PREFACE.

After much solicitude, toil and expense, we enjoy the satisfaction of having placed before you a complete and reliable Directory. We have spared no expense, labor, or time, in making this, our present work, a book of some style. Profit alone, has not been our object, but, the desire to please those who have so liberally patronized us has been no less a motive in all our labors, and we have imagined that to exceed our patrons' expectations would be a source of no little self-gratulation, and if we accomplish this object in this work, we shall in all subsequent works labor to improve them. With pride we refer to the style and contents of our book. It will prove itself efficient and confirm the expectations of its authors. Herein is a matter to benefit and interest all classes of men. To all classes of men, therefore, we commend it with sanguine hopes. We again return thanks to the merchants and business men of Bowling Green, for the patronage extended to the work, and renew our promise to the public to faithfully labor to make every issue of our Directory worthy of commendation and patronage.

Very respectfully,
GAINES & COLLIER.

Situated at the head of slack-water navigation, on the banks of Big Barren River, which is tributary to Green river 114 miles south of Louisville, and seventy-two miles north of Nashville, and at the junction of the Louisville and Nashville and Bowling Green and Memphis railroads. It is located in a rich and fertile valley, surrounded by the finest of lands and timber, and is an excellent point for almost all kinds of manufacturers. It is, in point of appearance, one of the loveliest and most beautiful cities in the South, and has, by actual count, at the close of the compilation of this Directory, just 8,329 inhabitants, which does not include her suburbs, such as Delafield, Jonesville, etc., which would swell the number to at least 9,000. It is supplied with a magnificent system of water-works, which furnishes the city with an abundance of pure water, which doubtless contributes to the health of the inhabitants. Her streets are lighted with gas, and are broad and well macadamized, and are kept remarkably clean, while her pavements are for the most part broad and of brick and lime-stone.

Bowling Green possesses a magnificent Court House, a number of beautiful churches, an excellent system of public schools, large and handsome buildings, as fine male college as as there is in the South or West, several private schools, and other auxiliary institutions of learning.

In the midst of the city is situated the pride of every citizen's heart—"Fountain Park," with its playing fountain, gravel walks, forest shade trees, flowers, shrubs and evergreens, and its statuary all neatly inclosed by a tasteful iron fence—lighted in the proper season by hundreds of gas jets, making it a gem worthy of the admiration of the most fastidious connoisseur. We have here a half dozen or more first-class dry goods houses, six drug stores, four jewelry stores, several hotels, six livery stables, and quite a number of man-factories, the principal ones of which being two foundries and machine shops, an axe-handle factory, heading and stave factory, saw mills, distilleries, two planing mills, a woolen mill, ice factory, tobacco factory, and several rehandling houses, two large flouring mills, besides numerous other smaller enterprises of the kind. We have one pork-packing establishment, conducted by Messrs. Claypool & Ragland, which has been in operation for many years, having been established on account of the facilities for transportation by boats prior to the building of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, though it still does a flourishing business.

Bowling Green contains two newspaper offices, three banks and a neat and commodious theatrical hall. It is well supplied with reliable practitioners in the legal and medical fields, while her pulpits are filled by men who would compare favorably with those occupying pulpits in larger cities.

While it has the natural facilities to be a grand manufacturing center—possessing fine water-power, as well as cheap food and fuel—it as yet has not been developed in this direction, as it should, though improving yearly.

This part of the State was originally settled, in large part, by emigrants from the "Old Dominion," consequently her citizens possess more hospitality, courage, gallantry and intelligence than is often found in cities of similar numbers and wealth.

Taking the beautiful site on which it is built, the advantages for travel and transportation which it possesses, combined with the taste, thrift and intelligence of its people and it is difficult to find throughout the Sunny South a city more lovely and attractive than the Park City.

HUGHES’ TONIC.
SURE CURE FOR CHILLS AND FEVER.

Read This Testimony.

These extracts are made from a few of the many commendatory letters received constantly from those who have made trials of this excellent Tonic:

The Demand Rapidly Increasing.

E. J. Madden, Damascus, Miss., writes: You will please send me another case of Hughes’ Tonic to Forest, Miss. It is astonishing to note the rapidly increasing demand for Hughes’ Tonic; to sell one bottle of it requires a much larger sale. We pronounce it by far the best medicine we handle, and cheerfully recommend it to all those troubled with chills and fever.

Has Not Failed.

Wm. Palsley, Dobyville, Ark., writes: Your Hughes Tonic having been highly recommended to me, I ordered a short time since a dozen bottles; soon sold every bottle, and have yet to hear of a single instance of its failing to effect a speedy cure of chills and fever.

Less Than One Bottle Did It.

P. W. Withers, Deputy Sheriff, Jefferson county, Ark., writes: I can certainly say that Hughes’ Tonic is the best chill remedy I ever heard of or used, I used only a part of a bottle and used no quinine, and it cured me.

Testifies With Pleasure.

It is with pleasure I testify to the merits of Hughes’ Tonic as a remedy for chills and fever. I recommend it whenever an occasion presents, and in no case have I known it to fail, even in the most ob-

HUGHES’ COUGH SYRUP.

This preparation has given universal satisfaction with constantly increasing sales, thus demonstrating its intrinsic merit as a cough remedy. Price 25 cents per bottle.

Both of the above preparations are for sale by leading druggists. A trial will convince you that they are reliable and efficient remedies.
