"The Fort" Is Unequaled As To Historical Interest

By Helen Henry

"The Fort," seat of a fine old Western tradition, occupies a place of historical interest unequalled by any other spot on the Hill. This unpretentious stone fortification, which forms the crown of the campus, is one of a chain of several forts partially or completely constructed by the Army of the Confederacy during the Civil War. The chain ran from Crab Orchard to Paducah. Nine forts were begun in and around Bowling Green, the largest two being on what are now College Heights and Reservoir Hill.

During the Rebel drive of autumn, 1861, General Simon Bolivar Buckner, occupied Bowling Green. A month later, General Albert Sidney Johnston, commander of the Western Conference Army, moved his headquarters to Bowling Green and began construction of the fort. However, the confederates held Bowling Green only until February, 1862. Forts Donelson and Henry had fallen to Grant and the Union forces, and Johnston feared that he would be caught in a trap by the Yankee advance up the Cumberland River from captured forts Henry and Donelson in Tennessee, and the overland advance of Buell's Union Forces from Munfordville would apply a pincers on Bowling Green. Therefore Johnston evacuated Bowling Green and moved to

Matherly, Henry Made Managers

Alva Marian Matherly and Helen Henry, sophomores on the Hill, have been named co-business managers of the College Heights Herald to succeed Don P. Newsom. Both Miss Matherly and Miss Henry served on the staff of the Herald last quarter. Miss Henry acted in the capacity of news editor, while Miss Matherly was a reporter and proof-reader.

A pre-law student, Miss Matherly is a member of the A. M. Stickles History club, Social Science club and Chorus and is treasurer of the sophomore class. Miss Henry is a pre-med student on the Hill, and is a member of the Chemistry-Physics and the Biology clubs. She also plays in Western's band. Both girls are from Central City, and while in high school were awarded the Quill and Scroll which is the symbol of membership in the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists. They also were members of the National Beta Club, a national honorary society for high school students. Miss Matherly was editor of the high school paper, and Miss Henry was news editor.

Mr. Newsom is now a student in the School of Dentistry, at the University of Louisville.

Current Events Hour Held Weekly

Among the highlights of the academic week of the aviation students of the 321st College Training Detachment is the current events period held every Saturday morning from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock in Van Meter Auditorium. Saturday, December 11, the guest speaker was Captain Gray, United States Army, retired. Captain Gray spoke to the aviation students for some 30 minutes telling them some of his experiences in the Army during that time. The highlights of the talk were various interesting anecdotes picked up on tours of duty in such places as Hawaii, South America, and the Southwest Pacific area.

The program was opened with the highlights of the Pacific, Mediterranean and Russian theaters of operations by A/S Marshall E. Bruce, A-S James L. Foley, and A-S William L. Orancke, respectively. Also on the program was a G. I. movie on the battle of the high seas and a comedy short entitled "The Care and Peeling of the 8mm. Potato."

These Saturday morning programs which were inaugurated by Sgt. Lerner of the 321st College Training Detachment have now passed the experimental stage and are more or less an institution of the Detachment. The original plan was to

Word Received From Lt. Teborek

Mrs. Mildred Teborek, wife of Lieutenant Ray Teborek, 26 years old, of Cicero, Illinois, and a Western student from September 31 to September 30 had a very happy Christmas indeed.

Mrs. Teborek received word that her husband had arrived at an un-stated destination from a Japanese prison camp near Maulmein, Burma. Lieut. Teborek had been reported missing in action February 24, 1942, after the fall of Java.

Mrs. Teborek, a former army nurse met Lieut. Teborek when he was with the 19th bombardment group. The unit went to the Philippines in October 1941.

Teborek in a letter to his wife stated that there were 20,000 Australian, Dutch, English and American prisoners quartered in very plain huts in the Burma camp.

Lieut. Teborek does not yet know that he is the father of a 20-month old daughter, Carolyn Diane.

Toppers Face Tough Schedule

After returning from an unsuccessful trip through New York, Philadelphia, and Buffalo, and buckling down to take the next two games with all ease, Coach Diddle's Hilltoppers face four of the hardest teams on their schedule during the next two weeks.

Yesterday the Toppers left on a week-end trip on which they will meet Morehead State tonight at Morehead, and Marshall College tomorrow night at Huntington, West Virginia. Morehead is recognized as one of the strongest aggregations in Kentucky, having sliced both Murray and Berea during last week-end's tilts. Marshall also downed the Thoroughbreds last Saturday by a score comparable to that of the Morehead-Murray game.

Next Wednesday night, the improved Diddlemen go against the Fort Knox Post Team on their own hardwood.

A week from tomorrow, the most highly publicized cage match in Kentucky is scheduled to be enacted at Murray when the Red and Gray team meets its arch rival, Murray State. To date Coach John Miller's Thoroughbreds have had a rough road through their schedule, but when pitted against the Toppers, they will undoubtedly come forth

Don't Make Resolutions and Then Not Stick To Them

Rather than provide the reader with a humorous feature on New Year's resolutions, the problems ahead for college students and faculty alike, demand a more serious attitude toward 1944.

Undoubtedly, none of us keep our so-called resolutions throughout a given year. Above all, rather than make them and break them, either do not make them at all or else inform yourself that you will endeavor to do better—then "stick to it."

None of us with bad habits can change them in a day, but all of us can do our best. Although one may possess the determination and have an aim in view, only persistent steps in the right direction will mean success. One may wander endlessly, yet never reach his goal. So may a student intend to carry out resolutions in 1944, but only through repeated effort with the best attitude, will he do so without failure. Cheating oneself by breaking his own rules is much worse than not making any rules at all.

You cannot make a resolution that you can win the war. But you can live up to your standards to be a good citizen and not hinder the war's termination. When carrying out your resolution, however, do not make the other fellow pay for your achievements.

Yes, this is really a serious problem—about resolutions. But you don't really have to make them, you know. You can just try, can't you?

Women Needed In Marine Corps

Women are needed for enlistment in the Women's division of the United States Marine Corps Reserves, according to a release forwarded to the Herald by Staff Sgt. Lawrence H. McCullough of the local Marine Recruiting division.

Women may become skilled in one of many different trades while serving in the Marines. These trades include accountants, aerographers, bookkeepers, hairdressers, aircraft mechanics, motion picture operators, and many others with pay equaling that of enlisted men in the armed service. For enlisted women, pay will range from $50.00 per month to $138.00 per month. For commissioned officers the range is from $150.00 to $250.00 per month, plus allowance for subsistence.

Information as to entrance requirements may be secured by writing to or applying in person at the local recruiting office in room 310 at the Post Office Building.

Women who enter the Women Reserve of the Marine Corps will free a Marine to fight, just as will women in the WAACS, the WAVES, and the SPARS when they free a man in these branches of the fighting forces.

Lieut. Holbrook Is War Prisoner

Word has just been received by a member of Western's faculty, from Lieutenant Charles Holbrook of the Army Air Corps.

Lieutenant Holbrook is, at present, in a prison camp, to which he has been confined since his plane was shot down over neutral territory. This letter is a reply to one written to him in October, 1943, containing the first news he had received from the Hill in eight months.

Lieutenant Holbrook said that the food there is good and the people are friendly. He is allowed to go to the shows and even though they are rather old ones they are in English. He is also permitted to play football, soft ball, bridge and other games of that sort. He says, "Social life isn't so good, as the native women aren't at all friendly—that is, they don't appeal to me."

One of his greatest interests on the Hill concerns Coach Diddle and the basketball team. Since the letter to which he was replying was written in October, before the basketball season began, no mention of the team was made, but since then every effort has been made to keep him posted as to the activities of Western's basketball team.

Are You Missing Something?

Rumors have been going around the campus that chapel is to be made compulsory, that counts are being made on the number of students attending chapel. Whether it is a "whispering campaign" or the truth is not the point. The point is: have we, as Western students, become so lackadaisical, so negligent, so careless that the idea of compulsory chapel attendance has ever been considered by someone—the faculty, the administrators, or even a student? Are we guilty of missing one of our greatest opportunities while enrolled as a student of Western Kentucky State Teachers College?

Within those walls of Van Meter have been presented outstanding programs for us. We have heard Rubinoff, Basil Gauntlett, great speakers, Roy Harris, and others too numerous to name. Besides these, however, we have heard our own Western people, who are so close to our hearts—President Garrett, "Uncle Billy," the college musical organizations, Mr. Diddle and his boys, Mr. Henderson—it was there we heard Mr. Strahm play his own "Normal March."

Our President would not choose the programs if he did not believe they would be of benefit to us and that each was worthy of our attendance. As students in a democracy, therefore, let's be at chapel each time—and not because we have to but because we want to be there. Be there because we know that if we are not there, we shall be missing something—a vital part of our college education.

Facts About The Fourth War Loan

GOAL
The sale of $14,000,000,000 worth of War Bonds, 3 billions of these to be "E" Bonds, the People's Bonds.

MISCELLANEOUS
The national debt will reach about $200 billions by June 30, 1944.

Interest on this debt will run close to $4 billions, about 2.5 per cent of national income. Tax revenues will be ten times as big as interest charges.

Consumer expenditures in Fiscal 1944 are estimated at $90 billions. Had prices remained at 1940 levels, they would have been $70 billions. If people had put the difference in War Bonds, they could still have bought just as much, and their insurance, pensions, etc., would have been worth more today.

Four-fifths of the nation's income is earned by people in the $5,000-or-less bracket. To check inflation, the bulk of saving must be done by them.

Bond dollars are used as follows:

- 19c for aircraft
- 12c for ordnance and signal equipment
- 10c for navy and army vessels
- 4c for merchant ships
- 11c for miscellaneous munitions
- 14c for war construction
- 25c for non-munitions war items (pay, subsistence, travel, export, commodities, etc.)
- 5c for non-war uses.

The Civil War cost $3,348,369,000. The First World War cost $35,413,000,000. (But for inflation it would have cost only $25,000,000,000.)

By the second anniversary of Pearl Harbor, we had produced 150,000 aircraft and were approaching a rate of 10,000 a month.

It May Be You -

By Martha Baine Courtney.

Do you go with a cadet? Do you know any cadets? If so, watch your step and be careful because you may be a very lucky girl.

The Aviation Students of the 321st College Training Detachment are seeking the Queen of the Hill. Among the requirements the Queen must have are: good looks, personality, figure, and general sex appeal. Some of the things that would be nice to have, although they are not requisites, are: being a good date, a good sport, and having enough sense to "come in out of the rain." This last requirement is definitely not compulsory girls, so don't start worrying yet.

Each Squadron will meet and make a list of three girls they think most nearly meet these requirements. From these lists the Queen will be chosen.

Oh, yes, and the reward? The lucky girl will be honor guest for the day at Saturday inspection. She'll troop the line, eat in the mess hall, inspect, and be "Officeress of the Day." Sounds pretty nice, doesn't it?

HILLTOPICS

By Muriel Dann

Many queer, funny, and sad stories have been told by different Westerners who attended the basketball games up East—they probably will be told and retold many times. One of the best, however, concerns a certain bet made on the Western-Brooklyn game, by Pvt. Lowell Harrison, a reporter on the Herald last year, with his roommate, a former Brooklyn College student. The bet was this: If Western won, Lowell's roommate had to say "you all" for a week every time he would usually have said "youse guys;" and, of course, if Brooklyn won, Lowell saying "youse guys?" Never mind, Lowell, another basket and it would have been a different story.

—HILLTOPICS—

I know you all noticed the Christmas card that was posted recently on the bulletin board of Cherry Hall—"To the faculty and students, Greetings and best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, from the 321st College Training Detachment." In answer to that I say, "the same to you." You-all have become a part of the Hill, and our best wishes are with you now, and will be, wherever you go, after you leave Western.

—HILLTOPICS—

Again I want to remind you to write that friend of yours in the armed forces. It only takes a few minutes of your time, and it means so much to "him." Just imagine yourself on a lonely desert isle with no news from home for months—picture yourself in a Japanese prison camp with a barbed wire fence holding you, and with no familiar faces to cheer you. Don't be one that will have to gullibly say, if he should be reported "missing" or "wounded," "I should have written him." That letter of yours may be what he needs for added strength necessary to hold on. You can't expect him to want to "hold on," if he thinks no one at home cares. Show him you do, and that you are worth fighting for.

—HILLTOPICS—

A good plan for life is to remember that life is not merely living—it is having something to live for. Are you just "living"?

Quotable Quotes

"The biggest job of the civilian students at Massachusetts State, from the immediate, military point of view, is to assure, in every way possible, the success of the local cadet training program, so that future air fighters will be effectively prepared for the crucial combat task ahead of them," stated Major Starr King recently.

"The biggest job of the civilian students, from the long-range point of view of the general welfare of our commonwealth and our country, is to prepare themselves, professionally and culturally, for the tremendous problems of post-war readjustment. These problems will tax our knowledge and mental skill to the utmost. We must meet them with maximum resources. In college, we develop these resources," Major King said, in an address that keynotes the wartime aims of training at Massachusetts State College and for the nation's colleges as a whole.

"A man searches for wisdom both in himself and in the experience of other men. The man with the gifted or educated mind has the capacity for sensing the richness and variety of much of this vast experience, for distilling from it its essential features, or principles, for appraising the relative value of its promises and possibilities for him and for incorporating them into the expression of his life, being what he is in the society in which he lives." Dr. Victor Lloyd Butterfield points up the place of the liberal arts school in man's search for wisdom in his inaugural address as president of Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.

"If liberal education ever had any worth, it has more in time of war. With all the world in a state of flux, it is the responsibility of the institutions of higher learning to make clear the present significance of this struggle and to educate the men and women who will shape the future at its cessation."

"The bells of education are as important as the bugles sounding the call for technical skill. Without the latter the war could not be won; without the former the victory would be worthless."—From the Hamline University Oracle.

"There will be a gigantic era of sport following the war. The government will take a more active part in sports than it ever has before—for it foresees an America in the future which will have shorter working hours and many more hours of leisure for its people. To maintain a healthy America, both physically as well as morally, the United States government must and will design widespread competitive athletic programs during this war period, in order to "sow the seeds," as General MacArthur sagely remarked, "which will eventually bear the fruits of victory."—Schroeder in the Los Angeles City College Collegian.

Bob Wilson, class of '43, writes from Little Creek, Virginia, where he is training in the Amphibious Force, that all is well but that he has a little job to do for Uncle Sam before he can get back to see all the old gang on the Hill. He sends best wishes to President Garrett, Dr. Stevens, Dr. Lancaster, Mr. Ivan Wilson, Mr. L. T. Smith and many others. He closes by saying that until he can help score this last touchdown and kick the point and until all those who were a part of the Western he knew can come back and have a bull session on how Western used to beat hell out of Murray, he remains yours very truly,

The above news from these twenty-four Western graduates will be welcomed by many, I am certain, but wouldn't you like to know more about each of them? Of course you would. Well, did you hear that? The only solution... write a long letter to your columnist, R. C. Hornback, Route 4, Louisville, Ky. Do it today.

Thanks, Steve Wilson of the Pleasureville High School in Pleasureville, Ky. for your recent letter. I appreciate your interest in the Alumni Flashes. I enjoy being of service to the many splendid Western graduates, and I assure you that if it were not for the loyalty and interest that you and thousands of others have for Western, it would be impossible for me to write a column of this type. I read with interest the fact that for seventeen years you have had from two to twelve Western grads on your faculty, but I regret very much that you are not fortunate enough to have one on your faculty at present. I know Morgan Gillock, '26, and Bess Salmon Carter, '28, of whom you speak. Mr. Gillock's friends will be glad to hear that he is principal of the Sulphur High School, and friends of Mrs. Carter will be glad to know that she has retired to keep house for her husband, Dr. Carter.

We are also glad to have a letter from Judge J. E. Wood, County Judge of Muhlenberg. He writes that his brother Dink, who played basketball for the... is in Sicily, and that "Woody," who was drum major of the Western band, is in the Air Corps. Let's have a longer letter "Judge" about you and your work.

Several days ago, from Louisville, Robert L. Pay, Western grad and former member of the Herald staff, gave me a pleasant surprise by calling me for a chat. Pay, in the U. S. Coast Guard Service at San Francisco, California, is assistant editor of the Barracks Watch, the barrack's newspaper. He informed me that he came East to arrange his marriage with Juanita Short of Ames, Iowa.

Every week down at Curtiss-Wright Airplane Corporation I meet another Western graduate. Robert Layman was employed last week as an instructor in the Quality Control Department. Sarah Margaret (Claypool) Evans, '38, is a chemist in the Materials laboratory. Robert S. Oliver, BS '30, better known as "Soup," is in the Customer Contact Department. "Soup" married Lilian Von Gruenigen, a student of Western, and is the father of Robert, 12; Martha, 10; Gerald 8; Lanville, 7; and Pamela, 5 months. He taught and coached at Marion, Ky., in 1930-31, and taught in the Louisville schools in 1933. From 1933-37 he was engaged in the wholesale and retail milk and ice cream business and from 1937-42 in the vending and amusement machine business. A. W. Holmes, '32, is a Sub-Contract Representative at Curtiss-Wright. Be-

After a short furlough with his parents, his wife, and other members of his family, he has been instructed to report to the hospital at San Diego, Calif. for a check over and possibly additional treatment. Lieut. Forsythe graduated from Western with the AB degree in '40, and before his enlistment was superintendent of schools in Scottsville.

Coach E. A. Diddle has received many cards and letters from former Western students and athletes now in service. Among these were cards from Lieut. Nick Latkovic now in Great Britain; Alex Downing, England; and Lieut. Roger Woodward of the air corps, Africa.

Captain Frank H. Moore, AB '36, a former resident of Bowling Green, is now stationed in the Southwest Pacific with the Medical Corps.

Word has just been received that Geraldine E. Gray, Ph. M 3-c, BS '42, is now at Wave quarters, U. S. Naval Hospital, Seattle 4, Washington. "Jerry" as she was known by her friends on the Hill, was formerly at New River, North Carolina. She was transferred from New River just before another Westerner, "Buck" Sydnor arrived—they just missed each other by a few hours.

hope coming to Curtiss he was in the coal and lumber business. He served some time as teacher, coach and principal in the McCreary County High School, directing the band and playing some professional golf. A. W. married Virginia Prichard of Barren County and has two children, Linda, 2½, and Nancy, six months old.

Your columnist would like to congratulate Charles Vettner, Kentucky basketball clinic director, now teacher at Fairdale High school in Jefferson County, on his ability to travel over Kentucky with only half enough gas. Charles, a Western grad of basketball and tennis fame, for one buck and a half drove his car into a moving van at Cincinnati and rode seventy-five miles to Maysville, the only rub being that he had to ride in his own car for the darkest ride he had ever experienced.

Dr. John Vincent, head of the Western music department, was complimented in Modern Music, a quarterly review published by the League of Composers. The review tells that the origin of Dr. Vincent's inspiration was by the Mother Goose Characters of "Jack-Be-Nimble," "Jack Spratt," and "The House that Jack Built." Following the informal reading, the semi-formal concert presentation revealed some intriguing writing carrying out the nursery lore aptly in musical terms. In the third section, which is particularly attractive, each character is introduced and added, then carried back to the original theme.

In Musical America, Dr. Vincent's work is described as "clever, likeable music." "It is good writing and shows lively imagination."

While professor at western, Dr. Vincent has gained recognition, not only for his musical compositions, but for his musical instruction books used in various schools in Kentucky.

Dean F. C. Grise has an article on "Education and Human Progress" in the November issue of the Peabody Journal of Education. This November issue is an all-editorial issue, written by a large number of educators from different parts of the country.

Miss Ercell Egbert has returned to the campus to resume her duties as a member of the history department. During the fall quarter of '43 she attended the University of Chicago where she studied various phases of history putting particular emphasis upon Far Eastern history.

Dr. Bert R. Smith of the education department spoke at the Business University Chapel Thursday morning, January 6, at 10:30 o'clock. His subject was "What of 1943 and 1944."

"The Fort" Is Unequaled As To Historical Interest

Nashville while Buckner was sent to Russellville to recruit troops. The next day Yankee General Ormsby M. Mitchell's Union forces moved in and this army completed the fortifications. Among officers in command of the Union forces was Colonel Benjamin Harrison, later President of the United States. The Union forces held their positions in Bowling Green until the end of the war, confederates never again being active in Western Kentucky except in solitary and rather disorganized sorties.

Due to the erection of campus buildings, the fort does not occupy as great space as originally. The open end of the fort faced the northeast, the sides extending down on a line through the center of the present site of Western's library and to the north corner of Cherry Hall. Around the outside rock walls of the fortification ran the most. Powder marks from the blasting of limestone by Rebel soldiers may still be seen on the walls of the walkway under the water tower.

Behind the library is a mound, filled in, to form an outdoor stage. It is not a part of the fort, but was formerly used in staging outdoor productions. Against the side of the mound rests a metal tablet bearing the name of Fort Johnston and a condensed history of the events concerning its erection. The tablet was purchased by the A. M. Stickles History Club and the school when the fort was named and integrated as a vital part of the campus.

New buildings may be added, the Hill may change greatly through the years, but Fort Johnston will remain, a dignified and beloved tradition, a part of history never to be forgotten.

Last year Capt. Bell served several months temporary duty at Camp Perry, Ohio, being re-ordered to the ROTC department in August.

Lieut. Eaddy was graduated from Clemson College in 1940. He was assigned to the ROTC unit in October, 1942, to serve on the staff of Col. Gordon R. Catts.

Aviation Students Spend Christmas With Local People

Bowling Green people opened their doors this past Christmas season and filled the vacant places at their tables with the boys on the Hill.

It was not one of those very obvious, noble gestures—the townspeople were simply imbued with the good, old-fashioned kind of Christmas spirit. And more than that, entertaining a boy away from his home makes one feel mighty good. Think how grateful you are when your own special service man gets to spend a day in a real home away from somewhere.

Many of the aviation students wrote home about their Christmas dinner, and a flood of letters reached the Bowling Green hostesses from grateful and appreciative mothers all over the country.

It was a happier Yuletide season for everyone concerned. Seems a shame that every Sunday dinner table does not have a boy in uniform on one side of it.

Final Class Meetings Of Fall Quarter Held

Class meetings were held as scheduled Tuesday, December 7. The programs were as follows:

The freshmen met at the usual time and their program was as follows: Misses Vivian Hines, Mary Gladys Myers and Doris Blewett, a trio, with Martha Stevens accompanying them. Doris Blewett sang a solo, accompanied by Norma Jean Allen. Another solo was sung by Patricia Sicking with Martha Stevens at the piano. Gene Stewart rendered a trumpet solo, David Helm accompanied him.

The business of the last meeting of the sophomores for this quarter was withheld, while Carlotta Hazelip, Peggy Walls and Marion Patterson sang "Let's Remember Pearl Harbor" and "Put Your Arms Around Me." This was followed by Hilton Sisk's singing of "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and "My Wild Irish Rose." Near the close of the meeting Mr. Loudermilk made a short talk.

The junior class met at the Cedar House. Doris Darter played a piano solo. Gene Stewart played "Intermezzo" on the trumpet, L. C. Acton and Reeves Morgan played a duet on trombones—"I'm Getting Sentimental Over You," and Emily Ogden sang a solo, accompanied by Mr. Arthur Henderson. Another feature was a quiz on slogans.

The highlight of the senior meeting was a contest between several of the seniors. The class president, George Riggs, gave a talk centered on "Pearl Harbor—Your Victory." Dr. Moore gave a farewell speech to the seniors leaving at the close of the quarter.

Arthur Gullette has resigned as instructor of physical education at the University of Kentucky to accept a position with the Gary, Indiana, Y. M. C. A. as physical director.

Outstanding Articles Selected

Ten outstanding magazine articles for December have been selected by a Council of Librarians. Heading the list is "The Future of Air Transport," by William Burden in Atlantic Monthly. As Mr. Burden is chairman of the War Aviation Committee, Americans will know the restrictions that must be lifted and the responsibilities that are to be assumed if the airplane is to become the peaceful carrier of man. "Approaches to Tokyo" in Fortune consists of two articles which attempt to penetrate the fog obscuring the Rising Sun. Not only is the reader informed of the present state of Japanese war economy, but he is informed also of the investigation by a philosopher of the workings of the Japanese mind. "The Only Road to Peace," by Dorothy Thompson, in American Mercury, surveys the Pax Romana (Roman Empire) and the Pax Britannica (Balance of Power) methods of preventing war, together with a plea for gradually developing international order as the only road to peace in our times. "Canada Swings to the Left," by William Henry Chamberlin, in Harpers, answers many questions about politics north of the border concerning the new socialistic party in Canada, rapidly gaining strength. The story of "The Oleomargarine Rebellion," by Wesley McCune, in Harpers brings the struggle between margarine and butter into the open again and the anti-margarine interests are no longer united. "Cracking the German Dams," by Wing Commander Guy P. Gibson, in Atlantic Monthly, relates one of the most interesting personal experience stories of the war. "Our Foreign Policy Goes Realist," by Kingsbury Smith, in American Mercury interprets authoritatively, the new policy of the state department, concerning what measures can be taken in the post war world. "The Tennessee River Goes to War," by Katherine Glover in Survey Graphic tells of the development of the Tennessee Valley as a lesser Great Lakes in Mid-America. Freight is moving by river as in the last century. "Moscow, Atlantic City, and Points Ahead," by Luther Gulick in Survey Graphic, shows how the United Nations may next take the "first bold steps toward the practicable working realization of a thing called freedom from want." "Bomb the Axis from America," by Major Alexander P. de Seversky in American Mercury urges that we stop the construction of naval ships and devote our major efforts to the building of long range super-bombers to cripple the Axis countries directly from our own show, insuring a speedy victory.

The new student officers of the 321st College Training Detachment will take office Monday, January 17. The new officers are listed as follows:

- Student Group Commander—Wilbert J. Tichacek.
- Adjutant, George A. Reid.
- Supply Officer—Basil O. Read.
- Sgt. Major—Barney Sutton.

College High Seniors Choose Cast For Play

V. Clark; Henry Quinn—Phillip Binzel; Lucybell Lee—Ernestine Clinton; Preston Hughes—Don Harris, Jr.; Nick—Joe Fox; Hanky—Carl Barnes; Bull—Bob Thompson; Patty—Raymond Reader.

Last year's production "Young April" was such a success that the students are looking forward to working on "Ever Since Eve."

Aviation Student Receives Honor

Aviation Cadet Danford E. Josey Jr., of Scotland Neck, North Carolina, has been selected by officers and instructors at the Southern Aviation School in Georgia as the outstanding cadet of the class 44, for meritorious achievements in aerial flights, academics, military bearing and athletics.

Cadet Josey was a student at Wake Forest College before being accepted for cadet training. He later became a member of the college training detachment of Western and is the second cadet in succession from here to be cited for outstanding performances at Southern Aviation. During pre-flight training at Maxwell Field, Alabama, Josey was guide sergeant of his flight. He excelled in baseball and basketball and was a member of the tennis team at Bowles School, Jacksonville, Florida. As the outstanding cadet he received a gold medal presented by Major Leonard M. Hauprich, commanding officer of the 64th.

Toppers Play In East During Holidays

Temple Trounces Toppers, 67-48

A surprisingly strong Temple University quintet slapped the Western Hilltoppers their second loss of the Eastern trip December 28, when the Owls captured a half-time lead and rolled to an easy victory by a 67-48 score at Convention Hall in Philadelphia.

Western led after the first 10 minutes of play and momentarily it seemed as if the Toppers had the game under control. It was at this point, however, that the Owls' tiny Al Ingerman found the range for his uncanny long shots and tore the Westerners defense to shreds.

Ingerman's long ones drew the Hilltoppers' outer defense to the center of the floor to such an extent that the Temple forwards had every opportunity to toy with Western's goal at will, consequently running up a margin over the Diddlemen that was the worst a Western team had suffered in years.

"Deacon" Jones was the only Topper who could connect with the goal in the first half. He collected 12 tallies, but with no other teammate adding to his scoring, the sledding was tough.

The second half saw three Western regulars signaled from the count

Air Center Hands Toppers First Loss

Western's first loss of the current hardwood season, and one which came as a blow to most of the Big Red followers, was administered December 16 by the Nashville Army Air Center to the tune of 47 to 33 at the Air Center recreation hall in Nashville.

The air men, whose roster boasted even more stars than at the first meeting with the Hilltoppers, lost no time in getting down to business and gaining an early lead which they held throughout the fracas.

Even though the star-studded service team outclassed the Toppers, the Diddlemen were not up to par last night, and had they put forth their usual quality of play, the contest would have been decidedly closer.

Leading the flyers with 20 points was Solomon, former All-Southeastern Conference star, followed by Mulaney with 12 counters. Three men in the starting lineup had joined the air men since their last encounter with Western, which the Toppers won, 35-33. These stars hailed from South Carolina State, University of Montana, and City College of New York.

For the Diddlemen, Huter and Gossett paced the attack with seven counters apiece.

Hilltoppers Rally Against Canisius

Led by "Deacon" Jones, Coach Diddle's Hilltoppers fought a hard second half to bring a 15-point half time deficit to 4 points in their game with Canisius College at Buffalo, New York, New Year's night.

The fray opened with Mike Syracuse hitting a long shot for Canisius, which was followed by a mate by Gossett to knot the count. For the first five minutes of play it could easily have been anyone's ball game, but when the home town boys hit four fielders in a row, the Toppers took a rear seat for the remainder of the first half.

Western's towering center kept the Toppers in the game for the first 20 minutes by caging six baskets, to keep the score respectable as the rivals raced from end to end, at a breakneck pace.

Canisius' long shots, unusual for the flashy quintet, sent the score to 37-22, at the half-way mark.

The return to play, however, saw an entirely different story. Western turned on all the fast-breaking and speedy plays it had to blister the more or less confident Griffins, and to hold them scoreless while racking up seven points for themselves.

Hal Gilmore, former College High star, who has been improving considerably in the last few weeks and shows promise of becoming a future Topper star. The 17-year-old freshman wasn't able to make the trip to play Morehead and Marshall this weekend because of back injuries.

Brooklyn Edges Western, 36-35

Coach Diddle's Hilltoppers got off to a bad start on their Christmas season jaunt, when they met Brooklyn College in Madison Square Garden Christmas night and lost a game which most spectators say should have been all theirs.

The game, dropped by a score of 36 to 35 was Western's third loss in six starts on the Garden floor.

The first five minutes of the encounter saw a seesaw score, and from a 5-5 deadlock at that point, the Kentucky boys jumped to a 16-9 lead in the next five minutes only to hit a slump. The intermission saw the scoreboard read 20-17, with the Toppers holding the advantage.

Brooklyn came back strong in the second stanza, and pulled into the lead after Jim Callis left the game via the personal foul route. Twice before the New Yorkers gained their final lead, the Toppers knotted the score, but the Brooklyn boys moved ahead from a 30-30 tie to a lead they never relinquished.

Bob Gillaspie led the Red and Gray boys with 10 tallies, while Paul Rothfield paced the winners with 11 points.

Gillaspie 10, F 5, Kriegaman Callis 2, F 2, Whittlin Jones 9, C 8, Kaufler Huter 7, G 6, Leder Gossett 6, G 11, Rothfield. Substitutions: Western—Edmiston, Bales, Hayes, Mills 1, Gilmore; Brooklyn—Cole 4.

Receive Word Of Athlete's Death

The notice of the death of Ensign Glenn R. Williams, former Western fullback, has been received by college officials. The notice stated that "Butterball," as he was familiarly known here, died on December 16 and was buried at Massillon, Ohio, on December 22. No information as to the cause of his death was given in the communication.

Ensign Williams graduated from Western after making an outstanding record in football for four years. His wife was the former Anna Margaret Guffey of Somerset, who attended Western from September, 1936 to January, 1938.

"Number One Basketball Player of the Year." That is the title given to Oran McKinney, All-American Western cage star, by Kentucky sports writers, and announced in Ruby's Report in the Courier-Journal, during a roundup of the sports events of last year. Along with the basketball title came the moniker of "Number Two Kentucky Athlete of the Year." More evidence of good coaching and careful training.

-W.K.T.C.-

To the Hilltopper squad have come three new players to offset the loss of two to the Armed forces. Bill Hayes, who made quite a name for himself on the Eastern jaunt, has been called to active duty with the Army Air Force. With Roy Mann, who was drafted earlier in the season, Hayes gives a total of two players lost so far this year.

Additions are Ken Bales, 6 foot center from Horse Cave, and Southwood, speedy little guard from Danville, who produced a good showing in the game with Louisville. Also a newcomer is Carol Brooks, fresh from the Training School, and showing good possibilities.

-W.K.T.C.-

"Most gracious coach." "A good loser as well as a graceful winner." Just two of the descriptive phrases which frequented the Eastern papers during the time which Coach Diddle spent in the Metropolitan area. The above two came from sports writers as the results of "Uncle Ed's" remarks to Doc Crowdie of Canisius after the game in Buffalo. "I'm not giving you the malarky, Doc," says Coach Diddle, "but you've got the best club we've played, and my boys turned in their top performance of the season. It took a good team to beat us."

-W.K.T.C.-

More compliments to Coaches Diddle and Hornback came from Ray Ryan, of the Buffalo Courier-Express, in his description of the Western-Canisius game. It was a bit underhanded, but still packed plenty of flavor as he pictured Western's iron men, "thriving on the fast growing, running like antelopes, a decided novelty for such tall fellows."

-W.K.T.C.-

A bit of a novelty for Bowling Green basketball fans will be on display Friday and Saturday, January 28 and 29, in the blind tournament slated for Western's gym on those nights. The tourney, which is to include Bowling Green High, College High, Simpson County High and Franklin, should hold interest in view of the fact that the entered teams will not know their opponents until just before their meeting. Also on the interest side of the page is the possibility that Bowling Green High and College High will come together somewhere in the playoff. That alone would be worth the price of admission.

-W.K.T.C.-

Making good in the high school cage world is a former Hilltopper star, Earl Shelton, who accepted the position of coach of the Daviss County High Panthers last fall, and already has placed his team in the list which includes the first ten high school squads in the state, according to Earl Ruby. Quite an honor for a coach making his debut.

-W.K.T.C.-

Following close in the footsteps of Ray Blevins, who made a name for himself in the Hilltoppers 1942 trip through the Eastern strongholds of basketball, was none other than Bill Hays. Although he was called into active duty by the Army Air Force immediately upon his return from this year's tussel with the big name teams, he made a great showing in the game with Temple University.

It might have been because the rest of the squad was not playing their usual game that his attempt appeared so sparking, but any way you look at it, we would have liked to have seen him stick around for awhile.

-W.K.T.C.-

The Toppers will undoubtedly have tough sledding as they go against Morehead and Marshall this weekend. Jim Huter, the sparkplug of the team, is out because of a bad ankle received in the tilt with the 718th Tank Battalion last Tuesday night. It will be the first time that the Red and Grey team has gone into battle without the little guard to spark them on, and will probably not be the same team, playing without one of their most steady cagers.

Lieut. Updegraff To Present Air Medal

The Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster will be presented to Mrs. Mayme T. Crutcher, mother of Staff Sgt. William C. Jagers, by Lieut. George S. Updegraff of the 321st Southwest Pacific area at the time place at Hart County Courthouse, Munfordville, at 7:30 Saturday, January 22. Staff Sgt. Jagers, who died for his country, was stationed in the Southwest Pacific area at the time of his death.

Hilltoppers Rally Against Canisius

the Toppers were from the free throw line or the immediate vicinity of the basket, as they crept up on the Griffins to a four-point margin as the buzzer sounded.

Jones led all scoring attempts with 20 points, and Huter came close behind with 17. Brunatte bagged 17 for the home town boys, as Sullivan and Syracuse gathered 11 and 10 respectively.

Toppers Defeat 718th Tank Team

It was all fun and no work as Western trampled over the 718th Tank Battalion of Camp Campbell, last Tuesday night on the Hilltopper's own court.

The Toppers grabbed the initiative at the first toot of the whistle, and for more than the first ten minutes held the soldiers scoreless. By the end of the first half Coach Diddle had substituted a complete second team in an effort to keep the scores reasonably close, but the tallies nevertheless stood at 36-7 as the boys left the hardwood for the intermission.

The second canto was the same story, even to the number of points made, except that the scoring was to the credit of different players. "Deacon" Jones opened with his first goal, soon after the period began, and toward the last "Buck" Atkinson bagged most of the markers.

Although the final period was begun by the five originals, the second team spent little time on the bench. It was during this last half that Elmo-Smith, Ken Bales, and "Buck" Atkinson, punched the hemp for six points each.

Had the Red and Gray boys sunk more of their shots the score would have reached to higher levels, but with lack of opposition they were lax, and numerous trials went wild.

High point man with 19 points to his credit was Jim Huter. Not far behind was Larry Jones with his 14 points, all made in the second portion of the game, and Bob Gillaspie, who carried away 13 counters.

Johnson and Krazenak led the Tanks with six points each.

Toppers Defeat U. of L. In First Tilt Of '44 By 20-Point Margin

Coach Diddle's Hilltoppers came from a four game slump last Saturday night to down the University of Louisville Sea Cards by a 20-point margin in Western's first home game of the new year.

The Toppers threw a tight defense around the seamen in an effort to hold their scoring, and for the first 12 minutes it was all Red and Gray, as the Diddlemen ran their margin to a 19-point advantage.

Jones sent the tip-off to a Western team mate, starting a dribble derby which lasted for 3 minutes until Whitehouse bagged a gratis shot, which was soon matched by Huter, tying the score. Huter, following his first point with a crip, carried the ball from the opponent's goal to score. Johnson laid the ball in the hoop one-handed to again knot the count, which proved to be the last time the visitors tasted anything close to victory.

It was Gillaspie, supported by Gilmore and Huter, who connected for the remaining tallies in the first half, but during the closing moments, the bluejackets found the range to move their part of the scoreboard around to 12 against Western's 26.

The last portion saw somewhat more fire and flash on the part of both teams, and the match began to capture a little more interest from the crowd.

In spite of all attempts of the Cards to whittle the lead Western held, they never came closer to the Topper score than 14 points.

Eleven Navy men saw service in their futile attempt, while Coach Diddle substituted his reserve freely with all confidence in a victory. Not among the high scorers, but nevertheless turning in an excellent performance was Hal Gilmore, the 17-year-old freshman, whose defense and ball handling was superb.

Bob Gillaspie from Graham took scoring honors with 16 counters and Jim Huter of Louisville was next with 10 tallies. Houle came in ahead of the sailors carrying 9 markers.

"Education And Democracy Are Synonymous," Says Van Doren

Although Mark Van Doren's book Liberal Education is timely, it definitely is not a hastily prepared volume of answers to a sudden demand.

Education and democracy are synonymous; one does not educate "for" democracy. Mr. Van Doren says that there is no competition between the arts and the sciences, except those barriers created by pedants in both fields.

Insisting that liberal education is a specific discipline, having rules and possessing an inescapable content, Mr. Van Doren also writes that education is primarily one thing.

Mr. Van Doren states, "All educators are well intentioned, but few of them reflect upon their intentions. Hundreds of them at this moment are breathlessly confessing that the past generation of students was not taught to believe enough things. There is little evidence, however, of a search into the metaphysics or even the psychology of belief; and there is less evidence of an anxiety in educators to believe something themselves."

He expressed his belief that although the good educator is serious, he is also very sensible and possesses in his soul a "saying lightness." This book, "full of marrow," realizes that education is really important only when its limits are seen.

In speaking of the educated person, he explains that an educated man is one who has substituted learned ignorance for natural ignorance. He also expresses himself by agreeing and disagreeing and is free to do so. The completely educated person, he supposes, is one "who has settled some sort of relation in his mind between past, future, and present."

It is remarkable that the human spirit can survive such fool, as those who insist that "tomorrow nothing is going to be recognizable."

"Liberal education in the modern world must aim at the generosity of nature, must work to make the aristocrat, the man of grace, the person, as numerous as fate allows." By perfecting itself, education can serve human good like democracy—having the same end in view.

Mr. Van Doren values the American college as the whole-hearted home of liberal education; in it rests the future of American education.

He characterizes the teacher as one who is interested not only in his own lectures, but as one who desires evidence that the students understand what he is saying. The true teacher "is singularly innocent of ambition to be praised, loved, or remembered. The teacher will conceal none of his authority." The teacher should be democratic enough, realizing that its purpose is to strengthen the student to accept or reject it.

"It is the love of truth that makes men free in the common light of day." Ending thus, Mr. Van Doren settles the argument of what a liberal education should be. This book is close-textured heart-wood, well seasoned. Only a slovenly and lackadaisical person, lacking curiosity of what a true liberal education must necessarily be, will miss it.

James W. Moulder, Bowling Green, former Western student, was one of 20 students elected to the University of Chicago's Chapter of Sigma XI, National honorary fraternity for the promotion of science.

New Horizons for a Greater Industrial South

WHILE destructive battles rage in large areas of the world, a different story is being written in our Southland . . . a story of new industrial achievement, of things yet to come in the stirring world of tomorrow.

The South stands hopefully on the threshold of a new era . . . dreaming of vaster industrial and agricultural expansion. From its fabulous raw resources the laboratories of private industry have in late years wrought miracles of production. Agricultural products have blossomed into new kinds of fabrics, building materials and amazingly useful plastics. New markets and new wealth have been created for southern farmers, commerce and labor. Even now the South boasts many of the largest plants in their respective fields in the world!

Already a major factor in America's arsenal of war production, the South looks forward to a better tomorrow . . . a tomorrow filled with peace, security and happiness . . . a tomorrow when the American Spirit of Free Enterprise will build a Greater Industrial South for the betterment of all mankind.

In War or Peace "The Old Reliable" Aids Southern Progress

Today the L&N's big job is to help Uncle Sam win the war. When "V" day comes, the L&N will again serve the South with modern and dependable transportation — and cooperate in every way toward making it greater industrially and otherwise. The railroads ask only fair treatment by the public and its lawmakers — that no unequal advantages or subsidies be given their competitors.

Complete information pertaining to plant sites, raw material, power and water supply, or assistance in planning efficient track layouts and service routes, may be obtained by writing the Industrial Development Department of the L&N at Louisville, Ky.
