BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Elizabeth “Betsy” M. B. Williamson (1800-1850) was born in Lexington, Kentucky, the daughter of David and Susannah Williamson. She evidently received a good education and was interested in cultural affairs, but nothing is known of her formal education. The Williamson family was living in Versailles, Kentucky, when Betsy and James Govan Taliaferro (1798-1876) were married there on 7 May 1819. Taliaferro moved to Louisiana from Virginia when a small child, and he came to Kentucky to study law at Transylvania College. Following their marriage they moved to Louisiana, where Taliaferro eventually served as a judge on the Louisiana Supreme Court. They had several children, but only six lived to maturity.

THE COLLECTION

The collection focuses on a copy of the diary that Betsy Taliaferro kept from 20 March 1839 to 8 April 1839 of a trip she made from Harrisburg (Catahoula Parrish), Louisiana, to her former home at Versailles, Kentucky. (The original diary is presumably still the property of the Taliaferro family in Lafayette, Louisiana.) Betsy was accompanied by her husband; sons Robert, age 8, and David, age 4; and Kitty, their African-American nurse, on the steamboat trip to New Orleans for a short visit. They then retraced their route up the Mississippi River, with Taliaferro disembarking at Natchez, Mississippi. Betsy and her party continued their steamboat journey to Louisville, Kentucky. From Louisville, they traveled by stagecoach to Versailles. Betsy vividly describes many aspects of the trip such as life in New Orleans, transportation on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers, and steamboat races.

Included is a typescript manuscript based on the diary, with holographic notes, prepared by Mary T. Moore, first librarian of the Kentucky Library at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green, Kentucky, for the University of Kentucky Press Fellowship Committee Contest, with notes and drafts of a letter to accompany the 1955 entry (12 items). Other materials collected by Moore are holographic and typescript notes for articles, speeches and stories, and Williamson family data (52); holographic and typescript biographical sketches taken from various sources (7); clippings and printed items, 1895-1956 (6); and a negative of a lottery ticket of David Williamson of Lexington, Kentucky, dated June 14, 1815.
