SOCIETY NOTES

We offer our sincere apologies for the late arrival of your July issue of THE LONGHUNTER. Our quarterly is printed by the Graphic Arts class of the Bowling Green State Vocational Technical School, and the school is not in session during the month of July.

At the April meeting of the S.K.G.S., the Society voted to begin collecting family Bible records for a forthcoming book. We invite you to send your family Bible records (and any other old Bible records to which you might have access) to the address on the inside cover of THE LONGHUNTER. To submit your Bible records, please include the following:

- (1) copy the record just as it appears in the Bible (machine or hand copy)
- (2) copy the title page of the Bible (this will prove date of Bible)
- (3) include your name, address and date record was copied
- (4) name of person who has possession of Bible

In order for a Bible record to be used as proof of ancestry to join the D.A.R., S.A.R., etc., it must contain the above four items. However, S.K.G.S. is mainly interested in preserving these "one-of-a-kind" records, so, if for some reason you wish not to include parts of the above information, we will accept the Bible record alone. Since many family Bible records have faded beyond reading, many have burned in house fires, many have been neglected in the attic where a leaking roof or insects have deprived us of their precious contents, S.K.G.S. hopes to preserve, in printed form, as many of the remaining records as possible for those Longhunters of the year 2084 and beyond. We will include all records which are submitted and guarantee that your great, great, great grandchildren, nieces and nephews will appreciate your efforts in preserving these family records.

We wish to thank all those who have been so gracious in their contributions to THE LONGHUNTER. We are including all information as fast as space will permit. At present, our very tight budget only permits us to print 36 pages per issue. Please keep the information coming our way.

While speaking of the budget, we might forewarn our members and subscribers that the S.K.G.S. Executive Committee has come to the conclusion that the 1985 dues will have to be increased over the present $7. No final decision has been made as yet, so watch for this announcement in the October issue of THE LONGHUNTER. Presently, our quarterly is being printed "at cost of materials," and the present dues are not covering this cost. The Executive Committee is studying the matter and hopes to soon have various options to present for the Society's vote. In the meantime, we invite your suggestions and ideas on this matter. Also, let us hear from you regarding the type of information you would most desire to see more of in THE LONGHUNTER.

Margaret C. Snides of Rt 3-Box 409, Franklin, KY 42134, has brought to our attention an error in the S.K.G.S.'s Ancestral Charts book. On page 157, Henry Traughber & Catherine Rust are not the parents of Alexander C. Traughber. The chart should read: (8) William Traughber, (9) Mary (?).

LIBRARIES IN SOUTH CENTRAL KENTUCKY

In case you are planning a genealogical research trip to South Central Kentucky, here are some tips which will hopefully help you in planning your trip.

You might want to start by writing for a free tourist packet, which will contain maps and other helpful information. Write to: BOWLING GREEN TOURIST COMMISSION, P.O. BOX 1040, BOWLING GREEN, KY 42101. Ask for tourist information and a list of accommodations. Be sure to include your address.

South Central Kentucky is blessed with good libraries which have very good genealogical sections; we also have ready and friendly access to Courthouse records.

The largest library in South Central Kentucky is the Kentucky Building Library which is located in Bowling Green on the Western Kentucky University campus. It houses one of the greatest collections of genealogical and historical materials in the state. Besides the many volumes housed in the library, the Kentucky Building also houses a Manuscript Department. Here you will find many original documents such as wills, letters, land grants, early church records, etc. Be sure to ask about the "Nora Furgerson Collection." The late Ms. Furgerson was a genealogist in this area and collected materials on many area families.

Among the hundreds of volumes in the Kentucky Library you will find:

Books of marriages, wills, deeds, cemeteries on KY counties, as well as on other states (especially TENN, N.C. & VA).

Family histories in book form. Family files. Biography files.

Vital Statistics (1853-1862) for all KY counties. Record of KY births and deaths, 1911-1936.

KY Census records 1790-1910. The 1790, 1800 & 1890 Census records were destroyed by fire. Tax lists have been compiled for these years.

1790 Census for the original 13 states.

1800-1850 Census records for North & South Carolina.

1820, 1830, 1850 Census records for Tennessee.

Rev. Soldiers' Pensions in book form by each KY county. Index to Civil War, both Union & Confederate soldiers in KY. Index to KY soldiers in War of 1812, giving Regiment served in.

Swem Index to Virginia--have all accompanying books.

Virginia Gazette--index to early 1734-1790 Newspapers on microfilm. Also, many early KY newspapers.

Church records, Quaker records, Shaker records.

D.A.C. Records--many volumes of the lineage of those who have joined the Daughters of the American Colonies.

The list goes on, so plan to spend a few days here. The librarians are most eager to help you in any way possible. Library hours are Monday through Friday 8:30 AM to 4:30 PM; Saturday 9 AM to 4 PM.

While the holdings at the Kentucky Library are vast, you most likely will also want to visit the area courthouses and the fine genealogical sections in the various area public libraries in South Central Kentucky. Listed below are the days and hours during which the libraries and courthouses of Warren and surrounding counties are open--the schedule is current as of May 1984.

WARREN COUNTY: Established 1797 from Logan County

Bowling Green Public Library
1225 State Street
Bowling Green, KY 42101
(Phone 502-781-4882)
Hours: Monday-Thursday
9 AM to 9 PM
Friday-Saturday
9 AM to 5 PM

Warren County Courthouse
Bowling Green, KY
Hours: Monday-Friday
8:30 AM to 4:30 PM
Saturday--closed

The Bowling Green Library houses The Reading Room where the S.K.G.S. and D.A.R. have deposited many fine genealogical books & quarterlies not only on this area, but other states as well. An index to North Carolina marriages is available on microfiche.

LOGAN COUNTY: Established 1792 from Lincoln County

Logan County Public Library
201 West 6th Street
Russellville, KY 42276
(Phone 502-726-6129)
Hours: Monday 10 AM to 8 PM
Tuesday-Saturday
10 AM to 5 PM
Sunday 2 PM to 5 PM

Logan County Courthouse
Russellville, KY
Hours: Monday-Friday
8:30 AM to 4:00 PM
Saturday 8:30 AM to 12 noon

Among the many items which you will find in the Logan County Library are: The Mrs. Well's Vick Collection, The Blakie Papers--"Men Whom I Remember," Logan Co Marriages 1790-1900, Family Files, Logan & Russellville Cemetery Records, Census film, maps, etc.

The Old Logan Jail Hours: Monday-Friday 8 AM to 2 PM
West 4th Street
Russellville, KY

If you are interested in Logan County records, you probably won't want to miss this important depository of old Logan Circuit Court records. The Logan County Genealogical Society has done an excellent job of indexing these documents.

BARREN COUNTY: Established 1799 from Green & Warren Counties

Mary Wood Weldon Memorial Library
105 West College Street
Glasgow, KY 42141
(Phone 502-651-5530)

Hours: Monday, Wednesday, &
Thursday 9 AM to 9 PM
Tuesday 9 AM to 4:30 PM
Friday & Saturday 9 AM to 4 PM

Barren County Courthouse
Glasgow, KY

Hours: Monday-Saturday
8 AM to 5 PM

This library houses an excellent genealogical section. One of its outstanding features is a collection of family charts. For several years, a local history teacher asked the students to do family charts. These are now housed in the M.W.W.M. Library.

BUTLER COUNTY: Established 1810 from Logan & Ohio Counties

Butler County Public Library
Ohio Street

Morgantown, KY 42261
(Phone 502-526-4722)

Saturday 9 AM to 3 PM

Allen County Courthouse
Scottsville, KY

Hours: Monday-Friday
8 AM to 4:30 PM
Saturday 8 AM to 12 noon

This library suffered a fire about eight years ago and they have had to replenish from scratch. Therefore, the genealogical section is small but definitely good. They have cemetery records, family files, books, etc. They have some Barren & Warren County records.

SIMPSON COUNTY: Established 1819 from Allen, Logan & Warren Counties

Goodnight Memorial Library
203 South Main Street

Franklin, KY 42134
(Phone 502-586-8397)

Hours: Monday-Saturday
8:30 AM to 5:30 PM

Simpson County Courthouse
Franklin, KY

Hours: Monday-Friday
8 AM to 4 PM
Saturday--closed

The Goodnight Memorial Library has an excellent genealogical section with many materials available such as Simpson County Cemetery Records, Family Files, etc. They also have materials on surrounding counties, including some Tennessee counties.

EDMONSON COUNTY: Established 1825 from Grayson, Hart & Warren Counties

Edmonson County Library
Washington Street
Brownsville, KY 42210

Hours: Monday 1:30 PM to 9:30 PM
Tuesday, Wednesday, &
Friday 9 AM to 4:30 PM
Saturday 9 AM to 3 PM
Thursday--closed

Edmonson County Courthouse
Brownsville, KY

Hours: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday & Friday 8 AM to 4 PM
Thursday--closed
Saturday--closed

This library has a small but worthy genealogical section. They have an Edmonson Co Cemetery book, an Edmonson Co marriage book, family files, some family histories, KY Census records and a few genealogical books.

Enjoy your stay in South Central Kentucky. You will find a people with an appreciation for their roots, many beautiful historic homes, and the traditional gracious southern hospitality.

Old Handwriting

This excellent article was written by Roy Colbert and published in the Amarillo Genealogical Society's REFLECTOR. It was reprinted in the Kentucky Genealogical Society's BLUEGRASS ROOTS. S.K.G.S. member Louise Herndon Taylor called it to our attention and we would like to pass this most worthy article on to our subscribers.

* * * * *

Genealogical data depends almost entirely upon hand written records. You may have obtained some of your information from other printed sources or from books, however, nearly all of the statistics that you now have are based upon hand written original sources. The correctness of much of your material depends upon accurate translation by someone. If you have not progressed beyond the stage of microfilmed records, then you have not, as yet, been fully exposed to the vast display of mannerisms of letter design put forth by the scribes in recording the information. There were so many influences on early penmanship in America that probably no other country has ever experienced. Each nationality contributed to the total design which has evolved in the past two centuries. At the time of the revolution, the country was under the English influence in language and politics, but here and there small sections, or pockets, of other nationals added their mannerisms of letter design. This makes it important to not only study a document prior to translation, but also to recognize the area, or the influence, of the document's origin.

Census records are more easily deciphered as the format of each enumeration for a given census year was standard. If you follow back over the scribe's style until you locate recognized words or letters, you can then apply those to the word you are puzzling over. Probably the one most confused interpretation by a beginning researcher is the double "s" which appears more as the letter "p". Do you have a "Jipe or Jepe" named individual? - it should be Jesse, or, how about Capandra? - it should be Cassandra. This is the German influence from the ß style of writing the double "s". So, when you see that letter "p", it may be a double "s", as: ss ss ss

It would take a very large book to give you all of the mannerisms of letter design, but here is a list to watch for.

A. This letter has changed little in centuries. Our present day design is quite precise, but you might also find: cl el et fl.

B. Another old classic, but watch for: Q qb ; small letter as: ß

C. The early records can easily be confused for an "O" as the letter design may close the letter entirely as: o o o o o . Small letter may appear as an "r": r r r.

D. This can be a dandy in both capitals and small letters, as: o o o o o. Now also watch for the low upper loop, as: o o o o.

E. It is getting worse! Watch for the old European "C" like letter with the small figure as a "z" in the center, as: c c c c c . The small case letters can be as an "o", or, as: o o o o o . Now try this word: desesed (desesed for deceased).

- F. You will find variations of both the open left and the open right faced stance, somewhat as written today and it is usually fairly familiar. Do watch for the "F" that can be confused for an "H" which probably originated from the double "f" French words, as: H H H H.
- G. It gets tough as this: B B B or the small letter as: g g y which appears as a "y".
- H. Can this really be an "H"? The larger case is difficult but the lower case "h" has a way of sort of drifting into nothing or part of another letter, as: h h h h h h h h h h.
- I. and J. Often written the same, also used for one another in the spelling of a word: J J J J J J J J J J.
- K. Ah, I know that one! K K K K K K.
- L. Maybe translated as an "S" (possibly Lemuel originated in this manner). In the small letters, watch for the double "l" that may appear as the double "f" or as the "h" letter, as: L L L L L L L L.
- M. and N. Usually, some variation of the printed letters: M N M N.
- O. Has added extras on caps, maybe open topped on the small: O O O O.
- P. Watch for: P P P P P P P P.
- Q. The small letter as a "y" is the most difficult: Q Q Q Q Q Q.
- R. How about: R R R R R R R R.
- S. Would you believe: S S S S S S S S.
- T. Many styles, here are a few: T T T T T T T T; th: th th th th.
- U. and V. Usually the same in early words and engravings, watch for the long upward stroke that ends with a small curl at the top as it appears the same as the "s": U U U U U U U U.
- W. It could be an "M": W W W W W W.
- X. Watch for a closed letter: X X X X X X.
- Y. Also closed: Y Y Y Y Y Y.
- Z. The "h" style is the most confusing: Z Z Z Z Z Z.
- Ditto - same as: Z Z Z Z Z Z Z Z.
- &. and - between parties: & & & & & & & between parties
- Lessee: Take Lessor: Lease Birth: Birth Born: Born

As mentioned, the national origin of the settlers influenced the styles of hand used. Pennsylvania documents may vary considerably from those of Virginia or of the New England area. The German stress not only influenced the letter design, but also the arrangement of letters in a word. Und or unde could be written as with the bar taking up the "da" sound. Remember also that the instrument was a hardwood stick or a quill and was more adaptable to the single letter form similar to printing.

NAMING PATTERNS

If you are having problems finding the parents of an ancestor, perhaps you might keep in mind that our ancestors tended to follow a naming pattern:

1st son: named after the father's father
 2nd son: named after the mother's father
 3rd son: named after the father
 4th son: named after the father's eldest brother
 5th son: named after the mother's eldest brother
 6th son: named after the father's second eldest brother, etc.

1st dau: named after the mother's mother
 2nd dau: named after the father's mother
 3rd dau: named after the mother
 4th dau: named after the mother's eldest sister, etc.

OBITUARIES FROM THE SPIRIT OF THE TIMES
Bowling Green, Kentucky, 1827

31 March 1827: Drowned near this place on Monday night last in attempting to cross Big Barren river at the fording, Mr. John McAllister, a highly respectable merchant of Franklin, Tenn. to which place he was returning from Philadelphia. He attempted to cross the river, at about eight o'clock, and although his calls brought some to look after him, he was not found until about the middle of the next day; and when found, his money, watch & c. were in his pockets. His remains were then brought to town, and early on Wednesday morning forwarded to the residence of his family.

There was also drowned in Big Barren, near Martinsville, on Sunday last, a Mr. Frederick Dickson, late an industrious farmer and worthy citizen of this county.

A duel was fought on the 23rd inst. near the Tennessee line in Simpson county of this state, between Mr. C. M. Smith and Mr. Brank. The latter was shot dead on the first fire. They were both lawyers and residents of Columbia, Tenn.

26 May 1827: Died at his residence in New York, April 29th, the Hon. Rufus King, in the 73rd year of his age.

On the same day in Philadelphia, the Hon. William Tilghman, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, in the 71st year of his age.

16 June 1827: Died on Tuesday last, at the Chamelion Springs, Mr. Daniel Hare, an honest citizen of this place. His remains were next day brought to Bowlinggreen and interred. He has left a wife and two children to lament the loss of a husband and parent.

Died at Tallahassee, Florida, on the 7th of May last, the Rev. Samuel K. Nelson, whilst on a visit to that country for the purpose of locating the lands given by grant to the Deaf and Dumb Asylum of Danville, Ky.

28 July 1827: Died in Warren county, on Friday the 29th of June last, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Marshall, consort of Col. Wm. Marshall, in the 41st year of her age.

4 August 1827: Died in this county, on Wednesday last, about 12 o'clock, Mrs. Mary Dishman, and in six hours afterwards her husband, Mr. John Dishman.

18 August 1827: Louisville, August 14. We have just learnt, on authority entitled to much confidence, that our distinguished and worthy fellow citizen, Mr. Matthew Jouitt, is dead Mrs. Jouitt was also extremely ill and not expected to recover.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES AND RECORDS SERVICE

ANNOUNCEMENT

CHANGES IN PROCESSING REQUESTS FOR COPIES OF VETERANS' RECORDS AND PASSENGER ARRIVAL RECORDS

Effective May 1, 1984, all requests for copies of military service records or passenger arrival records must be submitted on NATF Forms 80 and 81, respectively. After May 1 prior versions of these forms (NATF Form 26 and NATF Form 40) will not be accepted for processing. All forms other than the NATF Form 80 or NATF Form 81 that are received after May 1 will be returned.

A change in payment policies will also take effect May 1, 1984. NARS has in the past required that payment accompany requests for copies of veterans records and passenger arrival records. After May 1, 1984 payment should not be sent with the NATF forms 80 and 81. NARS will research the request, prepare copies of any records located, and HOLD THE COPIES FOR 30 days or until payment is received, whichever is sooner. As soon as records are located and copied, researchers will receive a bill and instructions on returning their remittances.

Researchers should also submit a separate NATF-Form 80 for each file (pension or bounty-land or compiled military service) desired. Previously researchers could ask for multiple files on one form. This change is designed to facilitate processing by the National Archives. Any one interested in obtaining copies of the NATF-Forms 80 or 81 may do so after April 1 by writing to the following office:

THE EARLY HISTORY OF BOWLING GREEN, KENTUCKY

by Mrs. Josie Nazro

The inrush of population was extremely heavy from 1800 on and many homes began to be erected so that in 1800 George and Robert Moore made a twelve acre addition to the town, which ran from where the Moore home stood up toward what is now Reservoir Hill. In the meantime the people became ashamed of the log court house and in the spring of 1805 the County Court ordered the building of a new one and the contract was let to one John McNeil, afterwards known as "McNeil the Turbulent." About this time the importance of river navigation began to be felt and many realized that Bowling Green should have been located near the river, so that products of the town might be more easily shipped to the chief market of that time, New Orleans.

The importance of river shipping was greater than now. Louisville was too far off, too small then. It was a great trip down the big Barren to Green to the Ohio and down the Ohio to the broad Mississippi and thence over its turbulent waters to the big city at the gulf. The advantages of a river town made such a strong appeal that on November 4, 1805, on motion of Robert Moore, an addition to the town was made by which it was extended to the river and in this new section two acres were likewise set apart for public buildings. This brought a rival in the field and the next day, November 5, 1805, John McNeil came into court and on his motion the town of Jeffersonville was established to embrace thirty-five acres and later one hundred acres, and thus a contest for the county seat.

A large number of people wanted the town built on the banks of the river and wanted the new court house and jail removed to some point on the river, dedicated to the new town of Jeffersonville. While the adherents of the Moores and residents of the old town objected to any removal, the air drawn city of Jeffersonville was laid out upon the land now owned by Mr. Frank Strange. The home of John McNeil stood where Frank Strange's home now stands, near the big spring at the foot of the bluff. From that spring as a corner ran one line up the bluff, another line ran at right angles toward what is now Cemetery Pike. One hundred acres were included in these lines. There was a fine place for a wharf near the spring on the river. It was a fine plan and it seems a pity that Bowling Green did not adapt this seemingly more suitable location. However, in the fall of 1807, the Moores succeeded in getting the County Court to order that the new Court house be built on the new addition they had given the town of Bowling Green, which would have been about where the Negro school building now stands.

Some delay was caused and in 1808 an Act of the Legislature was secured by which Commissioners were appointed to fix the location of the County seat of Warren county. John McNeil was always in litigation of some sort or other and it was no doubt it was he who got this act of the Legislature of February 1808, appointing commissioners to fix the County seat of Warren County. The commissioners met on May 2, 1808 and made their report to the County Court on June 6, 1808. These commissioners were Samuel Wilson, John Rodes, Samuel Haycroft, Reuben Ewing and Richard Garnett. These men were not all Bowling Green men, but were among the most prominent men of the Green and Barren river counties and all of high standing. The report was as follows:

On Monday, May 2, 1808, agreeable to an act of the Assembly entitled an act to fix the permanent seat of Justice of Warren county, we, the commissioners met at the house of Simon H. Hubbard in the town of Bowling Green and having taken the proper oath called on the Surveyor of Warren county (Elijah M. Covington), for a platt of the County together with the geographical center thereof, which being produced we proceeded to explore so much of the County as we deemed necessary to enable us to judge of the proper place for fixing the seat of Justice for the county aforesaid and after having carefully examined the premises, we have by concurrence of majority fixed the permanent seat for Justice for Warren county on the public square as laid out in the town of Jeffersonville on the lands of John McNeil, who gave his consent thereto and agreed that a town might there be laid out containing one hundred acres and that one-fourth part of the proceeds of the sale of the lots when laid off and sold shall be appropriated to the indemnification of those who have purchased and improved lots in the old town of Bowling Green. Agreeable to the act aforesaid and also agree to convey two acres on which to erect the public buildings in said town and said McNeil also agrees to give two lots in said town one for the use of a seminary of learning and the other for a house of public worship. We then proceeded to open subscription for donations from individuals willing to contribute towards the public buildings of said county and secured subscriptions to the amount of $295 and fifty gallons of whiskey, which are herewith filed. We then opened subscriptions for the indemnity of those who had purchased and improved lots in the town of Bowling Green and we secured subscriptions for this purpose amounting to the sum of $1,650 which is herewith filed. Whereupon we proceeded to estimate the loss sustained by these several persons, which is as follows:

Benjamin Hampton	$3,500.00	William R. Payne	$250.
Williamson Gatewood	500.	Richard Lyon	15.
Samuel Campbell	120.	Isiah Potts	50.
Abel Hennon	950.	Charles Donaldson	50.
William Chaplaine	450.	Francis Johnson	400.
Samuel B. Cokes	700.	William Swearinger	60.
Joab Watson	450.

This report shows how strong McNeil was bidding for the County seat, and how he was endearing to placate the residents of the old town. The expenses of the commissioners were paid as follows:

To the surveyor chairman & chairman	- - - - -	175.00
Samuel Haycroft for traveling 70 miles and returning and for six days attendance	- - - - -	20.40
Reuben Ewing for traveling 70 miles and back and for six days attendance	- - - - -	15.72

John Rodes for traveling 20 miles and returning and for six days attendance	- - - - -	15.00
Samuel Wilson for same	- - - - -	15.00
Richard Garnett for traveling 32 miles and back and for six days attendance	- - - - -	19.68

But the end was not yet, even though three commissioners had reported favorably for Jeffersonville. On the same day the report was received the justices decided it was not then practical to build any court house at all under the circumstances. I will not go into all the reasons for delays in the building of the court house in Jeffersonville but McNeil did remove the court house from the old town of Bowling Green and the jail was erected and the Circuit Court did meet in Jeffersonville in October 1808, and to all appearances the county seat was removed from Bowling Green to Jeffersonville upon the banks of the river, but the fight was even yet not over. In November and December the county court met but the January court had to meet at the house of John McNeil. Evidently the court house had been so hastily removed and put together that it was untenable during the cold winter. What happened during that period I can't find out but the records show that the February term of the county court met again in the old town of Bowling Green. There was no court house for it to meet in so court met in the home of Williamson Gatewood which then stood upon the spot where the Elk's building now stands. The county and circuit courts continued to meet until a new court house was built in 1812. McNeil made a last effort to get court to convene again in Jeffersonville but failed and in March 1809 sold his place upon the river and became a resident of the old town of Bowling Green.

With this fight ended in April 1809, Francis Johnson, one of the first Congressmen from the Third District of Kentucky and a very able lawyer, came into the county court and offered to raise a subscription to help in the erection of public buildings in the old public square in Bowling Green. It was so ordered and together with other commissioners were appointed to that end. Thus, Bowling Green became the permanent county seat of Warren county. In February, 1812, court met in the newly completed court house which stood in the center of the square.

The court house, a red brick one, stood until the square was converted into a public park and the jail stood until about the time of the Civil War. The jail became so obnoxious to the people that one dark night they tried to tear it down but couldn't and though partly demolished it was still used until about the time of the Civil War when it burned together with other buildings.

How it was that the act of the Legislature and the report of the Commissioners fixing the permanent county seat at Jeffersonville was ignored I can not find in the records, says Mr. Rodes. In all events the act and report were ignored and Bowling Green became the permanent seat of justice for Warren county.

(Mrs. Nazro's "Early History of Bowling Green, Kentucky," will be continued in the next several issues of THE LONGHUNTER.)

LETTERS FROM DAYS OF OLDE

Local readers will recognize the signature on the following letter as that of Eldress Nancy E. Moore of the (now defunct) Society of Believers in South Union, Kentucky--known locally as Shakertown. The letter, which is of genuine historical interest, was recently brought to light by Mr. William Benjamin Moore of Auburn, Kentucky, when he was going through the papers of his late father, William Simpson Moore.

The letter was addressed to James Moore, who, until the appearance of this letter, was thought to have perhaps been Eldress Nancy's father since the Society's records mention that Nancy was brought, at age four, to the Society of Believers' school by one James Moore. It now appears that Nancy can be numbered among the children of Jesse W. Moore, who has a will recorded in Logan County, Kentucky, dated 11 April 1814. Jesse died at Shakertown on 28 Dec 1815 at age 60. His will names an adult daughter, Mary Ann, and two sons under age 21, James and Thomas. Jesse left the remaining five-eighths of his estate to be used "for the support of the Gospel and the sole use and benefit of the society of believers of Logan County of which I am a member." Lucy Moore, who died at Shakertown in April of 1814, is presumed to have been the wife of Jesse and the mother of his children.

The Society's records show that Jesse was born 2 Apr 1775 in Pennsylvania. Lucy Moore is listed in the records as having been born 1772 in Virginia.

It appears that Jesse's three oldest children left the Society, James leaving the year of 1813. Nancy, of course, spent her lifetime with the "Believers" and played a leading role in their activities--especially during the Civil War period. A diary which she kept during these trying years, along with other Shaker records, is housed in the Kentucky Library in Bowling Green, Kentucky. Miss Julia Neal of Bowling Green has written several books on the "Believers", one devoted solely to the life of Eldress Nancy.

Shaker records show Nancy as having been born in Warren County, Kentucky (Gasper River area of Logan-Warren border) on 1 Sep 1807. She died 5 Dec 1889 without any offspring as the "Believers" did not condone marriage or reproduction.

James Moore, the son of Jesse Moore, was born 15 Jan 1794 in Virginia; he died 5 Apr 1864 in Allen County, Kentucky. James married Susan Oliver, who was born 31 May 1796 and died 6 Oct 1856. She was the daughter of Thomas Oliver of Allen County. Their children were:

| 2. Martha (Huffman & Martin) | 6. John |

| 4. Elizabeth (Bronson) | 8. Henry |

A daughter, Susan J. (Douglass) was born to James Moore by his second wife, Miss Button.

Dear Brother

Yours of the 17th July only came to hand yesterday which explains why I have not answered you earlier.

In reply have to say, I am not prepared to give you a definite answer; as I am not acquainted sufficiently with the matter to give you a satisfactory one at this time, but would recommend you, (if you have not already gone into the matter) not to put yourself to any expense until you have fully investigated the case. Would it not be advisable for you to go to Russellville and examine our Fathers will, (as I presume it is on record there) It might give some light on the subject. If you do so I should like for you to call here as you return that we may talk the matter over together, & that I may have a better understanding about it. I do not feel myself competent to write on such subjects therefore I would rather see you & hear it explained.

I have not obtained any further information since I wrote you last; as I wrote you before our brother H. L. Cades found on Record in the Clerks Office Lebanon Ohio that John Wallace who signed himself Attorney for Jesse W Moore. had sold and conveyed the land 112 acres, & 137 Poles to one James St John of Warren County Ohio. for the sum of $441.00, but found no Power of Attorney on Record for him to act for Jesse W Moore. Now the question is, whether it was necessary to put the Power of Attorney to record to make it legal or not, that question could be determined by Lawyers. If we should bring suit for the land the Power of Attorney might be forth coming. perhaps in the possession of the heirs of St John. Or Wallace might have retained ^{it} himself not thinking it necessary to put it to Record. If it was a fraud, it is likely it will not be forth coming.

I do not feel myself competent to advise you on the subject, but hope you will not put yourself to unnecessary expense, as the matter has been kept still for above 40 years. Perhaps you could get your friend W L Underwood to correspond with some Lawyer of Lebanon Ohio on the subject.

In much haste I remain your affectionate Sister

Wancy E Moore

~~1232~~ I can only say I am sorry I did not receive yours in due time that I could have given you satisfaction & not held you in suspense.
W. E. M.

The editors express appreciation to S.K.G.S. member Rev. Harold Moore of 1031 Nutwood, Bowling Green, KY 42101, for sharing the foregoing letter and information with THE LONGHUNTER. He is most anxious to hear from any descendants of Mary Ann Moore or Thomas Moore, who are mentioned in Jesse Moore's will.

COMMUNITY AT SOUTH UNION, KY.

LETTERS FROM DAYS OF OLDE

May 21, 1862
Munfordville, Ky.

My Dear Maggie,

As I have a spare moment caused by the rain I intend to appropriate it in writing to you. After marching about 3 miles we were drawn into battle on the edge of the woods. As night comes we were called to attention, stacked arms for the night. We cut bushes and forks and made a sort of arbor over us, put leaves down and then spread our blankets. The enemy out numbering about 8 to 1. The Regiments loss was 19 killed, many wounded. Capt. Craigs loss was 3 wounded and missing. This is comforting news for a young wife who will have her first child in a few months. Give Sis Lou my thanks, also my dear mother and tell her I shall never forget her while life last, dear you must let Ma and Sis see this letter. Have them write me even if I do not write.

3 days and 2 nights out of camp and have had to go out to the pits and guard for 24 hours which made it from Friday to Monday night before I could sleep in our tents.

I will write something about health. I feel very well at this time though I have had a spell of diarrhea for several days back. I am doing very well, up to my duty all the time. I am sorry I can't say as much for brother Ed. He hasn't been able to go to duty for a week. Ever since he got here he has had the diarrhea, fever and looks badly.

I saw Dr. John Powell and he send you his regards, cousin Major Burdeshaw has been sick ever since he got here. The surgeon has finally sent him home. I hear he will not make it.

Please write me long letters. I am so lonesome for news from you and home. Love to you and the balance of the kinfolks.

signed your loving husband till death

James B. Talbert

This "letter from days of olde" was submitted to THE LONGHUNTER by S.K.G.S member, Mrs. Claire Davenport. James Talbert was her great grandfather and was quartered with Co. K, 44th Mississippi Infantry in Munfordville, Ky. He fought for the Confederacy and was wounded at the Battle of Munfordville.

SUMPTER CEMETERY

Warren County, Kentucky

Approximately three miles south-west of Bowling Green, Kentucky, is located an old cemetery known as the Sumpter Cemetery. The property on which it is located is known locally as The Rigglewood Place. There is no road leading to the cemetery. Several graves are marked only with limestone rock. Twenty graves have grave stones and are listed below:

FAMILY TREES

THOMAS FLIPPEN, ESQ.

Thomas Flippen was born c1740 in Cumberland County, Virginia. His father, also named Thomas, died c1745 when the younger Thomas was in his teens. It was at this time that young Thomas went to live with his cousin, and chosen guardian, Thomas Bedford of Lunenburg County, Virginia, until he became of age.

During the time of Lord Dunmore's War of 1774, Thomas served as a Sergeant in Captain Thomas Buford's Company from Bedford County, Virginia. In the war years of 1775-1781, he rendered valuable service as a scout and transporter of war materials from Bedford County to Fort Patrick Henry, located in the area which is now Indiana.

Thomas married Rhoda McAdoo, daughter of John McAdoo, sometime before 1775. Their first five children were born in Virginia prior to 1782, at which time Thomas received a land grant and moved his family to the area which is now Tennessee. Land Grant #284 was granted to Thomas Flippen on 26 June 1782, by Anthony Bledsoe and Williams, for the sum of 17 pounds & 1 shilling with interest of 1 pound, 7 shillings & 1 pence. Land Grant #665 was granted to Thomas the following year, 12 June 1783, by Bledsoe and Williams, for 18 shillings.

In 1787, Thomas was appointed Captain of the Hawkins County Militia Regiment, by Governor William Blount of North Carolina--this area still being under the auspices of that state at the time. It is interesting to note that Hawkins County, at this time, was a newly established county (1786) and in 1792, when Jefferson County was established, Thomas was appointed as Captain of that newly formed Militia Regiment. It would certainly appear that his record of service stood him in good stead with the government of North Carolina. On 20 September 1787, Thomas received two land grants of 200 acres each from the state of North Carolina through the Purchase Grants. However, he must have already been looking Westward as he sold the two grants on this same day to one Richard Caswell for 10 pounds per 100 acres (this could well be the Richard Caswell who later became governor of N.C.). It was also in the year of 1787 that Thomas and several of his friends from the Holston River Settlement made an exploration journey into the Big Blue Springs area of present-day Barren County, Kentucky. The area surely made a great impression on Thomas because ten years later, in 1797, he moved his family to the area which, in that year, was in the newly formed Warren County, Kentucky.

The Flippen family settled on Indian Creek near an area formerly known as Pikeville. When James Flippin (grandson of Thomas) donated land for a Post Office, this settlement was renamed "Flippin" in honor of James. Other early settlers of this area were: William Maxey, William Neal, Edward Purcell, the Flowers, the Goodalls and Colonel Hugh Brown (the father of Isabella Brown Flippin, daughter-in-law of Thomas).

In the year 1799, Barren County, Kentucky, was formed from Warren and Green counties, and Thomas and his son William paid their taxes on 10 September 1800 in Barren County. The will of John McAdoo, Rhoda's father, was probated in Barren County in January of 1802.

Thomas Flippin was a prosperous farmer and a well-regarded citizen of Barren County. He was called as a witness in many court cases and was often assigned by the Court the task of checking into various land-boundary disputes. Sometime between the years 1810 and 1816, Thomas' life companion, Rhoda, died. She would have been 50 to 60 years of age, as she was born c1750 in Virginia.

Following in their patriarch's stead, several of the Flippin family members served in the First Regiment of the Kentucky Mounted Militia during the War of 1812: Sergeants Thomas and William Flippin, Corporal Lodowick Goodall, Privates James and John Flippin and Private Jesse Goodman.

On 24 December 1816, the now elderly Thomas married his second wife, Jane Maconer. On their marriage contract, her last name was spelled as "McCune" and she may have been a widow with two children (Polly and Washington McCune). There were no children born to Thomas' second union.

In 1820, Monroe County was formed from Barren County and, once again, Thomas Flippin was living in a new county.

Sometime between 1 July and 1 December of 1830, Thomas Flippin, Esq. died at the home of his son Jesse in Henry County, Tennessee. It is not known whether he was living with Jesse at this time or whether he was simply there for a visit. He would have been around 90 years of age. He had lived a full and exciting life, having served a worthy role in America's quest for independence and her subsequent expansion Westward.

Children of Thomas and Rhoda Flippin:

- 1 WILLIAM b c1775 VA; d after 1810; md 10 Dec 1797 Polly Johnson in Warren Co KY. Served in the "Corn Stalk" Militia of KY as a Lieut. in 45th Regiment in Barren Co. Also served in the War of 1812.

This excellent family record was compiled by S.K.G.S. member Nova Lemons, 12206 Brisbane, Dallas, Texas 75234. She would like to correspond with anyone working on this family or those who intermarried with the Flippins, such as the Goodmans, Baughs, Goodalls, Neals, Johnson, Watt, Brown or Clarke. Ms. Lemons has other interesting information on the Flippin family. Her original article has been edited due to space.

FRANK HOGLE

"Frank Hogle was born in Bavaria, Germany, and became a Brewer. About 1852, he came to the United States, embarking at Havre, France, on the sailing vessel 'Hurlbut,' and landing in New York. He settled in Pittsburgh and was first employed in Bireline Brewery. He later was employed in the Benitz Brewery. In 1860, he established a Brewery at the head of Eighteenth Street South Side, on the Brownsville Road, in Pittsburgh. He married Francesca Huber and they had the following children":
