ON THE COVER

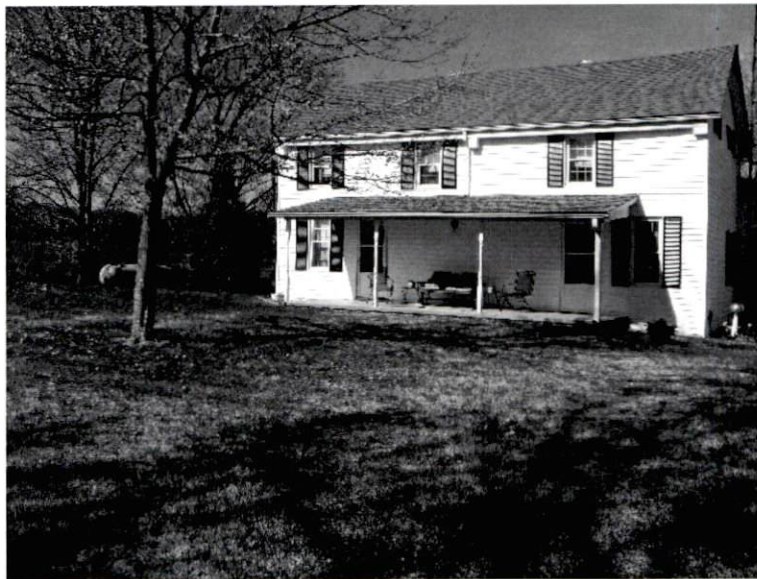

Shown on the cover is the old barn that is mentioned in the story below. This^{is} where the slaves slept at night. Mr. James Richey stated that the barn was called the "Halfway House." It was also used as a stagecoach stop during this time period, and a place to keep the horses when traveling from Glasgow to Tompkinsville.

I was so pleased when Mr. John Robert Miller allowed me to include his story in the quarterly. I'm sure you will enjoy it as much as I did. Here is Mr. Miller's story about Freedom, Kentucky which he wrote in 2003.

How Freedom, Kentucky Got Its Name

My name is John Robert Miller. I am 80 years old and I am writing this account on September 30, 2003. When I was a small child, my Grandmother Miller told me about how Freedom, Kentucky which is about 12 miles south of Glasgow on Highway 63, was renamed. It is about halfway between Glasgow and Tompkinsville, Kentucky. The trail was so rough before the turn of the century that it took two days to go from Tompkinsville to Glasgow with a loaded team and wagon.

My grandmother was raised in this area. And they lived in a house that was adjacent to the old store and the freedom tunnel that I am writing about. The house is now occupied by the Isaac Gosser family. It was close by the old barn where the slaves slept at night. Freedom, she said, was originally known as "Black Walnut."

Miller Farm house, still standing

Their farm was at Black Walnut, Kentucky. My grandmother's family would board travelers and their animals there at the farm and they would stay all night and then go on to Glasgow the next day. In the middle 1800's, there were slaves in the area and some folks wanted slaves and others didn't. My grandmother's family didn't believe in keeping slaves or slavery.

The William Henry Jones family didn't believe in slaves either since this area of Kentucky that they lived in was a no man's land torn between the North and South. As I have stated Freedom was originally called "Black Walnut." There was a school there and in 1855 the first Post Office was started there at "Black Walnut."

There were many people that wanted to free the slaves so they tried to find a way to help the slaves since the area between Tompkinsville and Glasgow was hilly and there were a lot of draws, which were well hidden ravines. It was easy to move from one place to another. They found a tunnel under the trail there at "Black Walnut." And they decided it would be a good place for the slaves to hide until someone from the North could come and get them and take them back up North. The Kentucky terrain made it easy for the slaves to move around at night and hide from those who would be after them.

My Grandmother said it was hard to have enough to eat because the North would steal their food and the South would also steal their food. They had to hide it to keep it from being stolen by both sides.

There were several black families in the area. My grandmother's family had blacks working for them but there were also share croppers. They could go and come as they pleased. There were also several black families that were freed by the help of the North and South after the Civil war was over. After all this activity, someone came up with the idea of renaming "Black Walnut" Freedom because of all the blacks that got their freedom there. So in 1866, they renamed the Post Office "Freedom" and the Post Office was in the store. There at Freedom, William Henry Jones Sr. and his brother-in-law Mr. Button ran the store and post office. Mr. Jones and Mr. Button decided to make coffins to sell to the public. They made them out of black walnut lumber and lined them with satin. They were the nicest coffins around. They were also the only store for three miles.

A log in the home, it reads J. J. Miller born Sept. 9 1850.

Then in 1887, William Henry Jones, Jr. was born at Freedom. Later, they moved to Glasgow and President Teddy Roosevelt named Mr. Jones as Post Master in Glasgow. Mr. Jones Sr. and Mr. Jones, Jr. started the "Glasgow Republican" newspaper. That paper was something that all rural people looked forward to reading.

TRACES – VOLUME 42 – ISSUE 2

Then after Mr. Jones left Freedom, the store and post office were run by Claud Price. After he passed away his son, John Robert Price, ran the store and post office until 1952 when the post office was closed.

My Grandmother Miller was married to John J. Miller who passed away in 1914. He was born in 1851. He was born, lived and died in the same community and owned several farms. He was a hard-working man and was a religious man. But, I never got to see my grandfather. Grandmother Miller passed away in 1936. (My Grandmother Miller lived with my mother for a month at times after my grandfather passed away). He and Grandmother Miller had ten children: Lizzie Cash, Ella Atkinson, Chris Miller, Henry Miller (My Father), Frank, Lucy Norvell, Anne Bell Cooksey, Nola Smith, Sam Miller and one child who died."

OLD CEMETERY FOUND – DEWEESE-COX

Submitted by Martha P. Harrison.

Cemetery was visited on April 11, 2014 with the help of Rollin Christie who told us about the cemetery. It is way back in the field at mailbox 1880 Coral Hill – Halfway Road. None of the stones were readable at first but after cleaning the stones and applying a light coating of flour, the inscriptions were seen. An underscore under a number indicates it was difficult to read and may be in error.

Mary Deweese	died Nov. 1, 1845, aged 80 years
Elisha Deweese	died Jan. 6, 1823, aged 66 years
Moses Cox	born Sept. 26, 1774, died July 28, 1847
Sarah Cox	born Mar. 18, 1782, died Oct. 19, 1855 [She was a Deweese; they were married Sept. 28, 1800]
Mary J. Smith	born May 28, 1811, died Oct. 23, 1850. Consort of Thomas G. [She was a Daughter of Moses and Sarah Cox and was married Feb.12, 1834.]

A SHORT HISTORY OF MAINLINE AFRICAN AMERICAN CHURCHES IN BARREN COUNTY

On February 27, 2014, our special guest speaker was Eric Duke, a native of Glasgow. He is a 1979 graduate of Glasgow High School; attended Western Kentucky University, Simmons College, Liberty University and Great Commission Theological Seminary. He has been a Gospel minister for 33 years and pastor for 31 years. He is currently the Moderator of Liberty District Association, a position he has held for 16 years. He is the Pastor of the Owens Chapel Baptist Church in Cave City and has been Pastor there for 21 years. Dr. Duke graciously presented the Editor with a copy of his presentation to be shared with our readers being a list of the mainline African American churches in Barren County and a little of their history.

Johnson Chapel CME Church: This appears to be the oldest African American church in Barren County as it was organized October 27, 1866 in the movement of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, South which sought to separate from the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The first permanent place of worship was purchased in 1869 from the Robertson family on Gamaliel Road, Glasgow (now 611 S. Lewis Street) jointly with the First Baptist Church for the sum of $125.00 which was paid in full on September 24, 1869. Johnson Chapel met on the 1st and 3rd Sundays and First Baptist met on the 2nd and 4th Sundays. This arrangement continued from 1869-1871 when Johnson Chapel moved to the corner of Lewis & Wayne Street and then purchased their present property at 208 E. Brown Street in 1877 from a Nog and Nancy Evans for $100.00. The current church building was built in 1924 and while the church was being built, the church hosted the District Conference in July 1925, and the Hopewell Baptist Church opened their doors for the weekly service and the First Baptist Church for the closing Sunday service. The congregation moved into its present building in September 1925. The church has had 37 pastors in its 148 years of existence with Rev. Arthur Williams the current pastor.

An old photograph of Rev. Peter Murrell

First Baptist Church: Organized in April 1867, under the leadership of Rev. Peter Murrell and Rev. N. G. Terry, pastor of Glasgow Baptist Church. Peter Murrell was the first black Baptist minister to be ordained in Barren County. First Baptist has been rebuilt and remodeled on several occasions but on October 1972 the historical church was completely destroyed by fire. But, under the leadership of its pastor, J. M. Bransford, and the Deacon Board chaired by L. J. Twyman, a new church was built on 611 S. Lewis Street. During the rebuilding the services were held at the Ralph Bunche 6th Grade Center. The congregation returned in February 1974. It just completed a remodeling two years ago under pastor

TRACES – VOLUME 42 – ISSUE 2

M. D. Rice. The church has had 13 pastors in 147 years; notably Rev. C. W. Bransford who served over 30 years who was followed by his son, Dr. J. M. Bransford who served 41 years. L. J. Twyman, Chair of Deacons, was the first African American elected to the then Glasgow Common Council and in 1968 was the first African American elected as Mayor of a city in the Commonwealth of Kentucky. He served from 1968-1985.

Owens Chapel Baptist Church: Organized September 1867 as the Cave City Colored Baptist Church, a name it kept until changed to Owens Chapel in 1958. The history of the church states the church was organized by Rev. Isaac Owens but the record is unclear if Owens was a black pastor or a white minister who helped in organizing the church since there is no mention of a Rev. Isaac Owens in the minute books of the Liberty District Association. The church has had 11 pastors in 148 years including Rev. Peter Murrell from 1884-1904. The original log cabin building was destroyed by the cyclone of 1890. A new frame building was built in 1891 and was used for worship until 2002 when the church built a new sanctuary and fellowship hall and the old church converted for class rooms and bathroom facilities. The congregation worshipped in the Caverna Middle School gym until the new sanctuary was finished. The church supports missions in Kenya and Haiti. The church is being served by Dr. E. A. Duke who is in his 21st year.

Oak Grove Baptist: Organized in 1870 by Rev. Peter Murrell in the Haywood community, the founding families were the Whitneys, Hatfields, Collins & Stovalls. The church has had 10 pastors with Rev. Christopher Curry as the current pastor and under his leadership the church has been remodeled with a pastor's office and class rooms added and the church annex expanded.

Ole Rocky Hill Baptist: Organized in Game, KY in 1870 by Rev. Ben Rogers who served from 1870-1897. The church has been rebuilt 3 times and in the last eight years completely remodeled and a new fellowship hall built. 14 pastors have served and current pastor, Rev. Bradley Lewis, is now in his 40th year as pastor.

Pleasant Union Baptist: Organized in 1874 by Rev. Nat Bradley, the church is on property donated by one of the charter members, Julie Ann Duff Gatewood, and she named the church as well. 10 pastors have served in the 140 years of existence with the Rev. Ray Stewart, Jr. now serving in his 34th year.

Queens Chapel Baptist: Organized in Hiseville, KY in July 1847, by the Rev. David Wilson. Seven pastors have served with Rev. Ray Stewart, Jr. now serving in his 34th year along with Pleasant Union.

Hopewell Baptist Church: Organized in Glasgow in 1883, this church was apparently a split with First Baptist Church and for years was referred to as 2nd Baptist. Rev. J. W. Fisher was the first pastor. The Union District Association from Warren County was organized at Hopewell. The church has been bricked, fellowship hall, pastor's office and educational wing under the long term pastorate of Dr. F. K. Haynie, Jr. who served from 1961 to 2009 and who passed January 25, 2014. He was known as the "Father" of Baptist Preachers as his advice and encouragement helped nourish most of the ministers in our area. Rev. Emmanuel Reid who resides in Madison, TN is the current pastor.

Zion Hill Baptist Church: Rev. Luther Shobe organized this church in 1888 at Glasgow Junction (Park City) and was known as the Glasgow Junction Colored Baptist Church until the name of the church was changed after 1935. In 1966 the State Highway Department purchased the property and building to make way for I-65 and the church purchased the old Park City Colored Elementary School. They met there while a new brick church was built and also added to the elementary school in 1967. 11 pastors have served with Rev. Kym Abner as the current pastor.

Harlow Chapel Baptist Church: Organized in 1895 on property on Flint Knob Road, Cave City on land donated by John and Amanda Curd. The name comes from the fact that sometimes the church would meet under a chestnut tree on the John Harlow farm. The church has been rebuilt three times and 12 pastors have served. Rev. W. K. Rowletts is the current pastor who is leading the congregation in building a new church on the present property in the near future.

Loving Springs Baptist Church: Organized on July 31, 1914 with seven charter members and located at route 7, Glasgow, between the Oil City and Stovall communities on the Park City-Glasgow Road. Rev. John France was elected as the first pastor. 16 men have served as pastor of Loving Springs with the church being under the leadership of the present pastor, Rev. Shawn Sales. He led the congregation to build a new church in 2005 with the help of the Carpenters for Christ. In January 2013, the church paid the mortgage in full and celebrated with a mortgage burning ceremony. The church has also purchased additional land, two vans and a church bus for its growing membership. The church has transitioned to a ministry based congregation with many ministries and missionary support.

Community For Christ Baptist Mission: Rev. Sellers Johnson III, Pastor, is a mission church supported by the Coral Hill Baptist Church and its pastor, Rev. Ray Woodie. It is located in the Park Avenue Shopping Center, 105 Park Avenue, an outreach to the Park Avenue area.

Church of God In Christ, International. Located at 607 S. Franklin Street with Bishop J. R. Kersey as Pastor and wife, Dr. Delores Kersey, Assistant Pastor.

Liberty District Association: Organized August 1868 at the Horse Cave Colored Baptist Church (now Horse Cave, First Baptist), by Rev. Peter Murrell with the help of Rev. N. G. Terry and the Liberty Baptist Association. From the earliest records, the Association consisted of more than 60 churches from Barren, Hart, Larue, Green, Adair, Allen, Monroe, Metcalfe, Cumberland, Edmonson and Warren Counties. In 1875 the district organized the Zion District Association that comprised the churches of Larue, Green, Adair and some churches from Hart Counties.

The goals of the Liberty District Association have been and still are to evangelize the lost and to religiously educate the people of the district. The Association purchased, built and operated a Normal School on the property located below First Baptist Church on South Lewis Street in 1883, which trained ministers and teachers in the Barren County area. The school was closed in 1941 due to the lack of financial support which was due to the economic conditions at the time. The building was torn down in 1950 and for several years discussion of using the land to build a retirement home for ministers or a central headquarters for the Association work was contemplated but never finalized.

In 2005, the LDA purchased the Ralph Bunche High School and later known as the Bunche 6th Grade Center from the Glasgow Board of Education. Ralph Bunche from 1950-1964 had been the elementary and high school for African American children during segregation. Mr. L. J. Twyman served as principal and many of the African American teachers who taught at Ralph Bunche were members of LDA churches. With that connection in mind the Association purchased the building and it now houses the Boys and Girls Club, the Community Soup Kitchen, Big Brothers and Big Sisters. The Franklin Family and Friends Free Thanksgiving fest is held each Thanksgiving to provide Thanksgiving lunch for anyone in the community, 2,300 were fed last Thanksgiving. The Association sponsors job fairs, health screenings along with monthly meetings for the auxiliaries of the Association and the annual session of the Sunday School Convention in July and the annual session of the Association in August.

The Association currently is comprised of 24 churches in Barren, Hart, Monroe, Metcalfe, Cumberland and Warren counties and one church in Radcliff, KY, with approximately 1,200 members. It has five Auxiliaries-Sunday School Convention, Women’s Missionary Convention, Laymen’s Department, Youth Department and Usher Unit. A voluntary mass choir sings at various events throughout the calendar year. A 17-member board of directors for the LDRBCC is comprised of district association members and community leaders from Barren, Hart and Warren Counties. A nine member board of Trustees oversees the Normal School and Bunche properties.

Twelve pastors have served ad District Moderators from 1868 to present with the first Moderator, Peter Murrell, serving the longest with 33 years of service. The current Moderator is E. A. Duke who is in his 16th year of serving. Currently Liberty District Association and the Liberty Baptist Association have been communicating on how the two Associations can work together for the spreading of the Gospel and missionary activity home and abroad.

Our Society has lost a dear friend and long-time member in the passing of Mary Ed Chamberlain. She held offices in the Society in the past and was a contributor of many articles for "Traces." More than that, Mary Ed Chamberlain was a warm and loving woman who loved our town, its history and people. Every Christmas Mary Ed sent out hundreds of cards. She died on Saturday, March 1st, 2014 at NHC Health Care in Glasgow, age 99. She had been born in Glasgow, the daughter of the late Will T. and Annie Berry Chamberlain. She was retired from the J. J. Newberry Company in Glasgow and was a member of the Glasgow Baptist Church. Services were held Wednesday March 5th by A. F. Crow & Son Funeral Home with burial in the Glasgow Municipal Cemetery.

GASSAWAY FAMILY OF TEXAS

Memorial and Biographical History, McLennan, Falls, Bell and Coryell Counties, Texas, Vol. 2, Illustrated. Chicago: The Lewis Publishing Company, 1893.

G. H. GASSAWAY, a resident of Falls county, Texas, is a son of G. P. and Rebecca (Lessenberry Gassaway. The father was born in Glasgow, Barren county, Kentucky, in 1806, and was a farmer by occupation. He was Mayor of his city a number of years, but living in the section where the two parties were about equally divided, and being an outspoken and ultra-slavery man, he incurred the hostilities of the other party to such an extent that his life was in danger, and he came to Texas. Grandfather Benjamin Gassaway was a native of Maryland, and his father was from Scotland. The mother of our subject was born near Petersburg, Virginia, in 1813. Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Gassaway were married in Barren county, Kentucky, October 1, 1827, and were the parents of five children, namely: J. T., deceased; G. H., our subject; Annie M., deceased, was the wife of Thomas Winn, also deceased; Wilburn J., an extensive dairyman of Waco; and Benjamin F., a Methodist minister, now located at Cleburne. This family was born and reared in Barren county, and in 1861 the parents came to our subject's home in Texas, where the father died August, 1868, and the mother in September, 1872.

G. H. Gassaway was born November 2, 1834, and when nineteen years of age began business with his brother, J. T., in trading mules, horses and negroes. They followed this business several years in the South, and in 1856 came to Collin county, Texas, and later to Falls county. They were extensively engaged in the cattle business until the brother's death, in 1862, and since that time Mr. Gassaway has continued alone. He first became owner of the place, where his home now stands, in 1871, purchasing about 7,000 acres, but he has since sold 1,700 acres to the Waco Town Site Company. In company with H. G. Carter and son, and under the firm name of Carter, Gassaway & Co., our subject is extensively engaged in the cattle business near Lott, and is also a stockholder in the Marlin Lumber Company. At the breaking out of the late war Mr. Gassaway and his brother John were buying and selling cattle in large numbers. They made an immense contract with the Confederate authorities to deliver beef cattle to the army. After his brother's death our subject continued to act as Government buyer, having power to detail as many men in his service as was necessary.

He was married in Bell county, Texas, January 26, 1864, to Henrietta E., a daughter of G. W. Shankin. Mrs. Gassaway was born in Tennessee, in April, 1843, and in 1856 came to Texas with her parents, where they afterward died. Our subject affiliates with the Democratic party, is Master Mason of Carolina Lodge, and is also a charter member of this order.

BARREN COUNTY KENTUCKIANS IN THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR April 25, 1898 to August 12, 1898.

Source: Preface to a book entitled Kentucky in the Spanish-American War which deals with this short and often overlooked war. The Preface was written by Major General Billy G. Wellman, The Adjutant General of Kentucky on 1 December 1987. (Frankfort, KY). I quote:

"The Spanish-American Conflict has been called "The 100 Days War", "The Little War" and the "War of American Imperialism" depending upon the writer's historical or foreign policy views. Whether the United States battleship "Maine" was a victim of Spanish sabotage or self-destruction, is still debated. Regardless, the terrible February explosion aboard the "Maine" only triggered the struggle for control of Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines.

"The fires of war had been kindled through diplomatic confrontations between Spain and the United States. Spain was determined to keep her lucrative western hemisphere colonies. The United States was equally determined to rid the hemisphere of any foreign power incursions. Across our nation and commonwealth, young men responded to the call to arms. Colonel John B. Castleman, commander of the First Infantry Regiment, Kentucky State Guard, had foreseen war's probability and intensified recruiting to build his regiment to wartime strength. Throughout Kentucky, patriots rallied to the banners of the Second, Third and Fourth Regiments of the State Guard. Troops A and B of the First Cavalry Regiment drew young mountaineers from Southeastern Kentucky with visions of sabers and saddled steeds.

“When the May 1898 Presidential Proclamation calling for troops reached Governor William O. Bradley’s office, the Kentucky State Guard was ready. The abbreviated war severely limited their participation. The two regiments finally sent to the war zone found themselves performing escort, police, patrol, civil disturbance and flag raising duties. Disappointing to Kentuckians with a heritage of immediate and critical involvement in all the nation’s previous conflicts. They were ready, but the war would not wait for them.

“The “Little War” had tremendous impact on our military services. Logistical, medical, training, command and coordination problems led to sweeping changes in policies and laws governing United States reserve forces. Modernization and standardization of the reserve forces began with the Dick Act of 1903 and has continued through a chain of National Defense Act revisions. The Spanish-American War did indeed provide insights essential for our military successes in two world-encompassing struggles.”

What Had Started the “Little War”?

Briefly, and citing from Wikipedia the Spanish–American War was a conflict in 1898 between Spain and the United States, the result of American intervention in the Cuban War of Independence. American attacks on Spain's Pacific possessions led to involvement in the Philippine Revolution and ultimately to the Philippine–American War. Revolts against Spanish rule had occurred for some years in Cuba. There had been war scares before, as in the Virginius Affair in 1873. In the late 1890s, American public opinion was agitated by anti-Spanish propaganda led by journalists such as Joseph Pulitzer and William Hearst which used yellow journalism to criticize Spanish administration of Cuba. After the mysterious sinking of the American battleship Maine in Havana harbor, political pressures from the Democratic Party and certain industrialists pushed the administration of Republican President William McKinley into a war he had wished to avoid.

“Compromise was sought by Spain, but rejected by the United States which sent an ultimatum to Spain demanding it surrender control of Cuba. First Madrid, then Washington, formally declared war. Although the main issue was Cuban independence, the ten-week war was fought in both the Caribbean and the Pacific. American naval power proved decisive, allowing U.S. expeditionary forces to disembark in Cuba against a Spanish garrison already brought to its knees by nationwide Cuban insurgent attacks and further wasted by yellow fever. Numerically superior Cuban, Philippine, and American forces obtained the surrender of Santiago de Cuba and Manila despite the good performance of some Spanish infantry units and fierce fighting for positions such as San Juan Hill. With two obsolete Spanish squadrons sunk in Santiago de Cuba and Manila Bay and a third, more modern fleet recalled home to protect the Spanish coasts, Madrid sued for peace.

“The result was the 1898 Treaty of Paris, negotiated on terms favorable to the U.S., which allowed temporary American control of Cuba, and ceded indefinite colonial authority over Puerto Rico, Guam and the Philippine islands from Spain. The defeat and collapse of the Spanish Empire was a profound shock to Spain's national psyche, and provoked a thorough going philosophical and artistic reevaluation of Spanish society known as the Generation of '98. The United States gained several island possessions spanning the globe and a rancorous new debate over the wisdom of expansionism.

The names of Kentuckians serving in this short war was prepared by the Adjutant General of the State of Kentucky 1898-99 and lists the Kentucky Volunteers. The list was compiled and printed in Frankfort by authorization of the Kentucky State Legislature in 1908.

The officers will be shown first, followed by the volunteers in alphabetical order. Almost all dates are 1898. The majority enlisted in Lexington, KY. Muster-out date is May 16, 1899, all at Savannah, GA. Only soldiers enrolling at Glasgow, KY will be shown. Names spelled as shown.

A Time for Prudence Rather Than Panic, Volume 2. This book takes the subject of the Spanish Influenza pandemic in Kentucky to a deeper level. With the groundwork laid in Volume 1, this volume gives the reader the names of those who died in the epidemic that were not listed in the newspaper articles. With 24 volunteers, all death certificates for the State of Kentucky were read for the years September 1918 through 1920. Those who died of the "flu", influenza, pneumonia, measles (which accompanied the influenza in many instances) or Spanish Influenza are listed showing name, age, date of death and cause of death. They are displayed in county order. Special statistical analysis is given to the total number of deaths in each county with additional attention paid to Jefferson County where so many civilians and soldiers died. The total estimated deaths Statewide were 21,473. No total can be guaranteed, many deaths were not reported, some death certificates were unreadable and in some areas perhaps the pandemic lasted longer. This massive book of 296 pages includes a 42 page surname index. $49.95 or $35.00 for the e-book (PDF) format.

Barren County Land Grants Beginning in 1798. Many errors exist in the list of Barren County land grants; some dating back to the original list in 1925 by Willard Rouse Jillson and followed by various websites, often copied from each other. In this book I have attempted to correct errors not only in the spelling of names but in the location of the land. Over 2500 grants are shown which includes name, acreage, date of survey, book where recorded and location (nearest waterway in most instances). There are grants shown on land once in Barren County but now in Allen, Hart, Metcalfe and Monroe Counties before their formation. 50 pages plus a detailed explanation of the patent process which resulted in the grant issuance and a list of all the known waterways in all the counties involved. Self-indexing. $15.00 or $10.00 as e-book.

Bear Wallow Belles: Originally published in 1903 by Dr. C. R. Wilson, this is quite a delightful book. A novel? Yes. Historical? Yes. A love story? Yes. A Civil War story? Yes. The setting is Bear Wallow, KY in Barren County 1861 through 1863. Using real people and real events in this little community, Dr. Wilson weaves a tale of many events. Some people are real from our history here; some are fictitious - or their names were disguised. The reader meets people from Chicken Bristle, Goosehorn, Lick a Skillet and Hell's Half Acre - a combination of Southern people, their slaves, an Irishman and some Yankees tossed in. The tale revolves around the Civil War and how it impacts the people of Bear Wallow. Some fighting for the South, some for the North, all dedicated to the cause, Right in the middle are the Bear Wallow Belles, three beautiful young ladies from the South and the North, all living in Bear Wallow. The book comes complete with tender courtships, the horror of war, the bravery of the young men who loved the Belles with a louse, a church mouse, an unusual duel and other interesting tales included. The last two pages will stun the reader. Whether one is from the North or South, this is also a touching look at slavery in a peaceful community with many other characters adding to the charm and humor. 136 pages including biographical information, a look at the communities mentioned and full-name index. $20.00 or $15.00 as e-book (with color graphics and photos in the e-book version).

Can You Hear the Children Cry? A study of the orphans and orphanages of Kentucky From the Early Days to 1930. This book contains a vast amount of information drawn from government records, studies done in 1919, census records and on-line histories. 44 orphanages are covered with information about their founding, locations and, when possible, a list of the orphans housed there as found in census reports. Photographs are included on many of the schools. There are over 2,000 orphan's names shown with ages and state of birth. Although not all the orphanages that likely existed in this time frame are included, these are the ones recorded and include Baptist, Methodist, Catholic, Presbyterian, Episcopalian, German, Jewish, private institutions, and African-American orphanages. 159 pages including a full-name index plus 18 pages of history of the beginnings of orphanages in Kentucky and newspaper reports. $30.00 or $18.00 for e-book (PDF) version.

A SPECIAL SALE OF BACK ISSUES OF "TRACES"

The Society has found that there are issues of "Traces" in which we have extra copies and we are offering them to our readers at a reduced rate. The copies will be sold in a year's bundle,

Special Notice

We have been listing the names of the soldiers whose names are engraved on the Barren County Military Wall of Honor in Glasgow. Due to the unfortunate death of Bobby Travis who was providing the Editor with the names, we are temporarily unable to complete the series. Bobby had the information on his computer and to date no one has been able to retrieve the data. We are trying to obtain the remaining names plus those who have been added recently and hopefully will continue the series soon. We offer our condolences to the family of Bobby Travis; he will be dearly missed in the many organizations to which he contributed time and effort so freely.

RECENT SPEAKERS

Gary Bewley presented the March 2014 program on noted musician Billy Vaughn who was from Glasgow, KY. He had an interesting display of Vaughn's music and a video clip of Billy with the Hilltoppers when they appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show. The program was very interesting and some of Vaughn's family were in attendance.

Dr. Stanley Sides spoke to the Society at our April 24, 2014 meeting, speaking about the early diagnosis and treatment of consumption (tuberculosis) and of the experimental consumption housing at Mammoth Cave by Dr. John Croghan. He told of many of the people who came to the cave for cures and what happened to them. Dr. Sides provided the following interesting article for our readers.

Stanley D. Sides, M.D.

Gordon L. Smith recently acquired this letter for the National Cave Museum at Diamond Caverns. It offers a rare glimpse of the winter of 1842-1843 when John Croghan, M.D. placed invalids with pulmonary tuberculosis in Mammoth Cave for proposed therapeutic benefit of the cave air. Joshua H. Franklin of Gallatin, Tennessee, Sumner County, was attending medical classes at Transylvania University, Lexington, Kentucky. He matriculated in 1843 with his doctoral thesis entitled, "Gonorrhoea." University records note that his father was John Franklin and mother was Elizabeth Rawlings. His name appears as James H. Franklin in the matriculation book (Transylvania University Library, 2014).

Joseph Khleber Miller was born on July 28, 1818 in Sumner County, Tennessee. Miller arrived at Mammoth Cave on December 8, 1842 (Unknown, 1843). He left on January 16, 1843 after several invalids died and other invalids were leaving, or had already left the cave. He returned to Tennessee and died at age 24 on April 4, 1843. Miller was buried in the Gallatin Cemetery, Gallatin, Tennessee. His wife, Mary (Mollie) Franklin Miller, and a black slave, Peter, accompanied him in the cave. For years the cabin he occupied was pointed out to cave visitors as the "Mollie Miller Cabin," the first of the two stone structures (Sallee, 1996). The second stone building was the dining hall.

Joshua Franklin was writing his cousin, Mary Franklin Miller. He was living in Lexington where he was a student in his second medical course. The letter is transcribed with misspellings and punctuation preserved from the original.

(Lexington)

Sunday. January the 8. 1843.

Dear Cousin.

I received your kind and affectionate letter some time since, and should have answered it long ago but indeed I have been very unwell ever since I received it, but I have not been confined all the time to my bed, for I kept kicking as long as I could, So on Friday last I keeled up good enough and I tell you Mary candidly that I never suffered more in my life as I did for about five hours and I concluded that I would have to bid this world a final adieu, but thank God I am a gain on my trotters, though I have not been out of my room as my physician said I must take care of myself for several days. I was taken very suddenly with a slight attact of congestion of brain, but I am now able to eat my allowance if I was not afeared. I wold delight to you a long letter, but Mary I cannot do so at this time for my arm is very sore indeed from effects of bleeding, and if I put it off until I get better you may dispair of my writing to you - so I have concluded to write anyhow though a short letter. Myself

& frind Ike will come by the Cave and see you & Khleber if possible, as we would have the pleasure not only of seeing you, but the greatest curiosity in the west, but it will depend a great deal on the weather for if it be very cold we will prefer going by water home for know that it would be very disagreeable to go by stage if the weather be very cold as we would have to travel all night, but howsomever as the negro would say, we will try & come by. I wrote to Irma and tried to scoal her for not writing to you, but I am like a like a little boy when he is away from his mammy, I want to see her so bad that I could scoal to do any good. Tell Khleber he must try & recruit enough to go home with me when I call at the cave, for unless he goes with us, he will be apt to miss the Bear show, for I intend to have the Bear dance over as soon as I get home. I got a letter from John a few days ago, he had returned from Memphis to Frankfort, he said all was well and that he would come to Lexington to see me as soon as he could get off as he could not leave at that time as he was looking out for squalls. I have not heard from home since I received your letter so I cannot tell you what is going on there, nor do I care much for I have given out the idea of ever hearing from home again. There is nothing new here unless it be snow as the grass is covered about six inches with a white something, which I call snow, but as I am not allowed to go out, I have not the pleasure to prove that it be snow, but I judge it is, as I looked out my window and saw persons sleighing. I wrote to our daddy some time ago, but he has answered it yet, but I suppose he is waiting to get something sweet to write me. You must write to me immediately on the receipt of this, and let me know, how Khleber' health is getting. Nothing more as I told you my arm was very sore, and I find that writing does it harm, so you must excuse bad writing. Give my respects to Khleber & accept of a due proportion of the most profound love & respect until Death, Adieu –
Joshua H. Franklin

P.S. Ike sends his best respects to you both. JHF

P.S. How do you keep the varmints from devouring you in that dark and lowly region. I would be fearful the crickets would eat me up when a sleep. J.H.F.

REUBEN B. EUBANK

Portrait and Biographical Record of La Fayette and Saline Counties, Missouri, Chicago: Chapman Bros., 1893.

REUBEN B. EUBANK resides on section 33, township 52, range 20, of Saline County. Mr. Eubank was born in the town of Glasgow, Barren County, Ky., February 9, 1824. He is the son of Henry and Maria (Garnett) Eubank, the former a native of Virginia, and born September 14, 1795, the latter of Barren County, Ky., and born May 19, 1807. Our subject's father had a considerable knowledge of military tactics and held the office of Captain and afterward Major in the State Militia of Kentucky. He was engaged in the merchandise and trading business in Glasgow, Ky., until 1829, when, on account of failing health he removed to his farm, giving up active business and spending his latter years in rural enjoyment. He was identified with many public interests of his county, which he served as a successful and energetic business man.

The paternal grandfather of our subject was Joseph Eubank, a Virginian, who was born May 9, 1763. He was a farmer and dealer in merchandise, and besides owned and operated a flouring-mill. One of the sons of Joseph Eubank was the acknowledged local genius of his day, and though he never patented he claimed the honor of discovering the principle of a self-feeder for a cotton gin, and also invented the steam governor for engines. He was a watch-maker by trade. Grandmother Eubank bore the maiden name of Elizabeth White, and was born in Virginia November 8, 1774. She was married to Joseph Eubank November 27, 1794, and they became the parents of ten children, all of whom lived to years of maturity. The family is of English origin, our subject's great-grandfather having emigrated to this country in 1727. He was one of four brothers and made settlement in Virginia, and our subject still has in his possession a little account book kept by this first American founder of the family, which shows by the accuracy with which it was kept that he was a man of education and business ability. His wife was Miss Margaret Lewis, whom he married in Virginia.

Reuben Eubank is one of a family of seven children, all of whom are now living: America, who was born in Glasgow, Ky., May 11, 1827, now lives in Jackson, Tenn.; Margaret D., born September 15, 1829, was married to Robert T. Graley, and they reside in Saline County; James, who was born April 27, 1833, and married Martha Thomas, now lives in Texas, where he is a farmer and money-loaner; Richard, who was born October 1, 1835, and married Catherine Wolfskill, lives in California and is engaged in farming and in grape culture; Elizabeth, who was born September 9, 1838, married J. C. Irby, and now lives in Tennessee, where her husband is one of the faculty of a Baptist school; Henry, who was born March 28, 1844, married Miss Fishback and lives in Barren County, Ky.

Our subject was educated in the common schools of Kentucky. He left school at the age of eighteen years, and then engaged as clerk for David R. Young, a bachelor who was store-keeper at Glasgow. Our subject received only his board and clothing, as he took the position rather to learn the principles of conducting a business. At the expiration of a year, he entered the employ of Joseph Glazebrook, in consideration of $100 per annum with board and washing. He remained with him three years and then went to Hopkinsville, Ky. After a few months in that place he returned to his former employer. Thus he was variously engaged until his marriage, when he went to farming, his wife having been presented by her father with a tract of two hundred acres of land. This was later traded for a money consideration, and he went to tobacco-raising, devoting five years to the improvement of the tract. Becoming dissatisfied with the narrow scope of his life and opportunities, he sold his little farm for $10 per acre including improvements, and in 1855 he moved to Saline County and rented a farm for two years. He then purchased a tract of partially improved land, which he bent his energies toward clearing. From time to time he added to his original purchase until he owned thirty-seven hundred acres. Part of this is improved and all is well fenced and in good pasture condition. This beautiful and well-improved home farm makes him the owner of thirty-seven hundred acres of good land, beside some eight hundred acres which he has given to his children.

The original of this sketch was married October 30, 1848, to Martha Thompson, a daughter of Robert S. Thompson, and a member of an old and representative family of Hart County, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. Eubank became the parents of three children: Robert (deceased), Henry, and Reuben. The first-born was a native of Barren County, Ky., and made his advent into the world in 1849. He married Miss Mary Bumbarger and until the time of his death, which occurred December 24, 1875, lived near Slater. He was a farmer and left one son who now lives in Bourbon County, Ky. Henry, who was born in Hart County, Ky., in 1852, married Jane Jenkins, of Slater, this county; he now lives in Chariton County, this State, where he is a farmer and preacher. Reuben, who was born in Saline County, married a Miss Campbell. They live in Lexington, where he is engaged in business.

After the death of his first wife, our subject was a second time married, his bride being Miss Elizabeth Whittaker, who was the daughter of John Whittaker, of Boone County, Ky. She was born May 18, 1834, became the wife of Mr. Eubank in Boone County, June 22, 1861, and died February 28, 1873. Their union was blessed by the advent of three children: John, Ernest, and Jerome. John was born on the 12th of April, 1863, in Saline County, married Lucy Smith, and is now engaged in farming in this county; Ernest was born on the 6th of July, 1864, in this county, where he married Lillie Gaines, and is now a farmer; Jerome, who was born October 3, 1865, married Audi Purdom, and lives in Slater, where he is engaged in stock-buying. In July of 1873, Mr. Eubank married Miss Anna, the daughter of James Leeper, who was born in Lewis County, Mo. They have been the parents of two children: Preston L. and Katie M.

Mr. Eubank has been a member of the Christian Church since 1858. In addition to his liberality in church work, he is well known for his good and charitable deeds. Impecunious young men with ambition and talent have found in him a ready sympathizer and helper. Politically, he was originally a Whig, but at the fall of that party he became a Democrat of the first water, and, although not an office-seeker, has always taken an active interest in party affairs. Numbered among the wealthiest and most honored citizens of Saline County, we feel that it is still a far greater encomium to pass upon our subject to say that his nature is as broad as his heart and impulses are true and kindly.
