SCOTTSVILLE, KENTUCKY - A RESOURCE PROFILE

Scottsville, the county seat of Allen County, is located in south-central Kentucky and had a 1994 estimated population of 4,435. Scottsville is located 48 miles northeast of Nashville, Tennessee; 123 miles southwest of Louisville, Kentucky; and 223 miles southwest of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Allen County covers a land area of 346 miles in Kentucky's Pennyrile Region. This area is noted for its gently rolling plains and agricultural production. The southern boundary of the county is formed by the Kentucky-Tennessee state line. Allen County had a 1994 estimated population of 15,430.

The Economic Framework - The total number of Allen County residents employed in 1995 averaged 8,774. Manufacturing firms in the county reported 2,072 employees; wholesale and retail trade provided 1,386 jobs; 700 people were employed in service occupations; state and local government accounted for 683 employees; and contract construction firms provided 93 jobs.

Labor Supply - There is a current estimated labor supply of 4,722 persons available for industrial jobs in the labor market area. In addition, from 1997 through 2001, 11,077 young persons in the area will become 18 years of age and potentially available for industrial jobs.

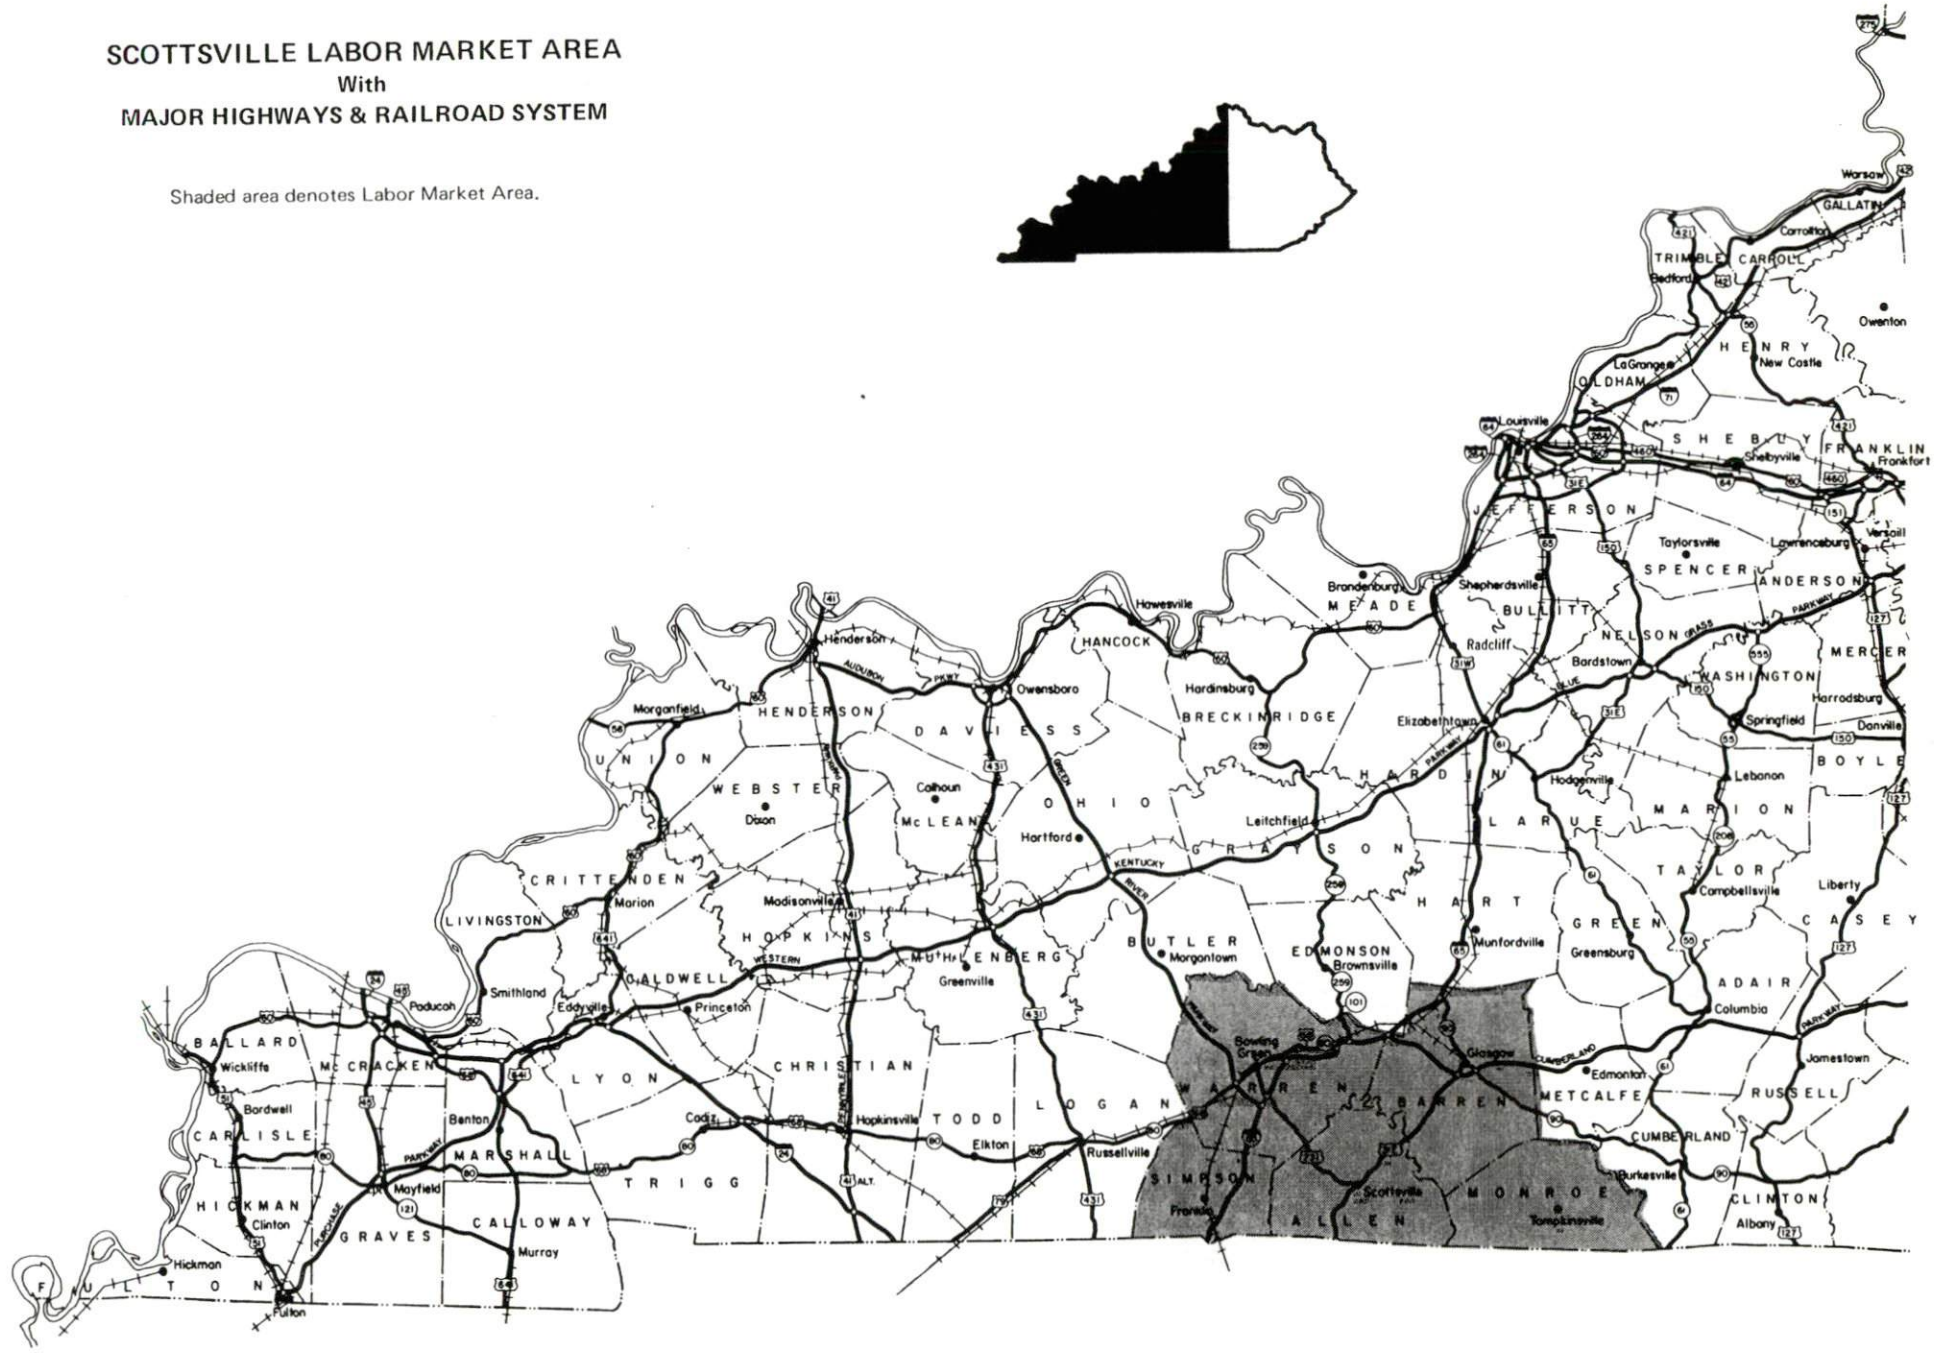

Transportation - Principal highways which directly serve Scottsville include U.S. Highways 231, 31E and Kentucky Highways 100 and 101. Each is a "AAA"-rated trucking highway. Interstate 65 is accessible 21 miles northwest of Scottsville via U.S. 231. The Cumberland Parkway, a multilane toll road, is accessible 23 miles northeast of the city via U.S. 31E. Twenty-one common carrier trucking companies provide interstate and/or intrastate service to Scottsville. CSX Transportation provides the nearest main line rail service at Bowling Green, 25 miles northwest of Scottsville; and branch line service at Glasgow, 25 miles northeast of Scottsville. The nearest scheduled commercial airline service is available at Nashville International Airport in Nashville, Tennessee, 54 miles southwest of Scottsville. Charter flight service is available at the Bowling Green-Warren County Regional Airport, 23 miles northwest of Scottsville.

Power and Fuel - The Tri-County Electric Membership Corporation, supplied by the Tennessee Valley Authority, provides electricity to both Scottsville and Allen County. The Scottsville Gas Company, supplied by Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company and Tenneco Marketing Company, serves Scottsville with natural gas.

Education - The Allen County School System provides primary and secondary education to Scottsville and Allen County. One nonpublic school operates locally. Eleven institutions of higher learning are located within 65 miles of Scottsville. The Allen County Area Technology Center provides vocational training in Scottsville. Vocational-Technical training is also available at the Bowling Green State Regional Technology Center and the Kentucky Advanced Technology Center in Bowling Green, 25 miles from Scottsville.

TRANSPORTATION

Highways

Principal highways directly serving Scottsville include U.S. Highways 231, 31E, and Kentucky Highways 100 and 101. Each is a "AAA"-rated (80,000-pound gross load limit) trucking highway. Interstate 65, a major north-south highway corridor, is accessible from Scottsville by U.S. 231, 21 miles northwest of the city and by Kentucky 100, 21 miles west of Scottsville. The Cumberland Parkway, a multilane toll road which traverses south-central Kentucky, is accessible 23 miles northeast of Scottsville via U.S. 31E.

U.S. 231 from Scottsville to Interstate 65 at Bowling Green is presently in the design phase of widening the highway from two lanes to four lanes. Construction is expected to be complete within three years and will reduce the distance and time of access to Interstate 65 and Bowling Green.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Structure

Scottsville is governed by a mayor and six council members. The mayor serves a four-year term while the council members each serve two-year terms. Allen County is governed by a county judge/executive and five magistrates. Each county official serves a four-year term.

Planning and Zoning

Joint agency - Scottsville/Allen County Planning Commission

Participating cities - Scottsville

Subdivision regulations enforced - Within city only

Local codes enforced - Building and housing codes are enforced under both city and county jurisdictions

Mandatory state codes enforced - Kentucky Plumbing Code, National Electric Code, Kentucky Boiler Regulations and Standards, Kentucky Building Code (modeled after BOCA code)

Local Fees and Licenses

The City of Scottsville levies an occupational license tax of 1.5 percent on wages of individuals and on the net profits of businesses. The City of Scottsville also levies an annual net profit license fee of $30 which is deductible from the occupational license tax. Allen County levies an occupational license tax of 1.0 percent on wages of individuals and 1.0 percent of net profits of farm income, businesses, and corporations.

PROPERTY TAXES

The Kentucky Constitution requires the state to tax all classes of taxable property, and state statutes allow local jurisdictions to tax only a few classes. All locally taxed property is subject to county taxes and school district taxes (either a county school district or an independent school district). Property located inside of city limits may also be subject to city property taxes.

Special local taxing jurisdictions (fire protection districts, watershed districts, and sanitation districts) levy taxes within their operating areas (usually a small portion of community or county).

Property assessments in Kentucky are at 100% fair cash value. Accounts receivable are taxed at 85% of face value.

Allen County School System

The Allen County School System provides a multitude of learning opportunities for its local citizens.

The Primary Program involves a multi-age, multi-ability setting for Allen County children from kindergarten through fourth grade. Teams of teachers working collaboratively provide developmentally appropriate curricula and activities for the students. Continuous progress, authentic assessment, and qualitative reporting methods are important components of the program. Parents are an intricate part of the team in the Primary School. The School System has an exemplary technology program including IBM Writing to Read labs, several networked computers and a printer in all first through fifth grade classrooms, computer labs in the middle school, high school, vocational school, and administrative use in all schools.

The Allen County School System operates active Family Resource and Youth Service Centers, with an array of services to assist both family and students. Among these are counseling services, community education, intervention programs for at-risk students, and a community recreation center staffed by a certified recreation director. Extended school services for students include after-school tutoring and a summer school program. Classes are available for students needing extra help or extra time to successfully complete their work.

Student writing and the writing process are important curricular areas in the Allen County Schools. The high school was the recipient of a state writing grant which enabled the establishment of a computer writing lab and a writing resource teacher. Advanced placement classes which provide high school students the opportunity to pursue college level classes while in secondary school are offered to Allen County students. Adult education classes for skill remediation and G.E.D. testing are offered on school campus and on worksite at the request from industry.

The Community Resource Center is the hub of community education in Allen County. Located in the old Scottsville High School building, it provides community recreation, art classes, adult literacy as well as a comprehensive program for Allen County students and their families. Programs include parent training, support groups, vocational guidance, after-school and summer enrichment programs, crisis intervention, tutoring and referral services. A teen activities center is available for youth entertainment and provides a study area.

Customized Training

The Kentucky Tech system, through its Training and Development Coordinators, will provide technical assistance and will identify and develop low-cost customized training programs and services for both established and prospective businesses. Businesses wanting to establish a customized training program should contact a Training and Development Coordinator located on the campus of the Bowling Green Regional Technology Center.

Assessment Services

Kentucky Tech Career Connections offers to business, education, and government agencies testing packages for evaluating job applicants, selecting employees for promotional consideration and developing training programs within the organization. A Career Connections Assessment Center is located on the campus of the Bowling Green Regional Technology Center.

Adult Education Services

Adult education programs are available to adults who want to develop new skills, improve basic skills, or earn a high school equivalency diploma. In Allen County, adult literacy is provided by the Allen County Literacy Council and adult basic education is provided through the Allen County Board of Education.

Bluegrass State Skills Corporation

The Bluegrass State Skills Corporation, an independent public corporation created and funded by the Kentucky General Assembly, provides programs of skills training to meet the needs of business and industry from entry level to advanced training, and from upgrading present employees to retraining experienced workers.

The Bluegrass State Skills Corporation is a major source for skills training assistance for a new or existing company. The Corporation works in partnership with other employment and job training resources and programs, as well as Kentucky's economic development activities, to package a program customized to meet the specific needs of a company.
