Administrative History: The Western Faculty Wives Club was organized on September 30, 1927 at the home of Bess Cherry, wife of the first president of WKU. The club began with a membership of twenty-three, with Mrs. Cherry as president. Following the death of Henry Cherry in August 1937, Bess Cherry submitted her resignation after having served as president of the club for ten years. Virginia Garrett, wife of WKU president Paul Garrett became president of the Faculty Wives Club on November 9, 1937. Mrs. Garrett was president of the club for eighteen years. Her resignation followed the death of her husband. Sarah Thompson became the third president of the club in 1955 when her husband Kelly became president of the college.

Each of the presidents of Western has expressed his desire that the wife of the president of the college should serve as president of the Faculty Wives Club. This provision is also made in the constitution adopted by the club in 1939. In 1963 the constitution was amended to make the president an annually elected position like all the other officers.

The purpose of the Faculty Wives Club is to promote the best interest and welfare of the college. The club has accomplished this purpose through the various services it has rendered throughout its history. An outstanding service was rendered by the club in 1937 to the Louisville flood victims who were brought to Bowling Green for housing. Faculty Wives assisted in the serving of meals to several hundred flood victims who were housed in the gymnasium on WKU's campus.

During the years of World War II, the club dispensed with its regular meetings and went weekly by groups to the Red Cross headquarters of the city to assist in necessary war-time projects. Meetings during those years were held quarterly.

In the years following the war, Virginia Garrett and the Faculty Wives provided a nursery in the Veteran's Village to assist the wives of the veterans who needed to work outside the home. This service was rendered because of the overcrowded conditions on the campus brought on by the great influx in enrollment in the college following the war.

In more recent years, Sarah Thompson and club members have served on decorating committees for the dormitories, the student center and Faculty House and have helped with homecomings.

The Faculty Wives Club sponsors the organization for student wives and assists the Student Wives Club in organizational activities each year. The Student Wives Club has its own officers, however, and conducts its own meetings.

Many social opportunities are afforded the club members. In addition to the social periods following each business meeting, there are various special occasions. A tea is given each year at the first meeting in honor of new members and a covered dish supper is also held. The Christmas party given each year for the entire college and the annual faculty dinner are occasions in which members actively participate. In addition to these affairs, Faculty Wives are encouraged to attend student activities including chapel, concerts and plays.

The club meets monthly from October to May. Since 1937, a luncheon has been held in connection with the May meeting, at which officers for the following school year are selected. The wives of all members of the faculty and administrative staff are automatically enrolled as members of the Faculty Wives Club.

In 1980 the Faculty Wives Club adopted a revised constitution and by-laws. Membership was opened to every woman associated with the university who was interested in joining and the name of the organization was changed to WKU Women.

Box 2	14	Faculty Wives Club (WKU)	1941-1977	Committees - Courtesy
Description	Faculty Courtesy Committee recommendations adopted March 21, 1963: 1. Not to send any gifts to children for minor illnesses or communicable diseases. 2. Cards with personal note instead of a baby gift - in case of a new faculty mother a visit is also desirable 3. For faculty wives with minor surgery, a personal note. 4. For faculty members a personal note, at the discretion of the committee. 5. In the case of death of any faculty wife's parent a plant or whatever the committee deems appropriate. In case of the husband's parent a card. 6. In case of death of immediate family meat will be furnished by the club and the remainder of the meal to be donated by various members of the club. As a club, however, faculty wives' cannot assume the responsibility of serving the meals. An offer will be made to stay at the funeral home if desired. If death of man the husbands will be asked to assist at the funeral home.			Subjects Women Clubs
