NOTES FROM THE EDITORS

The Board of Directors of the Southern Kentucky Genealogical Society met on Monday, January 27, 1986. Among other items of business, several points pertaining to the policies of THE LONGHUNTER were decided as follows:

QUERIES will be accepted only from members of the S.K.G.S. and will be published as space permits. We feel that this is an effective method of obtaining information concerning family research and would like to hear from you readers of any success you have met through placing queries in THE LONGHUNTER. Send us a note and let us know if, for instance, you finally found the birthplace of your great-great grandfather through placing a query in our quarterly.

ADVERTISEMENTS: Several people who wish to publicize their services as researchers or who have products of a genealogical nature to sell have inquired about placing advertisements in THE LONGHUNTER. It was decided that, for a donation according to the following schedule, we would accept advertisements:

Full Page - $50; Half Page - $30; Quarter Page - $17.50; Eighth Page - $10. Full and half page ads must be copyset by the submitter of the ad. We will set quarter and eighth page ads.

ANCESTOR CHARTS and FAMILY GROUP SHEETS: We welcome and solicit contributions of Ancestor Charts and Family Group Sheets of our members. We shall be glad, as space permits, to print your five-generation charts with extensions of generations in list form as has been done in this issue. We request, however, that Family Group Sheets be restricted to those persons with connections in this area of Kentucky so that they will be of interest to more of our readers.

NUMBERED BIOGRAPHY: The article on "The Stephens Family of Warren County, Kentucky" was written using the 'numbered biography' which might need to be explained to some newcomers to the research field. We have found this method is effective when attempting to record a large number of descendants of a particular person. A perfect cross index system is established between the parents and children as the individual record of a parent appears under a paragraph number on the left margin of the page. The children are listed directly below with those having further descendants being followed by the respective paragraph numbers. Their numbers will be found elsewhere in the text on the left margin of the page in their numbered sequence.

* SURNAME INDEX: S.K.G.S is in the *

THE REV. PETER VERTREES
Minister and Educator

Peter Vertrees was a boy of five when his mother placed him on the horse behind her and rode through the thick woods to the home of his illegitimate white grandparents Jacob and Catherine Davis Vertrees near the Green River in Edmonson County, Kentucky. It was here that he remained until he reached his majority.

The unusual circumstances surrounding his birth prompted his mother, Mary "Polly" Elizabeth Skaggs, a white woman, to apprentice him to Mr. Vertrees. Polly, at the age of fifteen, had conceived Peter by The Rev. Booker Harding, a mulatto Baptist minister and the illegitimate son of Jacob Vertrees. To insure his future security, she had a legal document drawn and recorded in the deed books of Edmonson County, Kentucky, which provided for him the necessities of life. In this document there is no mention of race, but it does give the date of his birth as December 16, 1840, a fact he never knew during his lifetime.

Peter's mother Polly was born in 1825, the daughter of Aaron Skaggs and his wife Susannah Meredith. Soon after giving him to the Vertrees family Polly was married to Elisha Johnson by whom she had seven children. Peter was reared within three miles of his natural mother but had almost no contact with her. There was evidently some association, for he named his first son by his third wife after Polly's brother Russell.

Unfortunately we find no information on his father, The Rev. Booker Harding. Rev. Vertrees did mention that he saw his father once after he was grown.

Living under the strong religious influence of his grandparents, in early life, he committed himself to the Lord. He recalled sitting in the church as a youth beside his grandmother and dedicating his life to the Lord and His work.

In later life Peter reminisced about making his first dollar working at a stage stand at Three Forks near Horse Cave, Kentucky. During this period in his life his grandfather, Mr. Vertrees, died.

Peter worked at various jobs until the outbreak of the Civil War when he joined the Confederate Army as a body guard and cook for his half-uncle Dr. John Luther Vertrees who was a surgeon in the 6th Ky. Cavalry. He remained at his post throughout the entire war, suffering the same deprivations that plagued the entire army. This tenure of service entitled him to a Confederate pension, which he was granted in 1921.

While he was serving in the army his grandmother died. He soon thereafter professed religion and was baptized by the chaplain in his company. From that moment on he was destined for the ministry. He began preaching in 1865, before he had much schooling.

When hostilities ceased in the same year, he was mustered out at Dalton, Georgia. He immediately headed for Gallatin, Tennessee where he lived for a time with another uncle, Judge James Cunningham Vertrees, who resided on East Main Street, two doors for the Sumner County Memorial Hospital.

Peter had a great desire to secure an education so he could become a Baptist minister. While living with his Uncle James Vertrees, he was tutored by his first cousin, John Jay Vertrees, son of the Judge. This learning situation gave him the equivalency of a secondary education enabling him to enter Roger Williams University, where he completed his educational pursuits.

Durham's Chapel was the first of several churches that he organized throughout the area. In 1874, he became the minister of the First Baptist Church on Winchester Street, replacing the aging Rev. Robert Belote, the church's first pastor. He served this church and the others he organized for over sixty years.

The churches that he organized which are still in active service include Durham's Chapel at Bethpage, Franklin's Chapel in Odom's Bend, William's Chapel at Cairo, and the Sylvan Street Baptist Church in Nashville.

It is hard to realize that he had a walking ministry from one section of the county to the other. He referred to this exercise as his period of meditation.

In 1875, he organized the East Fork Missionary Baptist Association. After a hundred plus years of service, this organization is yet active and is comprised of twenty-eight churches in Sumner, Davidson, Trousdale, Robertson, Macon, and Wilson Counties, Tennessee.

In the early years of his ministry, the church buildings often served as schools during the week. Due to his untiring efforts, many public schools were erected in Sumner County. He was assisted in his efforts by the generosity of his many friends of both races and the Rosenwald Foundation in a matching funds program.

It was not until after World War I that Sumner County began to fund the construction of school buildings for the Negro community. The county has appropriated money for the Negro teachers' salaries since the 1870's.

To assist in caring for the needs of the members of his churches, he established in 1899 a chapter of the Sons and Daughters of Charity in each congregation. This fund paid medical and burial expenses of the various members. The only active chapter today (1985) is at Durham's Chapel near Bethpage, Tennessee.

In 1872, Peter was married to his first wife, Amanda Love, who lived but six months. She was buried in her family's burying ground at the corner of Dobbins Pike and Wallace Lane. This cemetery is now destroyed.

His second wife was Sarah Head, who bore him three sons, one of whom died in infancy. William and Ernest survived to adulthood and had families.

He married his third wife, Diora Wylie, in 1901. She was a 1897 graduate of Roger Williams University and was beginning a teaching career that eventually spanned fifty-four years.

She was the daughter of Halifax Wylie and his wife Polina Brown. Her father was so strong that it might be said he was the Negro counterpart to the "Hercules of Sumner County", Thomas Sharp Spencer. Everyone knew that it was forbidden for Halifax to strike anyone with his fist for fear of his killing them.

Diora was her husband's greatest strength in his declining years and assisted him in recording his autobiography. Diora also wrote her own autobiography before her death in 1965. Until her death at age 90 she gave a Bible to all members of every graduating class of the Union High School in Gallatin, Tennessee.

Peter and Dora were the parents of five children: Russell Conwell, Evlerlina, Bertha Mae, Lillie Harding and Peter.

Russell Conwell died in 1983, leaving a widow Clara and a daughter Bertha.

Peter, Jr. was killed in action during World War II in the South Pacific and was never married.

Elverlina married Dr. Jonathan Nathaniel Rucker of Natchez, Mississippi. He followed in her father's footsteps as a school principal and a Baptist minister in Sumner County. In addition to these vocations, he was also a medical doctor. She reared their four children and his six children by a former marriage. Elverlina has spent her life directing choirs and teaching school.

Bertha married The Rev. T. J. Griffin, a school teacher and Methodist minister, who died in 1983. She is a retired school teacher and is the business manager of Swanson's Nursing Home in Gallatin, Tennessee. She has no children.

Lillie, the youngest daughter, married Joseph Thomas Odom and had one son, Peter Conwell. She is a semi-retired cosmetologist and lives in the Victorian cottage on Bledsoe Street that her father built in 1888.

The Rev. Peter Vertrees and his descendants continue to contribute much to the communities of which they are a part. He died on the 18th of January, 1926, leaving behind an enduring legacy perpetuated today by the lives of those he touched.

John Cox was a prominent man in his community and a prosperous farmer. He signed many legal papers and acted in various capacities in the county as guardian, jury duty, justice of the peace, signed marriage bonds and was an appraiser. Various records show the location of his land on Cox's Creek (now called Chism Creek) and the Gasper River in Warren County, Kentucky, which was taken from Logan County in 1798. It is said that John Cox moved to Kentucky from Virginia in about 1790.

John Cox was a patriot of the Revolutionary War. He served as 2nd Lieutenant in John Barksdale's Company, formerly commanded "by Major Brice Martin and John Redd, 1st Lieutenant, and John Cox, 2nd Lieutenant." John Cox took his Oath of Allegiance on Aug 30, 1777, in Henry County VA, at the same time as John Barksdale. John Cox also served as a captain in the 25th Regiment, KY State Militia.

Humphrey Posey also took his Oath at the same time as John Cox. Together they must have gone to Warren Co, KY, as John's daughter, Nancy, married John Humphrey Posey, the son of Humphrey.

The names 'Burwell,' 'Jackson' and, in some cases, 'Burwell Jackson' Cox appear many times throughtout John Cox's family and his decendants. Origin of this not-too-common name may have been from a man who lived in the county. John Cox had land dealings with a Burwell Jackson and probably held him in high esteem. Burwell Jackson was also in the State Militia, 25th Regiment, as Lt. Col. Commandant. Phineas Cox (below) also served as a major.

Phineas Cox, also a prominent citizen of Warren County and a patriot of the Revolutionary War, is thought to have been the brother of John Cox, but this has not been verified. 'Phineas', another not-too-common name, has appeared many times in the family of John Cox, and it was family tradition to name one's children after relatives. Further, Phineas signed up for the Revolution in Henry County VA, where John Cox took his Oath of Allegiance.

Sarah Nunnelly's name has also been carried down to various family members. Some of her grandchildren and great-grandchildren carry the name Nunnelly as their middle name, though the spelling of it varies.

Brief facts about the children of John & Sarah (Nunnelly) Cox (See also Family Group Sheet on page 21):

COLEMAN COX moved from Virginia with his parents to the Gasper River area where the family resided. Coleman and his family left Kentucky in about 1820 and went with his in-laws to Washington County Arkansas, where he lived and died.

SARAH COX--little is known about her except that she married John Taylor in Warren County Kentucky, on Jun 8, 1802.

PHINEAS COX lived in Warren County Kentucky until about 1820, when he moved to Logan County where he remained until his death.

NANCY COX married John Humphrey Posey, son of Humphrey Posey. John Posey lived in Logan County Kentucky, but after their marriage, they lived in Warren County in the Gasper River area near their parents.

JANE 'JINCY' COX, was the 2nd wife of Jason Livingston Isbell, Sr.

ELIZABETH COX, married George Manscoe/Mansker/Mansco and lived in Tennessee, possibly Williamson Co, where their children were born. In about 1817, they moved to Pocahontas, Lawrence County Arkansas, with George's brother, William Manscoe. George was the son of George Mansker, Sr., Revolutionary War soldier and one of the "Long Hunters" of early days, who settled in Sumner County Tennessee, near Nashville.

JACKSON COX married Sarah Johnson, daughter of William C. Johnson in possibly a double ceremony with Jackson's sister, Sina. Jackson went to Arkansas in about 1820 to be with his brother, Coleman, but did not stay long and returned to Warren County.

WINNIFRED COX and her husband Philip Grubb were living in 1810 in Warren County, but they moved to Butler County, Kentucky, and are found there in the 1820-30 census. In 1850, Philip is not living and only Winney is found at age 62, being born in KY. With her are two daughters, Carey and Jane, and one son, Wade. Winney was also named in the will of her father, John Cox, Sr., dated 1832. Some family members scattered from KY into other states. Benjamin Franklin Grubb went to Kansas while Lincoln was President, and Douglas Grubb moved there after the Civil War. Some of Leander Grubb's sons also moved to Kansas. Leander, Oliver and Wade Grubb remained in Butler County. Jefferson Grubb was said to have 'been a wanderer', but he did die in Butler County, KY. (Ref: "The Grubb Family in America").

JOHN COX, JR lived in Butler County Kentucky after his marriage to Enda Pope, and in about 1830 moved to Warren County and lived on Brushy Creek, where they remained until their deaths.

BURWELL COX married Rebecca Mobley/Moberly, daughter of Isaiah Mobley, a Revolutionary War soldier. Burwell and Rebecca moved to Arkansas, where her father stayed in Crawford County and Burwell went on to Cane Hill, Washington County, where his brother, Coleman, lived.

PHILIP COX probably died in Rockfield, Warren County Kentucky. He was an executor to his father's will, but he died before the estate was settled.

SINA COX and her third husband, Robert Wentworth Ragland, are buried on their farm on the Old Greenville Road near Spouts Springs, Warren County Kentucky. Robert Ragland was an educated and prominent man in the community. His name appears on many Warren County courthouse documents, including deeds, and he functioned as Justice of the Peace.

DEED OF BARGAIN AND SALE, recorded in Warren County Deed Book 14, Page 18, Bowling Green, KY.

This deed of bargain and sale made and entered into the second day of August in the year of one thousand eight hundred and thirty (1830) between John Cox, Sr., of the County of Warren, Sate of Kentucky, of one part and John Cox, Jr., of Butler County and same State of the other part. Witnesseth that the said John Cox, Sr. for and in consideration of the sum of five dollars to him in hand paid by the said John Cox, Jr., the receipt whereof he doth acknowledge and also in consideration of the love and affection which the said John Cox, Sr., bears to his daughter, Winny Grubbs, the wife of Phillip Grubbs, of the County of Butler, aforesaid the said John Cox Sr., hath granted, bargained, sell, alien, and convey unto the said John Cox, Jr., his heirs, executors, or administrators one certain negro girl, a slave, aged 8 or 9 years, named Eliza. In trust for the following use: that is to say for the sole and exclusive use and benefit of the said Winny Grubbs during her life and after her death to the sole and exclusive use of the heirs of the body of said Winny Grubbs and it is hereby declared to be the true intent and meaning of the parties hereto that the husband of the said Winny doth not and shall not acquire or be vested with any right, title, or interest whatever in said negro girl or her increase by virtue of this deed of bargain and sale or anything herein contained nor by reason of the said negro girl being delivered over to the use and enjoyment of his wife the aforesaid Winny but on the contrary, the said negro girl and her future increase to be held and considered to be for the undisturbed use and benefit of the said Winny during her life and after her death for the like use and benefit of her heirs aforesaid. The said John Cox, Jr., covenants to perform the trust herein reposed in him. In witness of all which the said John Cox, Sr., and John Cox, Jr., doth hereunto set their hands and affix their seals this day and date first herein written.

THE STEPHENS FAMILY OF WARREN CO, KENTUCKY
Compiled by Patricia E. Reid

The main source of information for this article is: STEPHENS FAMILY GENEALOGIES, Revised Edition by Dan V Stephens, Hammond & Stephens Co, Fremont, Nebraska, 1940, a copy of which is in the possession of Ora Colista (Spraldin) Nicholls, Bowling Green, KY. Other sources referred to were: Marriage Records of Warren, Logan and Edmonson Counties KY; Census Records of Warren, Ohio and Edmonson Counties, KY; and Warren County, Kentucky Cemetery Records, by Rabold and Price.

- (1) PETER STEPHENS, SR was born in 1690 or a little earlier (probably in Germany). There is little known about his early history or the exact date he came to America, but since he was so closely identified with Jost Hite (sometimes called "The Old German Baron") it is presumed that he may have come to this country with Hite, settling first in Rockland Co, New York, later coming down through New Jersey and Pennsylvania to the Valley of the Shenandoah, Virginia, with Jost Hite and others in the year 1732. Peter Stephens, Sr. married Maria Christina Rittenhouse of Germantown, PA. There is a tradition in the family that Peter had a previous marriage and that Lewis, his eldest son, was a child of that union. Jost Hite settled on Opequon while Peter Stephens traveled a few miles further south and settled on Crooked Run, near which he founded the town of Stephensburg, now Stephens City, Frederick Co, VA. On October 3, 1734, he received a patent from Jost Hite for 674 acres of land adjoining Hite (recorded in Orange Co, VA) and on November 10, 1752, he secured 572 acres adjoining his own patent. In 1743 the County of Frederick was formed from Orange and from that date we find many deeds from Peter Stephens, Sr and his descendants recorded in the Frederick County records. He died in 1757, leaving his large estate to his wife (of whom we have no further record), his four sons and three daughters. (WB 2 P 266, Frederick Co records.)

- ii. William W. Stephens (7), b. Jun 30, 1793.

- (4) ISAAC STEPHENS, son of Lawrence and Emma Maria (Bowman) Stephens (2), was born about 1763, in Shenandoah Co, Va. It is said that about 1783 he, with several others--David Briggs, Thomas Wright and Colonel Morehead--traveled overland to the Ohio River, and in flat boats, down to Ohio to Cincinnati where there were only seven houses at that time. Because of the severe weather, they were forced to tie up their boats and return for them and their belongings in the spring after the river had thawed. Some of these belongings were pieces of furniture that had come over from England.

Isaac Stephens and the others settled first in Bardstown, later in Warren Co, near Bowling Green, where he lived until his death in the year 1831. Isaac bought three fourths of the 1000 acres of land on Barren River in Warren Co, which by the last Will and Testament of George William Stephens was to be sold and the proceeds divided equally between his brothers, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph Lawrence and Brian Martin Stephens. It was on this farm that he made his home. Isaac owned, in all, nearly 4000 acres, in which was included a grant of 40 acres he received for service as a soldier in the Revolutionary War. He also owned another tract of 1400 acres which, like the 40 acres, was located within the Military Survey set apart by the State of Virginia in the County of Kentucky for her soldiers who saw service in the Revolution. Isaac Stephens and his brothers were spoken of in the highest terms by Governor Randolph of Virginia, as shown by an old letter in the files of Mrs. Ora (Stephens) Davenport. Isaac and his brother Jacob, who lived in an adjoining county were among the first citizens of that section. On May 12, 1788, he married in Cumberland Co VA, Mary Wright (28), born Jul 13, 1767, died Aug 13, 1802, the daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (McGeehee) Wright. After her death he married secondly Dec 20, 1805, Catherine (Cummings) Briggs of Nelson Co, KY, widow of Thomas Briggs. Isaac and his wives are buried on the farm where he made his home. Part of the house was still standing in 1938. In his will, dated Jan 3, 1831, he leaves to his widow his silver spoons, which seems to have been a custom of this branch of the Stephens family. So far as is known, there were no children by the second marriage.

TIPS FOR BEGINNING RESEARCHERS
ORGANIZING YOUR MATERIAL
by Patricia E. Reid

You've recently been bitten by the 'family tree bug' and have already amassed considerable information on your ancestors. Right now it's in a mess, and you can't find anything. You have that information of the Smith family dictated to you by Aunt Suzie, there's also the record of the Hezekiah Jones family you copied from the Bible in the possession of Cousin Matilda. You've even done some primary researching of your own by going to the courthouse and looking up marriage records of your Jones family, and you went to the local library and found census records of your Johnson family on microfilm. You know you have written John Smith's children down somewhere, but you can't find them. Finally you locate them—not in your Smith doodlings, but in that record of Hezekiah Jones. His daughter Jane married John Smith and all their children are listed in the Bible record.

If something similar to this has happened to you, it's time to get organized. There are two forms which are invaluable tools for the researcher—The Ancestor Chart (example on page 20 of this quarterly) and The Family Group Sheet (example on page 21), which are explained in detail below.

Ancestor Charts: These are also called pedigree and family charts. They are the skeleton outline of your family, generation by generation, starting with most recent generation and working backward in time.

1. You are #1; your father is #2 (males are always even numbered); your mother is #3 (females are always odd numbered and one number greater than their husband).

2. Each earlier generation is twice the preceding one. For example, your father's father is #4 (2 x #2) and your father's grandfather (your paternal great-grandfather) is #8 (2 x #4). Your mother's father is #6 (2 x #3), and your mother's grandfather (your maternal great-grandfather) is #12 (2 x #6).

3. The most widely used manner of recording dates is day of month in two-number form, the month written in three-letter abbreviated form and the year in four digit number form. Examples: 24 Mar 1862; 03 Jul 1799.

Family Group Sheets: These give more detailed information about persons on your family charts. Fill out one for every person on your Ancestor Chart about whom you have more information, especially names of children. Be sure to record the source of your information. It's not too important to you right now, but it will matter a great deal later on if you decide to publish your material. Don't forget to fill in each person's parents' names. It is then much easier to put them in order later.

1. If typing these sheets, use all caps for names of husband, wife and their parents. They will be easier to see and quicker to locate.

2. You may want to customize these forms before copying them. Some have found them handier to use if space following date allotted to [City, Town or Place, County or Province, etc and State or Country] is changed to [Place] and made more narrow, giving more space to Add. Info. column. Experiment with a few before having a large number printed.

3. If you are preparing an entire family history, such as all the known descendants of a particular immigrant, you might find it less confusing to use colored family group sheets. For example, you might use green for each child of the immigrant, yellow for their children, and blue for their children's children. Experimenting with all the possibilities color can add to your arrangement of data can be fun.

4. List children only under their father's name. We all thought an aunt of mine had scads of information on the family, but we discovered she had mostly duplications of the same material under each family—listing children under their father and mother. When you find that Jane Jones married John Smith, start a new sheet for Smith and list children there with a reference under Jane Jones to see John Smith's record.

5. These sheets are excellent forms to use when researching in libraries. Use a different one for each generation and your notes will be much easier to arrange when you return home.

Now you have your Ancestor Chart and your Family Sheets. What to do with them? I first had a folder for each family; then I progressed to a small notebook for each one. I finally hit on the best solution for my purposes when my daughter, after strong hinting, gave me two large three-ring notebooks for my birthday. I put all information on my family in one and all on my husband's (ironically I have much more on his) in the other and placed a copy of our ancestor charts in the front. I arranged all the Group Sheets in alphabetical order (I'm strong on alphabetical order—even arrange my spices that way in the kitchen cabinet) by surname and placed them in the respective books, using notebook dividers to separate each family. In each surname division I also put copies of primary research—wills, cemetery records, deeds, etc.—that pertain to that family. Now, when someone in the family wants information, I have in all in one place and don't have to thumb through eight different piles to find it.

Don't toss out the original copies, though. Stick them in a large envelope and mark on outside "Rough copies of ___ Family. You may have to refer back to them to check any possible errors in names or dates.

After you get your information arranged, place a copy of it in some depository, such as your local historical society. (The Kentucky Building in Bowling Green keeps a file of donated genealogical materials in file folders arranged by surnames.) Placing your material there serves two purposes.

First, you know a copy is preserved. Many times there is only one person in a family interested in family research. He or she probably spent years gathering material but never got around to publishing it. After that person dies, the family might toss out all that valuable research, considering it "junk" and that information is lost forever.

Second, "casting your bread upon the waters" may reap you great returns. You may discover someone who has more information on a certain line of your family than you do. That person will probably be willing to share with you and save you a lot of research time.

Hopefully, this article has been an help to you. If you experienced researchers have any additional tips on organizing your material, please share them with us and we'll see that they are published. More tips next quarter.

Surname Index

The Southern Kentucky Genealogical Society is now in the process of compiling a SURNAME INDEX. We urge all members to get out their ancestor charts immediately and list all the surnames they are researching on the form below and send it in by March 15, 1986. The SURNAME INDEX will be a listing of the Society's members, complete with address and phone number, and the surnames which they are researching. Its purpose is to enable people who are researching the same lines to make contact and perhaps share information. Upon completion the entire INDEX will be made available at a modest fee to S.K.G.S. members.
