1797 Kentucky Land Grants South of Green River [continued]

Transcribed by Gail Jackson Miller, CG
425 Midcrest Drive
Bowling Green, KY 42101

The Land Grants South of Green River are contained in 29 books and comprise 15,730 separate grants. They were granted between 1797 and 1866. The grants, sometimes called "Headright Claims" were based on an Act of Kentucky General Assembly dated 21 Dec 1795. Until 1797, no person could enter a survey within this area except a soldier. The 1797 Act of the General Assembly opened up the vacant lands in this area to any person possessed of family and over 21 years old. Such person were entitled to not less than 100 acres and not more than 200 acres. They had to have lived on the land for one year before they came into actual possession. The surveys upon which these grants are based are recorded in 18 books in the Kentucky Land Office. The following are the first recorded in Volume 1 of these grants. They were transcribed from the filmed original Grants South of Green River, Vol. 1, 1797-1803, FHL film 0272828.

Ohio County, Kentucky Wolf Sculpt

Submitted by Patricia M. Hodges
Manuscripts, Kentucky Building
Western Kentucky University
Bowling Green, KY 42101

Upon reading the article about the wolf sculp in the Winter 2001 issue of The Longhunter of the Southern KY Genealogical Society, I immediately recalled a document in Manuscripts about the same topic. Several years ago when I first saw this document, I was amazed having had no idea that there was a time when a bounty was levied against wolves in Kentucky. In a historical fiction book that I recently read, an episode was related about a wolf attacking and killing a young baby that had been left on a pallet by itself for a few minutes. As a result of this incident, the mother lost her sanity. So, if the fiction is accurate, the wolf was a feared and dreaded menace to early settlers. The document is listed as it was originally written.

I Do hereby Certify that John Fergusson of Ohio County Person appeared Before Me this Six Day of November 1804. and Made Oath that he was Entrusted with Two Certificates the one for John Galloway for two grown wolf Sculpt Dated this present Year and Granted by David Glen the Other Certificate for Zachariah Galloway for two grown wolf Sculpt Dated 1803 and Granted by David Glen and that as he the Said Fergusson lost the Said Certificate/ on his way to Hartford Given under My hand this Date above.

The Old Militia Muster

Up to the year 1850 every man in Kentucky considered himself a soldier, and was so considered in the eyes of the law. Until, the Third Constitution was adopted, every male citizen from the age of twenty to forty-five, with a few exceptions, was on the enrolled militia and reported at a mustering place on specified dates and there took part in military drills. Such was the law old Virginia inherited from England, and it was also the law when Kentucky became a state, and, as before stated, remained a law until 1850.

The law required all able-bodied men, to report to duty at the musters, and imposed a fine for non-attendance. The company musters usually took place in April, June, August, and September; the battalion usually in May, and the regimental in October. In the early days a company consisted of from fifty to one hundred men, including officers; two to four companies constituted a battalion, and two to four battalions formed a regiment. The number of men in these various organizations was governed principally by the extent of the population in the locality.

From about the 1825 until the law obliging all men to drill was abolished, the musters were more or less a farce. The men who attended were not so much prompted by a desire to drill, as they were to take advantage of the chance to mingle with the crowd of men, women, and children, renew old friendships, make new ones, hear the news, see the races, trade horses, partake a good dinner, and incidentally have time at "the big to-do."
