Dan T. Chesnut Published The First Paper In Corbin

Newspapers in Corbin had their beginning June 17, 1892, when Dan T. Chesnut founded The Corbin Daily Tribune. The weekly newspaper was destined to become the forerunner of The Corbin Daily Tribune and Sunday Times.

The title of this paper, along with those of the Pantagraph, The Corby, The Corbin News, and the County News, are all shrubs of the change, mergers and transmogrifications.

In 1892, when he sold it to W. W. and J. J. Fox, he published it in a little frame building which stood next to the city manager's power plant building of市中心.

The first Tribune kept the newspaper until 1915, when it was sold to Elmore Belcher. Thereafter, there were a number of owners of The Daily Tribune and Sunday Times, none of whom has been identified.

So far, we have been able to locate Leonard Mitchell of 334 Florida Street, who has been editor of the first newspaper published here. He is dated Dec. 12, 1892, and is the sixth issue of the weekly.

In 1893, the first Sunday Times newspaper was started here, entitled The Good News. The News was brought into being for the files of the paper. It is dated Aug. 12, 1892, and is the ninth issue of the weekly.

There is no printed record of the length of this title had come into existence. It is known that this same year 1902 another newspaper, The County News, had only been in existence since 1898.

In the meantime, two additional newspapers and a shopper's news had been established in the Tri-county area.

The first issue of the newspaper was printed on an 8-page tabloid in size. The paper had the unique system of using a printing press, and the newspaper was started here, entitled The Enterprise and its numerous successors have emerged into what is now the Enterprise and its numerous successors.

Beginning with the advent of the Enterprise, the publishing business went through many turbulent years. Reverses were the rule, but there were also some successful years. The newspapers had been printed on a four-page tabloid in size. The Enterprise and its numerous successors have emerged into what is now the Enterprise and its numerous successors.

In 2016, the first issue of the newspaper was printed in March, 2016. If you are interested in the history of the paper, you can find more information on their website.

Outgrown Press

For several years the newspapers were hand printed for news in the Corbin area. There was no presses available at that location, and the publications didn't have the equipment to merit a new building that could house the newspapers and the printing presses, binders, and cutting presses.

The first issue of the newspapers was printed on paper, and another major step in the progress of the newspapers was taken, a new Daily Tribune's press was purchased in January, 1916.

The Daily Tribune had been printed on a costly radiophonic field, radiophonic station to 1000 watts. WCTT continues to operate on 680 kilocycles, with an ad and band service. London Club Has Started Improvements

London — With plans for expansion and improvements in the works, the London Country Club is looking ahead to the future. Downed on level rolling 990 foot shaft five wells were dug to reach the reservoir and the club is planning to expand its gifts to the members which will be to the large extent.

In many parts of the great Southeast, Humble's "Happy Motoring" dealers are busy introducing the new sign of energy—the sign of the future—Enco Energy. The sign faces all other oil companies in the country in research and production to supply America with the energy for a greater tomorrow. So we're pulling up from the back of the line and the Missouri dealers who went the extra measure of quality and service they get in the Tiger TEAM will look for the Tiger sign. Now, more than ever before, ... "Put a Tiger in your Tank![" with great Enco Extra . . . . . . . . . for "Happy Motoring!"

"Happy Motoring" Sold here!

Watch for our new signs--first the Tiger, then ENCO
America has come a long way... from the log cabin to the skyscraper... from the covered wagon to the jet plane... from the hand plow to atomic energy... from the hand fed operation to today's high speed newspaper press.

The road has never been easy, but it has always been clearly marked... its mile-stones, the basic rights on which this nation was founded and by which it has lived and grown strong. The right of every man to determine for himself, the course his life shall follow. The right to choose his own work or to build his own business. The right to go as far as his own ability will take him in the direction of his own choosing... the right to compete freely with his fellow man in the achievement of his objectives.

It is these rights that spur each man to create and produce to the limits of his capacity... that prompt each business to give its customers more for less. It is these rights that have made America's might. With pride we look back at our past. With confidence we look to the future and all that lies ahead. Holding resolutely to a way of life so critically tested, so conclusively proved... we shall continue our forward march to a better life for all.

Although I have been gone from Corbin for the past 12 years, I have learned many things. All of these things together have made us the people we are today.

I was a boy in Corbin when I was very young, and I have lived in Corbin for most of my life. I was born in 1922 and was 2 years old when I moved to Corbin from Kentucky. I have lived in Corbin ever since.

Early Tradition Molded The Redhounds’ Athletic Success

By ATTORNEY JOE S. FEATHER

Forty-four years ago Corbin High played its first football game. It is reputed that Corbin lost 142-0 to Pineville. It was the first organized football contest. It is one of the stories of the early days of football that might be repeated in connection with the Redhounds played with their guns and in a spirit of fun.

In 1926, in the high school era, the Redhounds were invited to Baron, where the second victory of the year was won by 13-7 over Mountain School. The Redhounds had three touchdowns for the victory. The first victory over Mountain School was over Windsor in 1934. The Redhounds won 38, lost 15 and tied 4.

The Present Methodist Church Was Formed Through A Merger

The history of the First Methodist Church of Corbin is the story of many individuals and organizations that have contributed to its development over the years. In the early days, the church was a small and humble structure, but through the years, it has grown and expanded to meet the needs of its congregation.

The church was founded in 1847, and its first meeting place was a frame building on Main Street. The building was small and simple, but it served the needs of the early members. In 1905, the church decided to build a new building, and a committee was set up to bring about the merger.

In March, 1905, Rev. Vogel was appointed as the supervising pastor of Northside Methodist church. He was asked to report on the condition of the church and the congregation. The church was then decided to build a new building.

The building was designed by Mr. H. M. King, Church Architect, and was constructed by the A. C. B. Company. The cornerstone was laid on September 24, 1905, and the building was completed in 1906.

The new building was dedicated on June 1, 1906, and the dedication service was conducted by Bishop U. V. W. Darlington. Other ministers present at the dedication were Mr. H. E. Coleman, Mr. T. J. Ballard, Dr. J. F. Wilber, Henry Stuart, Rev. J. H. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Joyner, and Mr. J. T. Baker.

The new building was a significant milestone in the church's history, and it provided a larger and more comfortable space for worship and community activities.

In January, 1929, Rev. Vogel was appointed as the pastor of the church. He served in this position until 1932, during which time the church property was purchased by the congregation. The church property was then sold to the Letcher Cemetery Association.

In 1939, the church purchased land on the corner of Main Street and Seventh Avenue. The church property was then sold to the Letcher Cemetery Association.

In March, 1950, the church purchased land on the corner of Main Street and Seventh Avenue. The church property was then sold to the Letcher Cemetery Association.

The church has continued to grow and expand over the years, and it has played a significant role in the community of Corbin.

The work, which was begun this past fall, includes:
1. Greens, a watering system, and improvements on the existing fairways;
2. A new 24,000 square foot, air-conditioned clubhouse;
3. A refinishing pool and built bowling lanes;

The total cost of all the improvements is expected to climb to about $200,000 this year on extensive improvements to the Corbin Golf Club.

The work, which was begun this past fall, includes:
1. Greens, a watering system, and improvements on the existing fairways;
2. A new 5,700 square foot, air-conditioned club house;
3. A swimming pool and bath house;

The total cost of all the improvements is expected to climb to about $200,000 this year.

Directors of the new club are Dr. Harold Barton, chairman; Dr. Sam Ballou; Leland Steely; Sam Galligher; Claude Spears; Marvin Cadle; F. W. Stopinski; Frank Gieszl; Earl Bonza; Mac Martin; Carl Crider; Max Duncan; Bert Gillespie; Bob Daniel; Herman Leick; Jim Vernon; Roy Houser; Ed Hacker; and J. T. Enlow.

The architectural firm of Shlajun, Isaacs and Sullivan, of Cincinnati, will design the new club house.

A 150 -car parking lot will meet the needs of the club. The new tennis courts will be placed near the club house.

Most of the financing for the $200,000 improvement plan has been done by the two local banks, the Corbin Deposit Bank and the First National Bank of Corbin.

The First Dryland Bridge

An example of mountaineer ingenuity, this pole bridge was erected across a dryland gap in the old Kiwanis Trail in 1927. Twelve hundred trees were used in the construction of the bridge. The trees were cut from nearby woodland and hauled to the site. The sawed lumber was used. The bridge was built mostly by volunteer manpower. It gave the appearance of meandering with the trail that was also built mostly by volunteer labor. Sometimes, called the "Canalier Bridge" in recognition of the late Wade Canalier's enthusiasm for the project, it was destroyed when the present beautiful concrete bridge was built by the highway department. The Very First Redhounds

Identification of Champions

The Redhounds got their biggest boost when Tony George asked the region's coach to appoint what is now known as the “Redhounds” as Kentucky High School Basketball Champions for 1935-36.

This was the first time that Corbin had won the state championship and it was a great source of pride for the city. The Redhounds won the state championship in 1935-36 and in 1936-37.

The Best in Kentucky

The Redhounds had a record of 28-1 in the 1935-36 season, winning the state championship. They were led by Coach Nick Denes, who was named the state's outstanding coach.

The Redhounds

The Redhounds were a team of basketball players from Corbin, Kentucky. They were led by Coach Nick Denes, who was named the state's outstanding coach.

The team consisted of players such as Tony George, Robert Wilderness, and Otis Meadors, who were all named to the All-State team.

The team's success was due to the hard work and dedication of Coach Denes, who had been coaching at Corbin High School for several years.

The 1935-36 season was a turning point for the Redhounds, as they won their first state championship.

Metal Firm Has Moved To Faristan

The former home and office of the "Jasper's Iron and Metal Company," for several years the flagship of Corbin's U.S. Highway 25 and its operations to be the Jasper Gasoline, has been Learned that the company's new owner, the late Mr. and Mrs. Corbin, has purchased the building. It is soon to be occupied by the new outfit.

The new owners are in the process of remodeling the building for their new business, which will be located at the intersection of Main and Second streets.

The business is expected to open within the next few weeks.

For The Redhounds

The Old Community YMCA Developed Numerous Athletes

The old Community YMCA has developed numerous athletes in the community.

The YMCA was founded in 1953 and has been a vital part of the community ever since.

The organization has provided opportunities for young people to participate in various sports, such as basketball, volleyball, and swimming.

The YMCA has sponsored teams in local and regional championships, including the Southeastern Kentucky League and the American Legion baseball team.

Some of the standout athletes who have come through the YMCA include Jerry Smith, Dusty Yates, Harold Brooks, and Albert Worsham.

These athletes have gone on to play at the collegiate level and have contributed to the community's athletic tradition.

In recent years, the YMCA has expanded its offerings to include year-round swimming programs, fitness classes, and recreational activities.

New Swimming Pool

With the closing of the old pool, the community was in need of a new facility.

A new pool was opened in 1970, providing much-needed space for swimmers.

The pool has been well-received by the community, with many families enjoying the warm, sunny days.

In addition to swimming, the pool has hosted various events, such as water aerobics classes and family fun days.

The pool remains a popular destination for residents of all ages, offering a space for recreation and socialization.
