The Talisman

Annual Publication of the Student Body of Western Kentucky State Teachers College

BOWLING GREEN, KENTUCKY

Foreword

A yearbook introduction — one of hundreds around from the pens of editors — labored and stilled — thin-worn with their phrases, as if any page could tell our thoughts! Here's the book. We hope it holds for you all the memories of back-echoes and splitting heads, of thrills and joys that it holds for us. It is our treasure house from Western; we hope it will be yours.

We dedicate

the 1941 Talisman... because they have shown us the dignity of simplicity and the enjoyment of friendliness... to Paul and Virginia Garrett.
Thanks

For all the hours of cutting and mounting and planning, for the hundreds of pictures you made and the scores of ideas you gave us, and for working with us, not over us, the staff is grateful.

The A. M. Stickles History Club, founded in 1922, holds the honor of being the oldest departments club on the KU.

The aims of the organization are to study historical subjects, to discuss current problems, and to create an interest in the works of past and modern books, papers, and relics. This organization aided the promotion of the Kentucky Collection. The History Club in 1927 added the bronze tablet that commemorates the centennial of the Frank College Library.

The membership is composed of all history majors and those majors who desire membership. Activities include the election during the past year of the Annual Non-academic Speaker and a special election program.

This band, composed mostly of Warren students, is under the guidance of Roy Holmes who is well known throughout Kentucky for his playing and entertaining presentations of the finest and fairest music of the day. The lively voice of Joe Payne and Briscoe Layton do much to maintain its popularity and increase the demand for the orchestra in all parts of the state.

The band organization is divided into three distinct groups — the Marching Band, the Concert Band and the Laboratory Band.

The Marching Band performs at all football and basketball games, parades and at the annual C. C. T. G. sporting activities.

The Concert Band plays one large concert each semester under the direction of the Music Department. In addition, it plays several recital programs of various choirs, orchestras and ensembles. During the year, the Concert Band has played 20 large works and numerous smaller compositions.

The Laboratory Band has a triple purpose: (1) it allows an opportunity for practice conducting by students who are taking music as a minor or major course; (2) it affords actual playing experience to those who have completed at least a semester of study on some instrument in the applied music courses; (3) it serves as a leader for the Concert Band.

Western 6

Before a gathering of 2,000 school-mired spectators, the Hilltoppers closed their 1960 season with a bruising victory over the Murray Thunderbirds of Murray High School, 29-6. Although the score was only 29-6, it would have been much larger had it not been for Murray's determined line which held back the Toppers time after time within the 5-yard line.

The game started as a passing duel between Senter, of Western, and Loomis, of Murray, which lasted throughout the entire first half. Western's attempt to pass, recovered at midline by Bruno, died in Murray territory. From that point on, the Thunderbirds had no chance for an offensive drive in the first half as Western always in the hole and had 1 yard.

On the second play of the second quarter, Loomis faked for back and shipped to Bolinger past Big Downing, who grabbed in the cell over his shoulder and squirmed unassisted into the end zone. Torr's kick for the extra point was blocked, but the extra point was saved. The lightning attack of Murray was halted cold and sticky the second half of the game.

Murray 9

Into the end zone, Torr's kick for the extra point was blocked, but the extra point was saved. The lightning attack of Murray was halted cold and sticky the second half of the game. Meanwhile, Western won knockdown of the ball, and Murray lost field two. The Toppers once presented to the 1-yard line, but were unable to score in four downs. However, the Toppers defense was equal to the occasion and the game ended both in their favor.

Big Downing was outstanding in this game, being recognized by sports writers present as one of the best ends in the South. Bolton and Vaile returned from the other team in the Murray line. For Western, in the backfield, Deitrus and Wilcox played excellent running back. Deitrus is credited in a blower of glory with the bullet, but sticky hitting the nick, the leading pipters, and his ball carrying sometimes to wide home aim.

CHEER LEADERS
The year 1938-39 saw the most successful basketball season ever to be played in the N.E. Not only did the Millers win the S.I.A.A. championship for the 19th consecutive year, but they came within an ace of being the first to participate in the National Invitational Tournament played at Madison Square Garden in New York City.

The campaign opened with a fling of 9-0 against Home, a story which was brutally broken by the Indiana State Systematics, 52-26. This victory ushered in a season of never-say-die intensity and piled galaxy on the Ohio University Buckeyes, and the Washington and Lee Generals, to say nothing of the 6-5 win over the Thomsonians' Jim McManus, the perennial crate of Western in all sporting events.

After his first taste, few more memories were registered in the win column with a 50-47 victory over the Mississippi State University team for the strong Southern Conference heading the

BASEBALL

Prospects for the 1941 edition of the Hilltopper nine were unusually bright when Coach Boddie issued his first call for practice late in March. Veterans were on hand for all positions except shortstop and there are several good candidates for that opening. Jack Shiner, Bob Winter, and Fred Norton are expected to be the leaders with Robert, Daniel, Irvine, Johnson, Henson, Fanning, Snow, Hoad, Waddie and Williams filing the middle positions.

An attractive schedule of sixteen games has been arranged.

TENNIS

Prospects for Coach Ted Rombach's 1941 tennis team seem very good this season. Bert Barrow, '43, Kirby, and George Wilson are left over from last year to build his squad around. Last year's schedule, the season's first match having been defeated, except for Vanderbilt, played by the Hilltoppers against Vanderbilt. The first event of the season will be the annual K. I. A. G. tennis tournament, held annually at Bowling. Indications point to this year's annual being one of the best American in recent years, with an exceptional exhibit of reserve strength being on hand.

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps is established by the National Defense Act. The R.O.T.C. of Western consists of an industry unit. The details of its organization and supervision are set forth in many regulations published by the War Department. In order, discipline and instruction, First Lieut. William T. Saunders, Assistant Professor, Military Science and Tactics.

In the United States there are numerous R.O.T.C. units, and in those of the largest colleges for the first two years of military science and completion. Western has the distinction of being a unit where there is no competition but every cadet is engaged in training on a volunteer basis. The Corps was organized as a junior unit in 1918-1919, and in 1933 achieved the standard of a senior unit with a superior rating, which it has continued ever since.
