for the bill put through the 1922 Legislature authorizing expansion of the curriculum to the full four years of college work, and giving the college the right to grant appropriate degrees. As president of Western Normal, Dr. Cherry insisted upon high educational standards that enabled the college to meet requirements that admitted it into membership in the American Association of Teachers Colleges, the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and the State Association of Universities and Colleges.

College Head Dies

Dr. H. H. Cherry.

Warren County Native.

In addition to his educational work, Dr. Cherry took a leading part in public affairs.

Born in Warren County, Kentucky, November 18, 1864, he obtained his early education in the public schools of Bowling Green. He continued his studies in the Southern Normal and Business College, from which he was graduated in 1889.

During the World War, Dr. Cherry served as a member of the boards of both the State and National Council of Defense, and was chairman of State publicity.

He took an active part in church affairs, and was a steward of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Dr. Cherry was married in Nashville, Tenn., to Miss Bessie Lysle Fayne, daughter of the late Dr. Fayne of Crab Orchard, Ky. They had three daughters.

One of Nine Sons.

His birthplace was a log home nine miles from Bowling Green, and he was the seventh of nine boys. Only one, T. C., who for forty-two years has superintended the public schools of Bowling Green, survives him.

There was eight inches of snow on the ground January 22, 1885, when he walked to Bowling Green and entered the old Southern Normal School. He first taught in a penmanship school at Scottsville, before he finished college, and later at Gainesville.

Figures on the growth of Western Normal testify to his ability as a school executive. In 1892, enrollment totaled twenty-eight. In 1936, there were 4,061 students.

He undertook many outside activities. Once he entered a race for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Kentucky, but withdrew because of illness. In 1913, he organized and directed the Farmer's Chautauqua, which gained national fame in 1917.

Former Head of K. E. A.

To aid Western students, he organized the College Heights Foundation, student loan agency chartered in 1923. Already it has made more than 4,500 loans, totaling above $175,000. It has also backed many college projects, such as the Kentucky Building, the Colonial Gardens, and others.

One of the creative influences in the Kentucky Education Association, he headed it in 1902 and again in 1926, the only man yet honored with two terms. He was a K. E. A. director for thirty years.

He published two books, "Our Civic Image," and "Education, the Basis of Democracy," and wrote many magazine articles. In 1917, the University of Kentucky awarded him a L.L.D.

Longest-Term College Head.

His continuous tenure of forty-five years made him the oldest teachers' college president, in point of service, in the United States. That record was only equalled in the Nation's history by A. C. Boyden of Bridgewater, who served 1860 to 1906. During his lifetime, more than 60,000 students passed under his immediate influence.

His body will lie in state at the college chapel from 9:30 a.m. Tuesday to 12 noon. There will be a private funeral at his home at 3 p.m. Tuesday, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Paul Shell Powell, pastor of the State Street Methodist Church. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Miss Georgia McElwain,

My dear Miss McElwain:

Your esteemed favor is received. I want to say in the first place that your statements concerning your subscription and your payments are accurate, and that I regret very greatly that the clerical error occurred. Of course, you will understand that it was not my error. The statement was sent over to my office with many others by the College Heights Foundation. I am sure you will understand how easy an error of this kind was made by the College Heights Foundation in as much as the two subscriptions were made at the same time. It was only a clerical error. The records show that all of the payments which you have made were entered correctly. I can't tell you how much I appreciate your spirit in this matter.

I am greatly interested in the construction of the Kentucky Building. It is a big job, but it will go over some of these days and will be the talk and the pride of Kentucky. I am assuring you that every dollar you contribute will be turned into a dollar's worth of life. I note what you say concerning some relics which have been promised by one of your friends, but that since that time he has died. I hope you will keep in touch with the family and help us in our efforts to get every relic available. We are greatly in need of these things. Possibly you know that we have set aside two big rooms in the Library that are under careful supervision and under lock and key, and that is where we are assembling many specimens at this time. We already have a fine collection, and many new ones are coming in. They family to whom you refer may be willing to donate these relics now. However, this is a matter for you to determine. The foundation of the Kentucky Building is completed. We shall put up the walls and put it under roof before the next General Assembly. Of course, the building will be completed. Any collection of relics sent in at this time will be greatly appreciated. We are already getting a real collection.

Let me again assure you of a very great appreciation for your letter and for the contribution you have made. The institution was never in better shape than it is now. The outlook is fine and we are looking forward to the opening of our next semester on February 2nd.

With all good wishes, I am

Fraternally yours,

Miss Georgia McElwain
100 Fountain Avenue
Paducah, Kentucky

Dear Miss McElwain:

My delay in replying to your letter of March 24 has been due to the fact that I had difficulty in talking over your program with some of the other people concerned.

According to our records, you have completed 8 hours in English on the graduate level. I presume that you would expect to make English your graduate minor. You have $19\frac{1}{2}$ hours in education, which will be a fairly satisfactory undergraduate basis for a graduate major in this field. You will receive graduate credit for all work done in education, but it looks as if you will have to earn most of the additional credits for the master's degree in the field of education. I think the remainder of your graduate work would be distributed approximately as follows:

Education courses - - - - 14 hrs. ?
Investigations in English - 2 hrs. + 2 hrs.
Seminar and thesis - - - - 4 hrs.

20 + 8

Of course you will understand that this proposed program would be subject to slight variations according to your needs and the opportunities offered at the time you are in attendance at the institution.

Your seminar and thesis will be credited on your major in education, but you would be permitted to write the thesis in the field of English provided it has a professional slant or viewpoint.

I see no reason why you should not be able to complete requirements for the degree in two more summer sessions provided, of course, you could write a satisfactory thesis within that period.
