Singing Cook Family

Have Been In Gospel
Music For Ten Years

The Cook Family Singers are composed of Botts and Joyce Cook, their 9 year old son Daryl, their son-in-law Danny Lyons, their niece and nephew Robyn and Robbie Campbell, all from Louisville, Kentucky. This group has been singing for ten years.

They sing on weekends and have sung in Virginia, Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Texas, and Kentucky. Most of their singings are in Kentucky, Indiana, and Ohio. Basically, they sing country gospel music, but they do occasionally sing other types of gospel music.

Botts plays lead guitar. He has been playing since he was a child and learned by teaching himself and listening to others play. Joyce plays piano. She started piano lessons when she was six years old and had one year of college. Daryl plays drums. He started playing "imagination" drums when he was two. He learned to play by watching other drummers in the group. He's been playing all the time for the group for a year. Danny plays the bass guitar. He's only been playing about a year. He taught himself the keys and has learned by playing with the group.

The group originated with Botts and Joyce, his brother, Larry and his wife Joy singing at a revival service at Campground Methodist Church in Bonnieville, Ky. Four of their children were saved at that service. About a year later another brother, Tony, and his wife Kathy joined the group.

An humorous happening ... The first time Danny played bass with the group (after only a week of "learning how") 9 year old Daryl, who had been playing drums with the group for several months, asked Danny if he was nervous. When Danny replied that he wasn't nervous, Daryl said, "You should be, you're not that good, you know!"

The Cook Family usually travel by bus. They have sung in a lot of different places; churches, auditoriums, Christian supper clubs, for benefits, on radio, on TV, even in a chicken house converted into a church, also a stable for horses. About four years ago, they joined with another group, the Regals from Louisville and did 12 weeks of a weekly TV program on a TV station in Salem, Indiana.

Kent Humphrey Joins Dixie Melody Boys

KENT HUMPHREY

The Dixie Melody Boys, a nationally known gospel singing group, was in Green County Friday night to present a concert at Bethlehem Baptist Church.

For one family it was more than just another opportunity to hear southern style gospel music--it was, in a sense, a homecoming. One of the Dixie Melody Boys is Kent Humphrey, 17 year old son of Bernice and Leland Humphrey, Greensburg, Kentucky.

Kent has been a member of this professional group since July.

"It was never a difficult decision for him to make," his parents say of his choice to join the Dixie Melody Boys, "but it was a little difficult for us at first. It was not really a surprise because we had known of his love for gospel music and realized he had never wanted to do anything but something like this."

"It had always been my life's ambition to do this type of work," Kent admits without hesitation. "I enjoy traveling around the country, but more important, I enjoy witnessing and sharing my life with people this way."

His parents say Kent has had no special training for the job he now has. "It is a talent and a love of music he was born with. He is just using what the Lord gave him."

The new lead singer for the Dixie Melody Boys does have several years of experience in his chosen field. Kent began performing in churches when he was five and with his father joined the Joymakers and began singing with them when he was 10. He has also performed with Spiritual Sounds, a Hardinsburg based group, and with the Conquerors, Green County group that includes his parents.

Kent comes by his love of gospel music quite naturally. "Leland was in gospel music before we got married," Bernice says, "and Kent hasn't known anything else. Ever since he can remember this has been an important part of his life."

Since joining the group in July, Kent has traveled extensively, mainly in the south, but also in Ohio and Oklahoma. The night before they appeared at Bethlehem Baptist Church, the Dixie Melody Boys sang in Akron, Ohio and the night following they sang in Mt. Washington, Kentucky. The group is based in Kingston, North Carolina.

For the future, Kent looks forward to cutting his first record with the group and singing engagements that next year will include such faraway places as Hawaii and the Bahamas.

Not a bad life for a 17 year old who truly enjoys "witnessing," traveling and gospel music.

This Month We Feature The Byrd Sisters

The Byrd Sisters are from Junction City, Kentucky and the members of this group include two sisters and their mother. They have been singing for five years. They sing on weekends in Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio and Indiana.

They sing country and contemporary gospel. All gospel members have written songs. The tenor singer has written several songs, including title song on their long play album, "Holiness Child."

Also singer Anna (Mom) plays lead guitar and has been playing for thirty years. She learned to play by ear. Tenor singer Elizabeth (the youngest), plays bass guitar and has been playing about six months. Jeanie who sings lead plays tamborine and some guitar and has been playing tamborine since childhood and guitar for only a short time. Delores Foley from Stanford plays piano, organ and accordion.

The group originated when Momma was song leader at the Church of God. As her daughters got old enough to sing (three and five years), they began to do so in area churches. And as time went on, they were invited to different churches to sing.

The Byrd Sisters usually travel in a comfort coach van.

Anna is known to the audiences as Momma Byrd. She is a minister of the gospel, who really gets across to the young people. She and her daughters all live in Junction City, and they all work at Cricke- teer (sewing factory) in Harrodsburg. They all vote The Singing Cooks of Wise, Virginia, as their favorite gospel singing group.

As of this month, we have been with this magazine for one GREAT year. We would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people associated with Gospel Reaching Out, for the wonderful fellowship.

We'd also like to report that our 3rd annual outdoor gospel sing, was a great success, although several of the groups were unable to attend, due to illness. But with groups like the Victory Way Quartet of Danville, The True Gospel Tabernacle Singers, of Nicholasville, and Sherry Harrison of Liberty, everyone enjoyed an afternoon of good gospel singing, also the crowning of Loretta Mullins, as princess of the day, to help with the prize drawings. We'd like to say a special thanks to the following people who donated gifts for the prize drawing. Coffmans Tape Center, Jct. City. (Reno and Smiley Tape). Danville Book Store (Print), Coffmans Photo Center, Jct. City, (Photo Plaque). The Victory Way Quartet, Danville (Album). Betty Carroll, Burgin (Guitar Cake). Betty Devine, Harrodsburg (Praying Hands Cake). Also thanks to Victor Burton, Jct. City, for the use of wagon beds. Slo's Restaurant, Jct. City, for ice. Pruitt's Funeral Home, Moreland, for chairs. And to Chester Byrd, who provided the property for the event. Plans are already underway for next year's event.

The revival in Waynesburg was also a GREAT success, with several souls being saved. We appreciate the pastor Bro. A.F. Atwood, and all the people that attended, and helped to make the revival a success.

Thanks, again Gospel Reaching Out for a GREAT year. Enclosed is our schedule, and a check to renew our membership.

May God Bless you all,
The Byrd Sisters

Good Revival Reported

A wonderful revival is reported at the Albany United Methodist Church, Albany, Ky., which was held from October 4 through the 13th. Nineteen professions of faith with most of these being over the age of 20 years. There were 4 under 20 and the rest were parents and grandparents. One man 80 years of age was saved. Rev. Gary Poston was the evangelist and Rev. Doug Mosley, pastor. The Lord is still saving souls and blessing folks across the country.
