Workshops Are Success

Workshops organized by members of the faculty at Western report excellent progress in the various counties where this program was initiated. In Russell county, under the direction of Mr. Horace McMurry, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Denman and Miss Nancy Reeder, special emphasis is on teaching the tool subjects, especially reading, school beautification, community and school relations, and school organization. Enrollment of 85 teachers was reported in this district.

Two workshops were organized in Barren county with Mr. McMurry and Dr. Bert R. Smith in charge. One of the workshops in Barren county has for its objective a curriculum revision program improving the teacher-learning situation and in-service training of teachers. Total enrollment in this county is numbered 80.

The Allen county workshop was organized July 26 and is conducted by Mr. McMurry, assisted at different times by Miss Reeder, Mr. L. T. Smith, Dr. Taff, Mrs. Denman, Dr. Stephens, Miss Lotta Day, and Mrs. Garris. 83 teachers made a study of the needs of the county school system as a whole, and an attempt was made to assist each teacher with the individual problems and needs of her school. Allen county has been selected as one of the eight counties now in the state program in which college staffs are doing special work with the goal of improving the relationship between the school and community. Western has had a similar program in operation in Hopkins county for the past three years.

In Metcalfe county, 49 teachers enrolled under the direction of Miss Ethel Clark. The major emphasis was improvement of reading.

Dr. Smith is in charge of the workshop in Monroe county. With an enrollment of 47, the chief emphasis was on improving the rural and the teacher-learning two teachers enrolled in Grayson county with Dr. Mary I. Cole in charge, assisted by Mr. McMurry. Major emphasis in this workshop was on the improvement of reading.

Miss McLean Granted Leave

Miss Mattie McLean, only remaining member of the original faculty of the Western Normal School, forerunner of Western State Teachers' College, has been granted an extended vacation and has gone to Lexington, Mississippi, where she is visiting her sisters, Misses Octavia and Emma McLean.

Miss McLean was graduated from the Southern Normal School in 1904. She became secretary to the late Dr. H. H. Cherry in 1906 and remained in that capacity until his death in 1937. She continued as secretary to Dr. Paul L. Garrett, when he was named president of Western.

The veteran employee has also served as secretary to the Board of Regents since its organization in 1907.

SCENE OF OLD MEMORIES TO BE REJUVENATED

By Jeanne Payne

Western's teachers and former students who remember Cherryton will be interested to know that three of its former buildings are being repaired by the school. These houses will be rented to persons who are connected with Western and who because of the housing situation may have difficulty finding lodgings.

In the years immediately following World War I, oil was discovered in the vicinity of Bowling Green. People flocked to the scene of the discovery, thus creating a serious housing shortage. In this way, Cherryton, founded by Western's late President H. H. Cherry, sprang up to relieve the housing problem.

In 1920 only twenty-four cottages were laid out by Henry Wright,

FRESHMEN ARE TESTED

Freshmen were given placement tests in Van Meter prior to registering on September 24.

Hart Wins First In Competition

Weldon Hart, advanced student at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y., and a member of the music staff of Western now on leave of absence, has been announced as winner of the $500 first prize in the competition for new compositions conducted by the National Composers Congress, which recently held its annual festival at Colorado Springs.

Dr. Roy Harris, national director of the Congress, announced that Mr. Hart's orchestral score, "A Symphonic Movement," will have its premiere later over the American Broadcasting Company's Network.

Mr. Hart is now teaching in the Eastman School theory department while studying toward the PhD degree.

Col. Strayhorn Commands WACTC

Lt. Col. Elizabeth Strayhorn has been appointed commandant of the First WAC Training Center at Fort De Moines, Iowa, after serving as commandant of the Third WAC Center at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia. Commissioned at Fort Des Moines on August 29, 1942, she was with the first Officer Candidate class assigned as staff director of the Training Center at the camp. The following March she left that post to become WAC staff director and executive officer of the Fifth Training Center at Camp Ruston, Louisiana.

Then transferred to Washington, D. C., she became assistant to Colonel Oveta Culp Hobby, former director of the WAC. In October, 1943, Colonel Strayhorn was assigned to the Second WAC Training Center, Daytona Beach, Florida, as assistant commandant. She received the post at Fort Oglethorpe in January, 1944.

Colonel Strayhorn worked with American Red Cross at Eustice, Virginia, and Fort Benning, Georgia, before enlisting in the WAC. Previously she was a professor of mathematics at Western for nine years. She holds the AB degree from Vanderbilt University and the Master's degree from Peabody College.

landscape artist of the school, built by 1923 Cherryton had grown to seventy-six cottages and three hundred people. Built on the lower side of the Hill, Cherryton was a community within itself, complete with a postoffice and a mayor. Only college students were allowed to live in the village.

In more recent years, the village declined and was inhabited only by Western athletes. During World War II, it was almost entirely abandoned when football was eliminated for the duration.

Cherryton, though it was completely reconstructed, could never regain the past, but to many alumni, alumnae and teachers of Western, the revival of Cherryton would be the revival of a beloved memory.

Vets Swell Registration

Registration and enrollment of the Western student body for the first quarter of the scholastic year '45-'46 was completed on Tuesday, September 25. Freshman pre-registration placement tests were given Monday morning and freshmen registered Monday afternoon. Registration for upperclassmen was held Tuesday.

E. H. Canon, registrar, reports a great increase in this year's enrollment over that of the previous scholastic year. In particular, the freshman class is much larger than any class since '42. Many armed forces discharged veterans have swelled the numbers of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

Several departments on the Hill which have suffered through decreased enrollment during the last three years are regaining normal enrollment. Approximately forty new majors have entered the home economics department, and the departments of agriculture and industrial arts report an increase. Dr. John N. Vincent, head of the music department, and director of the college band, states that the instrumentation of that organization is much better and is expected to increase even more. Because of the increase in enrollment of men, it is hoped that the college chorus will no longer be the strictly all-girl organization of the past two years.

Registration Shows Numerous Transfers

In Western's fall registration for 1945, it was found that 19 students have transferred to the Hill from other colleges and universities. These students are the following:

Board Renamed For Foundation

Dr. John H. Blackburn, Sam H. Allen, Sterret Cuthbertson, all of Bowling Green, and R. E. Cooper, Hopkinsville, were re-elected directors for three-year terms of the College Heights Foundation at the annual meeting of directors on October 2.

Re-named to the executive committee were Dr. Paul L. Garrett, Mr. Cuthbertson, Laurence B. Finn, Charles R. Bell, and Mrs. H. R. Matthews.

Roy H. Seward was re-elected executive secretary, and treasurer, and James L. Hall was reappointed manager of the bookstore.

Present were Dr. Garrett, Mr. Bell, Mr. Cuthbertson, Mrs. Matthews, Charles L. Taylor, Mr. Allen, and John P. Masters.

Eighteen loans were made by the Foundation during the fiscal year from July 1, 1944, to July 1, 1945, totaling $3,390. Due to war conditions including decreased enrollment and high defense plant wages, the number of loans made last year was one of the smallest in the 22 years history of the organization. More loans have already been made this year than the total made last year. In normal times with the school operating at capacity enrollment as many as a thousand loans a year are made from the Foundation Fund. Assets of the Foundation Fund were listed as $74,716.28, $50,000 of which is in cash and bonds. The fund was increased $1,200 last year, according to the report of Mr. Seward, the secretary.

Since the Foundation was established in 1924, 7,501 loans amounting to $269,997.94 have been made to students.

Training School Vacancies Filled

Four teachers to fill vacancies on the Training School faculty have been announced by President Paul L. Garrett.

Miss Marie Churchill, a graduate of Michigan State Normal School, has taken the place of Miss Ruth Hines Temple. Miss Temple, who has been connected with the art department since 1939, has been granted a leave of absence to become a member of the staff of the regional materials service of the Division of Field Studies and Surveys at Peabody college, Nashville. She will assist in collecting data of southern resources which will be translated to levels for use by laymen. Miss Temple will write and illustrate the publication.

Mrs. Luther Weeks, teacher at the Training School from 1928-35, will replace W. Ross McGehee, who has been given a year's leave of absence to serve as principal of the high school in Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Mrs. Weeks is a Western graduate and she holds the MA degree from Peabody college, Nashville.

In the music department, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mattel, both Western

Staff Changes Announced

Beginning with this quarter's work, several additions and changes in the teaching and administrative staff of Western have been made.

Dr. B. C. Cole, member of the agriculture-biology staff, has accepted a position as technical director for the Seven-Up Bottling Company in St. Louis. Dr. Cole, a graduate of Bowling Green high school, received the BS degree from Western in '32 and the PhD degree from Iowa State College in '38. He was president of the local Kiwanis Club. Charles L. Taylor, head of the agriculture department, will temporarily assume Dr. Cole's duties as superintendent of the Western dairy, and Dr. L. Y. Lancaster of the biology department will continue the dairy testing program for the Warren county milk supply.

Chester Channon, member of the music department faculty, has accepted a position at Texas State Teachers College. He will teach classes in organ at the Commerce, Texas, school. Mr. Channon came to Western from Shurtleff College, Alton, Illinois. He received the AB and BM degrees from Illinois Wesleyan College, Bloomington, and the MM degree from the University of Michigan in '36. For several years Channon was choir director and organist at Christ Episcopal church, Bowling Green.

Mrs. Joseph Taylor, who has for the past year taught courses in piano, has left to join her husband, who has been discharged from service.

New members of the music department faculty are Claude E. Rose and George M. Daggitt. Mr. Rose received the BM degree from

Concert Series Set For Year

The Community Concert Association's drive for members will begin the first week in November. The price of membership is five dollars for adults and two dollars and forty cents for students.

This year members will hear four concerts for the same price as three of last year.

The programs are unannounced as yet, but among those listed to appear are a male vocalist, a ballet, and a string ensemble, consisting of four pieces—piano, flute, cello and violin. Music lovers will be interested to know that the first Community Concert will take place before Christmas. Anyone selling ten membership tickets will be given a free one, as was the rule last year.

The names of the artists to appear and the organization of the programs will be announced later, reports Mr. Will B. Hill, general chairman of the drive. Any additional information about the Community Concerts of 1945-46 may be obtained from Chairman Hill or from Mrs. T. J. Alkison, secretary.

SCHOOL HAS STARTED— AN AMAZING DISCOVERY

By Jo Ann Lawton

For the benefit of innocent bystanders, classes have begun at Western and are being held at the inconvenience of the bridge fiends. After a careful study of the situation, the eminent philosophers on the Hill have come to the conclusion that this trend is a direct result of the influence of the returning "vets" who are populating the campus. Whether you hold with this theory or not, it's a known fact that these boys play bridge like Patton advancing through Europe.

Speaking of new and returning students, the freshmen have hit the Hill and made a big impression on the upper classmen—big to the tune that they compose the largest class at Western. It is an interesting experience for us upperclassmen, soaked in cynicism, to watch and wonder who will be the first to go "the way of all Freshmen." That they will all go eventually, we know only too well, for we have traveled the weary road and tripped over the milestones into all the pitfalls that await the sweet young innocents. Soon they, too, will have acquired the bruises, headaches, and evil dispositions that entitle one to be an upper classman deriding the Freshman class.

A few of that unlucky number who have eight o'clocks on Monday morning are hearing the chimes in Cherry Hall, but most of us realize that the clock is striking "one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight!" as we lie flat on our backs with our toes playing peek-a-boo with the cold morning air.

All in all, it's a very good feeling to be back on the Hill. This year shows prospects of the old spirit that slowed down for the war effort, but never stopped. Some of the old familiar faces are appearing for gab fests and the new faces are becoming more and more familiar. All we're waiting for now is The Revolution. Watch for it! You may be the first to go!

NOW THE WAR IS OVER. WHAT?

To some people the end of the war came as a rude awakening. For more than four years, they had excused their lack of industry by pre-facing all their aspirations with, "When the war is over, I'll . . ."

America came out of this war the most powerful nation on earth. War caused Americans to attempt the impossible and they achieved it. But life does not stand still. Great tasks still lie ahead for this nation, there can be no let down or placidity.

The world emerges from the worst period of physical and moral destruction that it has ever known. We, in America, have been more fortunate than most of the other peoples of the world. But here, as elsewhere, the years ahead will not be soft ones. We came out as one of the leaders of the world, with a bomb in our laps—complete with attachments reading, Responsibility, Morality, Peace, Democracy. There can be no reverting to normal; the atomic bomb has no place in the normalcy of even 1940, and now that the excuse for lack of development has been eliminated there can be reason for standing still. Faith in Providence, faith in liberty and faith in ourselves are the necessary guideposts for the years ahead: We must hold to these beliefs.

General Grant once told his men: "What I want to impress upon you is that you have a country to be proud of, and a country to fight for, and a country to die for, if need be." And, General Grant, a country to live for!

Unrestrained laughter, and eyes with no lurking dread, mark the college student as he returns to the campus this fall. And another damper has been lifted: Plans may go full steam ahead. The ifs and whens have lost their war-time impact. The only obstacles to the successful execution of your aims in life are the limits of your own determination, ability and industry.

PEACE FOR ALL TIME

Fifty nations have begun a great experiment in friendship between the nations and the peoples of the world. In the years to come, school children all over the earth will study the words that were written into the big book of history at San Francisco last spring.

The nations have signed an historic declaration of independence from the tyranny of war. The words were learned at great cost in human life and happiness. So were the words of our own eclaration of Independence which American children know so well—

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men were created equal, that they were endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness."

Our forefathers fought for the ideas those words convey. We fought for them in 1918, but the League of Nations did not set down respect for human rights as one of its fundamental purposes. The new world charter does. It puts into a world document the kind of fundamentals that went into our own Constitution. The preamble of our Constitution reads:

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure the domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessing of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America."

And what are the purposes of the new world organization? The nations hope to form a more perfect union of the world, to promote the welfare of all peoples, and encourage respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms.

These purposes are all in the United Nations charter. The great new world document begins with these words:

Article I

The purposes of the United Nations are:
1. To maintain international peace and security, and to that end: To take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace and for the suppression of acts of aggression or other breaches of the peace, and to bring about by peaceful means, and in conformity with the principles of justice and international law, adjustment or settlement of international disputes or situations which might lead to a breach of the peace:

2. To develop friendly relations among nations based on respect for the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples, and to take other appropriate measures to strengthen universal peace;

3. To achieve international co-operation in solving international problems of an economic, social, cultural or humanitarian character, and in promoting and encouraging respect for human rights and for the fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion; and

4. To be a center for harmonizing the actions of nations in the attainment of these common ends.

The Dumbarton Oaks draft had not mentioned justice and human rights as purposes. The League of Nations set out only to "promote international co-operation and to achieve international peace and security." The new world constitution will promote higher standards of living and cultural co-operation as well as to crack down on gangsters who would upset the peace. The League of Nations hoped merely that nations would promote peace by "acceptance of obligations not to resort to war." The new world charter says flatly:

All members shall settle their international disputes by peaceful means in such a manner that international peace, and security, and justice, are not endangered.

Machinery is provided for settling disputes by force if necessary but the nations hope to chop away at the causes of war. For that reason the economic and social council is set up. Its purposes are stated:

Article 58

With a view to the creation of conditions of stability and well-being which are necessary for peaceful and friendly relations among nations based on respect for the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples, the United Nations shall promote:

(a) Higher standards of living, full employment and conditions of economic and social progress and development;
(b) Solutions of international economic, social, health and related problems; and international cultural and educational co-operation and

(c) Universal respect for, and observance of, human rights and fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion.

So, here are the things mankind has dreamed about for centuries.

Guest Editorial

By

PRESIDENT PAUL L. GARRETT

LEST WE FORGET

The shooting war is over. The ambitious dreams of those who would have destroyed individual rights and stopped the age old march of humanity toward greater freedom have been thwarted. The democracy for which so many have sacrificed and died has again been saved. We are given one more chance to make this democracy work; one more chance to build a world of greater freedom and opportunity for all men; one more chance to create a world order which shall make possible a lasting peace. Success is by no means assured by victory. Our inventive genius, our industrial strength, the ability of our leaders and the indomitable courage of our fighting men were sufficient to defeat our would-be conquerors. The union of America and her Allies, as also the union of hostile groups within our country, was cemented while the conflict lasted by a common fear of destruction at the hands of totalitarianism. Foolishly we have ceased to fear because the guns are silent. Suspicion and hate and intolerance and selfishness in America and throughout the world now threaten the successful preservation of the freedom for which we fought.

The unity of the American colonies during the Revolution disintegrated with its successful conclusion. Destruction was avoided by the establishment of a government based on reasonable compromises and the sacrifice of selfish interests dear to individual colonies. This is again a time for reasonable compromise and above all for unselfishness on the part of individuals, groups and nations if we are to enjoy the fruits of victory.

"We do, however, because of victory, have this one more chance. And for this chance we are grateful to all those who through service in the armed forces gave it to us. Some forty or fifty veterans of this war are now members of the student body at Western. Many more will soon be here. To all of them I would say for those of us at Western who stayed at home that we are honored by your presence on the campus and want you to know our deep sense of gratitude and obligation to each of you. Then there are many loyal sons of Western who will not be back. While we stayed here they died that the ideals for which Western stands might endure. Some by death made places of which we had never heard before this conflict, sacred places, never to be forgotten. How impossible to adequately do them honor or to be worthy of their sacrifice! God help us and all men to deserve the victory which they and their comrades have won, and through unselfish co-operation to make their victory real through the building of a greater Western, a nation of greater opportunity, and a better world.

EDITORIAL POLICY

P. T. Barnum, in his usual bombastic fashion once said, "If I aim at the sun, I may hit a star." That epigram suits our purpose in introducing the editorial policy for the Herald for the scholastic year 1945-46.

Formerly the editorial page of the Herald was limited almost exclusively to on-the-campus subjects. Doubtless the college journalist felt himself incapable of adequately presenting accurate information on state, national or international problems; even criticism of obvious imperfections on the Hill were approached without investigation. A policy of this sort leaves very little subject matter for editorial writing.

Not feeling at all superior to our predecessors, or more intrepid and wiser, we are nevertheless breaking away from the ostrich fashion of writing and shall attempt to inform the college student of such matters that should concern him. We believe that the world is on the threshold of a new era, and, to be beautifully idealistic, it is the duty of those people educating themselves to be leaders in this new world to prevent the mishandling of its affairs. It is only through keeping ourselves informed that happiness and peace can be safeguarded. The realistic boomerang of war is changing the giddy boys and girls of the classrooms into responsible men and women. If this transformation isn't taking place, the last four and one-half years of bloody upheaval has lost part of its meaning.

Granting that we are not authorities on the affairs of the world, we have professors at Western who are keen observers. One of them each issue shall be asked to write a guest editorial on any subject that touches us as students and as future active citizens. If we succeed in this policy, the editorial page will be read and discussed; the college will benefit.

A true effort will be made to publish complete news stories, and with the co-operation of the faculty and students, we will incorporate into each edition some of the warmth and excitement that makes Western the Western that it is.

These are our aims, inspiring, and we sincerely hope, attainable. If we grow weary through lack of interest and encouragement we shall shuttle back to "Throw trash into the cans conveniently placed . . ." and we will have the satisfaction "Tis not what man Does which exalts him, but what man Would do!" We have as our principal motive, all-student approval. Freedom to criticize is yours, and the healthy reaction that we want.

FACULTY-REPORTER CO-OPERATION

Hereafter, this column will be devoted to topics being discussed on the Hill, but in this first edition we are laying the foundation for the year's work. Already there has been some difficulty between faculty and student reporters. Puffing out a paper between classes is no little job and beginning every other quarter with a completely inexperienced corps of reporters is adding insult to injury. We have assigned reporters to all the departments on the Hill and to the Kentucky Building, college library, extension office, Cedar House, the dormitories and the Training School. We also have a club reporter. If we can enlist the whole-hearted co-operation of the faculty in getting news to these reporters when they "cover their beats" once a week, there will be no slighting in the Herald.

NO CARTOON

We excitedly told all over the campus that Edward "Slug" Ellis was rigging up a cartoon for the Herald. Well, as a matter of fact, Slug did cut the linoleum block, but the make-up men at the Park City told us that the pressure necessary to make the mats for their rotary press would smash the block.

GONE TO THE DOGS

All the old students expected it, but the new ones were dumbfounded when on registration day they were greeted by no less than ten dogs who sniffed around and then returned to their choice spot on the campus in front of Cherry Hall. Our canine friends are harmless, but aggravating when they dog-gedly let you walk around them. And, frankly, we'll be dog-goned glad when they realize that formal education can't be obtained outside the classroom. 'Course some of our classmates haven't really learned that yet!

EVEN MORE IMPRESSIVE

Six miles out the Russellville road, the outline of the Hill to a returning Westerner . . . well, you express it if you can! This year as the kids piled out of the cars and buses at the foot of the Hill, everyone asked, "Hey, what happened to the Western painted on the water tower?" or "Say, kid, they're painting the water tower." No one said how much better it looks with the new coat of silver, but that wasn't necessary. The tone of the voice told you that glittering in the sun the tower and Western looked better than ever before . . . and each year it looks better than ever before.

Dr. Richmond Dies At Murray

Dr. James H. Richmond, president of Murray State College for nine years, died July 24 following several months illness.

During his term as president, he served on the National Advisory Committee on Crisis of Education and was chairman of the National Committee for Federal Emergency Aid to Education.

His teaching career began in 1907 after he was graduated from Lincoln Memorial University in Tennessee and the University of Tennessee. He taught in Texas and Tennessee and then Kentucky, where he served as principal of a private school in Louisville for 14 years.

He then joined the State Department of Education as a high school supervisor and four years later was made head of the department.

Cole Article Stimulates Competition

Dr. B. C. Cole, formerly a member of the biology department, has written an article called "Everyone Profits From Quality Milk." His discussion of a new program put to effect in Bowling Green lends much light to its merits and helps one enjoy more the milk he drinks each day. The program was agreed upon by the bottling company of Bowling Green. Premiums are paid the producers for milk with a monthly average bacterial count of less than 50,000. The owners of large and small farms alike have let the hired men share the premiums earned. The competition involved in the program creates spirit, according to the article which appeared in the August Country Gentleman. The program shows the value of proper and quick cooling of milk, efficient bedding for cows, and sanitary milking conditions.

Coach Ed Diddle's prospects for the 1945-46 varsity basketball team seem to be meeting with great success for there are between 30 and 35 men trying out for the cage squad. Uncle Ed hopes to have the team in top form in the next few weeks. Some of this year's candidates for the team are former members of our armed services. Some of these ex-G.I.'s played varsity ball before entering the service. George Heller and Chalmers Embry are in this category. Heller was in the great freshman team of '41 and Embry in '42 and '43. Bob Davis of Greenville and Charles Parsley of London, also ex-G.I.'s were former members of high school teams before entering the service.

The turning out of this year's large aggregation brings athletics back to the campus on a basis of pre-war years. Western mentors have little comment except to say, "There will be teams twice as good next year."

W K T C

High lighting the news of sports on the Hill this quarter have been the return visits on the campus of former members of the athletic department and players. Among these are Lieut. Col. Ed Stansbury, formerly assistant football coach; Johnny Crowder, ex-naval officer and trainer for the varsity football and basketball teams; Red McCrocklin, one time all-American at Western; First Lieut. Harry Bowling, USMCR, former football player; Lieut. Comdr. Carlton "Hicky" Clark, former football player; Johnny Hackett, varsity basketball player; Duke Delaney, former Lieut. (sg.) in the navy and former Western football star; Cpl. Odicia Spears of the paratroopers, member of varsity basketball team of '43; T/Sgt. Buddy Keys, USMC, football player on the Hill in '41 and '42.

W K T C

"Hey, Deak" is now a lost call on the Hill for the good humored Lawrence Jones is a member of our armed forces. Deacon, a member of the varsity basketball squad for two years on the Hill, would have reached his top form of play this year. Because according to the experts, a good player reaches top form after the first two years of playing experience.

Deacon's talents weren't limited to basketball, they included extra-curricular activities with one of the highest scholastic standings of last year's teams.

A salute to Deacon and good luck to him in his career.

W K T C

Ed Kellow, sports editor for the Paducah Sun Democrat, and Frank Paxton, son of the publisher of the Sun Democrat, were over-night guests of Coach E. A. Diddle and Mrs. Diddle. Kellow and Paxton were covering the Little 16 football conference.

Any veteran who has had three or more months of military service may receive credit for the two-year basic course offered by Western in military science or any such part of it as he has not already completed.

Diddle Announces Topper Squad For '45

By "Slug" Ellis
(Sports Editor)

Western pins this year's hopes for a basketball team on boys from Kentucky and the two neighboring states, Indiana and Ohio. The twenty-three boys drawn from Kentucky are Wayne Brown, Providence; John Carr, Taylorsville; Al Chapman, Allensville; William Collins, Corydon; Bill Crafton, Owensboro; John Davis, Greenville; Maurice Hale, Owensboro; Charlie Hays, Louisville; Jim Huter, Louisville; Kayo Higgins, Slaughter; Harry Hughes, Franklin; Irby Hummer, Scottsville; Bill Houchen, Smiths Grove; Charlie Irwin, Elizabethtown; Joe Johnson, Bowling Green; Bob Hohler, Blewiers; Gene Madison, Scottsville; James Pearson, Oakland; James Pennington, Smiths Grove; Bill Sandefur, Bowling Green; George Sydnor, Olmstead; John Taylor, Hartford; Carl Whitfield, Nortonville.

From Ohio are three boys: Harold Horsley, Portsmouth; George Heller, Portsmouth; Charles Schaefer, Salem.

In spite of only one member of last year's varsity team returning and three members of last year's traveling squad, Coach E. A. Diddle and Assistant Coach Ted Hornback have been putting these players through their paces; observing, wondering, working, and hoping for a sign that will tell them there's a potential player like old Towery, Downing, Fuika, Sydnor, or others that have helped make Western teams known and recognized all over the United States. But our mentors of basketball just watch, work and plan beyond this year and pray that experience and the proper techniques will make them into a great team.

Western Coaches To Be Guest Speakers

Coach E. A. Diddle and Assistant Coach Ted Hornback will be guest speakers at the meeting of the Middle Tennessee Education Association at the Y.M.C.A. auditorium in Nashville, Friday, October 19.

A dancing and stinging skit by Betty Jo and Anna Jo Cook, accompanied by Mamie Johnson, will provide the light note to the program of the day.

Other speakers include leaders in Tennessee's physical education program.

Thumb-Nail Sketches

By "Shotgun"

T. H. Posey

A serious-looking guy but a fiend at heart, Thomas was a member of the freshman class of September, '42. He stayed on the Hill for two quarters that year, serving in the ROTC as a member of Company B. He entered the Army in the spring of '43; he served basic training at Camp Wolters, Texas, then trained as an air corps cadet at Fort Hayes State Teachers College, Fort Hayes, Kansas, for eight months. Transferred to the 97th division because of the release of several thousand cadets, Private Posey took part in amphibious maneuvers in California and was then sent to Fort Meade, Maryland, as a replacement man. Going overseas, he spent two weeks in England and hit France on October 28. Hospitalized by trench foot, he was sent back to England. Coming back to the U. S. on the "Queen Elizabeth" this summer, Posey, a native of Bowling Green, was discharged, and now he has come back to the Hill to complete work on the BS degree.

Jack Corman

Jack, a senior from Louisville, was a student on the Hill from September, '41, to March, '43. He was a member of the chemistry-physics club, the congress debating club, Company B-3, Pershing Rifles, and he served as a cadet sergeant in Company B, ROTC. Entering the Army as a private, Corman served basic training at Fort McClellan, Alabama, and was then sent to a port of embarkation. In the fight on the Anzio beachhead in Italy, he served with the 3rd Infantry Division. Wounded in Rome, Jack was in a Naples hospital for two and a half months. He was then flown to the States and sent to Kennedy General Hospital, Memphis. Now discharged, Jack has come back to Western to finish his pre-dental course. He hopes to enter the University of Louisville dental school after graduation this year.

Charley Bartley

Charley, a graduate student from Morganfield, attended Western from '36 to '40, graduating with the degree of BS in agriculture. He was a member of the Cherry Country Life club and Company B-3, Pershing Rifles, serving as a lieutenant in ROTC. Charley entered the Army in July, '40, and served in Iceland, Ireland, England, France, Luxembourg, and Germany. An infantry captain, Bartley is now on terminal leave and will be discharged in November. He is finishing requirements for entrance to medical school and hopes to enter the University of Michigan.

Berkely Barnes

This tall, dark, and bridge lovin' guy is a sophomore, having entered Western in '39. His main scholastic interest is journalism. His outside interest consist mainly of blondes, though he says he would never throw out a brunette either. Entering the Army in '42, Barnes served in the African and Italian campaigns as a second lieutenant. He was discharged in August as (according to Charles Bartley) the oldest "shavetail" in existence. Berkely is a brother of Mary Shaw Barnes, senior, from Owensboro.

recorded in this book one could easily feel that they were expressions of the men of 27 years ago are homesick and appreciate, more than ever, the good old USA.

Kentucky Building News

Mr. Charles W. Rogers of Bowling Green has presented to the Kentucky Library the register kept at the YMCA at Rennes, France, during the World War I. Mr. Rogers was divisional secretary of this organization which did a work in the first world war similar to that of the USO in World War II.

It is interesting to see that about one half of the servicemen who signed under the heading of remarks said, "I want to go home." "When do we go home?" "Why in the he— can't we go home?" etc. Some also wanted to know "who invented France" and other similar statements.

Reading these outspoken feelings

Newspapers, magazines, and books have been donated by the following: Dr. Thomas D. Clark, University of Kentucky; Miss Ella Kouwenbergh, Bardstown; Mrs. Will Loving, Nashville; Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville; Mr. John R. Rodas and Miss Louise Blakey, Bowling Green. Also from the following members of the Western faculty: President Paul L. Garrett, Miss Margie Helm, Dr. A. M. Stickle, Miss Ercell Egbert, Dr. C. P. Denman, Miss Elizabeth Coombs, Mrs. Frank P. Moore.

Since the last issue there have been a number of lovely and interesting gifts made to the Kentucky Building museum and library.

Mr. J. Porter Hines has given an interesting collection of old letters written by prominent Kentuckians to his father, Edward Ludlow Hines. This collection includes letters from W. C. P. Breckinridge, former governor of Kentucky and wife, Issa Desha; also letters of John Edward Halsell, former representative of Kentucky in Congress.

In this collection also were many old Bowling Green newspapers, including the World War I Armistice Day issues. Mr. Hines' collection contains many photographs of steamboats which piled on Barren and Green rivers.

Mrs. Joe L. McElwain of Tampa, Florida, formerly a resident of Bowling Green, presented to the museum a set of old hair jewelry. The jewelry was formerly won by Mrs. David Potter of Bowling Green. Mrs. McElwain also presented a gold locket containing miniatures of Mr. and Mrs. Potter.

A Kentucky marine who was among the first to enlist at Bowling Green on the morning after the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor, hopes he will be among the first home from the Pacific for a "tiny" reason. He is Platoon Sgt. Harold E. Hunter, and the "tiny" reason is his two-months-old daughter, Hattie Jean, whom he has never seen. Sergeant Hunter is with the Third Marine Division. He was a student on the Hill at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack, but instead of attending classes that Monday morning of December 8, 1941, he went to the marine recruiting office and enlisted. His wife, the former Lauren Murray, and his daughter reside in Allensville.

First Lieut. Louis Holleman expects to be released soon from the Percy Jones General Hospital in Battle Creek, Michigan, where he is undergoing treatment for wounds received on Okinawa last spring.

First Lieut. Orville Bolton wrote of a thrilling experience he had recently: "I hitched a ride on an AC-54 and flew up to Tokyo. . . We landed on Atsuki Airfield just out of Tokyo and I hadn't been on the ground more than 15 minutes when someone tapped me on the shoulder, and I turned around to see Glen Nippert. He played football at Western and his home is in Louisa, just out of Ashland. He is in the navy, attached to a joint assault signal company."

Lieutenant Bolton also mentioned that Dallas Arnold and John Armstrong are in the same division (First Marine Division) as he is, and that he sees them often.

Lieut. Basil E. Craddock told of going to bed on a Thursday night and waking up ten hours later, only to find it Saturday morning. Reason? He had just crossed the International Date Line! He has served in Europe and is now in the Pacific.

Ten Commandments For Freshmen

By "SHOTGUN"

As we ancient, decrepit, and thoroughly moss-backed upperclassmen gaze back upon our college years of back-breaking toil and heart-breaking mistakes, we find in our past experience many pointers which may be of benefit to the blithe, bubbling freshman who sees the Hill as his own little oyster. We, too, in our young and palmer days, charged forth with the exuberance and self-confidence of unbroken colts, seeking to capture for ourselves all the glory and honor which rightfully belong only to those who have, through long experience, weathered the storms of trouble with which college life abounds. Bitterly and often, we have suffered the consequences of our rashness.

Therefore, hoping to restrain these eager innocents from losing the realization of their lowly position, we hereby set forth the following ten commandments for freshmen:

1. In order that the latent intellectual abilities he possesses may be aroused to best advantage, the Western freshman must become thoroughly acquainted with the library. He would do well to copy the library technique of Tommie Jones and Martha Stevens, those notorious "spiders," whose diverting little activities in the main reading rooms and the stacks are amusing to all. The proper manner of dropping the pencil, clearing the throat, and popping the gum loudly will be learned only by long practice in the proper atmosphere.

2. He must take part in the various activities carried on by the clubs and other organizations. Most amusing are the band rehearsals, during which Dr. John Vincent and Henry Price playfully leap at each other's throats between measures. There are also several gay little characters in the chemistry-physics club, such as "unsaturated hydrocarbon" Skaggs with her incessant singing, and Dr. Glenn "Fugitive from test tube" Dooley, who seeks to lure all general chemistry victims into the tortuous mazes of analytical chemistry.

3. He must learn immediately that punctuality is one of the cardinal virtues, and that fact must be applied at all times. However, leaning too far in the other direction may give him the dread title of "eager-beaver" on a happy medium must be.

4. He must learn the correct usage of the language of the Hill. No longer does the title "drip" apply, but "drool" is the term used. He must learn to easily distinguish between "fiends" and "sad characters." For lessons on vocabulary, see "Slug" F.

5. He must train his digestive system for the assimilation of whatever crumbs of food may fall his way. Rather than fall heir to the pale, anemic-looking countenances of the gaunt upperclassmen, he should diligently seek the elusive vitamin three times a day.

6. All freshmen must be in at night by 2 o'clock. For the purpose of becoming better acquainted with the geography of the vicinity, there are certain places on the campus such as the Kentucky Gardens and the Italian Gardens that should be visited after sunset. Instructive tours of the city at regular intervals are conducted by "Coffee" Choncoff in her two-tone blue limousine.

7. In order to enter the inner social circle, the novice must acquire a working knowledge of bridge. Off hours may be profitably spent at the Goal Post under the tutelage of "One Club" Crafton and that arch-fiend Charlie Hayes.

8. He must realize at all times that his position as freshman is the lowest classification of organisms occupying the Hill, and he should conduct himself accordingly. Upperclassmen must be shown the respect due them by virtue of long service. All sneers, jeers, caustic remarks, and unbecomingly laughter will be dealt with speedily.

9. Above all, he must, to become one of us, learn the spirit of Western. Hanging by the shoestrings from the balcony of the gym at basketball games is an excellent way to exhibit his support for the Red and Gray. No backer in the Topper stands shows more feeling for her team than Miriam Cooke, who has been known to break a clarinet in two in the excitement

Training School Notes

The College High glee club under the direction of Mr. Otto Mattei elected in a meeting October 28, the following officers: Sam O. Cooke, Jr., president; Larry Graham, vice president; Sue McNally, secretary; Grace Lane, social chairman; Alice Smith, advertising manager; Annette Norman, librarian; Leta Kerr, sophomore representative; Betty Schraer, freshman representative. With the addition of more boys, which brings the number in the glee club to approximately 70, Mr. Mattei is ordering some Fred Waring arrangements of popular songs of a tight game. 10. And last, that he may in time acquire that debonair air which characterizes the veteran Westerner, the green one must work hard, slave unceasingly, and burn the midnight oil. After three quarters of such activity he will lose that pink-cheeked look and assume the rather shady halo which surrounds the learned heads of all upperclassmen.

At a meeting of the senior class of College High last Thursday, the following officers were elected: Sam Cooke, president; Johnny Goodman, vice president; Josephine Rigsby, secretary, and Sue McNally, treasurer. A committee, composed of Sue Ann McReynolds, Barbara Hood, Warrence Cannon, Gloria Binzel, and Roy Cooke, Jr., were elected to make decisions concerning the annual senior trip and to promote activities for making money for the trip. In addition to the election of officers the motion that College High adopt a standard class ring was carried out unanimously.

Believe It or Not

A ton of average freight by railroad moves one mile for less than a postal card; a passenger one mile for much less than a letter.

Illustration: A man in a suit is pushing a large wooden box on wheels. The box has "L & N" written on it. In the background, a steam locomotive is pulling a train. Above the man is a tilted postal card with a postmark from "BOWLING GREEN KY AUG 12 1945" and the address "JOHN Q. PUBLIC Anywhere, U.S.A." The card also says "THE SIDE OF CARD IS FOR ADDRESS".

Surprising, but true! The railroad freight rate for an average ton per mile hauled is less than one cent; and the rate per passenger per mile is an average of about two cents.

The wear and tear on shoe leather for a mile walk would probably exceed the rail rate for an average ton of freight or a passenger for the same distance.

When some one says "high freight and passenger rates," consider the above facts. There's not a better bargain in the whole world than in U. S. railroad service.

Today, with high operating costs, freight and passenger rates per mile average 16% and 46% less, respectively, than 25 years ago.

Railroads are large, mass transportation agencies, efficiently operated as free and private enterprise, in a public service essential both in peace and war.
