Administrative History: The Home Economics & Family Living Department is the fourth iteration of the Domestic Science & Domestic Arts Department created in 1911 as part of the education curriculum. The department was renamed Domestic Economy in 1914 and Home Economics in 1924.

The College of Applied Arts & Health was created July 1, 1969 and comprised units that had previously been assigned to the College of Education or had no affiliation. At that time Home Economics became Home Economics & Family Living. In April of 1981 the College of Applied Arts & Health was disbanded with departments moving into existing and new colleges. The Home Economics and Family Living Department was moved back under the College of Education umbrella. The name was changed in 1993 to Consumer & Family Sciences and again in 2011 to Family and Consumer Sciences.

Box 1 19 Home Economics & Family Living (WKU) 1930-1931 Administrative - Correspondence

Description	Letters from Helen Hunt, director of equipment to various companies requesting appliances on consignment to be used in the Home Economics Department. She states: "Our Equipment Department here at Western is the only one in the state and in a census taken last year it was found that more than 50% by number of Home Economics teachers in Kentucky were graduates of Western. We teach our girls the selection, care and repair of equipment with actual laboratory experience. I should like for these girls to be familiar with your machine." There are no responses from the companies. A.H. Thompson Company A.J.
