To My Friends:

My Album is a garden spot,
Where all my friends may sow,
Where thorns and thistles flourish not.
But flowers alone may grow,
With smiles for sunshine, tears for showers,
I'll water, watch and guard these flowers.

Dear Miss Donnie:

When do you remember you chance to roam will you find a more pleasant place than the old Dormitory. with Ma and her girls chatting and joking at the table.
And when we reach that better home.
May there not be a missing link in the Dormitory family. And may the future for all be as useful and happy as our few short days together has been bright & gay.
Yours ever changing friend

Dear Domie:-

This life has heavy crosses,
As well as joys to share,
And griefs and disappointments
Which you and I must bear;
And if we may not follow

Will I a poet, not whenever I could compose would be troubled and sweet for you, as I am not I express my sincere wishes for your future happiness. "May you fall as lightly upon your heart as the dew descends at eve upon the rose petals of the sleeping flowers, and your radiance be away in the wings of oblivion, as the fragrance of the rose by the gentle zephyrus."
