HILLTOPPERS START SCRIMMAGE WITH DETERMINATION TO RETAIN COVETED STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

Middle Tennessee Teachers College Falls Before Onslaught of Western Gridders 20 to 0 Before One of Largest Crowds Ever In Attendance At Stadium On Hill.

The Hilltoppers started the grid season Saturday afternoon in such a convincing manner to evidence a determination to retain the state championship after the season closes, winning over Middle Tennessee Teachers College 20 to 0. Taking Saturday's game as a criterion, the state team that bests the Hilltoppers this year will find a worthy foe and will know that they have been in a sure enough scrimmage.

Although the day was hot and Old Sol sent down burning rays, the stadium was crowded with spectators to witness the opening game of the season and to root for the local team.

The Hilltoppers were in to win and the boys of Western Teachers College brought every energy into play.

Passes, line bucks and end runs all were woven into Western's blistering offense, while a seemingly impenetrable human wall held the Tennesseans at bay to bring back memories of last year's potent defense. Captain Wicker, the big needle and thread man from Mexico, led a much smaller Teacher machine on the field today than the one which opened the season last year, but he also led a better-trained, a more aggressive and a harder-hitting eleven.

The Kentuckians opened up early in the game when, following a series of line bucks, Gullette ripped off a 35-yard run to place the ball on the nine-yard line. His next effort netted two yards and "Firpo" Elrod, the boy who made the S. I. A. A. Kentucky team last year, shoved the ball the remaining seven yards for a touchdown with scarcely five minutes of time having ticked away.

Western scored again in the second quarter and again in the third. The second marker came when Leroy Elrod hauled a 20-yard pass to Vaughn. A fake pass to Elrod to Moore netted the extra point.

strong in the second half to score the third counter in the first two minutes of play. Following three attempts by the Southerners to pierce the Western wall Earl Beam recovered Tennessee's blocked punt on the six-yard line and Gullette went off tackle for the final marker. A pass, Gullette to Beam, counted for the extra point.

Early in the second quarter "Firpo" Elrod was knocked out of the game when he was tackled five yards out of bounds, after he had practically come to a stop. The Tennessee team drew a 15-yard penalty on the play and Anderson and Diddle sent Leroy Elrod in to take the place of his brother. With the combined forces of the younger Elrod and "Tiny" White, Western marched up the field to within scoring distance, but a recovered fumble gave Tennessee the ball and the Southerners booted out of danger.

Only once in the game did the Falkenberry team threaten to score and that was when Bass recovered a fumbled punt on the Kentuckians' 10-yard line. The Westerners held the Southerners three times and Vaughn broke up a pass to give Western the ball on downs.

In the early part of the fourth quarter young Elrod passed 40 yards to McNamara for a touchdown, but a Western man was offside. Once again, in the final period, the crowd was brought to its feet when the Toppers opened up with a terrific drive to carry the ball to the Tennesseans' 11-yard line, where it was when the game ended.

Stansbury, White, Captain Wicker and the two Elrods and Cummins were in the limelight for the Kentuckians, while Captain Dixon, Bass and Moore played best for the Tennesseans.

Coaches Give Hilltoppers Retain Key

"Fighting Chance All Have It," Says Head
During Yesterday

(By TOM HAZ)
FACED with the task of filling the shoes of the departed state players and two other performers, Coaches Carl Diddle and William L. Gullette, hearted about the prospect of retaining their 1928 state championship was evident as they yesterday the way the boys shape without so much as the physical perfection of the city men and 25 freshmen. According to Head Coach Anderson, Western has a "fighting chance" to again capture the State championship and, added Mr. Anderson, "That is as good as we want." The loss of Lynn Williams and Paul Taylor, All-State performers, and Captain Tom Ellis and his brother, Leslie, has left the coaches face to face with problems, to be sure, but from the promising material on hand they expect to mold a team capable of carrying on the good work done by these men and others of the 1928 eleven. It is the quarterback position that think I want your reformation on my shoulders? I've enough to do." Bob used his pipe, and tried to speak carelessly. "You don't think much of me, do you?" "No," she said dully. "I don't. I'm sick of telling lies, and pretending." "Well, that being so..." He drew deliberately on his pipe, and when he took it from his mouth, he spoke slowly. Weighing his words. "That being so, you can understand how I feel about leaving Rita with you any longer. I can scarcely take a chance, Molly, on your prejudicing my daughter against me."

"You know I wouldn't do that Bob." "I'm not so sure. There are things you would probably think it your duty to tell Rita, as she grew older. Things that might entail an unsympathetic understanding of her father's frailties. You're a rather stern person, you know." "Oh, Bob, I'm not. You talk a good deal about the dreadful conception of duty. As if I'd tell Rita all sorts of hateful, sordid things. You know, I wouldn't. And I wouldn't for a moment, the world alienate her from you. I came here last year's freshmen team; Leo Pendergrass, a newcomer and a likely looking backfield candidate; and Hamilton, Ruppert Cummins, Captain Alton B. Wicker, Sam Bradshaw, Dan Baldwin, Randolph Baker, Richard Martin, Woosley and Jameson, line candidates. Other varsity candidates yet to report are Boyd, Paul and Charley Stephens, the Canary brothers, and Cleburne Millard.

Western Men Gallop Over Ball Team, 13-0

Special to The Courier-Journal.
Bowling Green, Ky., Oct. 5.—The ball players of Ball College were left bawling here this afternoon as the Hilltoppers of Western Teachers' College galloped away with a 13 to 0 victory.

Entering the game heavily outweighed, the Western Teachers fought back their heavier foes in one of the most interesting battles ever played on College Heights. Western slipped across its first marker in the opening period after Edgar Allen Stansbury, who never saw a football game until he came to Western three years ago, accepted a beautiful 20-yard pass from Gullette and was nailed on the 2-yard line, and Gullette went off-tackle for the marker. A pass for point was grounded.

Western's second tally came in the final when Oliver Elrod and Vaughn uncorked a terrific attack that ended with Elrod's carrying the oval over for a touchdown. His attempt to dropkick was bad, but the point was good as the Indiana team was offside.

The game which kept the crowd in an uproar, was one in which flashy plays, beautiful runs and outstanding players were in the limelight. Gullette at fullback played one of the best games of his career until he was taken out in the third quarter following a rib injury. "Burhead" Vaughn was the man in the Western backfield who was "poison" to the visitors. Time after time, he reeled off a run through the entire Indiana line only to be downed by the secondary.

In the Kentucky wall, Cummins, Wicker, Baldwin and Stansbury were the mainstays. Stansbury made his first bid for an all-State berth by playing a brilliant game at left end. He not only was responsible for putting Western in her first scoring position, but his playing throughout the entire game was flawless.

The Northerners made a strong bid for a touchdown in the second quarter when they advanced the ball to Western's 15-yard line where the Hilltoppers stopped the Indiana teachers four times for no gain, to receive the ball on downs.

Carlos Oakley, who was out of last Saturday's game on account of an injured knee, entered the game today in the final moments of play. Turner Elrod, all-Kentucky fullback, did not see service today because of injuries sustained last week.

Game, Southwestern Team Conquers West. Ky., 12-6

Lynx' First S. I. A. A. Game Finds Scrappy Eleven Defeating Kentucky College, Champs of Last Season—Hightower's Pass Brings Winning Touchdown.

By David Bloom.

A pair of skinny arms reached high into the air and clutched a flying football and with their owner and the pigskin were buried a second later under a pass of mighty men. Fortunately for Southwestern they went down in the right place and the Lynx thereby won a fierce football game from the Western Kentucky Teachers College of Bowling Green by the score of 12 to 6 yesterday.

The arms belonged to Harry Walton, substitute quarterback. He plucked a pass flung by George Hightower in the third period with the score tied at six all and fell over the goal line for the touchdown that brought a triumph to Southwestern in their first S. I. A. A. game of the season and a defeat to the 1928 college champions of Kentucky. A crowd of about 2,000 saw the Lynx survive their first real taste of fire at Fargason Field.

The battle was mainly one of off-tackle play—but two passes really gave the Lynx their two touchdowns, Lamar Pittman having gone over for the first from the three-yard line on the third play of the second period. Just a few minutes after that Western Kentucky scored their touchdown on a blocked punt, Bradshaw falling on the ball behind the Lynx goal line. Neither team converted.

Southwestern clearly and decisively outplayed their Kentucky rivals all over the field, but inside their own five-yard line the Western Teachers were almost invulnerable. Three times in the first period Southwestern had the ball inside the Kentucky three-yard line and three times they were hurled back. Just before they scored the decisive touchdown the Lynx were on Western's one-yard line with three plays to go—only to be well-stopped by the combined efforts of a pair of fighting guards, Cummings and Martin. When the final gun barked Southwestern had a first down on the Kentucky five-yard line after making a great, game sustained drive of 60 yards down the field.

Western Kentucky has one young man to thank for their touchdown and he did it with his foot. The gentleman in question is Leroy Elrod, fullback. His fine punting was the medium of setting Southwestern back time after time when they were on their way up the field. Then in the second period he put a well placed kick smack dab out of bounds on the one-yard line. Bobby Lloyd tried to punt from behind his own goal line. Cummings and Martin broke through and barely tipped the ball, sending it spinning into the air. When it came down Bradshaw was closest and Bradshaw fell on the ball for the touchdown behind the Lynx goal. Southwestern never paraded a gamer team than the one that took the field against the Kentuckians. They fought hard all the time, despite hard knocks at the hands of the invaders, and only once did the defense show a letdown. That was in the waning minutes of the second period, but they quickly caught themselves and Western Kentucky was checked.

Backs Tear Into Teachers.

Meeks Hinson and George Hightower, the ball carrying backs, were forever tearing big gaps in the Kentucky line, running hard and fast, but they had the misfortune to be stopped and stopped cold in scoring distance. Hinson twice got away for what looked like sure touchdowns, but once Paul Vaughn nabbed him from behind and once Arthur Gullette, a Mississippi boy, did the same thing. Lamar Pittman drove and drove and played a great defensive game and Walton showed his usual spirit in every play.

The events leading up to the first Lynx touchdown show the fierceness of the play. Taking the ball at midfield, after Elrod had kicked out, Hightower passed to Bob Russell, who went 35 yards to the Kentucky 7-yard line. Two plays netted just three yards and eventually the ball went over. Elrod made another fine kick of 45 yards, but Hightower ran the ball back to the Kentucky 22-yard line. Four plays at the line netted barely 10 yards, and a first down and four more took the ball to the two-yard line, just as the first quarter ended.

As the new quarter began, Pittman hit the line three times, finally going over on the third trial. He failed to convert.

The Kentucky supporters had been yelling for a break and they got it in a minute or so. Southwestern was assessed a penalty for tripping at midfield and after the Lynx line had held Elrod got off his kick—a beautifully placed spiral that rolled out of bounds an inch or so beyond the goal line. Lloyd dropped back to kick, but the two alert guards broke through the block to try enough to yield the touchdown. Shifty Logan blocked Elrod's attempted placement for the extra point.

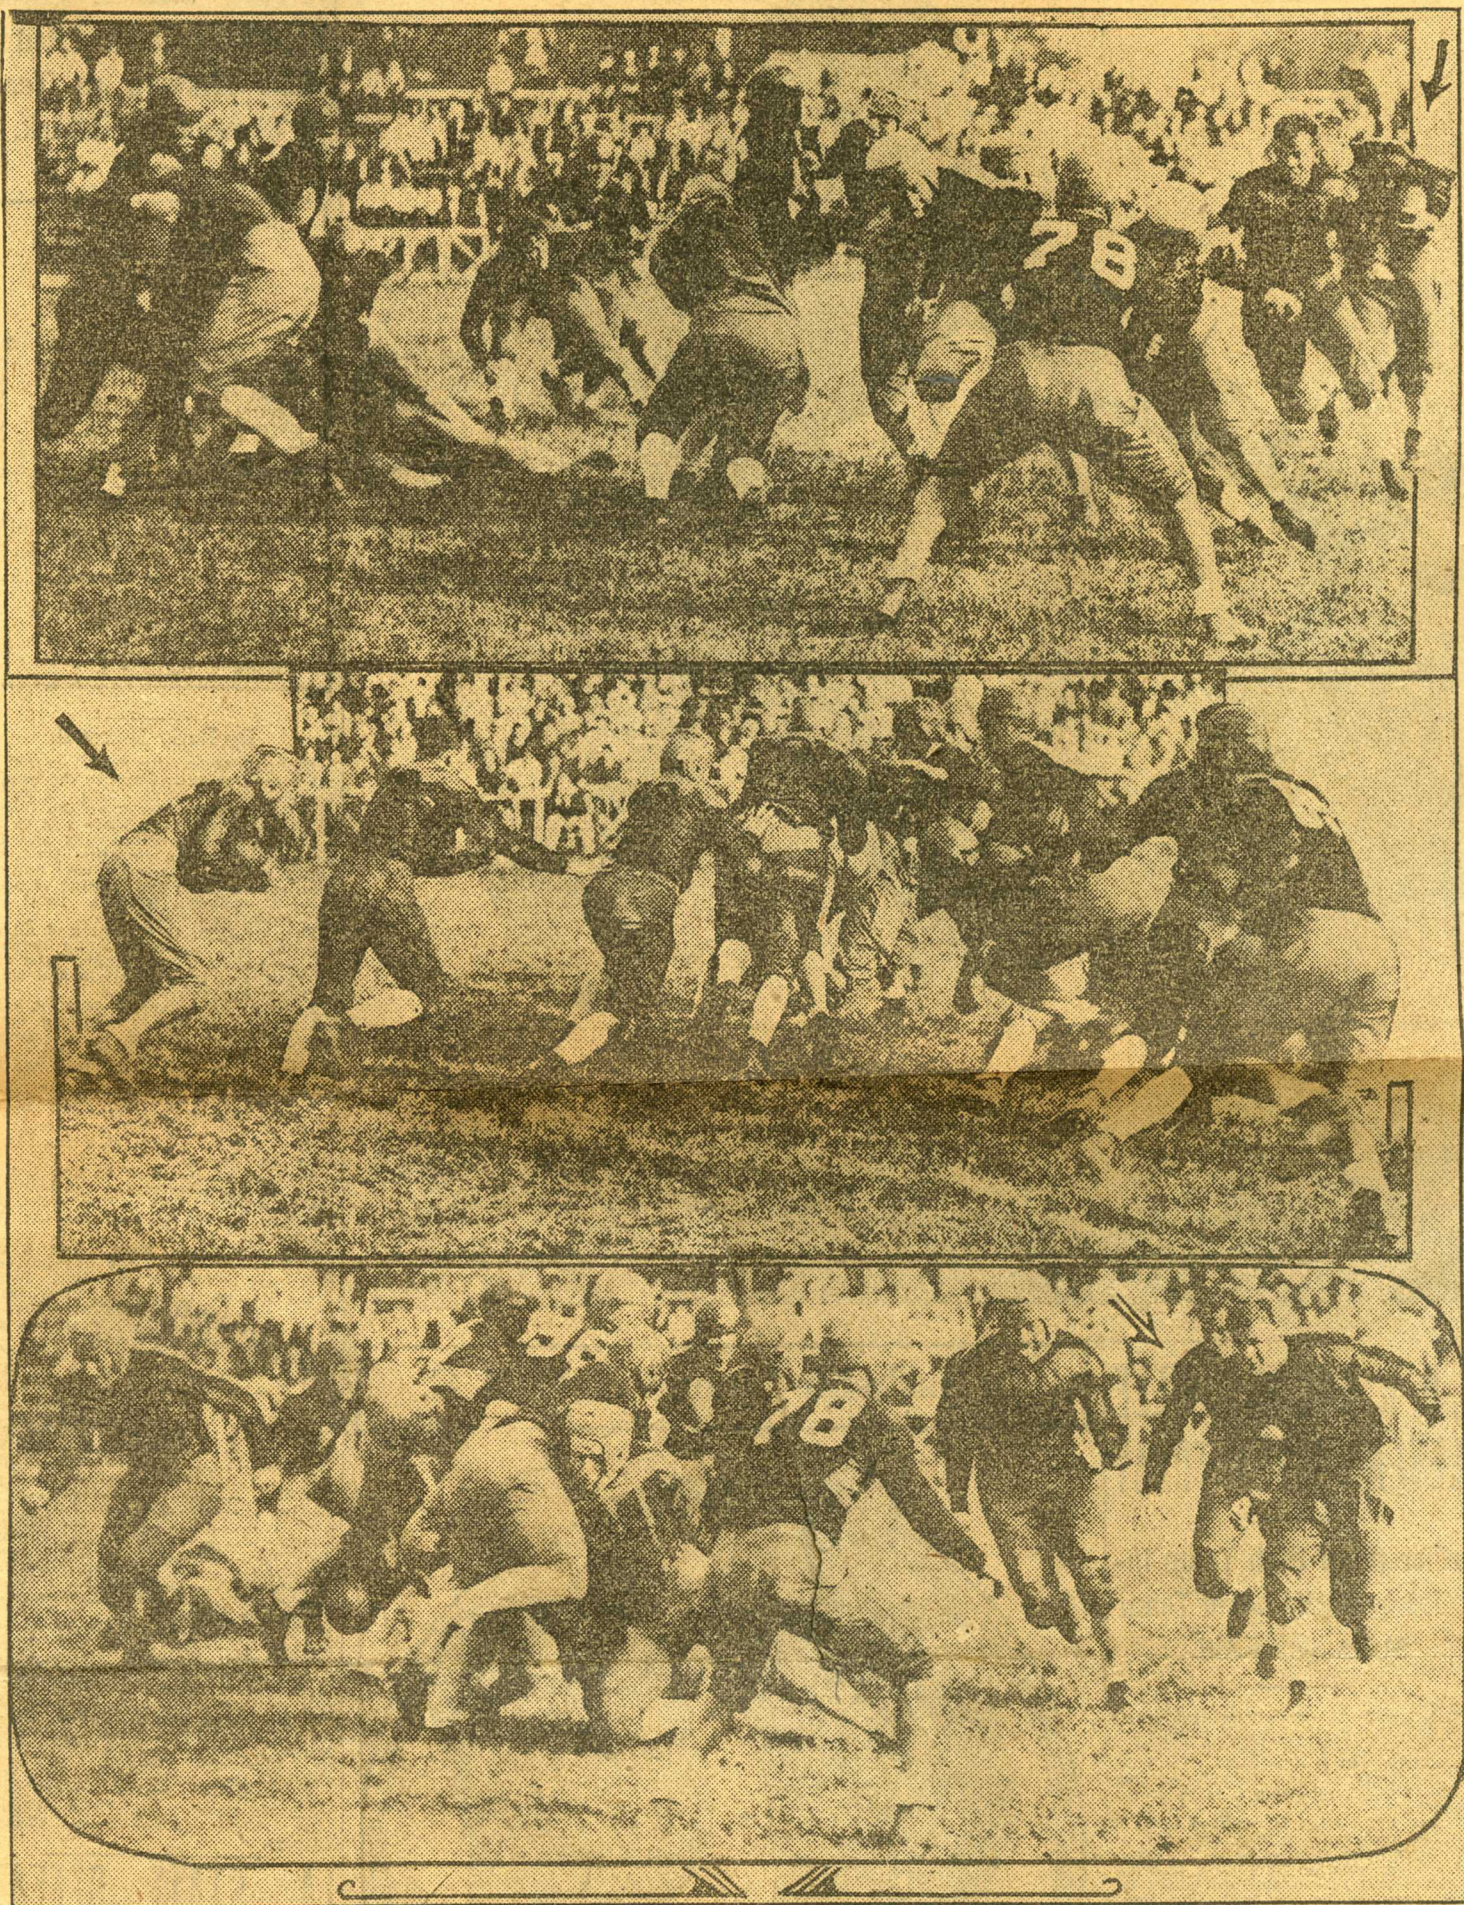

Elrod Catches Pass.

The Kentuckians' only other serious threat came in this quarter. Gullette threw a 15 yard pass from midfield to Elrod who went 10 more before being downed. Gullette and T. Elrod tried the line twice with no results, two passes were knocked down by alert Lynx backs and the ball went over. Southwestern was driving up the field with Jack Delay and Pittman carrying the ball as the half ended.

Hinson, who contributed a 35-yard sprint on a slant off tackle in the first period, broke through the middle of the Kentucky line on a cutback for 46 yards just to start the second—a beautiful run through a broken field behind well-timed interference. Vaughn nabbed him from behind on the six yard line. The Teachers were penalized five yards for illegal use of the hands to put the ball on their one yard line—but their great defense stiffened again. Twice Martin got through to nab a Lynx behind the line of scrimmage. Once they smothered a play for a five yard loss. Then Hightower tossed a pass to Pittman, but Pitt was downed inches from the goal.

Elrod kicked out of bounds on the Teachers' 15 yard line—and that set the stage for the winning Hightower-Walton act. Two plays were smeared and a pass grounded. Then Hightower swung his arm and Walton's arms shot out to grab the ball and fall as a half dozen blue shirted Kentuckians dived at Edward A. Diddle, Jr., son of Western Kentucky Teachers' College's esteemed athletic director and football coach, arrived in Louisville Monday morning for the big game, the game of life. His arrival was marked with loud and robust outbursts which his proud parent insists sounded like a football player going to battle.

Eddie Junior weighed seven and one-half pounds. Mrs. Diddle, who is at the Deaconess Hospital, the young son, and also the mentor are feeling fine.

Snow replaced Tucker over whom the play was run.

Bain broke through to throw Vaughn for a four-yard loss. Gullette cut through tackle for six yards, where he was stopped by Thompson. A pass, L. Elrod to Stansbury, was completed for a fifteen-yard gain, giving the visitors a first down on Louisville's 28-yard line. Gullette made five yards over left guard. L. Elrod went through the same hole for three yards more. A short pass, Gullette to Vaughn, was good for eight yards and another first down on the 17-yard line. Vaughn hit right tackle for three yards. Gullette hit left tackle for five yards. Louisville called time out as Snow was injured on the play.

Gullette went through the center of the line for 2 yards and a first down on Louisville's 6-yard line. Gullette fumbled but Stansbury recovered for a 3-yard gain. Roth replaced Snow at right tackle for U. of L. Vaughn failed to gain on the next play. Bain stopped L. Elrod without gain. Gullette went through left guard for a touchdown. The ball was over the line only 5 inches. L. Elrod failed to kick goal. The score: U. of L., 0; Western, 13.

Shields replaced Brown and Huff went in for Thompson for U. of L. T. Elrod, Oakley, Stephens and Reynolds replaced Gullette, Moore, Cummins and Stansbury for Western. L. Elrod kicked to Huff who received on his 20-yard line and returned fifteen yards. A long pass was incomplete. Another long pass from Brewry was knocked down by Oakley and U. of L. was penalized five yards. Drewry attempted another pass, which was grounded. McKinney gained two yards off left tackle. Shields kicked to T. Elrod on Western's 45-yard line and the all-Kentucky fullback returned the ball to Louisville's 38-yard line. L. Elrod made eight yards around right end. A long pass was grounded. T. Elrod made eight yards and a first down through left guard. The ball was on Louisville's 23-yard line. L. Elrod failed to gain.

T. Elrod swept around right end on a fake pass for eight yards and another first down. U. of L. called time out. A double pass was completed for a 4-yard gain as the game ended.

U. OF L. BOWS TO WESTERN NORMAL BY 13 TO 0 SCORE

King's Team Goes Through Another Game Without Scoring.

By BILL FARNHAM.

For the third time in as many years the Western Normal College football team downed the University of Louisville Cardinals at Parkway Field Saturday afternoon in their annual melee, 13 to 0.

With the exception of the first quarter the University of Louisville offered little threat to the Hilltoppers from Bowling Green who administered a sound trouncing to the Kingmen on straight football.

Leroy and Tom Elrod at halfback and quarterback, respectively, caused the Cardinal no little worry throughout the contest and Leroy took it upon himself to dash over with the first touchdown of the afternoon in the third quarter, after a successful forward pass had paved the way for the initial counter. Leroy Elrod place-kicked for the extra point, running the score to seven points.

Gullette, at fullback in the third quarter, crashed through the Cardinal midriff for the final marker, but Leroy Elrod failed to tally the extra point.

Besides the sterling offensive and excellent strategy of the 1928 Kentucky State champions the Western outfit tutored by the famous Carl "Swede" Anderson, a former Dartmouth luminary, flashed two sturdy defensive men in Cummins at right tackle and Stansbury at end. These two players were keenly aggressive throughout the game and let little opportunity slip by when they had chances to crash through the University of Louisville forward wall and drag down the fleet halfbacks for Thompson, at end, Bain at tackle, flashed moments of brilliant football, but their efforts were only short lived.

In the passing department the University of Louisville was also lacking their former gusto and failed to gain with any consistency in this department of the game.

The linemen, who are tutored by Gander Terry, captain of the 1928 Western grid machine and who is aiding Anderson in whipping the Hilltoppers into a formidable outfit, has trained the Bowling Green outfit to be most aggressive.

Ed Diddle, former master mind of the Westernites, has offered a guiding hand and sits in on the board of strategy meetings, which placed the visitors in the van against the Cardinals.

In the third quarter T. Elrod called upon his brother, Leroy Elrod, to engage in a punting duel with Drewry which resulted in a gain of some 20 yards, placing the ball deep in the Cardinal territory.

At this juncture of the game T. Elrod called for a forward pass which was executed with perfect precision and placed the ball on the 5-yard line. Two line bucks at the right side of the line and the Cardinals failed to budge an inch. A crack at the left side, however, netted the necessary yardage for the first marker.

Having found the weak spot in the Cardinal line the Hilltoppers continually pounded the Cardinal flank, tackle and guard until another touchdown was forthcoming.

Coch King endeavored to chink up the hole, but of little avail.

The gap was too great and the constant procession of reserves failed to halt the Bowling Green outfit.

A fine forward pass attack gained twenty-two yards in the final quarter. With the ball on the 6-yard line, Gullette made two attempts at the line, and although fumbling, made three yards gain. Leroy Elrod failed in his attempt at the line as the Cardinal forwards braced in the shadow of their own goal line. Gullette hurtled through the Cardinals for the three much-needed yards and the counter.

The Western scrubs were rushed in at this point with five minutes to play and were successful in forging their way deep into the Cardinal territory and the ball rested on the 7-yard line, as the gun barked the end of the game.

McKinney, for the University of Louisville, was the best ground gainer and dashed around end and off tackle for many gains. He was knocked out on two occasions by the terrific tackling of Stansbury and Cummins, who showed no mercy in this department. Few penalties were inflicted upon either team with Western suffering most severe.

The jubilant Western Normal team left for Bowling Green late Saturday night and will center their attentions upon preparation for the homecoming tilt with Centre College Colonels at Bowling Green, November 2.

The University of Louisville will take to the road October 26 and journey to Huntington, W. Va. for their annual conflict with the Mountain-eers.

After their miserable showing in the last three starts in which they have failed to score the Cardinal mentors have a big task before them. The coaching staff is hampered by a lack of material and probably will be for some time to come, it appears. The University at the present moment lacks the bruising gridiron maulers which enjoy playing the gridiron game as a steady diet.

McKINNEY PLAYS WELL
 ball team crashed through to a victory over Tom King's University of Louisville Cardinals in a game played at Parkway Field Saturday afternoon by 13 to 0. The aforementioned Mr. Elrod, last year all-Kentucky full-back, pulled himself together in the early part of the third quarter and smashed his way over the Cardinal line for the first touchdown of the game. He made his attempt at place-kick good. Through his efforts, the visitors in the fourth quarter slashed their way down the field to the University of Louisville 3-yard line, where Gullette, halfback, who played real football throughout the game, took the ball over for the second touchdown. This time Elrod failed to make his kick good. The defeat was the tenth scoreless setback in a row for the Cards and the third this season. The Cardinals looked better in this fray than at any time this season. During the first half they actually outplayed Western and had the ball as close to a score as the opponents' 12-yard line. Until the last quarter of the game the Card line held well. The superior play and weight of the visitors wore the forward wall down and there probably would have been another touchdown if the game had not ended when it did.

Two of Western's linemen gained high esteem by their brilliant tackling. Time after time Stansbury and Cummins smashed through the Card line to make beautiful tackles before the play had got more than a second or two under way. On going down under Elrod's long punts, these two always were there to make good their reputation of getting their men.

McKinney Glistens.

McKinney played a splendid game for the Cardinals. He was easily the biggest ground-gainer for Louisville. Thompson, who played almost the entire game at right end, did some beautiful defensive work on his own account. Both Thompson and McKinney were bumped about quite a bit and were well worn down when the final whistle sounded.

The first half was interesting to watch. The Cards were on the offensive most of the time and but for a bit of faulty judgment when the ball was on the Western 12-yard line, might have scored.

Depree intercepting forward pass in Louisville-Western Normal game which Western won by 13 to 0. Drewry of the Louisville team is shown in an aerial endeavor to nab the ball. The game was played at Parkway Field.

Score In Third Quarter.

The third quarter was hardly under way when Bean snagged Elrod's long pass right on the U. of L. 5-yard line, but stepped out of bounds as he turned to make the touchdown. The Cards held nobly for three downs, but Elrod finally plunged across on the final try. After the touchdown Louisville was on the defensive.

In the final quarter Elrod and Gullette together started a long march to the Card goal line and it seemed that nothing the Kingmen could do had any effect on that determined drive. When within three yards of the line Gullette managed to get the ball across by about two inches on the last down.

Cards to Face These Huskies Today

Yale and Brown, who have known the sting of defeat, Cornell and Princeton, the Tiger nursing wounds from Saturday's losing battle with Brown, and Penn State anxious to give New York University the shock of two defeats on successive week-ends. It's up an attractive Eastern card.

Western Teachers and U. of L. Gridders Meet Today On Parkway Field

The University of Louisville Cardinals once again meet the Western State Teachers' aggregation on the gridiron at Parkway Field Saturday afternoon. Tom King's eleven is in tip-top condition for the fray after a week of hard practice, which was finished up with a dummy scrimmage on the Belknap campus practice field Friday afternoon. The game is scheduled to start at 2:15 o'clock.

The men who are to start in the fray this afternoon were sent in Friday afternoon in the first string. Thompson and Langan were at ends. Crowder and Snow have been showing up well at tackles and probably will be sent in to start the battle. Tibbals and Roth are the men who are scheduled to go in at the guard positions. Wilson will be at center.

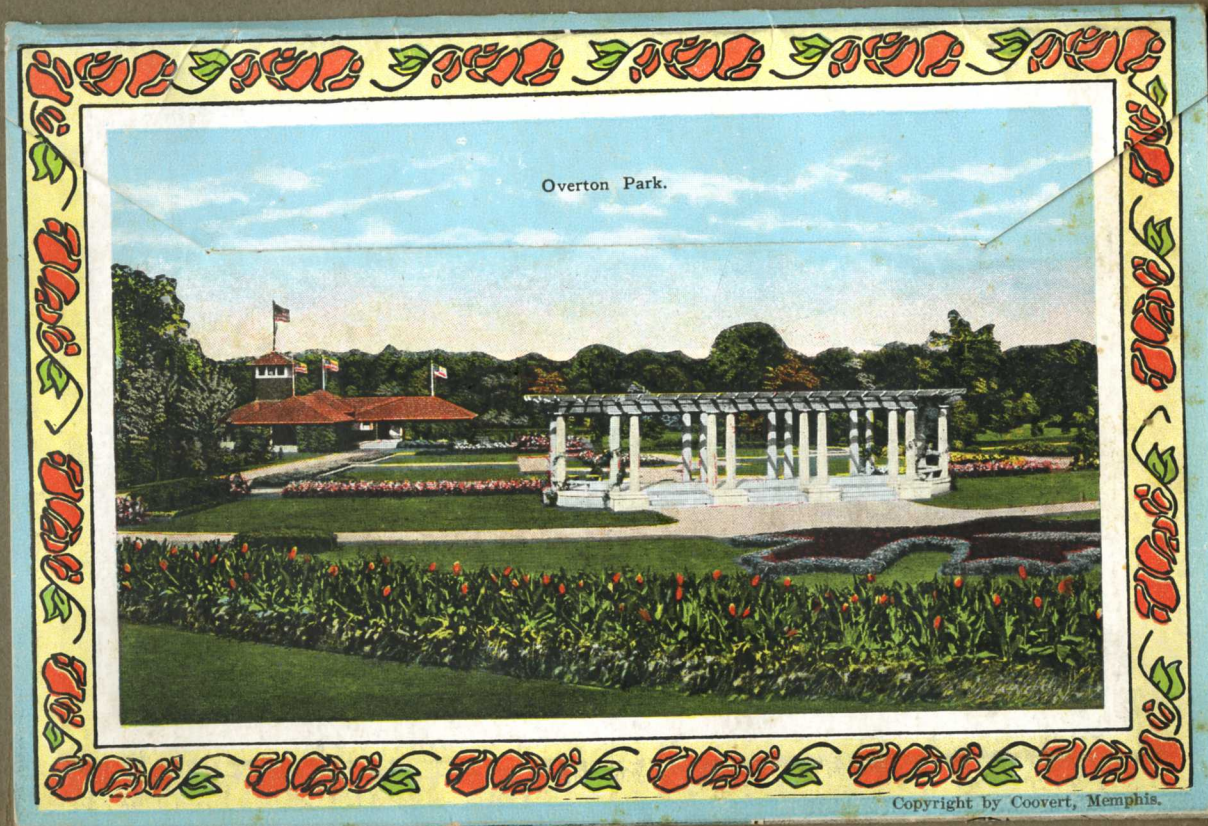

In the backfield Brown will be at quarter. This lad is fast developing into a football player of worth and will start the fray at the helm. Since Brown does not kick, Drewry will play at fullback and attend to the punting duties. Rasmussen and McKinney are the ones most favored to go as halfbacks. McKinney has been showing a brilliant form in ground-gaining. Rasmussen has been playing genuine football in practice all this week and is developing his speed until he is able to do around :10.8 for the hundred.

The forward wall of the Cardinals also has been made stronger during the past week's workouts. Coach King has put many hours on this division both on offensive and defensive play. The only change that has been made in the line is Tibbals for Dotson. The latter has been injured slightly and has not been able to put up quite the game that he has heretofore.

Western has a powerful team this year, according to all reports, and will rule a favorite to down the Cardinals.

Western lost only two men, both tackles, from last season's State championship eleven. The freshman aggregation of 1928 at Western was one of the best in Kentucky and many of these players can be counted upon to be in the first line-up when the game begins today.

William Lester "Gander" Terry of Marion, Ky., and a member of the 1928 championship squad of Western Kentucky State Teachers College, was signed as assistant football coach to Head Coach "Swede" Anderson by Athletic Director Ed Diddle last summer, for the 1929 and 1930 season.

The Western authorities could not have secured a better man to help fill out the coaching staff, and "Gander" has already proved his worth by the assistance he has been giving Coach Anderson with the Varsity and Freshman squads. According to Coach Anderson, Terry is the best guard ever to don a Western uniform, and his knowledge is not at all confined to the guard position, as he played

CAPTAIN ALTON WICKER.

Captain Alton Wicker of Marion, will lead the Western Kentucky State Teachers College football team in defense of their Kentucky championship in 1929.

Captain Wicker starred in Western Kentucky high school athletic circles while attending Marion High School; and with the completion of this year he will have played four years for the Teachers College football teams.

Wicker is a man that is fully capable of leading the Western team in the important role that it must play this year, and the student body has already planned the celebration of a successful season under his leadership. He was given honorable mention as all-state guard at the end of last year and will make a strong bid for all-Kentucky tackle this year.

WESLEYAN TEAM BEATS WESTERN BY SCORE OF 7-2

Teachers College Bows To Panthers At Latter's Homecoming

Playing a listless brand of football, the Hilltoppers of Western, went down in defeat before the fighting Panthers of Kentucky Wesleyan by the score of 7-2 at Winchester, November 9.

Western was doped to beat Wesleyan at least twenty-five points, considering the fact that the game was Wesleyan's Homecoming Game. Centre had downed the Panthers earlier in the season by the score of 39-0, while they were only able to beat Western 7-6, thus giving Western a thirty-eight point advantage as far as dope was concerned. The Hilltoppers had seemingly lost the fight that carried them to the state championship last year.

Fumbles were costly to Western, and as in the Centre game, a fumble which was recovered by the opposition was the thing that gave the Panthers their touchdown.

Western's measly two points came in the latter part of the third quarter, when Donigan's punt was blocked and Gallagher fell on the ball, behind his own goal line.

The Hilltoppers can boast of one thing, however, and that is that they made nine first downs to Wesleyan's two. The Elrod brothers were responsible for these downs, but the entire team seemed to lack the final punch when within scoring distance of the goal line.

Captain Alton Wicker, going into the game with a badly twisted neck and injured instep, was the shining light of the Western line. Captain Wicker gave the Panther backs plenty of things to worry about as well as opening a large number of the holes that the backs ran through to make nine first downs.

Gallagher and Donigan played pitted best for Wesleyan. Donigan's long punts pushed the Teachers back into their own territory when neither team was able to gain through the line. Gallagher's famous pass failed to work, however, as coaches Anderson, Diddle, and Terry had thoroughly drilled their men on the art of stopping an aerial attack. Last year Wesleyan came near scoring a touchdown on Western by the use of their unusually well-developed over-head attack, and the Western coaches predicted that they would resort to the same method of scoring this year and made every attempt to be ready for it.

This contest was the second successive Homecoming game for the Hilltoppers to play in, and that probably accounts for their lack of fight and stamina.

Western Goes Down In Defeat Before Centre In Homecoming Classic

Western's Touchdown Is Made By Series Of Completed Forward Passes in Last Stanza

In the football game between the Western Hilltoppers and the Centre College Colonels, which was the feature event of the greatest Homecoming in the history of the Western Kentucky Teachers College, the Hilltoppers lost to the Colonels by the score of 7-6 in one of the hardest games ever played on College Heights. The game was played before five thousand yelling, frenzied fans who had yelled themselves hoarse the night before in one of the greatest pep rallies ever held by the football enthusiasts of Bowling Green.

Centre's touchdown came before three minutes of the first quarter had ticked away, when Turner Elrod fumbled on his own twenty-yard line and Centre recovered. A series of line plunges placed the oval on the one-yard line and Nemecek, Centre's plunging full-back, went over for the touchdown. Shearer's dropkick for extra point was good. The touchdown came so quickly that the Hilltoppers and fans were taken by complete surprise. This was the first point scored against the Western first stringers in two years, only one more touchdown being scored against them, when Bethel College of Tennessee, scored against the second team. Cumming, Martin, Stansberry, Beam, and Baldwin, must be given special credit for their playing. Edgar Stansberry, who received honorable mention last year as all-state end, seems to be on the trail of a regular berth on it this year. Duley, before coming to Western four years ago, had never seen a football game and had heard of only a very few, as Shepherdsville High has only about sixty students and does not boast of a football team. Stansberry seemed to take to the oval in a very short time, as it resembles a pumpkin in several respects.

This game was the first that the Western Hilltoppers had lost on College Heights in two years, and the fans seemed not to be able to recover from the shock, yet they feel that the best team won.

Centre gained more yardage from the line of scrimmage than Western; yet they were not able to penetrate the strong defense that affronted them when the Teachers were backed against their goal line. Though Centre's touchdown came as the result of a Western fumble, and the Hilltopper's came through hard, straight football, the Colonels must be given credit for outplaying Western.

After Centre's marker in the first three minutes of play, the game was very sluggish, with the exception of Grabruck's return of Western's punts, which brought the crowd to their feet, as he would leave several Western players spilled on the ground, only to be prevented from making a touchdown by the safety man. The safety man happened to be Turner Elrod, and he prevented two Centre touchdowns, when he was the only man between the line of scrimmage and the goalpost. His deadly tackles brought the flying Grabruck to earth twice during the game, when very few men would have been able to stop a runner of such calibre. Elrod not only played a great defensive game, but his end-runs and rifle-like forward passes were responsible for Western's touchdown, and the greater part of their wardage on scrimmage plays.

Not far behind Turner Elrod was his younger brother, Leroy Elrod, who received his older brother's pass for Western's touchdown and did a greater part of the line plunging. Paul Vaughn and Moose Moore did some nice work for the Hilltoppers; these boys' playing was not spectacular, but their blocking and defensive play was very effective.

The entire Western line played a great game. No line could hold the "praying" Colonels to seven points and not play a good game. The Centre backs made several long gains near midfield, but when backed against the goal line, they heeded the spectators' cry of "Hold that Line."

Captain Alton Wicker, "Duley" Stansberry, Earl Beam, "Wildman" Cummins, Dan Baldwin, Sam Bradshaw, and Dick Martin, must be congratulated on their feat of holding Centre College to such a low score, when the mighty Kentucky state team was able to beat them only 3'-0. Our splendid linesman, Captain Wicker, received the greater part of the Centre line-rushes on his side of the line, and he stamped himself as an outstanding favorite for all-Kentucky tackle this year by the great style in which he handled such bruising charges. Whayne, playing his first football game, played as good a game as any freshman seen on the Western field this year. Goldstein, Arnold and Cleveland played best in the Louisville game, the Western's second marker came in the third quarter when Holeman recovered Cardillo's fumbled punt. Cardillo let the ball slip through his hands while standing within a foot of his own goal line and Holeman recovered it and slid across the goal line for a touchdown.

This was the first game that the Western frosh have won this year.

Western Frosh Trim U.-L. Yearlings, 13-0

Special to The Courier-Journal.
Bowling Green, Ky., Nov. 22.—Led by Broderick and Chapman the Western freshmen defeated the University of Louisville freshmen here this afternoon by 13 to 0 on a wet, slippery field that caused considerable fumbling by both teams.

The Western freshmen outfought, out played and outclassed the Louisville team. Louisville never threatened to score except in the latter part of the third quarter when Hammock's punt was blocked on Western's 5-yard line. Broderick intercepted Louisville's pass on the second play and broke up the rally. Hammock punted out of danger.

Score In First Quarter.

The first touchdown came late in the first quarter when Broderick broke loose for a 20-yard jaunt placing the ball on the 15-yard line. Jones broke through tackle for eight yards and went over for the marker on the next play. A pass from Hammock to Broderick was good for the extra point. The ball stayed in Western's possession and in Louisville territory the greater part of the half.

Hammock, Warner, Preston and Wayne played a great game in the Western line. These boys outrushed the much heavier University of Louisville team and threw its backs for many losses. Hammock went back from end to punt and pass for Western and his long punts continually pushed the Cardinals back into their own territory. Wayne, playing his first football game, played as good a game as any freshman seen on the Western field this year. Goldstein, Arnold and Copeland played best in the Louisville line.

200-pound guard, was a continual annoyance to the Western backs.

Tally Again In Third.

Western's second marker came in the third quarter when Holeman recovered Cardillo's fumbled punt. Cardillo let the ball slip through his hands while standing within a foot of his own goal line and Holeman recovered it and slid across the goal line for a touchdown.

This was the first game that the Western frosh have won this year.

HILLTOPPERS TALLY IN FIRST MINUTE OF PLAY

GULLETTE COUNTS TWO

Special to The Courier-Journal.

Special to The Courier-Journal

28. — Bowling Green, Ky., Nov. Western Teachers' College combined forces with the weather here this afternoon to completely snow under the Maroons of Eastern by 36 to 0. Playing on a field, entirely covered by snow and ice, the Hilltoppers twisted their way through the Maroons to score a touchdown in the first minute of play. They came back in the second quarter and scored three touchdowns and added the final markers in the last quarter.

Eastern kicked off to Western and Captain Alton Wicker returned six yards. "Soup" Oliver gained fifteen yards on the first play and placed the ball on the 3-yard line in three more downs. Gillette plunged over for the touchdown. Vaughan's dropkick for extra point went wide.

The Hilltoppers were not able to score again in the first quarter but came back strong in the second stanza to rip their way through the Maroons for three touchdowns. "Burhead" Vaughan broke loose on a 25-yard run early in the second period to score a touchdown. He duplicated the feat a few minutes later after Turned Elrod's 25-yard jaunt. A 15-yard pass from T. Elrod to L. Elrod placed the ball on the 5-yard strip and T. Elrod went over on the first play for the third touchdown of the second quarter. Gullatte, the Western scor-touchdown of the second quarter. Arthur Gullette, the Western scoring ace, scored two touchdowns today to bring his season total seventy-two points. Gullette ripped and tore his way through the Maroons for long gains almost every time he carried the ball. He gave the fans their greatest thrill of the afternoon in the last quarter when he twisted and stiff-armed his way fifty yards through the entire Richmond team for a touchdown. Oliver, Gullette and Captain Wicker played their last game for Western today.

Ed Stansbury was on the side line today, suffering from two broken ribs and a badly strained side, suffered Saturday against Evansville. He is to be graduated this year.

The Western line played a great game today with Captain Wicker being outstanding. Captain Wicker smeared many Eastern plays and held the Maroons to one first down.

difficult in, and that should be at least 12 semester in that particular subject, Professor Willy urges secondary school principals, supervisors, and superintendents to use the standard of the secondary school.

"WILD MAN" CUMMINS

Cummins Chosen All-State Tackle

Rupert "Wildman" Cummins was selected on the All-Kentucky football team for a tackle position at the close of the 1929 season.

Those who have seen "Wildman" play this year will readily agree that he is one of the best linesmen to appear in the College Heights stadium this year. Cummins is a deadly tackler, strong on the offense, and best of all he has that "old fight" that wins football games. In the daily practices and during games you can always hear "Wildman" shouting "All right, gang, let's fight 'em," and he does.

Cummins will be back next year. Western will have a strong line.

"GOWBOY" GULLETTE

Arthur Gullette High Point Man

Arthur Gullette, the fighting Western fullback, led the Kentucky football players in points scored this year. Gullette scored six touchdowns in the last two games, to bring his total points to seventy-two.

This year Gullette was kept on the sidelines during three games on account of a badly bruised shoulder. When he was able to return to the lineup, against Evansville College, he celebrated his return by scoring four touchdowns to bring his total to sixty points. He assured himself of high-point man in the Thanksgiving game by making twelve points, bringing his total to seventy-two.

Gullette is one of the state's greatest backs. He knows football, he has a surplus of fight, and he is powerful. It sometimes takes four and five men to down him after being dragged several yards. Western will feel his absence when a tornado-like plunge is needed next year.

"FIREMAN" STANSBERRY

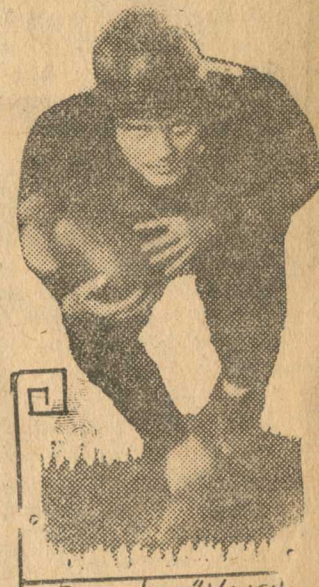

Stansberry Is All-State End

With the passing of Edgar "Duly" Stansberry goes one of the cleanest, finest and best ends ever to play for Western. At the end of the 1929 football season the sports writers and coaches unanimously selected him as an all-Kentucky end. Duly unquestionably deserves that honor; any team that has played against him will testify to that.

Stansberry is a first-class pass receiver, an excellent defensive man, and a hard fighter. Western will miss him at right end next year.

Duly has a monopoly on all-state honors. He was selected all-state guard at the basketball tournament at Winchester last spring, and now he pulls down an all-state honor in football.

Elected To Lead 1930 Hilltoppers

"BURR HEAD" VAUGHAN

Paul "Burr Head" Vaughan, halfback on Western's football team, was chosen at the football banquet January 10, to lead the 1930 gridders. Rupert Cummins was elected alternate captain. The two were elected by a vote cast by the 1929 varsity lettermen.

Vaughan hails from Franklin High School, where he made an enviable record as a high school football star.

Three Centre Backs Gain Berths On Team Chosen By Writers

By EARL RUBY.

The Kentucky S. I. A. A. football race has been doubly interesting this fall, with fairly strong teams kicking up from all sections and astonishingly brilliant stars bobbing out in a constellation rarely if ever equaled before in history of the man's sport in the Commonwealth. For the interest and enjoyment of its football readers, followers of the collegiate chase, The Courier-Journal herewith presents what it considers a combination of the most outstanding of these performers—an all-Kentucky S. I. A. A. eleven with a second team and honorable mention selected by football writers for The Courier-Journal in each college city:

First Team.

J. Carnes, Georgetown, end.

Dawson, Georgetown, tackle.
Penn, Centre, guard.
Cleveland, Georgetown, center.
Falkenstein, Transylvania, Guard (C).
Cummins, Western, tackle.
Stansbury, Western, end.
Grabruck, Centre, quarter.
Shearer, Centre, halfback.

Western Opens Net Season Tonight

Special to The Courier-Journal.

Bowling Green, Ky., Dec. 18—The Western Hilltoppers will open their 1929-1930 basketball season tomorrow night against the Scottsville team in the Western Training School Gymnasium.

Coach Ed Diddle has returned from the S. I. A. A. meeting at Mobile, Ala., and he sent his men through a snappy workout this afternoon. Captain Edgar Stansberry showed the form this afternoon that placed him on the all-State last year. Stansberry dribbled, passed and pivoted in fine style. John L. Vickers looked good at center.

In the starting line-up against Scottsville. Captain Stansberry at guard and Vickers at center are most likely to start. Rogers, Lawrence, Phelps, T. Elrod, Vaughan and Bryant are about on a par and two of these boys will receive the forward assignments. L. Elrod, Jameson, Jones and Turner may be seen in action at guard.

McKinney, Louisville, halfback.
Nemecek, Centre, fullback.

Second Team.

Page, Transylvania, end.
Wicker, Western, tackle.
Domigan, Wesleyan, guard.
Martin, Western, center.
Brophy, Wesleyan, guard.
Trader, Transylvania, tackle.
Waddle, Centre, end.
Moseley, Georgetown, quarter.
Anderson, Georgetown, halfback.
Lancaster, Georgetown, halfback.
Gallagher, Wesleyan, fullback.
Honorable Mention: Linemen—Ruffini, Centre; Thompson, Louisville; King, Western; Anderson, Centre; Taylor, Western; McNamara, Western; Arnica, Centre; Horkey, Centre. Backs—L. Elrod, Western; Booth, Transylvania; Cunningham, Western; T. Elrod, Western; Canfield, Eastern; Curtis, Transylvania.

The selections are the consensus of the following scribes, with votes cast by Yours Truly only in cases of ties: Gerald Griffin and Brownie Leach at Lexington, Edwin Ashford at Georgetown, Kelly Thompson at Bowling Green, Green Clay at Richmond, John Kelly Ryans at Winchester and Sterling Towles at Danville.

A Rare Guard.

Falkenstein, the 190-pound guard of Transylvania, who has shown his sterling worth in every ball game of the season, who has been outstanding on defense, fast on offense, leading interference, and who reached a peak in all-around playing in the Transylvania-Georgetown game rarely seen in a guard, was chosen by every writer, and was the only player of all mentioned so honored. For that reason he has been made captain.

Old Centre, champion of the six S. I. A. A. teams in the Commonwealth, landed four performers on the first eleven. Grabruck, Shearer and Nemecek in the backfield, and Penn at guard, were selected. The secondary luminaries were chosen unconditionally by six of the seven writers, Grabruck and Shearer for their equal proficiency in passing, running and punting, Nemecek for his plunges, and all three for their superb teamwork, spirit and drive. McKinney of Louisville, the boy who helped the Cardinals spill Georgetown, drew the other berth.

Penn a Real Threat.

Captain Penn is one of the most consistent football players in Kentucky. He is a good blocker and tackles hard and fast. In both the Centre-State and Centre-Louisville games he was in on every play that came near the center of the line.

At the wing positions J. Carnes of Georgetown and Stansbury of Western, got the call. Carnes, although hindered by injuries, has proven himself a brainy, fast, elusive performer, a hard tackler and good blocker. Stansbury has played in every game of the season, has gotten down on punts with phenomenal speed, tackled with abandon, and performed in other departments with equal vigor and aggressiveness.

Captain Dawson of Georgetown and Cummins of Western, drew the tackles placements. Dawson, while not quite up to his playing of last year, still is outstanding all-State timber. Cummins has played air-tight ball all season long.

Players Shifted.

On the second team one or two boys have been shifted, that all those most highly regarded might lands berths. Page and Waddle have thrilled the stands in every game played. Wicker and Trader have fought hard and clean, and Domigan, Martin, and Brophy have done mighty well.

Moseley, Anderson, Lancaster and Gallagher can not be denied.

The writers whose selections were used in making these teams, have covered for The Courier-Journal practically every game played by the colleges in their cities, have seen more of the players, and studied them more closely, than probably any other group of men that might be gathered for the purpose of choosing a team.

Western Squad Sent Through Fast Drill

Special to The Courier-Journal.

Bowling Green, Ky., Dec. 10.—Coach Ed Diddle this afternoon sent the Western Kentucky Teachers College net squad through one of the peppiest workouts it has gone through this season.

Every boy on the squad seems to be bubbling over with surplus energy this year. The men show more pep and zip than they usually do when in mid-season form and Diddle is giving them enough work to round them into shape rapidly.

Captain Edgar Stansbury has almost completely recovered from the injury to his side suffered in football. Stansbury was an all-State guard last year and he is showing up well in practice. He probably will play his old position at back guard again this year and is the only man on the team that is sure of a position. John L. Vickers is doing some nice work this year. He was ill most of last season and was able to play in only a few games. Vickers is the most likely man for the center position although Blake and Westerfield are capable.

The forward positions are the most hotly contested. Rogers, Bryant, Lawrence, Phelps and T. Elrod are all about on a par. These boys will fight it out for forward berths. Phelps and Turner, two new prospects from Lindsey Wilson Junior College are showing up well. Phelps is a forward and Turner a guard.

Jameson, L. Elrod, Turner, Jones and Baker are guards and each is an experienced and clever player. Diddle has a wealth of material and with the fighting spirit the boys are showing he hopes for the Hilltoppers to have one of their most successful net seasons. Diddle is attempting to schedule a game for Saturday night with an independent team, but he has been unsuccessful. He hopes to play two or three games with independent teams before the squad disbands for the Christmas holidays.

Western Football Eleven Closes Successful Season

*Seven Out of Ten Games Played Are Won:
Two Men Are Placed On All-
State Team*

By Wayne Weller

On November 28 the Western Hilltoppers closed a successful football season by trouncing the Eastern Maroons by the score of 36-0. The Hilltoppers won seven games and lost three this year. They furnished two all-state men in the persons of Edgar Stansbury and Rupert Cummins; Captain Wicker and Dick Martin were selected on the second team. Besides these honors, Arthur Gullette, the Hilltoppers' fullback, scored seventy-two points, to lead the Kentucky players in scoring.

Western opened her football season September 28 with a top-heavy score over Middle Tennessee Teachers College. On October 5th the Ball Teachers, which is the best little football team in Indiana, was left bawling in the Western Stadium over a 12-0 defeat. The team met Southwestern at Memphis October 12 and received their second defeat in two years.

The Hilltoppers enjoyed their next victory at the expense of the University of Louisville. Western had not recovered from injuries received the week before against Southwestern, and Louisville was able to keep the Anderson-Diddle machine from scoring the first

f. Coaches Anderson and Diddle sent their strongest lineup in at the half, and the score was Western 13, University of Louisville 0. Bethel of Tennessee was easily disposed of October 26.

The big game came on November 2 against Centre College. It was the feature event of the great Homecoming ever celebrated at Western. Centre won the game by the score of 7-6, but it was a great game, with exhibitions of scientific and spectacular football being played by both teams. Arthur Gullette, the high-point man of the state, was kept on the sidelines as the result of a badly bruised shoulder received in practice a few days before the game. If Gullette had been in the line up, the state-championship would probably have been retained by the Hilltoppers, and Kentucky-Wesleyan would not have downed the Hilltoppers the following week by a 7-2 score.

The Georgetown Tigers received their greatest surprise of the season November 16, when Western upset a bucketful of dope and administered a 6-0 defeat to them. This was the second time in four years that the Tigers had been beaten by a Kentucky team. Western deprived them of the state championship last year.

Evansville College and Eastern Teachers College were the next victims of the Hilltoppers. These two teams were handed overwhelming defeats November 23 and 28, respectively.

Western loses Captain Alton Wicker, Edgar Stansberry, Soup Oliver, and Arthur Gullette through graduation next spring. These boys have given their all that Western may win the honors that she has had for the past four years. We hope they have the success in life that they have had in college. They have fought hard, clean and fair for the college that meant most to them. Western is proud to send these boys into the world to carry "Life more Life" to those whom they will prepare to take their places on College Heights.

Beam, Cummins, Baldwin, Baker, Bradshaw, Briggs, Reynolds, Majors, Hamilton, Stevens, Jameson, Vaughn, T. Elrod, L. Elrod, Bryant, Moore, Oakley, and White will be back next year. Every one of these boys can play good football. Several good men will come up from Coach Gander Terry's freshman squad. Western will have a splendid team next year.

HILLTOPPERS WIN OVER INDEPENDENT TEAM FROM ALLEN

*Western Opens Season By Beating Visiting Five
By 26 to 18 Count*

Western Teachers College inaugurated the 1929-30 collegiate net season in Bowling Green last night by defeating the Scottsville Independents by a 26 to 18 count.

The game served the purpose of tuning the Hilltoppers up for their schedule opening on January 11 at Nashville against Vanderbilt, giving every man on the squad a chance to perform under actual playing conditions. The contest brought out the fact that the Westerners need much more drill on offense and possibly a couple or three more games to tune them up to the point where they may be expected to turn in consistent performances.

John L. Vickers, one of the candidates for a regular berth as center of the current season's squad, looked good at times last night. He accounted for a majority of the Hilltopper points but needs to handle the ball more to get the feel of it so as to prevent fumbling. Turner and LeRoy Elrod, the former at forward and the latter at guard, also looked good as did Captain Edgar O'Brien Stansbury and Orlo Lawrence, guard and forward respectively. Everybody got a little action, the starting team being jerked after about five minutes and two others being run in before the first half was over.

Ingram, Vaughn, Turner, Phelps, Westerfield, Vanover, Woosley, Jamieson, Blake, Vincent and Bryant all tried their hand and performed creditably, as far as they were allowed to perform. As far as the real merits of these respective players are concerned very little could be learned from watching them last night as they seldom got started before they were jerked. However, indications are that Western will have a team of fairly good-sized boys who will win more games than last year's apparently superior team. This year's team has a good spirit and there is enough ability to warrant the prediction of a successful season.

Guy Caruthers gave the Hilltoppers the most trouble last night, his dribbling and passing playing a big factor in the Scottsville team's attack.

Western Quint Drilled Hard By Captain

Special to The Courier-Journal.

Bowling Green, Ky., Dec. 16—The Western Kentucky Teachers' College basketball squad was sent through a hard workout this afternoon by Captain Edgar Stansbury. Head Coach Ed Diddle is attending the S. I. A. A. meeting at Mobile, Ala., and the Hilltoppers will be sent through their drills by Stansbury this week. The Hilltoppers will not be seen in action until January 8, when they meet Vanderbilt at Nashville. Coach Diddle was not able to schedule a game for Saturday night and the men are not anxious to play this week during his absence.

A successful net season is looked forward to by Hilltopper supporters. The boys are showing more pep and willingness to work this year than they have ever shown before and competition is keen. Stansbury, an all-State guard from last year's squad is the only man sure of a regular position. He will play back guard this year. Stansbury has almost recovered from a badly bruised side suffered in football and has been showing spurts of his old form.

John L. Wicker is looking best at center, but Blake and Westerfield are giving him strong competition. Jameson, L. Elrod, Jones, Turner and Baker are battling for guard positions. A real battle is on for forward berths. Rogers, Lawrence, Vaughan, Bryant and Phelps are all about on a par and until the opening game it is not known who will be called on for duty.

Banquet For Western Varsity and Freshman Teams Is Donation Of Trade Board

By Bob Sanders

The varsity and freshmen football teams of Western and their coaches were entertained Friday evening, December 13, with a banquet given in their honor by the Bowling Green Board of Trade. The banquet was held at the First Presbyterian church and was the second of its kind sponsored by the Board of Trade.

The banquet began at 6:45 o'clock. Mr. Laurence Finn acted as toastmaster. Mr. Richeson, president of the Board of Trade, welcomed the guests, and Mr. W. J. Craig responded for Western. Toastmaster Finn then presented Coach Anderson, who made a splendid speech gratefully thanking the Board of Trade for the dinner given in honor of his team. Following this, Captain Alton Wicker and Virgil Chapman were presented as representatives for Trade.

the varsity and freshman teams, respectively. Dr. Reardon, the team's physician, also made a few remarks concerning the football boys.

On the program, in addition to the number of speakers, were a male quartet, composed of Messrs. Blake, Pollard, Bradshaw and Pendergrass, who sang several peppy selections, numbers by Miss Gladys Sims and Clara Lou Olmstead, sopranos, and a reading by Miss Ruth Sims. All these young people are students at Western, with the exception of Miss Gladys Sims, who is the voice teacher at the Teachers College.

In addition to the football squads and their coaches, the banquet was attended by quite a number of Bowling Green's prominent citizens and several teachers from the Hill. The cheer leaders were also guests of the Board of

Ball Teachers Eleven Are Defeated by Count of 13-0

WESTERN TEACHERS COLLEGE TEAM OUT-CLASSES VISITORS IN SPITE OF INJURIES NURSED BY WESTERN MEN

Western left the much-heard-of Ball Teachers from Munice, Ind., bawling over a 13-0 defeat in the Stadium, October 4, after one of the most thrilling games ever played on College Heights.

Reports that reached Bowling Green before the arrival of the Indiana Teachers, stated that every man on the team was a regular from last year and that five lettermen accompanied the squad. The Ball Teachers are also considered the best little football team in Indiana.

Though the Ball Teachers were playing the best big team in Kentucky, Western went into the game somewhat nervous over the talk of this larger opponent, who outweighed them seventeen pounds to the man, but from the opening of the first quarter until the last whistle, the Kentucky champions completely outclassed and outfought the northern giants. Time and again the tight Western line broke through the heavy Indiana forward wall and threw the backs for gains, and as many times did they open holes wide enough for long gains by the Hilltoppers' backs.

Arthur Gullette, "Burhead" Vaughn, Moose Moore, Leroy Elrod, and Soup Oliver made so many long-end runs that the northerners became discouraged and seemed to think that "Kentuckians are built for speed, anyway." Arthur Gullette was featured in the first touchdown, and until he was removed from the field late in the game from an injury, he looked like a sure bet for all-Kentucky full back this year. Gullette threw a twenty-yard pass to Ed Stansberry early in the opening quarter, which placed the pigskin in side the five-yard line and then plunged over for the first touchdown of the game.

Edgar Stansberry, Earl Beam, Dan Baldwin, Randolph Baker, Captain Wicker, Cummins, and Dick Martin were the big lights in the Western line. These boys operating as a machine, which had been properly constructed by Coaches Anderson, Diddle, and Terry were entirely too well coached for the men beyond the Ohio. Stansberry leaped into prominence as a likely candidate for all-state end and brought down several passes that placed the ball in position for touchdowns. Rupert "Wildman" Cummins tore through men that outweighed him twenty pounds and persuaded the Indiana backs to remain in their own territory, and he was a continual annoyance to the safety man, when one attempted to return the long punts of Leroy Elrod.

Neither team was able to score in the second and third quarters, but the fans began to raise the roar of "We want a touchdown" in the last stanza, and after Captain Wicker had encouraged his teammates to give the onlookers something thrilling, Soup Oliver, Leroy Elrod, and Burhead Vaughan thrilled them by long end runs and climaxed the runs by a touchdown. LeRoy Elrod's drop kick for extra point went slightly wide, but the defense was offside, and the point counted.

Had the Western coaches been able to send their strongest lineup into the game, there would have been more bawling by the Ball Teachers than ever. Turner Elrod, the triple threat and all-

Kentucky fullback, was kept out of the game on account of a twisted knee that he received in the game the week before against the Middle Tennessee Teachers College. Carlos Oakley went into the game for a short time in the last quarter, and despite the fact that he had been kept on the sidelines up until that time by his bruised knee, he looked as if he would be going strong by the time the Hilltoppers leave for Memphis, where they meet the strong Southwestern aggregation October 12.

Up until this time the champions of the centrally located state have repulsed the invasion of both the North and the South. They are to meet representatives of practically every section of the country this year, and the student body of Western and football fans of the Park City are confident that their team will come out with banners flying at the end of the 1929 season.

Dear Men:-

This first short letter we hope will cause you to look in this direction and build your plans for the coming football season and school year. You have been grazing rather aimlessly about this summer with your thought running lazily in every direction. Notice, we are accusing you of having gone to the trouble to hatch a thought. If this is flattering to you, think nothing of it, just set it aside and listen to these few words.

We hope you will feel the necessity and responsibility of concentrating your thoughts on our very hard assignment this fall. Let us impress upon you again that we are State Champions and regardless of how we feel about the proposition, we must defend our title. It might be said that we have no choice in the matter of defending our title, that games will be played and the decision made at the end of the season. But as a matter of fact, we do have a choice in the matter, and here we believe we state the disposition of the entire football squad, student body, and alumni when we say, we will defend our title. We hope that there is not a single member of the squad who is just luke warm on this matter. Who can think of defending our title without immediately finding his heart beating fast with enthusiasm to "go-to-war"? We would like to hear from you on this subject.

We have been unable to get our new stationery, but hope to have it for the next letter.

We are anxious to hear from you explaining who you are swindling this summer, and just what methods are being used. If you will furnish us with this information, we will send it out to the members of the tribe for their approval.

Let us remind you that August 1st is the dead line for the use of tobacco in the various forms--piping it, pulling it, cudding it, dipping it, lippping it, sniffing it, and if you have any new fancy fandangle forms of usage, they all become obsolete after the above date. Set aside cold drinks, red and white hot drinks and use good water which will improve your health and save your money. Get plenty of rest at night and eat three good healthy meals a day at meal time only, if you can find them. In other words, take good care of your general good health and return this fall feeling fit.

If you are on the hospital list we expect you to get well as soon as possible. If you are doing correspondence work to get well, please don't postpone this matter until the last minute.

Enclosed you will find material blanks which we hope you will fill out and return immediately. We are anxious to get in touch with prospective material as soon as possible.

We hope to hear from you by return mail. Please don't delay.
Best of wishes.

Sincerely yours,

This must be, and more to (undated)

Dear Men:-

We are happy to announce to you that we have been able to procure the services of "Gander" Terry as assistant coach this year. We know that you respect his ability as a football player. We are certain that you enthusiastically entertain the thought of having him for a coach. We feel that his services will be highly beneficial to our success.

We have been waiting for nearly two weeks for you to answer our first letter. We are anxious for our next letter to contain information on the summer activities of the entire squad. It will be impossible to send you this information unless we get a better response from you. It seems that every summer about half the squad meet with accidents, become tongue-tied, or lose their grip. Now listen, Iron Heads, come across with some correspondence immediately. If you are disabled please have your best girl print a few lines to let us know what you are doing and how you are getting along in the world. We are happy to state that a few of the boys have cooperated with us on this matter and the contents of their letters have given us a renewed hope for a successful football season. If you are indifferent in this matter, it might cause us to believe that you aren't ready to "go to war".

We are anxious for you to make accurate knowledge of the following announcement: We start practice on Monday morning, September 2nd, at 7:00 o'clock sharp. We want to put special emphasis on the importance of being here for work at the appointed time. Every practice period is very valuable, and you cannot afford to be absent at any time. Now, do not forget to make necessary arrangements ahead of time for someone to direct the bank and guide the destinies of big business after September 1st, because we don't want a single hitch in our program.

You are aware of the advantages of being in the best physical and mental condition to meet our fall program. In regards to this matter we are anxious for you to read the letter that your Captain has written to you.

"Dear Boys:-

It is just about a month until the good work starts. Are you ready for it? I hope you are working and will be ready for the big "time" this fall. Boys, we are State Champs now, and every team in Kentucky is going to be out after us. What could be finer than plenty of strong opposition to bring us to our full strength? When we clean up on them this year they will know that Western is up to stay. I, further, want to state that we are going to stay up. I know we all feel alike on this matter.

Think, boys, think! Do whatever work you are doing, but think about football the rest of your time. Take good care of yourselves and I will see you in September, ready for war.

"Wicker"

Your captain is eager to get started this fall and ambitious for the 1929 team to retain the state title. I am certain that the entire squad is with him on this matter and cherishing every thought for a successful season.

Men, break loose and let us hear from you on this matter. We are expecting a letter from you by return mail.

Why do you need to further delay filling out the material blanks and returning them to us? Snap out of that summer trance and come to action.

Yours for success,

We are enclosing a copy of our letter to the "W" men which we are anxious for you to read. We want you to know that our enthusiastic family is growing larger each year and stronger in organization from day to day. We believe acting as diligent and loyal workmen that we can perfect a worthwhile athletic organization which should be of great benefit to the institution. You are the boys that can make the alumni respect the institution. We are hoping you will assume the responsibility placed on you as players. Much is expected of you this season.

We are going to try hard to make a report on each member of the squad this week-end.

Dear Men:

The summer is growing thin and September is but a few weeks ahead of us. At this time each year the newspapers began to print articles on college sports, especially football. These articles stir up fond recollections of your college activities. You are probably cooped up at home, or if you are fortunate you are sitting around the corner store in the evenings telling about the time that you and some of the boys put Uncle Joe's holstein cow in the belfry, or the ole white horse in the science hall. You are sure to tell about the football game of that late November afternoon when there was but thirty seconds left to play and Johnny Doe carried the ball sixty yards on a beautiful run to win the game. 'What a grand and glorious feeling'. You just can't beat it for a genuine boy thrill. You find yourself wishing that you could live through some of those wonderful experiences again, then you realize that the door to further experiences in this realm is closed. Again you swing back to your sweet remembrances.

While the door of further experiences in college athletics is closed to you, it is just opening for many young men of your acquaintance. This is an opportune time for you to use your influence in persuading the young men of your community to attend college. You would be unable to offer better advice to anyone. You are aware of the wonderful and far-reaching benefits of a college education. For these reasons you will always receive much personal satisfaction in the thought that you are in a position to advise these young men correctly.

We know that you will be especially interested in wholesome and ambitious young men that are athletically inclined. We are sure that you will want them to experience the thrills that come through vigorously contested athletic games. You will also want them to have the rich experience that comes from hard, clean training of the mind and body for athletic sports. Most of all you will be anxious for them to receive the transfer of training that is carried over from athletic games into the all important game of life.

Since you are a member of our "W" family, your influence is greatly needed to aid this department in our athletic program. You are one of that group of men that we are directly depending on to make the strongest appeal to these young men to enter college at Western this fall. You are in possession of information that is of interest to every young athlete.

Just here, it is well to mention the general change in our college curriculum to be put into effect this fall. It will be possible to pursue courses of study leading to majors in Arts and Science degrees. In other words, it will not be required of a student to follow the courses of study especially outlined for teachers training. We believe this change of curriculum is of vast importance to this department, because many times in the past our compulsory teachers training courses have kept athletes away from Western.

We hope you will be interested in the following resume of our athletic activities of 1928-29.

Our varsity teams won three championships this past year. In the fall our football team was declared Kentucky Champions. We were able to hold the other teams in the state scoreless. The basketball team for men was considered to be one of the very best in the state and of championship caliber. Our women produced a wonderful basketball team and are considered Kentucky Champions. In baseball we won our second consecutive Kentucky Championship.

In the realm of freshman athletics we were also highly successful. Our football team played an all-victorious schedule. Our basketball team lost but two contests and rated as good as any team in the state. We did not play a representative baseball schedule with our freshman this past spring due to the difficulty of obtaining games. However, they received much fine training in games played against the varsity team. The highest attainment reached by the freshman teams was brought about by the defeat of Vanderbilt freshman in both football and basketball. Our freshman won third place in the state track meet this spring. We are just starting track and field and we believe that within a very short period we will be able to bring this sport into our championship column.

This spring also marks our entrance into intercollegiate tennis. The first team to represent Western was highly successful, losing but one collegiate matched contest.

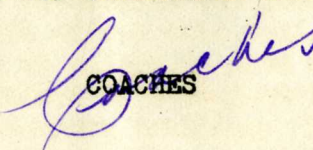

At this time we are happy to announce to you that we have been able to procure the services of "Gander" Terry as assistant coach this year. We know that you respect his ability as a football player. We are certain that you enthusiastically entertain the thought of having him for a coach at Western. We feel that his services will be highly beneficial to our success.

We believe you can afford to point to this report with a feeling of satisfaction and pride. We are ambitious to keep our teams in the championship class. We know this is what you expect of us as coaches. It can be done, but to accomplish this measure of success, we must have the support of every influential alumnus, especially the "W" men. Please use your influence to send fine young men of athletic type to Western. We promise to do everything possible to develop them into winning athletic organizations. Please use blanks to send in names of prospective material. We thank you in advance for your full cooperation in this matter.

This department hopes to be in a position to make a favorable report to you gentlemen at the close of next school year.

Hoping to see you this fall on College Heights,

Yours for successful athletics,

Dear Fireman:-

You are exactly right, it won't be long until we will be in the thick of the battle and if some of the boys wait until that time to make up their minds what they are going to do about the entire situation, I am afraid it will be too late. I believe you are fortifying yourself now by the statements you have made in your recent letter.

I am glad to know that you are taking our schedule seriously and plan to do everything in your power to make it successful. I believe we are going to find the work this year to be more agreeable altho we might undergo a few hardships and a lot of hard work. You can rest assured that we are going to do everything possible from the coaching standpoint, then the thing of more importance is just how you boys are going to do your part. I have always felt that I could depend on you. When you return this fall I am expecting you to have a great and fine influence on the rest of the squad. You boys that are seniors can take those general squad matters in hand and get things straightened out that a coach can't discover.

I am always glad to hear from you and hope you will write often.

Capt. Stansbury Leads Hilltoppers

CAPT. ED STANSBURY

Captain Ed "Dudly" Stansbury was elected by the 1929 lettermen to lead the Western Hilltoppers basketball team in 1930.

Captain Stansbury hails from Shepherdsville High School, where he made an outstanding record in scholastic circles. College athletics have been one continual success for "Dudly." He was selected on the all-Kentucky team after the basketball tournament in 1929 and he was honored by being placed on the all-state football team last fall. He is a good baseball player and his academic work is very complimentary.

Ed will say goodbye to Western in May, and with his going goes possibly the best all-around athlete that ever donned the Maroon and Gray. Stansbury has been a credit to his alma mater and his place will be hard to fill. Those who heard his speech at the football banquet well understand that there will be a "Little College" wherever Ed will teach next year.

ay In Benefit Game

Western Again Loses By Margin of Point

Special to The Courier-Journal.
Bowling Green, Ky., Jan. 18.—For the third time out of five starts this season the Hilltoppers of Western Teachers' College went down tonight on the small end of a basketball score by a one-point margin. Kentucky Wesleyan, the team that ran pellmell over the Teachers last night, was the victor, and the score of the thrilling, slashing battle was 27 to 26.

Western lost two games to Georgetown last week by one-point margins. Two weeks ago Middle Tennessee Teachers' College won a hectic battle over the Diddle men by a two-point margin and tonight after leading practically the entire game, the Teachers saw the closing moments of the contest turn victory into defeat again by the smallest of margins, one point. Western led at the half by 12-6 and started off the second half by completely outplaying the Panthers. In the last eight minutes of play, however, the Panthers got loose and were a wild bunch of Panthers from then on. Little by little they mowed away the Hilltoppers' lead until the Teachers held the upper hand by but one point.

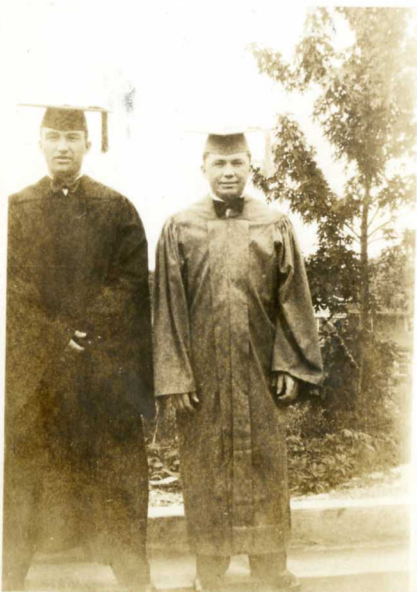

Then from somewhere down past mid-floor a frenzied Panther cut loose, side-stepped and faked the Hilltopper guard, threw the ball to another racing Panther and while a silenced crowd awaited the verdict the latter threw from off balance to hit the basket for the winning marker. It was Gallagher who threw the pass and it was Kertis who unconsciously threw the winning basket.

The Hilltopper squad led by Lawrence, Vickers and Rogers on the offense and by Stansbury and L. Elrod on the defense, looked like anything but the same aggregation that faced the Panthers last night. Tonight they were on the aggressive. They played smooth, fast basketball and lost a hard-fought game. Outstanding among them was Capt. Eddie Stansberry who played the caliber of ball that placed him on the all-State team last year. Gallagher and Talbert played best for the Methodists. Summary:

Wesleyan (27)	Pos.	(26) Western
Wilson (6)	F.....	(9) Lawrence
Gallagher (5)	F.....	(4) Rodgers

THOUGH they did not bring the championship of the Kentucky Division Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association to Bowling Green from the recent basketball tournament at Winchester, Western Teachers College came back with an honor that even champions sometimes fail to win when they captured the sportsmanship award.

Bowling Green naturally regrets that the Hilltoppers did not win the championship but rejoices in that fact that Western Teachers College is represented by that high order of athletes whose conduct upon the basketball court is such as to merit the special commendation of friend and foe alike. It is better to have won the good will of other teams in the meet and lost the state crown than to have won the championship and lost that good will.

We, herefore, extend out heartiest congratulations to the Hilltoppers and to their coaches, Carl Anderson and E. A. Diddle. The honor of being adjudged the most sportsmanlike team at the tourney is no less a compliment to the players than it is to the coaches. In addition, we extend our congratulations to Edgar O'Brien Stansbury, stellar guard of the local quintet, whose work was of such high calibre that he won the distinction of being named upon the All-State team, an honor that only the most outstanding men may capture. That Stansbury richly deserved the honor, there can be no doubt. His work has been outstanding in every game played by the Teachers during the season just ended.

STANSBURY CHOSEN

S. H. S. Graduate Makes All-State Team — Is Widely Praised.

At the College Tournament held in Winchester last week, Edgar Stansbury, of Western Teachers College was chosen as a guard on the all-State team. Stansbury graduated from S. H. S. in '26, and was one of the best guards we ever had. We are indeed proud to have him make the all-State, and we know that he justly deserves the honor. His team also won the trophy for the best sportsmanship.

The Louisville Times of February 23 had the following to say of Stansbury: "Even if Western did lose it sent the best basketball player to the tournament. Stansbury is one of the best guards that has ever participated in a State tournament. He did not make a point in the Wesleyan game, but his performance shone high above all of the others. He was the only man at the tournament that played basketball as it is written."

S. H. S. is also mighty proud to have another graduate, J. E. Chappell, on the team that won the tournament. U. of L., though given little consideration before hand, defeated Wesleyan on its own floor and won the State championship. J. E. was not in any of the games very long, but gave a good account of himself whenever given a chance. He is a splendid player, as good or better than any man on the team, but most of the other men, being Seniors, are naturally given preference. Watch out J. E. next year.

Our school has been very fortunate in having four of its graduates make the all-State team. In fact we know of no small school anywhere with as good a record. Muir Funk made it in '22, Sam Ridgway in '23, Charles Bradbury in '26 and also '27.

We are quite proud of the athletic record of all of the above, and they are still upholding their records. Funk is coach at Lynchburg, Virginia High School, Bradbury is coach at New London, Ohio High School, and Ridgway is running guard on the Atlanta Athletic Club. In commenting on the game with Georgia Tech., last week in which the A. A. C. was again victorious by 37 to 26. The Atlanta Journal said "Ridgway is the greatest guard in the civilized world."

Other S. H. S. graduates who have made the team at College are: Tom Trunnell, Georgetown; Stanley Muir, Georgetown; Ralph Henderson, Georgetown; Gabe Summers, Centre; Joe Blankenship, Centre; Elizabeth Pitman, Western; Johnnie Summers and Consuelo Simmons, Greenbrier; Wassel Rodgers, Western. Some of the above boys have also made fine records in track, baseball and football.

S. H. S. is still upholding its record, for we have some splendid players who will graduate this year, and probably be playing on college teams within the next year or two.

STANSBURY GAVE GREAT EXHIBITION.

Tommy Thompson's two awards were justly given him. Had it not been for his aggressiveness the Cards might have been knocked off by Eastern Normal in the first round. His play put the Cards on top and kept them there.

One other player shone mightily in the State tournament and should receive most honorable mention. That was Stansbury of Western Normal. He was the most polished performer at the meet. Although he did not make many points, he was a wonder on the defense. He was the only defensive player who played basketball as it is written. He never had personal contact with any player at any time, yet he covered men like a tent.

Burt Libbey deserves much credit for the manner in which he performed, although he was handicapped with the knowledge that if he were put out of the final game, University of Louisville would be without a center. He had three personal fouls when the game ended. When the third foul was called Libbey had to slow up considerably to keep from going out.

Wesleyan, after trailing all the way, took the lead in the final three minutes of play to defeat the Diddlemen 24 to 21 in the best game of the tournament so far. The game was close from whistle to whistle and the Hill-toppers never led by more than six points, their general margin being four.

Friday's round of games brought to light, in this writer's opinion, the two greatest guards in the tournament. Stansbury of Western, and Thompson of Louisville, are almost certain for All-Tournament selections. Both, in the two games they have taken part in, led the fight for their respective teams both on the offense and defense.

Louisville was just too hot in the afternoon game to be bothered by the Colonels, who experienced some difficulty the first day in stalling off a last-minute rally of Berea.

Craddock's return to the Louisville lineup did not hurt their play any and the Cardinal outfit was in championship form. Craddock is a medic at the Louisville University and due to a class Thursday was unable to be on hand for the Cardinals' opening game with Eastern.

The Cardinals jumped into the lead when Thompson sank a long shot after May and Hall had missed one free throw each. Wilson tied the count with a crip, Louisville following with a free throw and then with a shot from the side by Libbey. Centre showed a spurt and tied the game up at six points. Libbey connected with one out of two three throws and then May put the Colonels one point in front with a short toss in the hoop.

The Cardinals soon regained their lead with a shot by Browne from the foul circle and from here out the Cardinals were in front, the half ending 20 to 9.

Lexington Paper
Cut Down Lead

An all-tournament team composed of Wilson of Wesleyan, Hawkins of Georgetown, Libbey of Louisville, Thompson of Louisville, and Stansbury of Western Normal, was selected by a committee of officials and newspaper men. The men who served on the committee were: Bowser Chest, referee; Gayle Mohny, umpire; James Kerr, United Press; Buford Taylor, Winchester Sun; Brownie Leach, Lexington Leader; Stanley Prevaille, Louisville Herald-Post; Pete Johnson, Louisville Times, and Kenneth Taylor, Courier-Journal.

Thompson, in addition to being chosen on the all-State, was voted most valuable player to his team. Western Kentucky Teachers' College was awarded mention as the most sportsmanlike team in the tournament. T. Russ Hill of Middlesboro made the presentation of the trophies. The members of the Louisville club were awarded individual gold basketball watch charms, and the members of the Wesleyan team received silver trophies. A full-sized gold basketball was presented to the championship team of Louisville. A loving cup was given Wesleyan as runner-up. A small basketball trophy was given Western for its sportsmanship.

Even if Western did lose it sent the best basketball player to the tournament. Stansbury is one of the best guards that has ever participated in a State tournament. He did not make a point in the Wesleyan game, but his performance shone high above all of the others. Had it not been for him the Bowling Green team never would have held the lead it enjoyed throughout the first thirty-five minutes of play.

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

A Series of Articles designed for student use in the nation-wide Oratorical Contest

This annual competition, sponsored by representative newspapers throughout the United States, is a contribution toward better and more intelligent citizenship. Any bona-fide secondary-school pupil in public, private, or parochial schools, under nineteen years of age, is eligible to enter the Contest. This nation-wide activity has been tremendously successful in quickening the interest of pupils in the study of our American institutions, and has attracted the attention of the general public to the fundamental need of a closer acquaintance with the Constitution of the United States.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE CONSTITUTION

Part I. From Ultimate Sources to the Time of Adoption

"WITH the fall of the Roman republic," says James Bryce, "the rule of the people came to an end in the ancient world. Local self-government went on for many generations in the cities, but in an oligarchic form, and it, too, ultimately died out. For nearly fifteen centuries, from the days of Augustus till the Turks captured Constantinople, there was never among the Romans in the Eastern Empire, civilized as they were, any more than there had been in the West till the imperial power ceased at Rome in the fifth century, a serious attempt either to restore free government, or even to devise a regular constitutional method for choosing the autocratic head of the State."

The popular governments of modern times did not spring directly from the governments of the wide-ruling peoples of classic times, powerful and far-reaching as those governments were. According to Viscount Bryce, they come from "obscure Italian beginnings in the eleventh century, A. D.," beginnings that gained force from "The influence of religious ideas; discontent with royal or oligarchic misgovernment and consequent efforts at reform; social and political conditions favoring equality as an abstract theory."

Popular government in the United States, as embodied in the Constitution, did not, like Athena, spring at once into full and perfect being. It came from the experiences and the governmental methods of people in the past, whether in Italy or elsewhere.

The words of the Constitution were given to the world in 1787, but the spirit of the Constitution, the principles set forward, can be traced to other lands than America, and to other periods of history than that of the American Revolution.

The Constitution of the United States, C. Ellis Stevens says, "is not, properly speaking, the original composition of one body of men, nor the outcome of one definite epoch—it is more and better than that. It does not stand in historical isolation, free of antecedents. It rests upon very old principles—principles laboriously worked out by long ages of constitutional struggle."

In that fact there is the promise of lasting power, for while that which is merely the expedient of a moment may prove of slight worth, that which is founded upon the experience of the ages is likely to be enduring.

In the words of Viscount Bryce, "The American Constitution is no exception to the rule that everything which has power to win the obedience and respect of men must have its roots deep in the past, and that the more slowly every institution has grown, so much the more enduring is it likely to prove."

"The principle of civil liberty, which is the important element in our system of government, was already strongly developed among the Angles and Saxons when they conquered England in the fifth century," say Robert Lansing and Gary M. Jones in a text-book called "Government."

The Roman historian, Tacitus, in writing about the early Teutonic people, spoke of their remarkable assemblies in which the warriors voted on various proposals, and a council of head men met to consider affairs not put before the whole tribe.

In these tribal assemblies, in which the body of chiefs deliberated on certain subjects, and the mass of warriors on others, we see back in the ancient Teutonic forests, the rude prototypes of our Congress, with its Senate representing the States and its House representing the people at large.

The Anglo Saxon conquerors of what is now England, naturally brought with them the customs of their fathers. Instead of bowing before a king as before an absolute ruler, they thought of the headship of the people as their fathers had thought of the headship of the tribe—that is, as the representative of the people. In local assemblies they acknowledged the will of the people. In the Witenagemot, or assembly of leaders, they spoke through many voices, and paved the way for the future.

The American colonists of English origin brought with them America, as their ancestors had brought from the Teutonic the spirit of self-government and the governmental of their people.

Triots who met in Philadelphia between May 14 and September 17, 1787, and there drew up the Constitution of the United States, did not in that time create something entirely new. They put into new form principles that go far back to the past.

Working with them, one may say, was "a cloud of witnesses," including fur-clad warriors, Anglo Saxon chiefs, English barons, great commoners, and colonial leaders. For their reference there were historic documents of liberty, including the Laws of Edward the Confessor, Magna Carta, the English Habeas Corpus Act, the English Bill of Rights, and the various Colonial documents, such as the first Virginia Constitution, the New England Articles of Confederation, and the Colonial Articles of Confederation of 1778. With the spirit of the past deeply influencing them, and the documents of the past as guides, the delegates to the Constitutional Convention in 1787 framed the Constitution of the United States.

The Anglo Saxon Witenagemot, says C. Ellis Stevens, "elected kings, and, on occasion, deposed them. It adopted laws, levied taxes, made treaties of peace and alliance, raised military and naval forces, gave grants of folkland," and had various other great powers. The Laws of Edward the Confessor so strongly reflected the spirit of liberty that even the Norman Conquest, bringing with it the idea of a king as all-powerful, could not, except for a time, put them aside.

The spirit of liberty forced King John in 1215 to grant Magna Carta, guaranteeing to every freeman "The lawful judgment of his peers," and imprisonment and punishment only "By the law of the land"; guaranteeing the holding of a general council, and the imposition of taxes only by the will of the council. Of the jury system, Bourguignon says, "Its origin is lost in the night of time."

When Simon de Montfort in 1265 called the first House of Commons, for which he requested two representatives from every city and borough, he emphasized the common belief that the people should act in their own interests, and introduced the idea that a "lower house" should represent the mass of the people.

The first ten Amendments of the Constitution, added in 1789, and therefore practically parts of the original work, form a "Bill of Rights." In 1689 the English Bill of Rights, drawn up by the Commons, had set down long-accepted principles, namely, that the representatives of the people, that is, Parliament, should hold meetings frequently, have sole power over laws, taxation, and the raising and keeping of a standing Army, and have full freedom of speech and debate; that the elections of members of Parliament should be free; that the people should have trial by jury, the right of petition, certain rights with regard to the bearing of arms, and a guaranty against excessive bail and fines, and cruel and unusual punishments.

In 1619 the first representative legislature in America, composed of two representatives from every one of the eleven districts of Virginia, met in Jamestown, with legislative power. Two years later Virginia gained a written Constitution, the first for an American commonwealth. According to Professor Thorp it "was modeled after the unwritten Constitution of England, and it is the historical foundation of all later constitutions of government in this country."

When the American Colonists found that the English Government of the time proposed no longer to give them the liberties guaranteed under what Burke called "The spirit of the English Constitution," they formed Committees of Correspondence in defense of freedom. In 1774, two years after the formation of the first Committee of Correspondence, representatives of the Colonies met in Philadelphia in the First Continental Congress, and drew up a Declaration of Rights, and a petition to the King.

Unable thus to restore their liberties, the Colonists, in 1776, sent representatives to the Second Continental Congress, which announced that the Colonies were "Free and independent States," and adopted the Declaration of Independence.

In 1778 Articles of Confederation were adopted. Since these did not provide for a strong central government, delegates met in the Constitutional Convention of 1787, and drew up the Constitution of the United States.

"And thus it came to pass," says W. T. Brantly, "that Magna Carta, the Acts of the Long Parliament, the Declaration of Independence, and the Constitution of 1787 constitute the record of an evolution."

CURRENT POETRY

Unsolicited contributions to this department can not be returned

THESE lines in The Commonweal (New York) by our oft-quoted poet breathe a tender piety:

EARTH-BOUND

BY THEODORE MAYNARD

Lord, if I dare not sing of seraphs' flaming wings,
Milton's sky-tinctured plumes and Dante's
Mystic Rose.

Take then my happy songs of earth's so lovely things
Where my heart finds repose.

My dull sight grows bewildered when it tries to gaze

On the supernal. How should I outstare the sun?
Easier to see, dew-spangled in the woodland ways,
The web the spider spun.

Bloom the fierce blossoms of Thy distant
Paradise—

Here weeds like rockets burst to stars; here daisies grow

In feathered grass: rooted like them I rest my eyes
On the dear earth I know.

Is not earth's beauty but a hint of that which flames

Beyond the sun? Didst Thou not leave me here for sign

Lily and mustard-tree and sheep and little lambs,
The wheat-field and the vine?

Birds flash about me, making love and building nests,

And the kind smiling heavens look down upon their love—

(Comes there not somehow to my breast, and their small breasts,

The Holy Ghost, the Dove?

READERS of Hardy will find a mournful pleasure in mingling with this somber company on Egdon Heath, evoked for us in the "Conning Tower" of the New York World:

THE RETURN OF THE NATIVES

BY ALBERT M. STERLING

The moon looks down on Egdon Heath to-night,
Rainbarrow rears its ancient mass afar,
Mistover Knap reveals no answering light
Responding to the winter's evening star.
Brown is the heather, and the bracken lies
In tattered tangles midst the thorny gorse;
Through haggard firs the droning sea-wind sighs.

Along the meads the Froom winds on its course,
Sluggish and tortuous, without a sound
Save somber gurglings at the sodden weirs,
Like some pathetic spirit underground,
Sobbing in sympathy with human tears.

Unpeopled save by wraiths which once again
In nightly concourse move o'er this grim sod,
They gather at the Quiet Woman Inn
To whisper of their journeyings with God.

Eustacia Vye is there, the one forlorn
Expatriate, wet is her winding sheet;
Wildev, disordered, both of them reborn,
About long burned-out fires again to meet.

The Reddleman, Yeobright, and Thomasin,
With other shades must haunt Mellstock apart,
Their meager, earth-bound lives relive again
So close are they to their creator's heart.

Souls of the soil, I hear their simple choirs
Singing again, and on the pale night air
Is wafted the burden of their few desires,
As they stand beneath the dark yew trees in prayer

Their fate it is to live though he be gone
Who wrought them into being. Here beneath
They still will gather, and the light of dawn
Will find them once more wandering o'er the Heath.

THE recent executions of Gray and Mrs. Snyder leads The New Republic to protest against capital punishment, and quotes the following with the comment: "It does not seem to have occurred to anybody to apply to the Snyder case the moral which a great man of letters had spent his life trying to impress on his age":

ON THE PORTRAIT OF A WOMAN ABOUT TO BE HANGED

BY THOMAS HARDY

Comely and capable one of our race,
Posing there in your gown of grace,
Plain yet becoming;
Could subtlest breast

Ever have guessed
What was behind that innocent face,
Drumming, drumming!

Would that your Causer ere knoll your knell
For this riot of passion, might deign to tell

Why, since It made you
Sound in the germ,
It sent a worm

To madden its handiwork, when it might well
Not have essayed you.

Not have implanted, to your deep rue,
The Clytemnestra spirit in you,

And with purblind vision
Sowed a tare

In a field so fair,
And a thing of symmetry, seemly to view,
Brought to derision!

With just a hint of Henley's "Invictus," this in G. K.'s Weekly (London) has a cheerier optimism:

ONE THING I KNOW FULL SURELY

BY PERCIVAL HALE COKE

One thing I know full surely
However sad I be,
With banners and with trumpets,
My hour will come to me,
I know not how I'll meet it
But I shall not turn and flee . . .
With fife and flute and flageolet
My hour will come to me!

There be doors in plenty
To which there is no key,
Ofttimes am I weary
With little cause for glee,
However gray the sky-line
Quite plainly do I see
With cymbals, drums and dulcimers,
My hour will come to me!

SOMETHING in lighter vein from *The
New Statesman* (London), and not so light after all:

A PERFECT BEAR

BY EDWARD THOMPSON

The Bear is much misunderstood;
Our writers do him grave injustice
So, listen Frank—no beast more good
And worthy of your deepest trust is.

Witness his kindness to those two
Their wicked uncle had forsaken!
I tell a story known to few—
The children wept, by night o'ertaken,

When lo, a furry, friendly form,
He gave to each a paw, then shelter;
Those tiny travelers from the storm
Ran with this uncle helter-skelter.

They heard outside the hissing sleet;
They heard the forest groan and stagger;
The sky was like a tattered sheet
Ripped by the lightning's fiery dagger.

They cried at first with fear; but he
Did with kind looks and ways restore them;
His capers filled their hearts with glee;
He set wild raspberries before them;

He brought dry bracken for their bed;
He shook down leaves of weeping willow;
He placed a glow-worm by their head;
He pulled his fur to make their pillow.

All night they slept without a stir,
Then breakfasted on wild bees' honey;
He took them to a woodcutter,
And gave him wax to sell for money.

Was this not kind? And yet, to-day
How often! Frank, the words are cruel!
"He is a perfect bear," we say!
A perfect bear? Fair play's a jewel!

Why, if he were a perfect bear,
He would be something so entrancing,
His very name would banish care
And we could hardly keep from dancing!

How this wandered so far as *The London
Mercury* causes wonder; but it shoots back its dart like a Parthian arrow:

THE BABBITT JAMBOREE

BY VACHEL LINDSAY

When I see an Indian dressed for war
Yet dancing for a Babbitt jamboree
In plumes no Babbitt ever dares to wear,
An anger rises in me
Like high tide in the sea.
These are my own, these Indians, and I know
What makes the broods more bitter than the bloods.

There's just one drop of Indian blood in me,
Yet in tremendous tides and floods
It seems to sweep upon me when I watch
Those who have owned this land turned to a show.

And when I put a feather in my hat,
It is with thoughts the Babbitts can not know.
Woe to the pale face then who thinks it is for show!

That little feather stands for a whole war:
It means I beat the tom-toms in the rain;
It means a scalping-knife is in my belt,
That I will lead the young braves, not in vain.
It means when all these silly days are done,
Sons of this soil will come into their own,
Sons of the Mohawk,
Sons of Pocahontas,
Bred of these rocks and mountains, blood and bone.

LINDBERGH has not ceased to move to lyrical expression. This occurs in The Cotton Oil Press (Memphis), and celebrates a wish if not a fact:

CONQUERORS

Cortez—1520

Lindbergh—1927

BY GRACE D. B. GELBERT

The gilded ships were on the main,
The iron heel was on the strand,
And cruel were the hosts of Spain
That swept the lovely Aztec land.
But that was many years ago,
When Cortez conquered Mexico.

A silver ship came through the air,
A smile burst through the clouds above,
Dissolved the doubt and anger there—
Two nations clasped their hands in love.
And that was just some days ago,
When Lindy conquered Mexico.
