NEW BUSINESS:

The new business of the day was the presentation of faculty concerns by individual senators.

The senators making verbal reports were asked to present their concerns in written form in order that the Executive committee would have a complete list of all concerns presented. Senators present but not making oral reports were encouraged to make written reports of concerns if they so desired. Dr. Constans indicated that he would contact the senators not present at the meeting and encourage them to submit a report for consideration of the committee.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.
