Dr. Garrett Becomes^{-J.} Part of a Legend J-2-3

THE role of the great man's successor is difficult. And when PAUL GARRETT was named president of Western State College in the fall of 1937, he realized that he would be measured against the legend of Dr. H. H. CHERRY, the man whose lifelong devotion to the organization and development of the school had left his name identified in the minds of Kentuckians with the Bowling Green college. In his quiet, painstaking way, PAUL GAR-RETT took up the task that Dr. CHERRY had left. And long before he died this week at the age of 61 the name of GARRETT, too, had become a legend cherished in the hearts of all Hilltoppers.

If there was one reason for the affection with which he was regarded, it was probably that he loved the school—not as an institution of growing importance, but as a group of young people making their start in life. His home was always open to them. They knew that they could count on his help and advice. He followed the athletic teams with an intense interest, and was usually on hand to welcome the boys home from out-of-town games. From a small teachers' school to its present status, Western progressed greatly under Dr. GARRETT. Yet it was his unfaltering concern for his students that marked his administration. And for that concern he will be remembered.

Ruby's Report

President Garrett A Game Sport; Seton Hall Beats Out Eastern; U. of L. Insures K.I.T. Suecess

By EARL RUBY, Courier-Journal Sports Editor

College athletics lost a sympathic leader and avid follower in the death of President Paul Garrett of Western Kentucky College.

There never has been a college president more determined to fit a well-rounded sports program into a balanced campus life, without allowing it to go out of bounds.

He made at least five trips to New York to watch his Hilltoppers in basketball tournaments. ... His inseparable companions on those and other trips for Western, were Uncle Ed Diddle, basketball coach, and Kelly Thompson, his long-time assistant.

He often said that Uncle Ed was the best coach and Kelly the most brilliant assistant a president could have.

When Diddle was in an oxygen tent following two frightening heart attacks three years ago, President spent hours cheering him up.

When .Garrett fell ill, Diddle and Kelly took over for him. . . Coach shaved him, and performed a thousand other personal favors. . . . Kelly dug in at the office, and kept the college functioning at the high level he knew his friend demanded.

The loss cuts an unbeatable threesome down to a hard-to-beat twosome.

Louisville's First?

Probability—Seton Hall yesterday received the N.I.T. bid which Eastern Kentucky has been waiting for. . . . This is a real blow to Paul McBrayer's Maroons, who could clobber a half-dozen or more of the teams in both the N.I.T. and N.C.A.A. meets.

Tulsa, St. Louis or Alabama will get the last remaining bid, as previously mentioned. . . Asa Bushnell, Eastern Intercollegiate president, is trying for Alabama, but will settle for St. Louis or Tulsa.

Hottest tip from Madison Square Garden is that Louisville's first opponent in the Invitational will be Seton Hall. . . . That's matchmaking with an eye on the gate.

President Garrett

K.I.T. Goes Up!

U. L. Agreeable—Here is another feedbox flash, and it is good: the Kentucky Invitational Basketball Tournament, held annually in the Armory during the Christmas holidays, will be an eight-team elim from now on.

Peck Hickman, Cardinal athletic director, said yesterday that his school is agreeable to any promotion of this nature that will help Kentucky and Louisville.

Other directors voted to make an eight-team tourney of the annual meet, provided U. L. was willing. . . . Hickman was out of the city with his team at the time and could not be reached for a vote.

The Kentucky Junior Chamber of Commerce had requested the change from a four-team tourney, looking toward an annual college classic that might fill the Kentucky State Fair Coliseum's 18,500 planned seats.

U. L. Needs A Break

No Practice—While the Cardinals are lending a willing hand to this civic promotion, it might be well to mention again that the Cards themselves need help. . . . If they do not find some way soon to build a good-sized practice floor on the campus they can't hope to reach a degree of perfection needed to make them a drawing power capable of filling the new coliseum.

Roscoe Goose

The crackerbox now used for practice injured more good athletes than all opposing clubs combined.

Goose, Young Wow

Good Boys—Downtown Optimists were treated yesterday to humorous turf reminiscences of Roscoe Goose and Tom Young . . . Roscoe's recollections date back to the time when he was pawned to a pawnbroker. . .

He and his agent were broke. They cooked up a very sane deal, they thought. They went to the pawnbroker, who also owned some horses. They offered to put Roscoe's services as a jockey in hock to the gentleman for $25... "If we don' pick up the tab in 10 days, Roscoe is your jockey,' the agent promised... The cash was delivered.

Sadly, the pair did not raise the $25, and truto their word, Roscoe became the turf rider o the pawnbroker.

'Cruel and Heavy Blow'

In Frankfort, Governor Wetherby called Dr. Garrett's death a "cruel and heavy blow to the progress of higher education in Kentucky.

"Under his forceful leadership, Western Kentucky State College has become a prominent institution, even outside the borders of Kentucky. One of the bright stars of schooldom in Kentucky has fallen."

The Governor said Dr. Garrett was a close friend and that his visits to the State Capitol "were a source of pleasure and friendliness to all with whom he associated."

Board To Name Successor

"I join his family, the Western student body, the faculty, and the alumni of this college in being deeply grieved by his departure."

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell P. Butler said, "No school man in Kentucky had more personal friends that President Garrett. His friendly smile, sincere handshake, and unique way of greeting you will long be remembered."

Butler, who was in St. Lcuis, called Dr. Garrett a "great college president. For Western he gave all. He lived, he died, but his influence will live on."

Dr. Garrett's Death

Both Western State College and Bowling Green feel a severe sense of loss due to the death of Dr. Paul L. Garrett, president of the local institution for the past $17\frac{1}{2}$ years.

Dr. Garrett came to Bowling Green in 1937 to replace that titan of Kentucky education, the much revered Dr. H. H. Cherry, who founded Western in 1906 and whose foresight and energy had carried the school to a position of pre-eminence in the Commonwealth.

Replacing a man of such stature and so well beloved by the people of Bowling Green did not make Dr. Garrett's task any easier. But it did not take the new president long to win his own place in the hearts of the citizens of this community.

Possessed of a keen interest in literature and history as well as unusual sense of humor, Dr. Garrett was known and loved by most citizens of Bowling Green.

His administration at Western was marked by further development of the physical plant so well begun under the leadership of the late Dr. Cherry.

Left as tangible monuments to Dr. Garrett's service to the college are such structures as the new Student Union Building, McLean Hall and the Music Building. There also remains a legacy of faithful service and adherence to the high ideals which form the foundation on which Western was built.

Dr. Garrett was best known as an educator, having devoted practically all of his adult life to this cause. But his interest extended into other fields, and one project which claimed a major portion of his enthuslasm was Blue Grass Boys State, an American Legion project dedicated to the development of good citizenship among the youth of the state. Dr. Garrett served as director of this commendable program for several years.

Kentucky is a poorer state because of Dr. Garrett's death and his passing will be noted with regret in all sections of the Commonwealth.

We join with other citizens of Bowling Green and Dr. Garrett's friends throughout Kentucky in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.

Ruby's Report

Mrs. Garrett To Make Western Campus One of Most Beautiful; Golfing Women Forget Manners

By EARL RUBY, Courier-Journal Sports Editor

Paul Garrett, who died this week, made Western Kentucky College one of the best ¹ colleges of its kind. . . . Now Mrs. Garrett will endeavor to make it one of the most beautiful.

Mrs. Garrett is recognized far beyond the state as a horticulturist and a flower show judge. The thousands of brilliantly colored flowers in her yard on the campus have been an attraction for students, townspeople and tourists.

Now she will broaden her activity and try her green thumb on the whole Hill.

When Western went on a new budget system recently, money was allocated for an over-all campus improvement project. The object was to repair the great damage done trees, shrubs and flowers by three years of drought, and to make the campus one of the most beautiful in the country.

Mrs. Garrett has been asked to take charge of the giant landscaping project immediately and to carry it at least through its first full year of operation. She has consented to do this.

Her chief consultant will be Miss Elizabeth Wood, retired member of the faculty, who also is recognized widely for her knowledge of horticulture.

Students to Help

Quite a bit of the work will be done by students, principly husky football and basketball players, who shared with President Garrett his great love of the school, and share with Mrs. Garret her desire to make it more beautiful.

Speaking of beauty, I can't recall ever having heard a choir or chorus sing more beautifully than Western's A cappella Choir at President Garrett's funeral Wednesday. . . . With Jeanette Rider of Warsaw doing solos and Robert Pearson directing, these singers will tour the state shortly. . . Don't miss them, if you can help it. . . . Some TV station should grab them up for an appearance when they come to Louisville.

Western's Efficient Landscape Lady, Mrs. Garrett, Dies

Mrs. Virginia Ellis Garrett, 62, widow of Dr. Paul L. Garrett, late president of Western died August 24 at the City-County Hospital.

Mrs. Garrett had been serving Western in the capacity of landscape architect. To her is credited the beautification project which may be seen on campus.

A native of Henry County, Mrs. Garrett was the daughter of the late Harvey and Antoinette Ryland Ellis. She was educated in New Castle city schools and later attended Hamilton College at Lexington.

She was married to Dr. Garrett in June 1921 at Eminence. They came to Bowling Green in 1937 when he accepted the presidency of Western.

She was a director of the Bowling Green Garden Club; chairman of judges of the American Daffodil Society; a member of the Samuel Davies Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution; a member of the XX Club and Kentucky Ornitholigical Society.

Survivors include two sons, Paul Ellis Garrett, McLean, Va., and Ryland Gray Garrett, South Fort Mitchell, and three grandchildren.
