WILLIAM SLYVESTOR YOUNG

By ASHER L. YOUNG

William Sylvester Young, the oldest son of Ralph Jackson and Mira Ann Ford Young to live to adulthood was born January 14, 1845 and died August 17, 1893. There was a male under the age of five in the household Of Ralph and Maria at the time of the 1840 census. Since they were married September 10, 1835 and had this male and one female under five in their household, it appears reasonably to assume that this male was a son, who died prior to the taking of the 1850 census, as no further record had been found of him.

William was born in Warren County, Kentucky near Riverside and resided there all his life, except for the time that he was in service. The cause of William's death was a carbuncle.

According to his Army Discharge William was five feet and six inches tall, of dark complexion, with hazel eyes and auburn hair.

On January 15, 1862, at the age of seventeen, William enlisted in Company A, 11th. Kentucky Volunteer Infantry for the period of three years. This enlistment was at Calhoun, Kentucky. Many others from the Riverside area were members of this company. William served with this company until January 2, 1863, when he was shot through the right arm with a "mini ball". during the Battle of Stones River, near Murphreesboro, Tennessee. This wound was such that it required the amputation of the arm a few inches below the shoulder blade. This surgery was performed at the field hospital at Murphreesboro. It appears that the 11th. must have taken a considerable pounding in this battle, as they were ordered to Bowling Green, Kentucky the latter part of January or early February, 1863 to replenish thier ranks.

William's regiment was also in the Battle of Pittsburg Landing at Shiloh, Tennessee on April 6 and 7, 1862. The records show that he was in the Post Hospital at Tusculum, Alabama in May and June of 1862. Since there is no mention in the records of him being wounded in this battle, the hospital confinement most likely was due to disease; in fact more men were lost to disease during the War of Rebellion, than were killed in battle.

William received his disability discharge at Woodbury, Kentucky, April 4, 1863 and returned home to farm.

The Mayflower Compact

Foundation Stone of American Liberty

THE FIRST DECLARATION OF THE PRINCIPLES OF AMERICAN FREEDOM

The Compact

In the Name of God, Amen. We whose names are underwritten, the loyal subjects of our dread sovereign Lord, King James, by the grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, etc.,

Having undertaken, for the glory of God, and advancement of the Christian faith and honor of our King and Country, a voyage to plant the first colony in the northern parts of Virginia, do by these presents solemnly and mutually in the presence of God, and one of another, covenant and combine ourselves together into a civil body politic, for our better ordering and preservation and furtherance of the ends aforesaid; and by virtue hereof to enact, constitute and frame such just and equal laws, ordinances, acts, constitutions and offices, from time to time, as shall be thought most meet and convenient for the general good of the Colony: unto which we promise all due submission and obedience. In witness whereof we have hereunder subscribed our names at Cape Cod the 11 of November, in the year of the reign of our sovereign Lord, King James of England, France and Ireland the eighteenth, and of Scotland the fifty-fourth. Ano. Dom. 1620.

November 21, 1620, the Mayflower anchored at Cape Cod, north of the limits of the Virginia Colony, and beyond any organized law. Some form of government was necessary. Those who intended to settle in America were divided into two groups: the religious exiles from England and Holland, and those who hoped to better themselves in a new land. Dangerous differences of opinion had arisen between the groups, which had to be reconciled if the small colony was to survive.

Much has been written to the memory of these Pilgrims; their suffering, privations, and undying courage, but little on the generosity of spirit and statesmanship expressed in the Compact. Let us analyze the inner meaning of it:

"In the name of God, Amen!"

This expresses the deep faith of the Pilgrims in God, and their belief that God was with them and would guide them.

"— the loyal subjects of our dread sovereign Lord, King James."

The Pilgrims had been persecuted, imprisoned and exiled by the English Government. They had no reason to be loyal to this government, but fifty men could not oppose England, as three million Americans did successfully, a century and a half later, so they subscribed themselves "loyal subjects," which was statesmanship of high order.

"do by these presents solemnly and mutually in the presence of God, and one of another."

All men were declared equal in the sight of God, and freedom of religion was established in the Colony.

"to enact such just and equal laws — for the general good of the Colony."

All men were declared equal before the law, and a government of the people, by the people, and for the people was established for the first time in history, and endures to this day.

"unto which we promise all due submission and obedience."

The settlers lived up to the Compact, which they signed. It brought the divergent groups into one unified group, and the Compact remained as the Constitution of the Colony until Plymouth was merged into the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1692 by order of King William.

Please allow me through your columns to pay a tribute of respect to some of our fallen brothers. It will doubtless seem to some, that such a tribute, at so late a day as this, is useless; that it were best to "leave them alone in their glory;" but I cannot conceive that their names should be forgotten by all, save the "loved ones at home;" and the noble few in whose hearts their memory will ever remain bright. As this sketch is written entirely from memory, it doubtless contains some mistakes which I hope those who are able to detect them will overlook. I shall mention more particularly those of our little band (Company I 5th Ky. Regt. afterward part of Co. G, 9th Ky. Regt.) who died in battle or of wounds received in battle, as I am unacquainted with the circumstances surrounding most of those who died of disease.

CAMPBELL, who was quite a boy, was killed in Netter's attack on Whippoorwill Bridge, soon after we entered the service. Notwithstanding his youth, and the suddenness of the attack, he died at his post. John Orndorff was the next to die; he died in Jan., 1862, at Bowling-Green, Ky., within 40 miles of his home, without the presence of a friend or even an acquaintance to smooth his dying pillow. Logan Stovall and "Bud" Keller, both died at Nashville, Tenn., about the time that General Johnston commenced his retreat from Ky. Sam Givens died at Burnesville, Miss., about the first of April, 1862, and was buried with the honors of war; an honor no other member of the company ever received. Joe Fisher died at Memphis, Tenn., about the middle of May, 1862, from a wound received at the battle of Shiloh, the ball by which he was wounded passed directly through his head. Dan Simmons, I think, died somewhere in Miss. during the Summer. Jas. Stratton, who was in very feeble health, received a furlough in Knoxville, Tenn., in October, 1862, and returned to his home, but died shortly after reaching there. A. H. Gilbert received a furlough at Hospital in the Spring of 1862, and went to Florida, where he died. Thomas Coleman, one of the stoutest and most healthy men in the company, was seized with pneumonia at Mancester, Tenn., and was sent to the Hospital at Tullahoma, where he died about the 12th of May, 1863. A consistent Christian, and a true soldier, he was greatly missed by his comrades. After this we lost no one until the following September, when the contending forces met upon the banks of the river of Death, and three of our most gallant men fell victims to the god of war. Elijah Townsend was wounded in the first charge upon the enemy's line, and fell into their hands, where he remained all day, until the final charge, which drove them from their works. What must have been his joy, when the sun was about to go down upon him, a captive, he saw his captors hurled back before the wreckless impetuosity of his friends, and the Cross, instead of the Stars and Stripes, waving over his head. It is no wonder that he forgot his own sufferings, as he, wildly cheered his comrades on to the charge. As it was nearly dark, the pursuit did not continue far, and some of his comrades returning to administer to his wants, bore him to a Hospital; but his wound was mortal, and after lingering for a few days he died.

Callie Tison was wounded in one of the charges and fell back with the rest when it was repulsed, to where they could get protection; and lying down behind a tree, expired in a few minutes. Noah Stovall was shot through the chest, but was able to walk back to the Hospital, where he died in a few days. When he reached the hospital he was placed in a room with Gen. Helm and Maj. Graves, both of whom were mortally wounded, and when, just before his death, the heartless nurses were about to move him from the room, Maj. Graves told them to let him die in peace; and taking up his pistol, which was lying near him, told them that he would shoot the first man that attempted to move him. Andrew Gee, after remaining some time in field hospital at Missionary Ridge, was sent to the post hospital at Ringgold, Georgia, where he died, I think, sometime in the month of November, 1863. On the morning of the 22nd of July, 1864, in an attack which Hardee's Corps made upon the left of the enemy's line, in front of Atlanta, Georgia, John Flowers and Billy Moseley, two of our most beloved companions, were killed; and as our line was repulsed (to the shame of the division commanders, Bates and Walker, be it said,) their bodies were left in-----

??????? GENEALOGICAL QUERIES ????

FALICES Sometime near 1900 my grandparents lived in a small community - Pleasant Hill (This by my father.)
 FOLLIS However, I haven't been able to locate it on my maps. This must be near Scottsville, KY.
 My point - In Grandmother's pictures is a post card size of a man - one "George Will Fallices" could be Follis. This picture was taken by L. T. Powell of Scottsville.
 If any one knows the family or relations of him, may have the picture as he isn't related to me - that I know. I would be happy to send it to any descendant of his family.....Orville A. Holley, R.#1, Box 1740, Sutherlin, Oregon 97479

"GENEALOGY POX" .....Warning! Genealogy Pox is very contagious!

Symptoms: Continual complaints as to need for names, dates and places. Patient has blank expression, sometimes deaf to spouse and children. Has no taste for work of any kind, except feverishly looking through records at libraries and courthouses. Has compulsion to write letters, SWEARS at postman when he doesn't leave mail. Frequents strange places such as cemeteries, ruins and remote desolate country areas. Makes secret night calls....hides phone bills from spouse. Mumbles to self. Has a strange, far-away look in eyes.
NO KNOWN CURE! Treatment: Medication is useless. Disease is not fatal, but gets progressively worse. Patient should attend genealogy workshops, join Genealogical Societies, subscribe to genealogical magazines and be given a quiet corner in the house where he can be alone.
FINAL COMMENT: The usual nature of this disease is....the sicker the patient becomes, the more he enjoys it.
