ANNUAL MEETING

Romanza Johnson and Sandra Dunn are to be commended for their effort in bringing the "action back to Main Street" during Preservation Week 1985. Activities began with over 80 members and guests attending Landmark's 5th Annual Meeting on May 13 at the Elks Lodge. This reception and dinner provided an opportunity to recognize those who have made contributions to historic preservation and economic development in Warren County.

This year's Heritage Award went to Jane Morningstar for her tireless efforts in promoting preservation. Since her involvement with establishing the organization in 1976, Jane has continued to serve Landmark through the Board of Directors and committee work. We are proud to have Jane's continuing support and commitment to Landmark's program of work.

1985 Landmark Awards were presented to six rehabilitation projects: the Barclay Building, 426 East Main Street owned by Maryruth Drescher; City Hall, 1001 College Street; Cooke Building, 433 Park Row owned by Alan Baker; Emily J. Gaines House, 730 State Street owned by Ron Ford; Jesse Building, 511-517 East 10th owned by the Harlin, Parker and Rudloff law firm; and the State Theatre, 929 College Street owned by Fountain Square Church. Hixson and Downey law firm was also presented an award for their rehabilitated portion of the Jesse Building.

Another fine slate of Directors was elected to serve for the 1985-86 year. Officers elected were Romanza Johnson, President; Bob Marko, Vice President; Betty Fulwood, Secretary; and Gary Murphy, Treasurer. Congratulations to Carol Burford, Suzie Coombs, Casey Lester, John C. Perkins, and Richard Wiesemann who have been newly elected to the Board.

A special thank you goes to Alan Baker, David Garvin, Riley Handy, John Parker, Jim Parrish and Sandra Smith who are leaving the Board after several years of support and hard work.

Preservation Week continued with several "Open Houses" sponsored by Alan Baker at the Cooke Building, 433 Park Row; Fountain Square Church, 929 College Street; Alma Hall at the Nahm Building, 422 East Main Street; and E.G. Monroe at the Tobias Grider House, 864 Fairview Avenue. Landmark had a successful turn-out and was able to recruit several new memberships during the week. Landmark appreciates the property owners for their generosity in sponsoring the Open Houses. We also want to thank Bonnie Berman, Alicia Derry, Barbara Ford, Bess Goidel, Virginia Gray, Wanda Jackson, Romanza Johnson, Lillian Kammer, Irene Love, Jo Ann Nedvidek, Bunny Owsley, Sandra Schaap, Sandra Smith and Becky Tomblinson for their volunteer work as hostesses.

Preservation Week provided a great opportunity for Landmark to introduce our organization and activities to the community. Landmark thanks everyone involved in making Preservation Week a success. These successes could not be accomplished without the continued support of our membership. We look forward to an even better 1985-1986 year.

GOOD LUCK KEVIN...

Kevin Hunter, Staff Assistant for Landmark the past four years has resigned to make a career move to the deep South. Kevin has accepted the position of Architectural Historian with the Mobile Historic Development Commission in Mobile, Alabama.

For the past several years Kevin has worked tirelessly "behind the scenes" in many of Landmark's programs and activities including responsibilities for putting out our monthly newsletter, assembling our book Architecture of Warren County, Kentucky 1790-1940, planning membership meetings, taking photographs, performing National Register and survey work, and numerous other duties that Landmark is involved with.

Kevin has made a significant contribution to Bowling Green/Warren County and to Landmark for which we are all appreciative. We will all miss Kevin, but wish him and his wife, Becky, all the best in their new home in Mobile.
