ON THE COVER

The stately granite twenty-one foot monument marks the East section known as the E. J. Duff and family burial plot in the Glasgow Municipal Cemetery in Glasgow, Kentucky. Comprised of multiple tiers supporting a majestic obelisk, the monument displays the family surname as well as the personal information of several of its members.

Three tiers arranged in a truncated pyramidal form, the lower portion of the monument's pedestal, beginning with the foundation above which a narrow plinth supports the top element of the truncated pyramid which displays on its obverse side in relief, the family surname in block style capital letters, "DUFF".

The higher portion of the monument's pedestal consists of an elongated cube and whose obverse side is a polished tablet bearing the inscription of the names and dates of birth and death of the deceased whom the marker commemorates.

Above the polished tablet in graceful proportion to its pedestal stands the monument's most distinctive architectural feature, an obelisk, on whose obverse side, in relief, appears in Old English style, the initial "D".

THE DUFF FAMILY

Submitted by Mary Elizabeth Jones Berry, Glasgow, KY who also provided the photographs shown.

JOHN DUFF, of Scottish lineage, was born in Fauquier County, Virginia in 1763. He enrolled at the age of twelve as a private in the Virginia Line B, serving in the Revolutionary War. John married Mary Wheatley, also of Virginia. They migrated from Virginia in 1798 to Kentucky, choosing Old Rocky Hill, Kentucky to rear their large and highly esteemed family which consisted of eleven children: six boys and five girls. The names of the boys are Fielding, Austin, Hubbard, Wesley, Edmund and Chilton. The girls were Cassie, Pamela, Rhoda (?), Nancy and Sallie. John was generous, kind, a good industrious farmer, a sensible man, a good husband, father, neighbor, friend, citizen, temperate, hospitable, frugal. In size he was large and his heart was in proportion to his body. John died in 1850.

Their fifth child, Edmund, born March 16, 1795, in Culpepper County, Virginia, moved to Kentucky with his family when he was about two years old. He married Eliza Jane Evans on the 23rd day of December 1842. They reared seven children; six sons and one daughter.

In early life, before his marriage, Edmund made twenty-five trips to New Orleans walking on his return home through the Indian Nations, sleeping and eating with the Indians and paying them with tobacco. (Nations is a term used to describe the five civilized tribes of the Gulf states of the United States). It took six weeks to walk home.

The following is recorded from Early Settlers of Beaver Creek by Franklin Gorin in Times of Long Ago, pages 132-3: Edmund owned a large body of land in the early days, a large force of slaves and carried on farm work extensively. He raised a family of one girl and six boys. The girl, Lizzie, married Frank Jones, a merchant at Coral Hill. George, the eldest son, was a leading lawyer at the Glasgow Bar. John Will as he was familiarly called lived a few miles out of Hiseville Road from Glasgow and enjoyed farming. Henry lived near the Louisville Pike – three miles from Glasgow on the farm formerly owned by William Bybee. I don't know the location of the other boys.

Edmund never held a public office other than deputy sheriff and he was a member of the Reform Church. He was the only one of the guard living that guarded John C. Hamilton when he was executed from the jail to the gallows.

Eliza Jane Evans Duff, was the daughter of Major Joseph and Elizabeth Warder Evans who lived on the Edmonton Road on the bank of Beaver Creek. Her grandfather, Joseph Warder Evans had received several thousand acres as a military grant for serving during the entire struggle of the Revolutionary War. Later in life, Joseph divided his land equally among his children – Travis, Matilda, Caroline, Ester, Martha, Eliza Jane, Joseph Alexander and William Henry.

Edmund Duff

Eliza Jane Evans Duff

Eliza Jane married Edmund Duff and they had seven children:

John William born 10 Sept 1849, married Alice Mackey. They had 3 children.

George Thomas born 10 Aug 1850, married Molly Cockerel. They had 6 children.

Mary Elizabeth (Lizzie) born 12 Aug 1853, married Frank M. Jones. They had 3 children.

Haiden Twyman born 1 Sept 1855, died 8 Dec 1878 of typhoid fever.

Edmund Guest born 5 Sept 1858, married Ida Evans.

Henry Weldon born 5 June 1864, died 13 Jan 1935, married Nettie Evans.

Elmore Warder born 17 Apr 1857, died 23 Dec 1849, married Katherine Mackey. They had 2 children.

(Alice and Katherine Mackey were sisters)

Mary Elizabeth (Lizzie) was educated at Bethel College of Russellville KY. Mr. Duff had a room constructed off of the living room for her. Such action was extremely unique since few girls had a private room. For her 16th birthday her father had a rosewood grand piano shipped from New Orleans on a flat boat. Her father gave her a slave girl early in life named Sallie Duff to do nothing but care for her needs. The wedding was performed at the Duff residence with Rev. W. E. Campbell, a Baptist minister, from Bardstown, KY. The wedding there was a great feast or wedding supper which included a roast pig with an apple in his mouth. The groom planned a wedding trip to Cincinnati, Ohio.

George Duff wrote to his sister on November 19, 1895: "I have every reason, my dear sister, to believe that your married life will be a pleasant and happy one. You have married, if I am not greatly mistaken, a gentleman in every sense of the word and one who will be kind and affectionate to you. I hope you will do your part to him and I believe you will."

Growing Old Gracefully. 1907. "Growing old gracefully," is a phrase that is very old, but we do not often see it exemplified, but one dear woman, well-known and much loved, in the Coral Hill vicinity, is a shining example of this phrase.

"Mrs. Eliza Duff on the 26th passed the 82nd milestone which has marked her progress along the difficult highway of life. The writer, with several children, grandchildren, and other relatives and friends, gave her a surprise by meeting at her home to witness her reception of the many presents and birthday post-cards shower. She was the happy recipient of over a hundred post-cards from border to border. As each card, bearing messages of congratulations and loving wishes and names were announced, her dear old eyes would fill with tears, and she would exclaim "My heart is too full."

"She had anticipated a quiet, nice day; instead it proved a glorious day of rejoicing. May she have many more happy returns of the day. When the summons, "Well done, good and faithful servant," comes to her, may she, who is wearing her years so gracefully, pass over the "Great Divide," where the many loved ones who have crossed over before her, will be waiting and watching at the Beautiful Gate to receive and conduct into one of many mansions of rest, prepared by our Heavenly Father for the faithful followers to an endless life of Joy, peace and unchallenged happiness."

Eliza Jane Duff continued to reside at the Duff homestead until her death in 1912. The house was a story and a half facing Beaver Creek in a southerly fashion. The walls were thirteen or fourteen inches thick made of solid brick. The foundation was made of solid limestone, probably chiseled from the banks of Beaver Creek. There were two rooms each about 20 x 20 feet and a hallway dividing the two large rooms with two rooms upstairs. A frame extension forming a "T" which housed the dining room and kitchen. The floors were made of six inch ash boards with the exception of the dining room that had a brick sunken floor. There were three chimneys – one at each section and one at the extension. The front door was wider than the average door with ornate work on it. It had a six inch wide seal and a precisely hewn limestone step leading to it. The windows were designed similar to the ones on the door.

"Mrs. Eliza Duff – Highly Respected Lady Passed Away. Death comes to Mrs. Eliza J. Duff at her home on Beaver Creek near Coral Hill Sunday morning at 4:30 o'clock after an illness of some three weeks, on the 8th day of December being in her 86th year at that time.

"She was the widow of the late Mr. Edmund Duff, who during his day was one of the most prominent men in the country. She had long been a landmark in her section and was a powerful influence for the good of the community. No woman stood higher or was more highly respected. She was the daughter of Maj. Joseph W. Evans and Elizabeth Warder Evans. Eliza Jane and Edmund Duff were married in the year of 1847.

“Five sons and one daughter survive; all the wide influence for the good in their communities. They are: Mr. John Will Duff of the Hiseville country, Hon. George T. Duff, one of our leading attorneys, Mr. Edmund Duff of Simpson County, Mr. Elmore Duff of Glasgow Junction, Mr. Henry Duff near town and Mrs. Frank M. Jones of Coral Hill.

“Before her marriage, Mrs. Duff was a Miss Evans, and is survived by a half brother, Mr. W. H. Evans of Rochester, Kentucky and Mr. Joseph A. Evans of Calhoun, Ky. She was a devout member of the Baptist Church and had a long leading influence among her people. Her passing will be mourned by a wide circle of friends. The interment was in the Glasgow Cemetery Tuesday afternoon at one o’clock. Graveside service was conducted by Rev. J. M. Bruce.”

WHAT TIME IS IT?

When tracing our ancestors, we can surely get confused when we see the words “old style” when referring to a date. What was that?

It all started with a realignment of the Julian calendar designed by Julius Caesar (seen left) in 46 B. C. In the mid 1570's a discovery was made that the Julian calendar was actually 10 days behind the seasons! Easter was falling later in the spring and eventually would have made its way into summer. What was causing this? It was the result of the solar year (known as the time it takes the Earth to complete one revolution around the sun) which was actually about 11 minutes short of the Julian calendar.

So Pope Gregory saved the day (seen right) by appointing a commission to fix the problem. It wasn't a speedy resolution; it took five years actually, but finally a physician by the name of Aloysius Lilius and astronomer Christopher Clavius came up with their solution. They proposed eliminating three leap years every 400 years. Ten days were declared to be non-existent with the day after October 4, 1582 declared October 15th.

However, not everyone didn't adopt the new calendar at the same time. England didn't adopt the calendar until the Calendar Act of 1750. (An Act for Regulating the Commencement of the Year; and for Correcting the Calendar now in Use," 24 Geo. 2 c. 23, in Danby Pickering, Statutes at Large from the 23rd to the 26th Year of King George (Cambridge: Joseph Bentham, 1765), 186; digital images, Google Books (<http://books.google.com>). From 1582 when the Gregorian calendar was declared effective until 1752, the first day of the year was different between England and its colonies who were still following the Julian calendar. So many were left to answer the question, what was really the first day of 1751?

Interesting question. In England it might be 25 March 1751. In Italy it was January 1. Or, to put it another way, if it was January 1 in England, it would be January 12th in Italy. How was this recorded? I'm sure you've seen a date written 1750/1751 with this double date showing that it was 1750 legally but 1751 on the solar calendar. Thus came the expression “Old Style” and “New Style” which one can see in the colonial records. These would be for dates between New Year (January 1) and old New Year (March 25th).

Very confusing!

MORRISON PARK CONTINUES TO GROW

CONTRIBUTED BY MELINDA J. OVERSTREET, Glasgow Daily Times

GLASGOW – The construction of the shell of a new tabernacle for Morrison Park is complete, but some work remains for the interior – if one can truly call it that.

With one side of the elongated design completely open except for support beams, the word “shelter” may come to mind more than “building.” It’s basic, but it’s not ordinary.

What became named a park for famed evangelist Henry Clay Morrison has roots in religious camp meetings, also known as revivals, he had there a century ago. People would come and camp there for days at a time to hear him and find or reconnect their relationship with God. Along the way, a few cabins were built, but most had been destroyed or fallen apart over time, just like the former tabernacle that stood as a centerpiece on the hillside at what are now Ky. 63 (Tompkinsville Road) and Bristletown Road.

Gary Bewley, who has led the effort in restoring the park, reflected on the past few years’ process that started with land that was covered in grass, weeds and miscellaneous brush that had to be cleared and removed from the premises. The next step was to repair and restore the few existing cabins, one of which was Morrison’s and has been made into a memorial library in his honor, and another of which was the camptime lodging of J.L. Piercy, another evangelist who studied under and often traveled with Morrison.

A concrete building that came later and houses restrooms has been completely remodeled, and all new plumbing, electricity and septic systems were installed last year, he said. Two years ago, a historical marker sponsored by the South Central Kentucky Historical and Genealogical Society was placed at the site by the Kentucky Historical Society.

“This has been six years in the making. When we started the restoration we knew we had to get to a place where there would be a tabernacle. It was painful to wait, but we knew we had to do it in steps, and this was the last big step to get us on our feet and get us to a working park again,” Bewley said. “I feel like this is really going to be the heart of the park. We had to have the tabernacle for the park to really exist, and we feel like this will be adequate for the present time and hopefully for a long time, but I hope there will come a day for us to enlarge it.”

Three rusty-looking but still-sturdy steel trusses from the original tabernacle form the base for the curved roof of the center portion, which has two lower, flat but gently sloping sections extending from each end. Bewley said it's approximately 80 feet by 20 to 25 feet total.

If people support the park with attendance and financially, it could be expanded later.

"We're just tickled to death with what we've got," said Bewley, who is president of the board for Morrison Park Camp Meeting Association, the nonprofit organization that oversees the property and the project.

The park was established in 1900, and they used tents at first, Bewley said, but an article in The Pentecostal Herald, the newspaper Morrison edited and published, from the fall of 1913 said they had a new tabernacle, Bewley said. The structure was demolished in the late 1990s after storms had damaged it at least twice, he said.

The five acres of land were later deeded by Morrison to "the community," with stipulations that it be used for "reclamation of backsliders" and other spiritual purposes.

Last July, Bewley said, the board decided to reach out to the community yet again to start the fundraising drive for the tabernacle and what they had in the spring is what they used.

"Those trusses were a big issue," he said. "Those were the only thing original to the old tabernacle, and we just wanted to use them. ... They're a little crooked and a little bent, but they're still very usable."

Those pieces are a focal point of the design that Bewley sketched.

Several contractors said they would take the job, but they wouldn't use the trusses, Bewley said. "I couldn't find anybody else and didn't know what to do," Bewley said. "I'd just been very prayerful that week."

Then a co-worker handed him a name of someone who had done work for his brother. Bewley got in touch with Mike Wilson, a co-owner of Two Brothers Construction & Remodeling with Chris Walker. Despite the name, they are not biologically related, they said, but they consider themselves "brothers from another mother."

They have been excellent to work with and have been as economical as possible, Bewley said. "We started this with a sketch," Walker said last week, as the wood framing on which the corrugated sheet metal would hang was just getting built.

"A sketch and a dream," Wilson said, as he returned from his truck with the drawing Bewley had made.

Walker said they had decided to build the cross to go in the podium area, and Wilson said they were providing a significant discount as a donation "just to be part of this project."

"We got excited when Gary got ahold of us and we came out and saw the trusses," Walker said. "We got real excited about the possibilities."

Wilson said they were so pleased to take on the challenge that Bewley couldn't have gotten a better response if he'd laid candy out in front of a baby.

"My plan is this is going to be here another 100 years," he said.

Walker said he wants to be able to take his grandchildren, who don't exist yet, there someday and tell them about how he was part of building the tabernacle.

"They put up just exactly what the Lord pictured to me that we could have," Bewley said. "It meant so much that you had people excited about it."

He said Wednesday that he'd been out there the evening before and it was so beautiful to him it was kind of mesmerizing.

"We've still got some cosmetic things to do, some benches to build," Bewley said. "We're planning the dedication date for Sept. 11. We're going to work really hard to get that done. ... I can't wait to see it in use and people coming."

The date was chosen because the Rev. John Shepherd, pastor of two local churches that usually have their homecoming on church grounds, approached him last year about the possibility of having it at the park this year.

Bewley, also an ordained minister, said the plan is for him to present one of Morrison's sermons that day and dedicate the new structure as the Carl Jackson Memorial Tabernacle. Jackson, a descendant of Piercy's, and his family have given more toward the tabernacle than anyone else, Bewley said. Although Jackson is now deceased, his family members have continued the generosity, and the tabernacle probably wouldn't have been possible without all their help, Bewley said."

TWO BARREN COUNTY MEN AND ONE METCALFE MAN HELD PRISONERS

"From Kentucky:

Our indefatigable and patriotic friend, Dr. Strader, of Morgan's Command, arrived here yesterday, in charge of a Kentucky state coach, containing three political prisoners, arrested by Colonel Morgan. Their names are Dr. HALL, of Glasgow, William O. NEWMAN, of Metcalfe county, and Mr. HODGE, of Barren County. These gentlemen are prominent Unionists in their respective counties, and are sent here as hostages for the release of citizens of Kentucky, arrested and imprisoned by the Lincoln authorities for sympathy (expressed or suspected) with the Southern cause.

"In the inauguration of this retaliatory policy Col. Morgan will receive the hearty commendation of thousands of patriotic men in this section and it is to be hoped that his course will be preserved in, and our enemies learn to conduct this war upon more civilized and humane principles than has marked their acts thus far.

"Dr. Strader reports upon the authority of the guard who delivered these prisoners to him at Dixon's Springs, near the Kentucky line, that there is a general uprising of the people in both Middle Tennessee and Kentucky, who are flocking by thousands to Bragg's army and Morgan's command. The latter have everywhere been received with the most enthusiastic welcomes and demonstrations of joy.

"Suell is reported to be hurrying from Nashville towards Bowling Green, by the Edgefield Road. Gen. Bragg is supposed to have crossed the Cumberland and making for the same point, with fair prospects of reaching it before the Yankees. The Governor of Kentucky has called for 50,000 volunteers for thirty days, to resist the rebel invasion, to rendezvous at Paducah.

"Dr. Strader brings as copies of the Videtta published at Glasgow, on the 30th ult., by members of Morgan's command. The last number announces that it will soon be issued in Lexington. Dr. S. also lays us under obligations for lines at Louisville and other Northern papers, which we will give for the information of our readers.

"May the Doctor's career of usefulness to the Confederacy and obligingness to his friends meet with a fitting reward, and his shadow never be less! - Knoxville Register."

TOMPKINSVILLE NEWSPAPER -- WEEK OF APRIL 24, 1893 - DOUBLE KILLING OF BROWN AND PITCOCK

(From newspaper of the week of April 24, 1893)

Bud PITCOCK and Ed BROWN engaged in a blood curdling encounter, each wielding the cold and unmerciful steel, a tragedy ending in death Sunday evening. One of the most tragic and fatal affairs that ever occurred in this part of the state transpired near the residence of Roland Pitcock, near Meshack in Monroe County. Joe PITCOCK, the son of Bud Pitcock and Ed Brown, both of the same neighborhood, met near Roland Pitcock's and having had some hard feelings existing between them before, engaged in short words, whereupon Brown knocked young Pitcock down. Bud Pitcock, the father, then came out of the house and asked Brown some questions about the affair and wanted to know what had been done. Brown then told Pitcock he had knocked the young man down but was sorry he had to do it. Pitcock, then without any further words, struck at Brown with a knife with such deadly effect as to literally disembowel his victim the first stroke. He afterwards inflicted other slight wounds on Brown's person in the thigh and knee. Brown then said, "Bud, you have killed me" and resisted the attack with such determination as to cut Pitcock literally to pieces.

Both men were carried into the house at Roland Pitcocks, who was a cousin of Buds and physicians were sent for and everything possible was done to save their lives but without effect. Pitcock died Monday at 4 p.m. and Brown at about eleven the same evening. They both expressed regret of the circumstances which terminated in the sad and tragic ending of their lives. Whiskey, as usual, is supposed to have played its part in bringing on the trouble. Pitcock leaves a wife and a very large family of children while Brown leaves a young wife and four children to mourn their untimely end.

Much regret is expressed among the friends of both parties. No bad blood or further trouble seems to exist anywhere on account of the occurrence Wednesday. The remains of both men were carried by the same company of friends to the burying grounds at Mt. Hermon Church and there in the presence of a large crowd consisting of about four or five hundred people tenderly laid away, some thirty feet apart, to await the final call when all things earthly shall be done away and pale nations of the dead, great and small, shall stand before God.

THE DEATH OF EDWARD S. BROWN

We know Ed S Brown died 24 Apr 1893.

We know she was the dau/o Theodric Tooley and Dilemma Hamilton.

On page 292 RED BOOK is Tooley family picture. I was curious which girl is Sarah F. Tooley Brown. I called Opal Tooley Strode who is 91 and in a nursing home. She is the daughter of Manderson Tooley, brother of Sarah F Brown. She could not tell me which girl is Sarah but thinks she can find out.

The following she did tell me: Ed Brown and Bud Pitcock and his son, Joe, 14, were at a place not so good -- should not have been there. Ed and Joe were outside and Ed slapped Joe who went inside and told his dad, Bud. Bud came out and cut Ed with a knife; while holding his intestines in Ed cut Bud and they both died the same day. Ed and Bud had known each other a long time and were good friends.

The day they were buried their bodies were taken by wagon and team to the cemetery. One of the two arrived before the other so everything was held until they both were at the cemetery to be buried at the same time.

I found a:

T. G. Pitcock (b 22 Jun 1848 and d 24 Apr 1893) at Mt. Gilead Cem. and Ed S Brown (b 6 Jun 1859 and d 24 Apr 1893) at Old Mt. Hermon Cem.

Don't know which is wrong, I copied it wrong, the cemetery book is wrong or Opal is wrong.

This young Joe Pitcock passed the 1893 newspaper with article of the "Double Killing" to someone (didn't catch the name) who has now given it to Charles Estie Strode who is the son of Opal Strode and owns those Strode funeral homes in that area. His plans are to frame it and hang it in the funeral home. I said to her he should copy it and sell them and that I would buy one. No reply to that.

Have you seen these:

A LOOK AT LIFE – LETTER TO JO. C. BARLOW

From the files of Eva Coe Peden. The original at an earlier time was in the possession of Mrs. T. L. Johns of Franklin, KY. I have been unable to ascertain who Jo. C. Barlow was. There was a John C. Barlow who resided in Cave City on the 1920 census but was only 3 years old at that time. If anyone can identify him, please email the editor.

Mr. Jo. C. Barlow
Cave City, Ky.

My Dear Friend Little Jo:

I received your letter of Dec. 28. I thank you very much for it. It filled my old heart with emotions of pleasure as I traced the lines from your pen sketching the crooks and turns of your life since 1860. I now understand in an impromptu disconnected way to give you the reply which I promised. I do not possess the faculty of telling much in a few words so you will pardon me if I should be a little tedious.

It strikes me as a little romantic that I should happen to hear from an old and dear friend of those early times when you and I felt that “swelling of the heart which we can ne’er feel again.” The scenes and incidents of those days are now but a sweet memory. And now it fills my heart with joy to recall them.

I landed in Louisville in the night time when it was dark about January 1, 1860. And the next morning I emerged from the Louisville Hotel on Main St. I will never forget how tall the houses looked. They seemed to me to reach to the skies. It was the first time I had ever visited a city of any size. This was the starting point of my life. I left Louisville in the following March. Stopped off at Woodburn where I secured a situation as salesman with Smoot, Robinson, Brown & Bro. That summer during the Presidential campaign I heard your father make a speech at Woodburn in joint discussion with a fellow from Glasgco whose name I forgot. Your father was on the side of Breckinridge ticket, made the first speech, the discussion was warm and exciting and during the speech of his antagonist they had an altercation in which they came to blows and clinches. Your father was getting decidedly the best of it when friends interfeared and separated them. A few minutes afterwards your father, who was the aggressor in the combat, made one of the most wholesoled and fervent apologies to his opponent that I ever witnessed, and from that moment they were true friends. The incident served as a beautiful illustration to me of a principle or rule which I have ever since adopted in my own life, which is this: if I find I have in any way mistreated my fellow man it is bravery as well as duty, on my part, to hasten to make all due apologies.

In the fall of 60 I drifted westward, my father with his family, having settled on a farm in Western Missouri, near Kansas City, the previous year. I remained with my father on the farm until the fall of 1862. At this time the war between the states was raging with unabating fury. Gorilla bands on both sides of the line which divided Missouri and Kansas had formed and were fighting each other and a constant warfare was going on all around me, and the life of a civilian had become an uncertain quantity. All the young men of my family newly acquired acquaintances had by this time either joined the Southern Army or Southern Gorrillas led by Quantrill. Having belonged to the Douglass wing of the Democratic party, I was not in favor of the secession of the Southern states. I could not consciencously take up arms against the Union and march with the Southern boys and I had not the heart to go into the Union Army and engage in deadly combat with or against all my newly acquired friends who were all marching under the Southern flag. So I decided that I would never enter either army. One morning, in the month of November 1862, a friend of mine, belonging to Quantrill’s band of Gorrillas came to me and said, “Ben, you know I have always told you that when it became unsafe for you to remain in this Country, I would let you know. That time has now arrived. I advise you never to join any Army. One thing is certain, you cannot remain here. I have now redeemed my promise. Shake the dust from under your feet, Goodbye, take good care of yourself.” Sam Montgomery, for that was his name, was not only true friend, but as brave a fellow as ever fell in defence of the lost cause. He afterwards fell upon the field of battle under the Southern flag. I went immediately to the state of Illinois where I remained over two years, teaching county District schools, in which I had good success.

In Dec. 1864 I received a message which stated that my father had died suddenly on a farm in the Territory of Nebraska, to which place he had in the meantime been forced to move with his family on account of a military order forcing all the people to leave that portion of Mo. Where he was when I left him.

My mother was now left a widow with eleven children all younger than myself, living on a rented farm for support, with limited means.

I gave up my school in Ill. and in Jany. Following 1865, landed in Nebraska giving my mother, brothers and sisters a joyful surprise. The war ended the next spring but it was not until March 1866 that I with wagons and teams moved my mother and family overland back to their home in Missouri where we found a country, though well improved and beautiful when we left it now a great waste, made so by the ravages of war. Having been entirely deserted for two years, we found houses, fences and improvements nearly all burned up and the public roads completely obliterated and hidden from sight by a huge growth of weeds and shrubs.

The owners whose lives had been spared came flocking back to their homes and all began life new again. Fortunately the country as covered with grass, a mixture of prairie and blue grass which remained green all winter and the woods were full of wild hogs and wild turkies and the air was full of wild geese. The wild hogs were fat made so on the waste and turkies and geese were in good order. So there was no trouble about the supply of meat and grazing.

We shipped in corn and other needed supplies from a distance and it was only a few years when the country was running again in regular apple pie order. My mother and family were getting in good shape and able to take care of themselves when the year 1868 arrived. This year was an important epoch in my life as it was in the month of March of that year that I met for the first time the beautiful and charming young lady who six months afterwards became my wife. Her name was Lucinda Conner. Since then we have traveled hand in hand sharing each other's joys and sorrows. Our home life has been a happy one. While we have not traveled much and have not seen much of the world, yet we have visited St. Louis several times together and attended the World's Fair at Chicago and we often go to Kansas City. I never go off anywhere without taking her along and she is always ready and willing to go at the drop of a hat to any place I ask her to whether it be to a day's outing on some lake or stream with rod and reel or to the City. (By the way she is an expert fisherman as well as myself for it is said by many here that I am one, but as a lady said to me once all fisherman are cranks and I am a crank angler.)

Our home has been blessed with one only child, a daughter. She has been married several years. Her husband is a very worthy gentleman, who was educated for the legal profession but has been in the newspaper publishing business for several years. He is also Postmaster at this place which pays a salary of $2,000.00 a year.

I have been in business here for 20 years. Have a pleasant good neighbors and good friends.

Now as to the politics I have but little to say as like yourself, I have wisely as I think kept out of that. Have voted the Democratic ticket however all my life, except in the last Presidential election. I went fishing that day and did not vote. I studied the financial question as I never studied a question before. I never have been able to see that 16 to 1 would benefit matters. However I still vote with the silver democrats since the Presidential election.

As to religion. Have belonged to the Christian Church about 25 years, my wife being a member of the same church. In times past I have like many others argued and debated much on the modes and purpose of the baptism and the conversion of sinners. But I have, at last, tired of all that. I believe now that the Church that does the most good is the nearest right. I believe in doing right, not through fear of future punishment or hope of future reward, but do right because it is right. The man who does this at all times carries the reward in his own heart, will have it with him to the end of life and into the future world, if there is one, and need have no fears in meeting his God there. I care but little for the different systems of theology whether orthodox or not. What I look for is the good that any religious body is doing. I applaud all good, come from whatever source it may.

I believe now that I have about finished this letter. I hope you will pardon its great length. If an apology is necessary, I might add in justice to myself that it is not longer than the space of time since I saw you or since we surrounded the little round table at the United States Hotel.

Now in conclusion give my love to my Cousin Ella, your wife. I haven't a very vivid recollection of her but I do of her mother, Cousin Gusta, when I saw her last about 14 years ago when visiting in Ky. was the very image of my mother. Don't think I ever saw two people who looked more alike. I happen to think before closing that we agree in one thing. I am heart and soul with you on the liquor traffic.

Truly your friend
/s/ Ben P. Mayes

Concluding notes: There is no indication of how Jo. C. Barlow and Ben P. Mayes had met. Ben was, according to the 1880 Nevada, MO census, born about 1838 in TN; wife was Lou Mayes and he was a merchant. One daughter, cited above, was Elnora Mayes who was then 10 years old. The "P" as his middle initial is shown as Peden.

RECENT SPEAKERS

JONATHAN JEFFREY, WKU, took us on a culinary journey through the many cookbooks that WKU has collected. He shared some of the recipes from the past which would not be considered all that healthy today. A wonderful speaker, the program was most interesting.

GERALD FISHER of Meade Co. KY. Just in time for Halloween, the Barren Co Historical Society presented the tale of the Battletown Witch by author Gerald Fisher. He told the story of Leah Smock of Battletown, KY who was burned alive there in 1840. Leah was only 22 years old that year and accused of supernatural powers. that had the neighborhood saying she was a witch. Leah's ghost is said to remain there; seen in a purple glow standing beside her grave. He also told the history of witchcraft which influenced the early colonists. The presentation was exceptionally interesting as Gerald told of local tales of those who supposedly have seen Leah's ghost; of cameras that wouldn't work at the gravesite and more. Copies of his book are available through acclaimpress.com, Amazon.com and other sites.

First Presbyterian Church of Glasgow, KY. This book is rather a fascinating look at the oldest church in Glasgow. It pre-dated the other two old churches - Glasgow Baptist and First Methodist so the reader will find many names that are familiar. The original minutes from 1802-1830's were lost. Then in 1841, the Cumberland Presbyterian Church was formed and First Presbyterian was loaned the minutes from that time frame to copy into their own books. This "Book 1" covers from 1844-1875. It begins with a large membership list from the 1830's showing deaths, dates received, dates removed, locations where members moved. Also included is a large list of infant baptisms - names and dates, most time parents. Following are the minutes of the business meetings (called Sessions). There are times when the church didn't meet or met elsewhere; several "difficulties" with members are shown and times when they had no minister. It is a fascinating look at the past of a struggling church in its earlier years. 66 pages with full-name index. $15.00 or $10.00 as an e-book.

Warren County Kentucky Cemeteries Revisited: There are several cemetery books available for Warren County but many do not have more current burials and many have errors. This book is not a duplicate of O. L. Thomas's book Ancestral Graves, does not include Fairview, St. Joseph's, the Smiths Grove or soldier burial cemeteries. In the 1960's Rabold & Price published a book on other cemeteries in the county. Later, Eva Coe Peden had started making corrections on their records and had a long list of errors and further information. I took both sources and added in FindAGrave and compared all. Where photos existed of the actual stone I checked those and found that FindAGrave also had errors. I also found that in the Rabold-Price book many of the cemeteries were not complete though they did not indicate this. This book contains transcriptions of 86 cemeteries with as accurate information that I could find. It includes some photos of the cemeteries cited (not individual stones). I indicated the burials that were not shown in Rabold-Price and those not catalogued by FindAGrave. Some cemeteries are updated to 2016. 164 pages including a surname index. $30.00 or $20.00 for the e-book edition.

ALSO: I have added many family files from the Eva Coe Peden collection. The individual files added include:

Atterberry, Beard, Thomas Bowles, Bridges-Payne, Elias Button Family, Clark & Associated families, Defevers, Dougherty, Gardner, Hall-Harlow, Jones & Starr, Thomas Jefferson Lee Family, Logsdon-Durbin, McCandless, David McKinney, Neagle-Houchens, Pedigo, Puckett, Snow, Staples-Hickman, Tisdale-Brown-Settle-Thompson-Willis, Wilcoxson Circuit Court Cases, Caleb Wolf, Thomas Wood and Wright-Lair. ELVIS PRESLEY IS MY 3RD COUSIN!!! and other genealogy dreams

By Sandi.

So, I confess, the “Hound Dog” singer is no kin of mine. But, this is definitely one of my pet peeves. It’s not the fact that we’re not kin, but how eager we are to connect to some famous person past or present.

I use Ancestry.com quite often. But, according to The Legal Genealogist, Ancestry is now offering an app for your phone – totally free! What does it do? It supposedly will search all the family trees on line and connect your tree and bingo it will show you how you are related to the world’s famous people past and present.

Wow! To think that I might be a descendant of King Arthur of the Round Table, or a movie star, or even a President!!! Wouldn’t that look grand on my family tree?

However, just how is this possible? Is there confirmation? Where does the information come from? Well, primarily from other individual’s family trees. Are these trees correct or – since they’re on-line this is supposed to be true?

How does it work? You select your family tree and indicate yourself as the starting point (or anyone you want). Then you give permission for the app to search for your famous relatives. It might show that you are the 9th cousin of the 44th President (Barrack Obama) because his family tree and yours might have a Richard York. (This example courtesy of the Legal Genealogist). But, oops, it appears it’s a different Richard York, there are differences that don’t line up.

Or, maybe it says you are a distant relative of some movie star because an ancestor of the same name appears in both trees. What’s the proof – someone else’s tree? What was their source?

Perhaps we are related to someone well known.

I know for a fact that my grandmother was a close cousin of the late evangelist Dwight L. Moody. However, there IS documentation – Bible records, letters, source documents. I can prove it! But connecting me to some Egyptian pharaoh or taking me back to Moses is hard to prove.

So, if you want some fun – not always genealogy – then get this app called “Meet the We’re Related App” from Ancestry. However, I’m not certain that I will believe the results; with my luck it might say I’m descended from Jack the Ripper! This is NOT genealogy, this is amusement until otherwise proven!

No Society Meetings in November and December

We take a winter break in November and December for our local meetings. So – Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all our members!

I HEREBY RENOUNCE!

RENUNCIATION. What exactly is this?

If you look the word renounce in the dictionary it says something like “give up, refuse, or resign by formal declaration.”

In legal terms, the definition gets a little more specific: “reject, cast off; repudiate; disclaim; forsake; abandon; divest one’s self of a right, power, or privilege. Usually it implies an affirmative act of disclaimer or disavowal.” (Black’s Dictionary of Law, St. Paul, Minn.: West, 1891), p. 1021)

Who renounces what? As researchers, it pays to know. We are most likely to see renunciations in two categories in our ancestors.

- (1) Renouncing the right to administer an estate,
- (2) Renouncing the provisions of a will, normally the widow’s dower.

Why do we care? Because although usually these are short statements, often family relationships or family names are shown.

In (1) above, the person is refusing to administer an estate, either as Executor/Executrix or Administrator/Administratrix. They are “refusing to take upon one’s self the office...” Remember that when the deceased left a will, he named an Executor. Perhaps this individual felt they were not qualified to handle all the work, paper work, etc. involved and renounced the position. Perhaps they had moved over the years and didn’t want to come back and spend months – sometimes years – to settle the estate. Perhaps his/her health was poor and they just couldn’t do it. In this case they would file a renunciation and most times requested that another individual, named, handle it.

The same thing would apply to an individual appointed by the Court as Administrator. Usually the Court looked to a family member first, then to disinterested parties that could fairly administer the estate of the deceased. They could also renounce.

In (2) above, it was not uncommon for the husband, in his will, to specify certain things to be given to his wife and children. He would go through item by item – land, furniture, slaves, etc. listing who was to get what. However, the widow might not be pleased as to what he had left her. She might have looked at it financially or practically and decided that she would renounce his provisions for her and instead take her widow’s dower allowed by law – 1/3rd of the estate.

So where do we find these renunciations to see if there are names that might help us in putting the family together?

In (1) above, depending on the state and county, they could be found in one or two places – the county order books or in separate books of renunciations. Locally, they are to be found in the County Order Books. The renunciation could be a simple statement that Mary Jones renounces her right to act as Executrix and her son John Jones is recommended. Or William Smith renounces his right to administer

In (2) Separate books could be kept on a widow's renunciation; most normally, they will be found in the will books. They might not be recorded right after the will, but later in the book. It could be a simple statement or list other family members.

As genealogists we are always looking for tidbits of information and this could be one place for you to look.

GENERAL INFORMATION

MEMBERSHIP is open to anyone interested in the history of the South Central Kentucky area, especially Barren County. Annual dues are $15.00.

TRACES, The Society's quarterly publication, is received by all members. It is published seasonally; Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter. Members joining during the year will receive the past issues of that year in a separate mailing.

CONTRIBUTIONS are earnestly solicited. Family genealogies, marriages, Bible records, wills and probate, cemetery, court and other records are all acceptable. You will be listed as the contributor.

EXCHANGE of Traces with other Societies or publications is acceptable and welcome.

BOOKS to be reviewed in Traces must be sent with information as to the cost, including postage, from whom the book may be obtained. They become the property of the Society library. Books should have Kentucky interest. Reviews will be published as space permits.

MEETINGS are held monthly, except November and December (unless otherwise advised), at the Mary Wood Weidon Library, 1530 S. Green Street, Glasgow, KY., on the 4th Thursday of each month at 6 p.m. Some special program may be held at other locations and local newspaper and media will be informed. Interesting and informative programs are planned for each meeting and your supportive attendance is always welcome.

BACK ISSUES of Traces are available. Our supplies of the following are gone: Vol. 1, Nos. 1-4 (1973); Nos. 1-4 (1974); Vol. 4 (1976); Vol. 5, No. 1 (1977); Vol. 3, Nos. 1 and 4 (1981); Vol. 10, Nos. 1 and 2 (1982); Vol. 12, No. 2 (1984). All others can be purchased as long as the supply lasts at $4.00 each. Back issues will be mailed with our regular quarterly mailings.

CORRESPONDENCE of any type that requires a reply must contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address to: Barren County Historical Society, P. O. Box 157, Glasgow, KY 42142-0157.

BOOKS AND MATERIALS of a genealogical nature that you no longer need – would you consider donating them to the Society? They will be preserved for other researchers and are deeply appreciated. Contact the Editor, Sandi Gorin, 205 Clements Ave., Glasgow, KY 42141-3409 or sgorin@glasgow-ky.com
