HARDIN COUNTY LABOR MARKET AREA

HARDIN COUNTY, KENTUCKY - A RESOURCE PROFILE

Location

Hardin County, covering a land area of 616 square miles, is located in northcentral Kentucky. The northern tip of the county lies along the Ohio River and touches the southwestern boundary of Jefferson County. The county is bounded on the north by Bullitt County, on the east by Nelson and Larue Couties, on the south by Grayson and Hart Counties, and on the east by Breckinridge and Meade Counties. The county has an estimated 1970 population of 80, 200.

Elizabethtown, the largest town in the county, serves as the county seat. It is located near the center of the county 40 miles south of Louisville, 75 miles north of Bowling Green, and 150 miles southwest of Cincinnati. The community of Upton is located in south Hardin County near I-65. West Point, Radcliff, and Vine Grove are located in the northcentral part of the county near the Jefferson County line.

Fort Knox, a U. S. Army reservation and repository of the nation's gold reserve, is located in Hardin County. Covering 110,000 acres, the reservation also reaches into Bullitt and Meade Counties.

The Economic Framework

Total employment in Hardin County averaged 17,100 in 1968, with government providing 6,925 of the jobs, and trade and services another 3,900 jobs. During the first nine years of the decade manufacturing increased by almost 1,844 jobs or 286.8 percent. The major industrial products are: computer sub-assembly, printed circuit cards, electric timing devices and motors, auto V-belts and auto hose, apparel, silicone sealants, ceramic, and alnico magnets.

Per capita income in the county in 1968 was $3,915. Between 1959 and 1968, per capita personal income in the county increased $1,725.

The Hardin County labor market area includes Hardin and its seven surrounding counties. Area employment in 1968 totaled 46,850, including 10,165 in agriculture. In 1969, manufacturing furnished 7,300 jobs. Area industrial employment has nearly doubled since 1960, with the sharpest employment gains in the apparel, machinery and metal products, and chemical industries.

Despite important industrial gains in recent years the area still has a deficit of 13,079 manufacturing jobs when measured against the national industrial employment-population ratio. This indicates an area where the potential for additional manufacturing production is excellent.

Resources for Growth

- 1. There is a current estimated labor supply of 4,760 men and 5,350 women available for industrial jobs in the labor market area. In addition, 10,575 young men and 10,300 young women will become 18 years of age by 1976 and potentially available for work. Since Radcliff, Vine Grove, and West Point are located in the northern half of the county, their labor supply would possibly be affected by available labor from Jefferson County.
- 2. The local transportation capability is good. The Illinois Central Railroad and the Louisville & Nashville Railroad provide the county with a variety of services. The county has more than adequate trucking service. I-65, a north-south route, the Blue Grass Parkway, and the Western Kentucky Parkway converge just south of Elizabethtown. The Elizabethtown-Hardin County Airport has a 2,800-foot paved runway capable of accommodating light aircraft. Commercial air service is available at Standiford Field, Louisville, only 40 miles north of Elizabethtown.
- 3. Electricity is available in large quantity. Kentucky Utilities, Louisville Gas and Electric, and Nolin Rural Electric Cooperative provide electric power to portions of the county. Natural gas is furnished in West Point, Radcliff, and Vine Grove by the Louisville Gas and Electric Company. Elizabethtown is served by the Elizabethtown Water & Gas Company, whose source of supply is the Texas Gas Transmission Corporation.
- 4. Industrial sites Hardin County has 16 sites available for industrial use.
- 5. Education is an important growth asset for Hardin County. Three school systems operate within the county.

Five junior and four senior colleges are located within 50 miles of the county, and the Elizabethtown Community College and Fort Knox Community College are located in the county.

The Elizabethtown Vocational Extension Center is located in Elizabethtown, and offers training in six different courses. The Jefferson County Area Vocational School is only 40 miles away and offers nineteen different courses.

Community Programs for Improvement

The communities of Hardin County have aggressively sought ways to provide better and more modern facilities for their residents and to increase their attractiveness to industry.

Elizabethtown is constructing a 3,000,000 gpd water treatment plant and plans to double the size of the present sewerage treatment plant with a 12-inch force main and pumping station. Other community improvements include a sheltered work shop, Wesley Hill Top House, and the installation of a 20,000-foot natural gas loop line. New construction includes the Federal Land Bank building and Kentucky Galvanizing Company plant. Projects under construction include a 12-unit apartment building and the Elizabethtown Senior High School, which is locating on a 46-acre tract and will contain 103,400 square feet. Projects proposed include a four-lane bypass to lead off the Western Kentucky Parkway and circle the city to the west; a new shopping center to house a department store, a drug store, a supermarket and a dress shop; and a 100-unit apartment building.

Upton has a new post office building, a new motel, a new telephone system, and two new subdivisions.

West Point has submitted plans for an extension of the water and sewer mains and a new 250,000-gallon water storage facility. The city will also double the capacity of the water treatment plant. Recent improvements completed by the West Point Independent School District include the installation of new aluminum windows, tile flooring, and a gas furnace. A new city park offers boat docks, picnic tables and grills, camping and restroom facilities, and paved parking space which can accommodate 140 cars. Negotiations are in process which may eventually provide air ambulance service from the West Point area to Louisville.

Radcliff has plans to double sewage treatment capacity and build a contact stablization pond and enlarge overloaded lift stations. Radcliff has a new shopping center with the first stage of construction completed and the second stage underway. A new elementary school is also under construction.

Vine Grove has plans for a new water treatment plant, a new sewage treatment plant, and additional water and sewer lines.

Recreation, Entertainment and Livability

There is a wide variety of recreational facilities in the Hardin County area. Boating and fishing are excellent along the Ohio and Salt Rivers as well as the numerous creeks and ponds in the county. Other recreation includes golf, swimming, tennis, softball, baseball, and football.

Rough River State Park is only 28 miles away and Nolin Reservoir is only 30 miles away.

Proximity to Louisville provides the area with entertainment such as the Kentucky Derby, the Kentucky State Fair, Actors' Theatre, Kentucky Opera Association, Louisville Ballet, Louisville Orchestra, harness racing, and professional baseball and basketball.

HISTORY

Hardin was Kentucky's fifteenth county. It was formed from Nelson County and later, Ohio, Breckinridge, and Larue Counties were formed from it, as well as parts of Grayson, Hart, and Meade.

Hardin County is bounded by the Ohio River on the north, the Rolling Fork of Salt River on the northeast, and the Nolin River, which forms part of the boundary with Grayson County.

Even though Colonel John Hardin was not one of the first settlers, the county bears his name. Colonel Hardin served his county and his country well as he participated in the French and Indian Wars, the Revolution and the Indian wars in the early 1790's. In 1792, he was sent to negotiate a treaty with the Miami Indians and was murdered by them at what is now Hardin, Ohio.

Elizabethtown, the county seat, was established in 1780 and was named after the wife of one of the first settlers, Colonel Andrew Hynes.

Hardin County has produced its share of important citizens. Thomas Lincoln lived in Elizabethtown in 1796, and later he lived at Knob Creek, then a part of Hardin County, with his son Abraham. James Buchanan, later President of the United States, lived in Elizabethtown for a short period of time. Duff Green, later a member of President Jackson's "Kitchen Cabinet," was a merchant partner of Major Ben Helm who was twice Governor of Kentucky. General George Armstrong Custer lived in Elizabethtown from 1871 to 1873 while writing My Life on the Plains. John Young Brown was a citizen of Hardin County when he was elected Governor of Kentucky in 1891. During the Civil War, General S. B. Buckner, General John Hunt Morgan, and General H. B. Lyon all made campaigns into the Elizabethtown area.
