NATIONAL PARENT-TEACHER MAGAZINE
JIFFYSKIT

THE CASE OF THE MISSING SUBSCRIBER

ANNOUNCER: This is Townsville School. And, like the majority of schools, it has a P.T.A. And in that P.T.A. there are sometimes members who do not subscribe to the National Parent-Teacher: The P.T.A. Magazine. The case we're going to dramatize for you tonight is that of Mrs. Smith, the missing subscriber.

MUSIC

("Dragnet", played on the piano. This theme should be repeated throughout the skit whenever "Music" is indicated.)

ANNOUNCER: Reports have come in from the Townsville P.T.A. that one of the members has not subscribed to the National Parent-Teacher Magazine. The officers and executive committee of the P.T.A. are upset. Something must be done.

MUSIC

ANNOUNCER: The officers and executive committee have met to examine the subscription records and the membership list and have decided to investigate the case. They have called on Sergeant Saturday to handle the investigation.

MUSIC

SCENE I: Woman seated at table, looking at record book. Two men enter.

SERGEANT SATURDAY: Could we speak with you a moment, ma'am? We're police officers. I'm Sergeant Saturday, and this is my assistant, Police Officer Will Ketchum.

MRS. HUDSON: Why, yes, officers, come in. Is anything wrong? What do you want to see me for?

OFFICER KETCHUM: Are you chairman of your P.T.A.'s Magazine committee?

MRS. HUDSON: Yes, I am.

SERGEANT SATURDAY: Do you have a P.T.A member who does not subscribe to the National Parent-Teacher Magazine?

MRS. HUDSON: Yes, we have. Why?

OFFICER KETCHUM: How many times have you tried to sell her the Magazine?

MRS. HUDSON: I don't remember. I've been present at each P.T.A. meeting with my subscription pad and a copy of the Magazine. I tell the members about it, but I don't want to be insistent about it, you know.

SERGEANT SATURDAY: Just the facts, ma'am. Just the facts.

MRS. HUDSON: As I said, I'm at every P.T.A. meeting, ready to take subscriptions. That's my job. Is anything wrong?

OFFICER KETCHUM: Just a routine investigation, ma'am. Thank you for your help.
(Switch lights off and on again to indicate end of scene.)

MUSIC

SERGEANT SATURDAY: All week we checked the records. How could it be possible that a parent with school-age children was not interested in the wonderful articles, written by outstanding authorities, that were published each month in the National Parent-Teacher Magazine? We decided to interview the PTA president.

Page 2. - The Case of the Missing Subscriber

SCENE II: Police Officers enter home of Townsville P.T.A. president.

SERGEANT SATURDAY: Good evening, ma'am. We're police officers. May we come in?

MRS. JACOBS: Yes, come right in. Is anything wrong?

OFFICER KETCHUM: Is it true that one of your P.T.A. members - a Mrs. Smith - has neglected to take advantage of all the help offered in the P.T.A. Magazine?

MRS. JACOBS: Yes, I'm afraid it is. You see, it's like this.... We always plan a good program. We make it the best program possible.

SERGEANT SATURDAY: Just the facts, ma'am. Just the facts.

OFFICER KETCHUM: Yes, we know your P.T.A. Program is always good.

MRS. JACOBS: As I said, we work hard to have good programs, and Mrs. Smith is very good about attending our meetings. But when it comes to interesting her in the Magazine, well ... (begins to cry.)

SERGEANT SATURDAY: Don't cry, ma'am. We'll get to the bottom of this. We'll find out why she doesn't take the Magazine.

(Switch the lights off and on again to indicate end of scene.)

MUSIC

SCENE III: Home of Mrs. Smith, P.T.A. member. She is busy dusting as the police officers enter.

SERGEANT SATURDAY: Evening, ma'am. Police officers. Are you a member of the Townsville P.T.A.?

MRS. SMITH: Yes, I am.

OFFICER KETCHUM: Is it true that you do not subscribe to the P.T.A. Magazine?

MRS. SMITH: I do not. Is there any law that says I must?

SERGEANT SATURDAY: Is there any reason why you shouldn't?

MRS. SMITH: Oh, I just can't find the time to read it. My home and my social life keep me too busy. Caring for children properly is a full-time job you know.

OFFICER KETCHUM: Don't you know that this Magazine will help you with the care of your children? It will keep you up to date on problems of child training-problems like getting the kids to bed, choosing the right movies, understanding why your children behave as they do, and even more difficult problems like helping them grasp spiritual values. The price is only $1.50 a year. Very easy on the budget.

MRS. SMITH: I guess I've never taken the time to find out about the Magazine.

OFFICER KETCHUM: You'd better come with us, ma'am, down to P.T.A. headquarters.
(Switch lights off and on again to indicate end of scene.)

MUSIC

SERGEANT SATURDAY: This case was tried before P.T.A. officials, and the member was found guilty by the jury of Loyalty and Conscience. She was fined $3.00, which she must use to buy a two-year subscription to the National Parent-Teacher Magazine.

MUSIC

ANNOUNCER: The story you have just seen is true. Only the names have been changed to protect the innocent. Any similarity to persons living or dead was purely intentional. (Pause)

Blood Quota Plan Adopted

The plan to increase the quota of the American Red Cross blood collection in Bowling Green and space the visit of the bloodmobile here more widely was adopted at last night's meeting of the local blood program committee.

Also at last night's meeting, the resignation of Mrs. Gilbert Calhoun, recruiting chairman of the program, was accepted. The Rev. R. C. Patterson, co-chairman of the program, praised the untiring work of Mrs. Calhoun. No replacement has been announced as yet.

Under the new plan, the bloodmobile will visit the city only once every six weeks, instead of every three weeks as heretofore. The vehicle will remain here for two days instead of one, and the quota will be more than doubled, from 150 pints of blood to 350 pints. It is believed that the less frequent visits will give donors a chance to regain strength after taking of blood on the previous visits.

June 21—Mrs. C. H. Flowers, president Third P.T.A. District, accepted the assignment for the president to attend a conference on Moral and Spiritual Values in Education held at Western State College, Bowling Green. The college issued an invitation to each P.T.A. member in Third District.

Those present at last night's meeting and receiving quotas for the organizations they represent were Mrs. Nola Moltenberry for the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Melvin Browning for the Eleventh Street school PTA, Mrs. Ray Branaman for the Training School PTA, Layton H. Stahl for Bowling Green Masonic Lodge, No. 73, Mrs. Dick Spencer for the Lioness club, Mrs. O. M. Bradley and Mrs. Stanley Cushmanberry for the Rebekah lodge, Miss Sibyl Stonecipher for Western State College, Maj. William N. Pace and Col. George H. Sibbald of the Western ROTC department, Floyd M. Carter of the Knights of Columbus, S. T. Held for the local Westinghouse plant, M. B. Holland for the Kiwanis club, and Mrs. James R. Shields of the Business and Professional Women's club.

Another feature of the reorganization program will be the assignment of a blood quota to every church in town. Some of the local churches have cooperated strongly. Mrs. Evelyn Peck, executive chairman of the local Red Cross chapter, said, and it is believed the program can be greatly expanded in this way. The next visit of the bloodmobile will be on July 26 and 27.

Moral And Spiritual Workshop Held At Western Last Week

The first workshop in the moral and spiritual values in education to be held on the Western campus was in session from June 11 to June 23. Approximately thirty teachers and principals from a dozen or more school systems in widely scattered sections of Kentucky, and from Georgia teachers college, participated.

The workshop was directed by Dr. Earl A. Moore, of Western's English department, assisted by three teachers from the Bowling Green system. They were Miss Dawn Gilbert, of the senior high school; Mrs. Ethel Webb Hancock, of the Center street school; and Mrs. Rebena Crockett, of the College street school.

Dr. William H. Kilpatrick, professor emeritus of the philosophy of education in Columbia University, delivered three lectures on the opening day of the workshop.

Mr. J. Mansir Tydings, of Lincoln Ridge, Kentucky, chairman of the state department of education committee on moral and spiritual education, visited the workshop several times.

Sessions of the entire group were held at the nine o'clock class period; smaller groups met for more protracted discussions in the afternoons. The workshop was listed by the department of education as Education 383.

On Tuesday evening, June 19, the group enjoyed a picnic in Municipal park.

On Saturday, June 23, from nine to eleven, an open session was held in Cherry Hall 210. Invitations had been extended to the membership of the Parent-Teacher associations in the Third district. A number of units of the P. T. A. were represented in this meeting. The program consisted of talks by Mr. Tyrings, Dr. Moore, the assistant directors; the following students: Mrs. Virginia Ruth Chapman, attendance officer of Henderson, Kentucky; Mrs. C. A. Ray, principal of the T. C. Cherry school in Bowling Green; Mr. James Park, of the Central City high school; Mrs. Mary Edna Todge, of the Louisville system; and Miss Edwina Jones of the Bowling Green junior high school; and by a guest speaker, Mrs. C. H. Flowers, of Glasgow, Third district president of the P. T. A.

A report of the workshop, including some of the papers written by the enrollees, will appear in a bulletin soon to be issued by the state department of education. Mrs. John Burt, of Fort Thomas, a Western alumna, will edit the bulletin. Mrs. Burt was a visitor at the closing session.

The Bowling Green school system is one of six pilot schools in the state in connection with the moral and spiritual education movement. Dr. Moore is coordinator for the local schools.

PTA Members Hear Outline Of Patrol Plan

Stanley Myers, member of the safety education division of the Louisville Police Department, met here yesterday with representatives of Parent-Teacher Associations to outline functions of a mothers' voluntary school traffic guard system.

The meeting was a follow-up of action taken last week by the Eleventh Street PTA, which adopted a resolution calling upon the city to establish a volunteer traffic patrol made up of mothers of school children.

The resolution, handed to City Council Monday night, is now being considered by the council's police committee.

Officer Myers told the local delegation that the program of mothers serving as traffic directors in school areas is being followed successfully in many cities throughout the United States with full cooperation of police departments.

The plan, he said, tends to lessen traffic hazards.

Myers volunteered to return to Bowling Green at any time to train and direct local mothers when the program is accepted by the city.

The meeting was attended by representatives of PTA units at Eleventh Street, College Street, T. C. Cherry, Bowling Green Senior and Junior High and College High, and the City PTA Council.
