THE BULLETIN

TAYLOR'S CHAPEL A. M. E. CHURCH

SEVENTH STREET

Our Motto:

Excelsior et Excelsior Semper

Our Aim:

A Greater Taylor's Chapel

VOL. I. Bowling Green, Ky., January 13th, 1924 NO. 2.

In our first issue we failed to mention the surprise given the pastor and wife by the members of dear old Taylor's; and also the neat little sum of $14.00 given as a Christmas token by Board No. 1.

Board No. 2 has been busy putting the parsonage in shape and making everything home-like and comfortable.

We extend our thanks to all.

Boards Nos. 1 and 2 met with Mrs. M. E. West, at the parsonage, 856 Eleventh street. Everything was nicely arranged and it was an enjoyable meeting. Drs. J. H. Abel, G. J. Colbert, and Misses Andrews, Beasley, Brown and Winlock were the special guests.

Mrs. Emerline Bibbs, 329 Center street, accidentally mashed her foot.

Miss Mattie^{} Smith, of Adams street, is suffering from a sprained ankle.

Mrs. Adams, on Center street, who has been on the sick list, is able to be out again.

Mr. Maurice Price has returned to his home in Chicago, Ill., after a holiday visit to Miss L. E. Goodall. Mr. Price's father, Rev. Green Price, now pastor of First A. M. E. church in Metropolis, Ill., was formerly pastor of Taylor's Chapel.

Miss Ora T. Porter, College street, is home again after spending the holidays away.

Mr. W. J. Hutcherson, of Adams street, has returned after spending the holidays out of the city.

Miss Birdie Jackson, 702 Kentucky street, and Mrs. Julia Lovall, 706 Kentucky street, are both on the sick list.

Prof. M. H. Shelbourne, Assistant Principal of Franklin School, spent a few hours in the city Sunday afternoon. He was the guest of one of our teachers.

Mrs. Emma Allen, chairman of Board No. 1, College street; Mr. Geo. Vick, 864 Eleventh street; Mrs. Carl Lynn, Eleventh street; Mr. Bill Williams, Fairground street, and little Mary E. Hines, the daughter of Mrs. Mazel Hines, Fairground street, are all on the sick list.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston Cox, prominent residents of East Broadway, celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Monday, January 7, 1924.

The beautiful suburban home was prettily decorated for the occasion and from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until nearly midnight friends were visiting the home and paying their compliments to Mr. and Mrs. Cox.

Mrs. Annie Willis, Mrs. M. W. Reed, Misses Leona K. Potter, Virginia Pryor and Mary R. Angel, were in the receiving line.

An excellent orchestra with Miss L. E. Goodall, pianist, Mr. Hal Steward, saxaphonist, and Messrs. L. V. Hutcherson and Pearson, drummers, furnished pleasing music throughout the evening.

Dozens of beautiful and useful silver gifts were presented.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Mary Simpson, sister of Mr. Cox and Mrs. Ethel Jameson, both of Terre Haute, Ind.

The Bulletin and its readers wish them many, many more years of happiness and success.

CHAUTAUQUA NOTES.

The Gatewood Chautauqua made many persons happy at Christmas time by sending out baskets of eatables and loads of coal.

The annual reception of the club was held at the home of Mrs. H. Swanagan, December 26. All enjoyed a pleasant evening.

The club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Millie Price and Mrs. Ella Helm at the residence of Miss Virginia N. Curd, 1269 Center street. A delicious salad course was served.

Mrs. Shad Haskins, a Chautauqua member, is ill at her home on Fifteenth street. We wish her a speedy recovery.

STATE ST. HIGH SCHOOL NEWS.

At the Literary Society of the State Street High School, January 4, 1924, the Junior class rendered a latin program.

The program was greatly enjoyed by all and much credit is due Miss R. L. Carpenter, teacher of latin and critic of State street High School Literary Society.

Coming soon. The Hawaiian Operetta, "The Ghosts of Hilo," presented by the students of State Street School.

Thrift Week will be observed by students next week. Among the speakers will be Dr. N. A. Cabell.

Mr. Thos. Pryor has returned to resume his studies at K. N. I. I. after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Pryor, 408 Chestnut street.

FRUIT OF THE SPIRIT

(Gal. 5:22-23.)

Love.

Joy—is love exulting.

Peace—is love in repose.

Long suffering—is love on trial.

Gentleness—is love out-flowing.

Goodness—is love in action.

Faith—is love in the battlefield.

Meekness—is love in school.

Self control—is love in training.

A Greater Taylor's Chapel is our aim.

A GREATER TAYLOR'S CHAPEL.

We are living in the greatest period of the world's history, a period unequalled in achievements of every kind, a period of opportunities and advantages, when the very atmosphere is filled with the spirit of progress and like an electric current it has flashed from Occidental to Oriental, producing by its mighty power geniuses of great ability.

The progressive spirit pervades the world everywhere, and men and women are stirred to action by its influence.

Progress is the command of the new era, and it is written in legible letters on all the sign boards along life's highway, and he that ignores the command will be hopelessly crushed beneath the feet of the advancing phalanx.

If men and women of yesterday thought it wise to advance, what is wrong with the application being made to us, the members and friends of proud, old, historical Taylor's Chapel?

For years you have been contented to worship in the church as it now stands. But this age demands a modern church with all the modern conveniences.

We have always been pace-setters and not emulators. Others must emulate, but we must set the examples.

This is not a time for criticism, as all critics have been classified. We have stopped our ears to the taunts of those that would oppose, and are pressing forward.

The Sunday School drive, the Bible query box, the envelope and Bulletin system, the fidelity of the members, the instructive and inspiring sermons, the sweet and melodious singing of the choir, and the cordial welcome that awaits all strangers and worshippers invites you to Taylor's Chapel, and speaks of a greater Taylor's Chapel in the making. It will be done, it shall be done, because the age demands it.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

This is the best school in Western Kentucky.

Enthusiasm is high. The campaign started Sunday at high tide with Class No. 2, Prof. W. M. Wilson, teacher, carrying away both banners.

Mr. C. M. Rhea, Assistant Superintendent and teacher of Class No. 3, and the other teachers, are working hard to take his scalp.

Bro. J. F. Moxley, District Supt. of Sunday Schools in the Bowling Green District, is with us each Sunday and helping us put over the program.

A Greater Taylor's Chapel, the Topic of today.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Sunday, January 13.

There will be three services today. Dr. J. H. Abel, P. E., will preach morning and evening. The pastor will preach this afternoon. Come and hear them.

Communion morning, afternoon and evening.

All the city pastors and their congregations are invited.

Each member is asked to register at one of the services at least.

Quarterly Conference Tuesday night, January 15th.

Church Conference Monday night.

Cottage Prayer Meeting will begin Wednesday night.

The class lists are now ready. See the Pastor and get yours.

The third Sunday in February will be Rally Day. Each church is asked to report.

Board No. 1 will meet with Mrs. M. B. Abel, 419 State street, Monday afternoon.

Board No. 2 will meet with Mrs. J. W. Keller, 410 Kentucky street, Tuesday afternoon.

Allen's Day Celebration, week of February 10th.

Our $8,000.00 Drive for Greater Taylor's Chapel will begin Sunday, January 20th, and end Sunday, May 25th.

A greater Taylor's Chapel is needed to accommodate the people.

CHURCH NEWS.

Sunday, January 6.

In spite of the cold wave that swept over the city Sunday, a goodly number of ardent worshippers appeared for worship at the Chapel.

Among the many visitors were Dr. J. H. Abel, P. E., Bowling Green District; Revs. D. Vaisher, Detroit, Mich., Souls, a pastor in the Paducah District, and Mr. Martin, of Tennessee.

Two sermons were delivered by the pastor At 11:00 A. M., Exemplification of the Christian Spirit; at 7:30 P. M., The Confidential Touch.

An interesting talk was given by Dr. Abel.

One joined the church: Wm. E. Crawford, 301 Chestnut street.

The envelope system was adopted and is meeting with much success.

The interest in a Greater Taylor's Chapel is growing.

The revival at State Street church is progressing.

CHOIR NEWS.

It is a joy to hear the sweet singing of the choir. There is such a complete harmony and blending of voices and the music produced is so irresistible and attractive that you will wonder if it is really the product of human beings.

But they are only preparing for service in Greater Taylor's Chapel.
