BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Calvert Family

Samuel Wilson Calvert was born in Georgia on 19 December 1796. The first eight or nine years of his youth were spent near Fayetteville, Tennessee. He was a student and instructor at Greenville College from September 1821 to March 1824. The next year, he received his license to preach from the Presbytery of West Tennessee which convened at Columbia on 7 May 1825. On June 9 of the same year, he married Eliza Caroline Hall (1804-1871), daughter of Thomas J. Hall of Bedford County, Tennessee. Calvert preached at Elk Ridge in Giles County (ten miles from Fayetteville, Tennessee) from 1826 to 1831. After a fund-raising trip in 1831 for the M. L. Academy (Manual Labor Institute, Maury County? See Walter B. Posey, The Presbyterian Church in the Old Southwest, p. 54), Calvert moved in December to Bowling Green, Kentucky, to serve as minister of the Presbyterian Church. He died on 19 June 1837.

Samuel and Eliza Calvert had six children: Thomas Chalmers Hall (1826-1898); John Griffin (1827-1829); Emmons Whitfield "Joseph Whit" (1828-1909); Emma Hall [Mrs. W. L. Tarbet] (b. 1829); Sarah Amanda (1832-1886), who married George W. Simons (1820?-1888); and Henry Baxter (1834-1855). Their oldest son, Thomas, a lawyer and banker, married Margaret Younglove (1829-1920), a sister of Joseph I. and John E. Younglove, on 23 January 1855. They had five children: Eliza C. (1856-1935), Mary (1858-1902), Margaret (1860-1947), Josephine (1864-1956), and Edward (1870-1957).

Eliza "Lida" received her education in Bowling Green's private schools and attended the Western Female Seminary at Oxford, Ohio for one year. She taught in Bowling Green until her marriage on 8 July 1885, to William Alexander Obenchain (1841-1916), mathematics professor and later president of Ogden College, located in Bowling Green. They had four children: Margery (Obenchain) Winston; Cecil (Obenchain) Reams; William Alexander Obenchain, Jr.; and Thomas Hall Obenchain. Eliza was interested in women's rights, and she wrote several articles on the subject. In 1907 her first novel, Aunt Jane of Kentucky, was published under the pen name Eliza

Calvert Hall. She had several more books published as well as poems and other articles, continuing her writing career until her death in Texas in 1935.

The other three daughters of Thomas and Margaret Calvert were educated in Bowling Green and continued to reside at the family home. Margaret also studied at the school of Mary Kendall Jones (formerly of Bowling Green) in St. Louis, and was an elementary teacher in the Bowling Green public schools for several years. Josephine was employed for a time by Carrie Burnam Taylor, a nationally known Bowling Green dressmaker. Edward, the only son, was a career army officer and married Lucinda Neely on 4 April 1907.

See family genealogical chart for additional relationships and information.

Younglove Family

Joseph I. Younglove was born on 17 August 1818 in Johnstown, New York, the third son of Isaiah and Susannah (Yanney) Younglove. At the age of thirteen, he began training as a druggist in his hometown, moving to Pittsburgh three years later. From there he went to Louisville, where he was a pharmacist with James George & Co. In 1842 he and Augustus Starr came to Bowling Green and opened their own business. Following Starr's death, a younger brother John Edwards Younglove (1826-1917) came to Bowling Green in 1844 to assist Joseph with the store.

On 16 December 1847, Joseph I. Younglove married Sarah Morehead (1831-1883), and they had four children: John Morehead (1848-1896); Joseph Cosgrave (b. 1853); Emma (1857-1933), who married Robert Underwood (1844-1907) in 1877; and Susanna (1862-1935). Brothers Joseph and John continued with the drugstore, which also served as the stagecoach office for twenty years as well as the post office for a period of time. John J. Valentine (1840-1901), who later became president of Wells Fargo, worked for the brothers as a clerk during a portion of that era. In 1857 Jane Younglove (1831-1861) came to Bowling Green from Johnstown, New York, joining her sister Margaret, who had migrated a few years earlier. Margaret (1829-1920) married Thomas Chalmers Calvert (1826-1898), son of Samuel Wilson and Eliza (Hall) Calvert. (See Calvert biographical sketch.)

On 13 April 1859, John E. Younglove married Esther Virginia "Jennie" Ray (1836-1899), a daughter of former Indiana governor James Brown Ray and a teacher at Mary Kendall Jones' school in Bowling Green. The wedding was held at the home of photographer Andrew Poage, nephew-in-law of the Youngloves. John and Jennie had no children. In addition to the drugstore, Joseph I. Younglove had other business interests; he owned several rental houses; was a town trustee; and was treasurer of the Board of the Fairview Cemetery Commissioners. John E. Younglove kept Bowling Green weather reports for the U.S. Weather Bureau; was an amateur naturalist; and remained active in Presbyterian Church affairs most of his life.

In 1891 Joseph I. Younglove married his second wife, Harriet Stephens, a cousin's widow of Johnstown, New York. He died in 1894. John remained with the business until he sold it in 1905. He continued to live in the family quarters above the store until his death in 1917. (See Younglove genealogical charts for family relationships.)

COLLECTION NOTE

Over one-third of the collection consists of correspondence of the Calvert, Obenchain, and Younglove families. It includes diaries, sermons, writings, business papers, scrapbooks, Bowling Green, Kentucky weather records, newspaper clippings relating to all three families, and genealogical data.

The collection is separated into four series. The first is comprised of the Calvert family papers, dating from 1800 to 1956, with the earliest being those of Samuel Wilson Calvert and his wife, Eliza (Hall) Calvert, and also includes papers of their son Thomas, his wife Margaret (Younglove) Calvert, and four of the children of this couple: Mary, Margaret, Josephine, and Edward. Eliza "Lida" (Calvert) Obenchain and her family are the subjects of Series II, which includes her correspondence, writings, and clippings covering the period from 1883 to 1943, and is comprised of correspondence, diaries, business papers, and genealogy of Joseph I., John E., John M., James I., and Jane Younglove. Pictures, chiefly of the Youngloves and Mary Kendall Jones, are contained in Series IV. (The majority of the individual pictures have been removed from the collection and are in the Kentucky Library's Photo Collection.)

Scattered throughout the Calvert-Obenchain-Younglove Collection are numerous references to Bowling Green, Kentucky; people; events; and institutions. Of special interest are Samuel Calvert's diaries, kept in the 1820s, which describe life in Tennessee -- especially concerning Greenville College and Maryville College; Indian villages; missions; and fund-raising activities.
