Administrative History: The first journalism course was offered out of the English Department in 1927. It was described as "especially designed for the staff of College Heights Herald and others interested in newspaper work."

The College Heights Herald was first published on campus in 1925. See UA12/2/1 for more information on the Herald. This grew into the Mass Media Division in the Department of English.

In 1970, the Mass Media Division became the Department of Mass Communication. In the fall of 1976 the WKU Board of Regents approved the reorganization that separated journalism from mass communications, which became part of the Department of Communication and Theatre. The new Department of Journalism offered majors in advertising, journalism, photojournalism and public relations and came online January 1, 1977. The reorganization marked a shift in curriculum from the theoretical communications foundation to a professional program that could gain national accreditation. [Journalism Self-Study, 1998]

In 1999 journalism joined the broadcasting and mass communication programs to become the School of Journalism & Broadcasting consisting of six programs of study: advertising, broadcasting and mass communication, photojournalism, print journalism and public relations. [School of Journalism & Broadcasting website]
