GREENVILLE OF TO=DAY.

Pen Portrait of the Pride of Muhlenberg County.

ITS LOCATION, RESOURCES, ADVANTAGES.

Hereabouts is Mined the Best Steaming and Domestic Coal on Earth.

Pen Pictures of Wide-awake and Enterprising Business Men Who Have Contributed Towards the Advancement of the Town and of the County.

WHAT WE HAVE; SOME THINGS NEEDED.

COMPILED BY JOE L. DAVIDSON.

Fine Churches, Good Schools, Elegant Stores, Handsome Residences, Good Sidewalks, and Offers Greater Inducements to Those Seeking a Desirable Site for the Establishment of Manufacturing Industries Than Any Other Town of Similar Population is the State of Kentucky.

Greenville, Kentucky: Population, 2,500. Railroad, Illinois Central, With Depot One Mile from Court Square. Distance, 40 miles South of Owensboro, 134 milys Southwest from Louisville, 93 miles East from Paducah.

Greenville, the county seat of Muhlenberg county, is located almost in the center of the county. Her resources are substantial and durable, consisting briefly of rich agricultural surroundings, extensive coal mining and timber interests, besides stockraising and tobacco growing interests, including a large scope of territory on all sides which is naturally tributary to the town, its most convenient and profitable seat of trade. These resources, the most substantial upon which the trade of any town can be based, would alone support a city of several thousand population.

This is a fine market for all the products of the farm, and at the same time offers to our farmers the best advantages for the prchase of all kinds of household supplies, the necessaries of life, farm implements, etc., to be found anywhere, and in consequence secures the trade of the farming community for many miles around, and which naturally contributes to make the town what it is - a desirable and convenient local market for the products of this section - and lends at the same time an important support to every branch of mercantile pursuit in the place. With even these natural advantages it requires no prophetic vision to see that the future of Greenville is to be one of continued prosperity and progress. In the future illustration of her advantages as a trading point, we will call especial attention in this issue to all her live and progressive business men and citizens, and the large interests they control. Investigation proves that Greenville merchants are carrying very large and superior stocks of goods, and that they are prepared to supply the every want of the residents who reside within a radius of 15 miles of the place. There is no valid excuse for any people going elsewhere to trade, for the same if not better opportunities exist here, and usually lower prices can be had, as the expense of conducting business in Greenville are less than in larger places.

With the vast possibilities along special lines and other features treated upon under sub-heads, it can be seen that this town has a brilliant future before it, and that its future growth is as sure as the rising and setting of the sun. The population is made up for the most part of a thrifty, prudent class of citizens. Three quarters of a mile south, from the depot, opens to view main street, running north and south, from the business portion of one of the busies towns of its size in the state. The buildings are most permanent and the ground upon which they stand has value that does not fluctuate with the seasons. The town's growth has been even and steady, the natural results of an earnest desire upon the part of its citizens to build up a commercial center that would command the confidence of the people and business world, and establish what could be truly called homes for themselves rather than mere stopping places.

While Greenville does not claim to be a model town, (as there are many things that can yet be done that will greatly to its beauty and importance,) it presents the advantage of excellent schools, good society, a friendly people, pure air and water, cheap living and a healthy location in which to enjoy it all, and opportunities for providing for a comfortable support. This pleasant and growing town has some of the best men and women in the world. We say "best" because for charity without ostentation, benevolence without display, and sympathy without flourish, our people cannot be surpassed anywhere. The citizens of Greenville are proud, not vain. We are proud of our location, being in the center of the coal mining district of Kentucky, the best prospects in the world for an unlimited supply of oil, a fringe of timber all around us suitable for manufacturing purposes. In fact all kinds of fuel to an unlimited extent. And yet our coal fields and oil are practically undeveloped.

Our Possibilities for Development.

We approach a weighty subject when we turn to the consideration of Greenville and its future possibilities as a manufacturing center. With all the resources mentioned above that are yet practically undeveloped there is no limit to our possibilities along this line. We can say without exaggeration that no town in the state can offer one half as many natural advantages, and with an unlimited supply of pure water and natural drainage, we feel assured that if prospective investors will thoroughly investigate these natural advantages and the arrangements now possible to be made with property owners, that they will at once conclude to come here, feeling that no matter where they may locate they can find no place presenting better inducements than the town of Greenville can offer. Our citizens are beginning to take an active interest in pushing their industrials, and there is no question but our lands hereabouts have a desirable formation upon which to build manufacturing industries.

We have but to work out the natural destinies that lie before us to make this one of the thriftiest towns in the state. The town of Greenville represents a thousand inducements to the merchant, the wage earner and greatest of all, to that philanthropical body of men - the enterprising capitalists - seeking sage investment in real estate or in the establishment of productive business industries.

The Religious Influences.

The religious influences that permeate the home and the community in general are exceptionally good. There are four congregations represented, and enumerated are Methodist Episcopal, South, Presbyterian, Cumberland Presbyterian and Baptist. Their influence upon the morals of the community is large, and as a necessity good, and much interest is manifested by each organization, the work before them finding willing hands to do it.

The Landscape.

The landscape of the town site is made even more beautiful than with which nature endowed it, handsome homes, pretty villas and modern buildings dotting hillside and nestling behind luxuriantly shaded lawns.

The Public Schools.

The educational facilities here are of the best to be found in any town of its size. The intelligence of the community and the talent of the coming generation significantly speaks unstinted praise for the exceptional system of schools inaugurated.

R. MARTIN & CO.

The Store Contains a Select and Heavy Stock of Reliable Goods, at Low Prices.

Of the various mercantile establishments that give character and standing to Greenville we know of none more worthy of mention in this issue than the establishment styled as R. Martin & Co. This concern handles decidedly one of the most select and extensive stocks in Greenville, which consists principally of a fine line of staple and fancy dry and dress goods, clothing, notions, boots and shoes, as well as ladies' boots and shoes, as well as ladies' and men's furnishing goods, carpets, rugs, curtains, etc.

This store is one of the most popular trading places of the farmer and residents for miles around, who come here because of courteous treatment and honorable dealings which are accorded to all. Rigid scrutiny of the stock contained in this big store reveals nothing but goodness, and it has justly become a favorite with many people of good judgement. The aim of the R. Martin & Co. from its earliest inception has ever been to make you a permanent customer and no pains are spared that will attain that result. They have won the good will of the people of Muhlenberg county during the 19 years they have carried on business in Greenville, and they intend to deserve a continuance of their favorable appreciation in the future. The manager of the industry, Mr. E.J. Puryear, is a man of much worth and ability and is deserving of the success accruing to this house; which is due to his energy, honesty and capable management, loyally aided by a competent force of assistants, who practice every honorable business method in the keeping of stock, displaying, selling and delivering goods.

G.E. COUNTZLER

As Up-to-date Pharmacist, with Neat Store Quarters.

In no vocation of life, either mechanical, professional or otherwise, is there a more thorough training required than in the art of compounding and dispensing medicines. A man may have a thorough knowledge of the therapeutical qualities of every article in materia medica, may be able to trace them from the time they were a constituent of some mineral, a thousand feet beneath the surface of the earth, and may follow them through the various transformations and changes and yet lack the qualifications of a successful druggist. Experience, as well as natural aptitude, is essential and important, and any community is fortunate to have in their midst a druggist possessing those qualifications. No one comes nearer to filling these requirements than G.E. Countzler. His stock of drugs, druggists' sundries, chemicals and patent medicines is complete and elegantly displayed in an attractive store. Mr. Countzler also carries an extensive side line of toilet articles, stationery, fancy goods, optical goods, jewelry, etc., as well as paints, oil, varnishes and painters' supplies. Mr. Countzler is a pharmacist of long experience, and gives special attention to his prescription department. He is one of Greenville's most substantial business men and public spirited citizens, and enjoys a large and extensive trade.

C.S. CURD.

Candidate for Clerk of Muhlenberg Circuit Court,

Subject to Republican Primary, Saturday, February 28, 1903.

IS POST MASTER AT SOUTH CARROLLTON.

Muhlenberg county has many genial, progressive and popular citizens and office holders, but none more so than C.S. Curd, now holding the office of Postmaster at South Carrollton, and who is the aspirant for the nominaton of Clerk of the Muhlenberg Circuit Court subject to the coming Republican primary, and the writer believes he has every chance for nomination. Quiet and unassuming, yet courteous to a degree that draws men to him, being a close attender to his official duties as Postmaster and his business interest. It is no wonder that a large number of the best people unite in saying that Mr. C.S. Curd is especially fitted in many ways for the office to which he is aspiring with such brilliant prospects of success.

Our subject was born Feb. 7, 1868 in a log cabin on a farm near South Carrollton, Ky., and is the son of S.H. and Susan (Clifford) Curd, both natives of this state. His earlier education was obtained in the district schools of his native place and was afterward supplemented by a special course in the West Kentucky College. In 1896 he was united in marriage to Otha Shaver, a native of Muhlenberg. The beginning of his official duty in 1897, at which time he was appointed Postmaster at South Carrollton, and a good one he has made. He has hosts of friends and admirers and no enemies, and is the same genial pleasant spoken gentleman every day you meet him.

The C.S. Curd Marble Co.

Mr. Curd is interested in the above named company. Their great specialty is in the manufacture of monuments of various designs to suit purchasers. You will find specimens of their work in most of the "Silent Cities of the dead" in this part of the state. All of their work is distinguished for artistic beauty of workmanship and perfection of detail. They employ expert granite and marble workers. They will shortly open a branch shop here and then our citizens will have the opportunity to see specimens of their work. We can assure all who do business with this firm fair and square treatment and the best prices possible to be made anywhere for good work and materials.

From the scrapbook owned by Mr. Gayle R. Carver and shared here with us, an article which appeared in The Record on May 18, 1916.

Messrs. J. Bernhard Alberts and Bruno W. Alberts, of Louisville spent the week end here, guests of Mr. Otto Rothert, at the home of Mr. Alvin Taylor, south of town. All were entertained here by friends, also. Both the Alberts are artists, and are creating favorable notice not only in this country, but abroad. Mr. Bernhard Alberts has recently returned from a visit of some years in Germany, where he has studied under leading masters.

Mary Claude (Mercer) Bandy shares with us an old newspaper clipping. There is a picture with the clipping which does not appear here.

In the name of God Amen. I Abraham Unsel, Senr. of Muhlenberg County and state of Kentucky, being weake in body but of perfect mind and memory, calling to mind that it's once appointed for all men to die do make and ordin this my last Will and Testament. Witnesseth that in the first place I recommend my soul to God, that gave it and my body to the dust from whence it came, to be buried in a Christian manner, at the division of my executors, in the next place that all my just debts be paid out of my living. I also Will and bequeth unto my daughter Nancy, one dollar to be her part of my estate. I also Will and bequeth unto my daughter Ruthithe, one dollar to be her part of my estate. I also Will and bequeth unto my daughter Polly, one dollar it being her part of my estate. I also Will and bequeth unto my son Abraham Unsel, one dollar it being his part of my estate. I also Will and bequeth unto my son James, one dollar it being his part of my estate. I also Will and bequeth unto my son David, one dollar it bein his part of my estate. I also Will and bequeth unto my son William, one dollar it being his part of my estate. I also Will and bequeth unto Annah, my deare and beloved wife, the remaining part of my estate, to have at her command, to do with it as long as she lives and to Will or leave it as she fels proper at her decease, as witness whereof I have set my hand and caused my seal to be fixed, this 16th December 1819.

Clarence B. Hayes

Mr. C.B. Hayes is doing some very clever work with his pen. He is a frequent contributor to the Louisville paper in prose and poetry, and his work is highly commended. His verse is quite unique and pleasing, and is being widely copied by the state press.

Hunsaker to Hunsaker

This Indenture made this 26th day of September in the year of our Lord 1821, between Andrew Hunsaker of the one part & Samuel Hunsaker, Jr. of the other part, both of the County of Muhlenberg and Commonwealth of Kentucky. Witnesseth that the said Andrew, for and in consideration of the sum of two hundred dollars, currant money, to him in hand paid, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, hath granted, bargained and sold & by these presents doth grant, bargain and sell unto the said Samuel Hunsaker, Jr. & his heirs and assigns forever a certain tract or parcel of land situate, lying and being in this County aforesaid, containing two hundred acres and bounded as follows, to wit: beginning at a black oak and double white oak on Matthew's line, running North 120 poles to a black oak, thence West 40 poles to two hickory, thence N133 poles to a hickory & two white oakes, thence S70 E 137 poles to a stake, thence S83 poles to a dogwood, thence East 40 poles to a hickory & black oak, thence S170 poles to three white oak saplings in Matthew's line, with his line 70 degrees West, one hundred & thirty seven poles to the beginning. With all & singular, the premises & appurtenances thereto, belonging or in other wise appertaining unto the said Samuel Hunsaker, Jr. & his heirs forever, together with four head of horses and all the cattle that the said Andrew Hunsaker now possesses & also all the hogs that the said Andrew now possesses, together with all the remainder of his stock, to have and to hold, the said tract or parcel of land and the properly discribed as aforesaid, unto the said Samuel Hunsaker, Jr. & his heirs forever, against the said Andrew Hunsaker, his heirs or assigns and against the claim of all and every other person or persons whatsoever, shall and will forever warrant and defend by these presents. But it is clearly understood by and between the parties aforesaid, that whereas the said Andrew Hunsaker is endebted to the said Samuel Hunsaker, in the said sum of two hundred dollars, for the security of the payment of which this conveyance is made. Now of the said Andrew Hunsaker, his heirs &c. shall pay or cause to be paid to the said Samuel Hunsaker, Jr. on or before the 24th day of September 1824, the said two hundred dollars, with legal interest thereon from this date, then this Indenture with all it's obligatory effects to be void, else to remain in full force and virtue. In testimony whereof the said Andrew hath hereunto set his hand & seal this day and date within written.

Copy of Letter Written in 1832

Showing the Interest Taken in Public Affairs by Moses F. Glenn

The following letter written seventy-eight years ago by Alney McLean to Moses F. Glenn, will be of interest to many of our readers. The letter has been preserved, and was handed to us by Mr. Robert E. Glenn, of Lewisburg, a son of Moses F. Glenn.

The McLeans were two of the most prominent families of the county three quarters of a century ago, and that they took an active and intelligent part in the public affairs is shown by the letter. This letter, bearing upon the political situation of the day, is interesting when read in the light of subsequent political history.

Greenville, Sept. 1, 1832

Dear Sir:---

The late contest for governor in Kentucky, shows that the parties are nearly equally divided, but although Mr. Breathit, the Jackson candidate has been elected by a majority of about twelve hundred, yet Mr. Morehead was elected by upwards of two thousand votes, and we have nearly two to one in the lower house of a penalty for Mr. Clay. This satisfies me that the Clay party is the strongest in our state by several thousand if they will come to the polls, but we are too negligent and no person will exert himself to bring the voters to the election. Whilst our opponents are all life and action and come to the polls rain or shine. The next presidential election I consider the most important one to the liberties of the people and property of the county that has ever taken place; indeed, in my opinion in a great degree it will decide whether our government shall be administered agreeably to the constitution or agreeably to the president without any regard to the opinion of the people pushed through their representation in congress. I am a candidate for elector, and my dear sir, let me beg you to exert yourself and bring your neighbors to the election. See them beforehand, and appoint some place to meet at on the morning of the election, and all come together.

Yours respectfully,
Alney McLean

PLEASE HELP !!!

If you have any knowledge of old family cemeteries please advise us of the location so that we can copy them before its to late and the cemetery is completely destroyed. We have had several phone calls about cemeteries that was being bulldozed over.

EVERGREEN CEMETERY

Founded in 1889 Evergreen is the largest of the 280 recorded cemeteries in the county, Billy Bandy has been manager, secretary and treasurer for the past 42 years, donating his time and services to the non-profit Evergreen Cemetery Company, Incorporated.

Evergreen has paved driveways and covers 15 acres, with 4,700 plots each being five feet wide and nine feet long, all of these plots have been laid out, sold, numbered and recorded on a blueprint by Billy and kept in his safe.

The decision was made in 1978 to rule out above-the-ground crepts and mausoluems, due to the tightly restricted spacing, all burials are now underground.

Billy says one-third of the people purchase burial sites in advance and others are bought by family members after a relative has died.

CLARENCE B. HAYES

Clarence B. Hayes, in his 30th year, died at his home at 9:45 o'clock Monday evening. For more than five months he had been confined to his room, a sufferer from consumption, and though he had by cheerfulness and determination made every possible fight against the disease, it was a gradually losing contest, and he became resigned to his fate. He was a soldier in the Spanish-American War and exposure in service brought on the fatal ailment. He was musician of his company and made an excellent record, but was released on account of disability, brought on by illness. Possessed of many talents, his death came at a time when he could have been of increased usefulness, and is a particularly sad event that has sorrowed many friends.

With voice, pen and brush he did much work that will be remembered. The funeral was held at the Methodist Church at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon. conducted by Rev. Lewis, pastor, assisted by Rev. _____ and Rev. Ryan. The building was crowded with friends. Interment was in Evergreen Cemetery. In town and all over the country there was no more popular young man than Clarence B. Hayes, and he occupied a position of usefulness that will cause him to be generally missed.

Paralysis Fatal to Mrs. Rothert

Mrs. Frauziska Weber Rothert, seventy-nine years old, formerly well known to tobacco brokers, died at 7:30 o'clock Friday night at her home, 132 East Gray Street, Louisville, Ky. She suffered a stroke of paralysis on November 12 after being in declining health for about a year. Her husband, Herman Rothert, died February 25, 1904.

Mrs. Rothert was born in Bruchsal, Baden, Germany, on May 11, 1835. She came to Louisville in 1853 with her parents and married Tothert, also of Germany, in September of that year. They made their home in Huntingburg, Ind., for thirty years. They conducted a general store and tobacco business at Huntingburg. Later they becae engaged in exporting leaf tobacco. Mrs. Rothert always took an active interest in the business.

Coming to Louisville, the Rothert's conducted a tobacco stripping plant at Tenth and Main Streets, but retired after the cyclone. Mrs. Rothert is survived by a daughter, Miss Sophia Rothert, of Louisville, and 3 sons, Otto A. Rothert, the historian; John H. Rothert, representative of the Diebolt Sate and Lock Company, of Louisville, and Hugo C. Rothert, of Huntingburg. Otto Rothert is at present suffering from an attack of pneumonia, but is improving, and will soon be out.

The body of Mrs. Rothert was carried to Huntingburg, Ind., and interment made there Monday afternoon.

TEMPERANCE HALL DEMOLISHED

Temperance Hall, a building erected here about 1870. on the site now occupied by the Presbyterian Church, and moved to the Weir farm about 1878 where it was again put up, was last week torn down. While on the farm it was used as a barn and a storage for feed. There were many rousing meetings held in the building while used as a hall and its passing will be a matter of regret to many of our older citizens.

FIRE

Early Last Friday Morning Destroys Nearly Half a Block of Main Street Houses

Immense Loss Prevented By Efficient Work and Our Splendid Water System

The first fire that has occured in the business section since the night of July 16, 1903, when the block from Roark's furniture store to the Main-cross street corner was destroyed was that of last Thursday night, when a fire originated in the livery barn of R.A. Dennis destroyed that building, the shoe repair shop of Wm. Hallinan and the blacksmith shop of James R. Mayhugh. The alarm was turned in about 12:30 o'clock, and the fire whistle soon had the members of the department and hundreds of citizens on the streets. The fire plug in front of the burning building could not be used, but it was only a few minutes until two lines of hose had been run from the plug at the First National Bank corner and the two streams of water successfully confined the fire to small limits. The residence belonging to Mr. R.T. Martin, on the north, was in flames once or twice, but the damage was slight. The building on the south, belonging to Mr. J. W. Lam, and occupied by the Star Dry Goods, Co., had exposures in the form of six windows in the upper floor, and the sash and frames were all burned out, and some goods near them caught on fire. One hose was carried up the steps, and very quickly the flames were extinguished. It was ten minutes after the flames were discovered before the alarm was turned in to the telephone office, and then transmitted to the power house, when the fire signal soon had everyone in town, almost, awake at once. The quick response of the fire department, and the intelligent, fearless work of the boys was the source of general praise, and it was universally remarked that the entire cost of the water works had been saved in the work done on the first call. Without water and hose it is a certainty that the damage would have run into the thousands, and with the stiff breeze that was blowing, there is no means of telling where the fire would have been stopped if we had been depending on the old bucket brigade. The losses were as follows:

R.A. Dennis, on feed, equipment vehicles, etc., $1,000, with $500 insurance. Mr. Dennis also carried $500 on his horses, but they were all gotten out.

T.C. O'Bryan, on the livery barn, $1,250, no insurance.

Wm. Hallinan, shoe shop materials, tools, etc., $250, no insurance.

J.R. Mayhugh, building and blacksmith tools and materials, $850, no insurance.

J.W. Lam, damage to building, $250, no insurance.

Star Dry Goods Co., damage to stock from fire and water, $2,000, fully insured.

G.C. Morgan, private vehicle burned in barn, $100, no insurance.

Cumberland Telephone Co., cables burned, etc., loss $400, no insurance.

Claude Lovell, two horses burned, $150, no insurance.

Leander Bard, colored, was arrested on suspicion of having set fire to the building, and his trial was held before Police Judge Jeffires Monday morning. State Fire Marshal W.F. Nikirk assisted in the investigation, and after the testimony had been taken the judge decided the proof insufficient to hold the accused, and he was released.

NOTES

Mr. Hallinan has ordered a new outfit, and has moved across the street where he is ready for business.

Rufus Dennis has secured a stable, and will for the present confine his business to hauling. He expects to occupy the new brick barn to be erected on the same site.

Mr. Mayhugh is engaged in removing the debris, and will commence very soon the construction of a brick shop, 30x100 feet, and will equip with the latest and best machinery for blacksmith work of all kinds.

It is likely that Mr. O'Bryan will build a one-story brick livery barn 40x100 feet, and on the remainder of his lot - 42 feet - will erect a double storeroom, the second stories to be fitted for offices and sleeping rooms. A Modern structure will be built, and as the location is very desirable, there will be a ready demand for all quarters.

Fire Chief Gillman, Captains C.W. Roark and Riley Dexter, and the members of their crews were on the spot as if they had been sleeping with their clothes on. And the way they worked! Nothing but praise and encouragement could be heard from every spectator.

James Innes, "the man behind the gun" at the water works immortalized himself. He had the engine right under his thumb at every stage of the game, and the pressure of the water was regulated as safely and efficiently as if he had been at the other end of the pipe line, and could see exactly what was wanted.

No accidents and no serious mistakes befell the fire boys, everything working as if this had been the regular turn with them.

Hear "Ain't That a Machine" , a song full of local hits at the minstrel show tomorrow night.

"Mammy's Lullaby", words and music by Mr. Clarence B. Hayes, will be sung by the minstrels at College Hall tomorrow night.

The Record, May 7, 1903

Mr. C.B. Hayes will sing "Hossana" at the Methodist Church next Sunday, a beautiful new baritone solo by E. Van Allstyn, composer of "In The Shade of the Old Apple Tree". Mrs. G.C. Morgan will have charge of the organ.

Mary Claude (Mercer) Bandy shares another newspaper clipping with us. from The Leader-News on July 25, 1990. There is a picture with the clipping which does not appear here.

Greenville police chief was absolutely fearless.

(The following article and picture were submitted by Dorothy Lacy of Greenville. The article was written several decades ago by James E. Robards and centers on Lacy's grandfather, Ed Bandy. Bandy is also the grandfather of Edwin Bandy of Greenville.)

Ed Bandy was the Marshal Dillon type, and showed no fear of anything that walked, crawled, flew or run.

After receiving word that some men were coming down the old Bancroft Road with a car load of "White Mule", Mr. Bandy, Dick Pace and Granville McDonald parked their car cross ways on the road and waited.

The whiskey runners pulled up, stopped and yelled they were surrendering, but as the law approached their car, they let loose a barrage, shooting Granville down. Mr. Pace got off one shot and his gun jammed, leaving Mr. Bandy to stand up and be counted all alone.

Of the five men in the whiskey car, there was one with no legs from the knees down, who walked on leather pads attached to his knees. He was the only one of the five to leave the car under his own power. Durning the confusion he slipped out the far side and was found cowering in a ditch a few hours later.

It was ironic how Greenville's Chief of Police Ed Bandy came to the end of the trail. As much as he knew about guns, while cleaning his in Police headquarters, there where the First State Bank now is, his gun went off and killed him.

FRANK N. LONG

Sunday morning at 8:30 Prof. Frank Long died at his home at Luzerne. He had recently gotten up from a severe attack of typhoid fever, and when he was attacked by flux was in no condition to withstand it. For some days it was known that he had small chance of recovery. A child died two weeks ago from typhoid fever, and another child and his wife are suffering from the same disease. There were few more useful or prominent young men in the county than Frank Long. He was a leader in Christian and educational work, and a man who has done for the uplifting of his fellow man. Just in the prime of life, his death is a calamity that has cast sorrow in many circles. His body was carried to Beaver Dam Monday and buried with Masonic honors.
