Through this beautiful stately entrance pass the finest students any educational institution can hope to have grace its classrooms. The stone structure was erected as a testimonial to Western's fifty years of outstanding service to higher education in Kentucky.

Since Western opened its doors for the first time in 1906, a vast array of ambitious youth has passed this way. Future leaders in all walks of life entered here to gain the tools education provides for achievement. This entrance marks a milestone along the road of life for many whose talents would have not been developed and would have been lost forever had they not come this way.

Great has been the contribution to these students who entered here, lingered a time to study, and to prepare for the future, and then went out into every community across the Commonwealth and beyond.

What is true of the past is true today and will be true tomorrow. This stately structure merely symbolizes what Western has stood for, stands for today, and will continue to stand for in the future. That is, to provide for all who desire to enter here the opportunity to gain an education even when hope for such an achievement is flickering but when ambition is burning.

This beautiful entrance, only recently brought into being, but long a dream of many, is today a reality. Yet what it represents has always been in the hearts of the multitude of Westerners scattered across this great state and nation who subscribe to the creed etched into the stone pillar for all to read and heed: "The Spirit Makes the Master."

Beyond this entrance lies the physical Western, where educational opportunities are found which must be mastered before achievement can be realized. Here the newcomer and those who have come before also find the opportunity to capitalize on Dr. H. H. Cherry's ringing creed, which can inspire them to overcome all challenges. Here is where that creed can be tested and proved, and made a part of the armor to be used when the Hilltop has been departed.

LEADERS
PRESIDENT OF WESTERN KENTUCKY STATE COLLEGE

Dear Fellow-Westerners:

I have been requested by the staff of the Times-News to address a few words to our extremely fine student body of 1952-53. The pleasure of completing this request is similar to that which is experienced when one begins a new adventure.

There can be no doubt that there is something "extra" about Western's student body this year. I have heard it from many faculty and staff members and from other sources as well. The spiritual leadership of the student council and the vocational leadership of the business administration have been outstanding. The result is a new attitude which has already been reflected in the activities of the student body.

Several years ago our late president, Dr. Paul Garrett, gave me the assignment of encouraging the end of the College in its present form with a change in name. Western is about to be an act of the Kentucky Legislature. I have been joined by many people who have served Western through the years. All have agreed on one thing: that the Western system, or better perhaps the Western challenge, "The Spirit Makes the Man," should be preserved. Our official and today proudly possession that thought. The name Western, as you know, has been picked in the genes of our beautiful new environment. There would surely have been an ideal relabeled in the hearts of many who have made this student body one of which we are proud.

Many of you will be graduated from Western soon. We will miss you as students, but it is rewarding to know that we will always have you at heart. We urge you to carry "The Spirit Makes the Man" into your life beyond Western. Remembering it, you cannot fail.

We are not only to direct to this college more and more young men and women capable of accepting and living with the Western challenge. Young people like yourself, who will help to make our country better. This is your opportunity to take from the University of its responsibilities within and without.

We pledge to you this College—both in the classroom and in the administrative offices, will continually reveal Western's spirit in its actions and in its atmosphere where the true spirit is nurtured and the real things are made.

Thank you for a wonderful year.

Sincerely,

Ralph Thompson,
President.

DEDICATION

It has been said that the life-blood of a nation is composed of those elements within it which not only sustain momentarily, but which also provide for continuation. Men have been destined from the time of creation to become the keystones of a sound social and economic structure.

The virtues and abilities of dedicated and charitable men and women have made "our world at Western" a constructive power in a constructive age. May we who sit at their feet grow in wisdom. May we be recipients of the tolerance and brotherly love as exemplified in their lives, which "our world" so eagerly needs, and may we center our minds on the lasting values which "our world" so drastically needs.

DEDICATION

It is fitting that we pay tribute to the Departmental Heads of our world at Western who have proved themselves our friends and our benefactors. They are the dedicated ones who have:

"lived and taught
In wisdom's school, who ever walked with youth.
And led the way in quest of timeless truth."

They have taught us the truths of the new men of many generations. Their self-effacing lives and prolific minds have imparted a heritage of learning more precious than earthly treasure.

To you—the Departmental Heads—because we admire your high purpose, your strength and unusual endurance, your considerate and inspiring counsel; because you provide the essence of those inherent qualities which give purpose to our lives and meaning to what we do; and because you have so unselfishly consecrated your lives to the profession of teaching, we—the Talisman Staff—gratefully dedicate this, the 1956 edition of the Talisman.

OUR WORLD OF STUDY

A program of graduate study leading to the professional degree, Masters of Arts in Education, has been maintained at the Western Kentucky State College since 1931. It has for its purpose the advanced training of all types of educational workers for the public schools of the state. Available here are curricula leading to the Masters of Arts Degree in Education and certificates for elementary teachers, high-school teachers, librarians, high-school principals, superintendents, and directors of pupil personnel.

All candidates for the Master of Arts Degree must present a minimum of 15 semester hours' credit in education. Nine to 15 hours may be earned in certain subject-matter departments, and presented in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree. In addition to education, opportunities for graduate study are provided in the following departments:

Art, biology, chemistry, economics and sociology, English, foreign languages, geography and geology, history and political science, industrial arts, library science, mathematics, music, physical education and health, physics, and psychology.

During the summer session of 1957, 219 graduate students were enrolled. For the first semester of 1957-1958, 35 different students were engaged in graduate study leading to the Masters of Arts Degree.

Since its organization, hundreds of students have registered in the graduate division and 601 candidates have been awarded the Master's degree.

The graduate division is fully accredited by different agencies and organizations of which the school is a member.

OUR WORLD OF ACTIVITIES

We, the Talisman staff of 1958, present this book to you as a record and a lasting memorial of the many accomplishments and improvements at Western Kentucky State College in the year 1957-58.

The staff was selected from the Junior Class of 1956-57 on the basis of academic standing and ability. Pleased with the honor of being chosen to compile the memoranda of the happenings at Western for the coming year, we began work immediately.

The selection of a dedication and theme was our first task. The editor and the assistant editor planned our Talisman with the help of Norman E. Shaw, of the Benson Printing Company, in Nashville, during the summer. Upon returning to school in September, we resumed our work diligently.

Gradually, with the unfailing efforts and the co-operation of each member of the staff and with the dedicated work of our sponsor, Dr. J. R. Whitten, we saw our plan become a reality.

We hope that you will enjoy this Talisman and all the memories it holds, as much as we have enjoyed presenting it to you.
The HERALD, a bimonthly student publication, is an important part of Western. It is not only an informative and interesting source of accounts of college happenings to present students and faculty members, but also to the Alumni and all persons affiliated with or interested in Western.

The tabloid, which has been increased this year to twelve or sixteen pages, provides news concerning student organizations, varied feature stories, a sports section, faculty notes, editorials, alumni news, society items, coming events, and past events.

The HERALD, supported through local and national advertising and the Western Alumni Association, is printed by the PARK CITY DAILY NEWS. This year a new and easier-to-read type face, known as Corona, was adopted.

The HERALD staff, headed by the editor-in-chief and the advertising manager, consists of the members of the journalism class taught by Miss Frances Richards, of the English Department. Miss Richards serves as a faculty sponsor, and Mr. Robert Cochran, Director of Public Relations, is general manager.

More than 2,500 copies of the HERALD are sent to the alumni in addition to those distributed to students and faculty.

As a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, the HERALD consistently receives high ratings for maintaining high standards of good journalism in the association's annual ratings of college newspapers throughout the United States.

As in the past, improvements for the publication are constantly being sought. This year has been one of experimentation. The space between the columns, lines has been eliminated. A three-column floating masthead has been introduced for the front page, giving more space for news items. This type of masthead is the most modern used by newspapers.

The COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD serves at all times to utilize the best methods of journalism.

SPEECH CONTEST WINNERS

JIM OWENS
Ogden Oratorical

AAUW—Because there was no speech contest for girls at Western, the Bowling Green Branch of the American Association of University Women began the AAUW Oratorical Contest in 1950. Each year a sterling silver goblet is awarded the winner.

ROBINSON ORATORICAL AWARD is given as a prize for declamation in memory of the late John E. Robinson, a benefactor of the college. The declamation was first given in 1878 by Ogden College with only freshmen and sophomore contestants.

OGDEN ORATORICAL began in 1877 and is sponsored by the Ogden Foundation. The Founders Medal, known as the Ogden Medal, is given to one of the contestants from the junior or senior class.

MARY RUTH GRISE, freshman, winner of the American Association of University Women's cup for 1957, also placed first in the women's division of the Kentucky Oratorical Association meet at Georgetown. As the state winner, she also represented Kentucky in the women's final contest in the national competition at the Interstate Oratorical Association at Michigan State University, April 26.

RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS WEEK

A week for religious emphasis is set aside each year at Western to strengthen the spiritual lives of the students and faculty. During this week an outstanding leader and speaker comes to the campus, who leads group discussions, speaks at assemblies, and holds individual conferences. This year we were fortunate in having Dr. William A. Benfield, Jr., the pastor of the Highland Presbyterian Church in Louisville, Kentucky. The theme for the week was "Christ Makes a Difference."

Although Religious Emphasis Week is the highlight of Western's religious life, the Western Religious Council, an interdenominational organization, under the leadership of Dr. Earl A. Moor, sponsors weekly vespers and holds Sunday devotions, weekly denominational devotions, and Bible studies. In addition, it is in charge of the annual Easter Sunrise Service for the entire community. Every student, every faculty member, and all others who are interested are cordially invited to participate in each activity.

WESTERN MARCHING BAND

RED AND WHITE DANCE BAND
JEANETTE RIDER SALLEE

From the moment she first stepped on our campus, Jeanette Rider Salle has been known as "the girl with the voice." Not since does an institution receive into its student body a person of such exceptional talent.

Until her senior year, Jeanette was charming local treasures. With her soft-spoken manner and her voice to compete with the of the city in athletic events where she often sang our national anthem with the Western Band, and for various functions in the community.

In November of her final year at Western, opportunity came for Jeanette to compete her voice with student from other prominent schools and conservatories. Elimination competitions sponsored by the National Association of Teachers of Singing were held in the entire Southern Region of the United States. Jeanette was first choice to represent Western; then she won 1st Prize. To her credit, her performance was spontaneous. Finally, in competition with students from states throughout the South, Jeanette earned the grand prize.

The prize was a cash award and an invitation to sing for the Association of Teachers of Singing at their National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, during the Christmas holidays of 1957. Here, Jeanette won further recognition, with representation from several graduate schools; the country offering her scholarships for additional voice study.

The proud eyes of Western will be watching Jeanette for future miracles.

OUR WORLD OF

ATHLETICS
Western's nationally known Coach E. A. Diddle was named "Kentuckian of the Year" by the Kentucky Press Association at the KPA annual dinner meeting in Louisville.

The Hilltoppers were the first of Kentucky's most distinguished high school coaches as head coach of the Hilltoppers' football team when the period of prosperity for the school arrived on the campus.

Under his able but hard-driving Diddle the footballers emerged with the second best winning record in the Commonwealth. The football team finished with a record of five wins, three losses, and one tie.

Coach Frank Griffin led his pupils to another Ohio Valley Conference championship after he finished his duties as assistant football coach. Coach Diddle and Griffin combined their talents to guide the baseball team to a victory in the division's OVC title but were stopped by Mechem in the championship playoffs despite a no-hit by Bob Coates.

Coach Ted Horbach's tennis team was the best in the valley and highly successful season but was turned back by Murray in the OVC tournament.

Coach Turner Elrod's undefeated track team could not win a meet but was never guilty of quitting despite the lack of manpower.

A new face appeared in the coaching ranks when young Jim Folsom, a Little All-American quarterback for the Hilltoppers in 1952, returned as an assistant on Coach Diddle's staff.

1958 SEASON
FOOTBALL

Coaches Nick Dienes closed his first season as head coach of the Hilltopper football team with the second best record in the Commonwealth—five wins, three losses, and one tie. Co-captains Twyman Patterson and Carroll Vanhousere, along with little All-American Guard Jim "Virg" Hanley, led the Western eleven. At the close of the campaign, Bill Hall, senior end from Sturgis, and Hardin were named to the All-Olive Valley Conference first team. The high point of the season came against the Morehead Eagles in the Homecoming in the Western Stadium on November 11. A new hero was born on that sunny afternoon. Mickey Rigs, an unused reserve halfback, was given the starting assignment by Coach Dienes for the first time. Rigs had assured the coach that he was ready. Apparently he was, as he made three touchdowns and gained 151 yards in eleven carries for one of the most spectacular performances ever seen in the Western Stadium. Mickey Rigs earned for himself an immortal spot in the History of Western's Homecomings. Rigs was not the only standout. Jerry Brandley continued his artistic footwork by breaking all the extra points in the twenty-eight to six victory. Brandley emerged as the season's top scorer as he kicked fourteen consecutive extra points, not missing a single attempt all season. In addition he caught two touchdown passes and whipped East Tennessee with a field goal. The last Macneefield senior end best his opportunity for glory, however, when on the final play of the game against Murray, his try for the extra point was a little wide. The fault could not be assessed against the brilliant end, as he had to kick from a bad angle without a kicking tee.

In that season finale, which ended in a seven-to-seven deadlock with the rivalry from the Purchase, the Hilltoppers fumbled nine times and lost eight as four touchdown drives were stymied. It was a battle that led to Murray's scoring the tying touchdown. The Hilltoppers bailed Murray's passing attack with four interceptions to relieve some of the sting of those fumbles.

The "W" Club acquires its members from the male students who have earned a letter while participating in a varsity sport.

The annual events conducted by the club include the "Varsity Varieties," an annual spring stage show which is presented through comical skits and musical talent; the "Red White" spring football game, part of the Homecoming activities, and a spring picnic.

During the past two years the club has participated in the local drive for the March of Dimes.

Western's 1937-38 basketball team closed a 23-game schedule with 14 wins and 11 losses. The slate, one of the toughest a Hilltopper team ever faced, carried Coach Ed Diddle and his battlers from New York's Madison Square Garden to Oklahoma City's Municipal Auditorium.

One of the top performances of the season came in famed Madison Square Garden as Senior Hall was demolished to snap a 5-game win streak the Pirates had compiled against the Hilltoppers in the Garden.

Immediately following the smashing wins in New York, the Hilltoppers entered the All-College Tournaments during the Christmas holidays at Oklahoma City and disaster struck as two games were dropped.

The rest of the way the Hilltoppers blew alternately hot and cold. On the hot nights no team in the nation could beat Lawson, Case, Back, and Co. When the cold struck, it was a different story, as at one time during the campaign three consecutive losses were absorbed in the tough Ohio Valley Conference to drop the Hilltoppers to a third place finish in the league.

The season ended on a high note as three scoring performances were turned in before the home folks in the Western gymnasium.

In the final game which saw Owen Lawson, Erie Back, and Bill Case play for the last time, a mid-first Xavier five rushed to a 20-point halftime lead off some 60 percent shooting from the field. The Hilltoppers cooled the Musketeers in the last half and cut that big lead down to three points with three minutes to go in as blazing a comeback as ever was seen on the Hilltop, Xavier, fighting for a N.I.T. bid, refused to crack under the pressure and pulled the win out, but not before the Hilltoppers showed that they would never quit, no matter what the odds.

Western's undermanned track team battled through a disappointing season, losing six straight matches. Although the Hilltopper track men dropped every meet, it was not because of a lack of effort on the part amateurs. In every match it was a case of not having enough forces. The team suffered a serious blow when O. V. C. shot put champion, Bill Straw, was ineligible because of signing a pro-football contract.

Western's tennis team rolled to a record of nine wins and one loss. Coach Ted Hornback's setters lost only to John Posden, one of the nation's top collegiate tennis players, and the Murray Thunderbirds.

In the Ohio Valley Conference tournament it was Posden again who stood between the Hoppers and another league tennis championship. The Hoppers finished second.

Balled Moore, George Kinzie, Allen Hilmers, and Fred Dow carried the brunt of the campaign when stars Lyn Snow and Harry Gray were sidelined by academic duties.

TRAINING SCHOOL
TRAINING SCHOOL IN 1958

The Training School has three basic functions: to provide laboratory experiences for student teachers of Western; to maintain a twelve-grade school for the education of the children it serves; to provide a demonstration school to be used by the schools in the surrounding area.

It is the desire of the Training School to provide an atmosphere of democratic learning which will make it possible to carry out these functions in an effective manner.

A TRIBUTE TO JOSEPH RUTLEDGE WHITMER

Dr. J. R. Whitmer as co-sponsor of the TALISMAN for two years and as sponsor for eleven years has seen the publication develop into one of the outstanding college yearbooks of the nation. By his writing efforts he has directed the work of preparation in such a manner that his zeal has been ingrained in the TALISMAN staff members, who have felt the challenge to make the book a representative picture of the purpose, the ideals, and the desires of Westerners.

Dr. Whitmer has made some innovations in the TALISMAN which will be permanent monuments to him. He was the first sponsor to make scholarship, as well as leadership and personal characteristics, a requisite for a place on the staff. He is, moreover, the originator of the idea of honoring students having a 2.5 standing with a special place in the TALISMAN, and the 1958 yearbook will honor high-school valuationists and valiant men with a page.

Dr. Whitmer's influence has been felt in other phases of the life of the campus. As chairman of the committee to erect a memorial to the late Dr. H. H. Cherry, he was an able director of the plans resulting in the erection of the bronze statue of Dr. Cherry in front of Cherry Hall.

He gave as a personal gift to the college the plaque in the Library in which the name of the highest honor graduate of each class is placed.

Dr. Whitmer was one of the leaders responsible for the erection of the magnificent entranceway to the campus, on Fifteenth Street, and served as chairman for the beautification committees.

He more than any other was responsible for the general scholarship requirements of at least a 2.5 standing as a qualification for those seniors elected to WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES.

The members of the TALISMAN staff express their appreciation to Dr. Whitmer for his work on the TALISMAN and for his contributions to Western. His influence will be a permanent force for good on the campus.
The minstrel hall, and a vital one to student life, is the inner circle of buildings on the crest of the Hill was completed in 1952. The main entrance to the Paul L. Garrett Student Center is from the center of the Hill, and associated with it are many lasting memories.

The cafeteria and the snack bar are located on the ground floor, and the bust of the day drifts up to those sitting in the lounge upstairs. Television, ping pong, and pool are well-known and enjoyed, but the height of the college year socially is in the evening, when the Garrett Student Center is decorated in all its finery for a ball.
Henry Hardin Cherry Hall, which stands where Potter College stood, has been the center of education on the Hill since 1937. The classrooms and laboratories have been sources of friendship for all. Mail can be obtained from all over the country at the post office, adding another touch to our day, but a pleasant sound familiar to all is the chimes marking the time from the dome of Cherry Hall.
A well-known place on the Western campus is the Kentucky Library, which was first occupied in 1905. This building contains a large amount of material relating to Kentucky. The walnut-paneled reading room is an excellent place to do research on any phase of Kentucky life. Not only does the Museum contain many interesting displays; it is also a center for social gatherings. Small excursions and club meetings are held in the faculty room, where one also finds Prof. Ivan Wilson's water colors exhibited.

The Kentucky Building is the home of the Talisman staff, which will be found in the basement at work one night each week. This unique building, which houses one of the best student collections in the nation, is well-known and many high schools plan field days to the building.

Abstemious faculty and students are largely responsible for the Kentucky Library and Museum, one of the chief sources of pride of the campus.

It is our duty to sanctify this great hill by hard study; by exercising his patience, his order, his calmness, and his steadfastness in own areas; by seeing to it that its nobility is not marred by a single mark or defacement in any other way; by making the beautiful something and making us glad witness from this hill, the rising of a soul in a world of promise and opportunity and the setting of a soul amidst the splendor of a world well lived; and by making this beautiful physical panorama to be transmuted into life, and, finally, through a patriotic use of things spiritual and things material, unlock the door that confines on impress self and allow a new and greater citizen to step forth—a blessing to man, a servant to God.

EDITOR’S NOTE

The Talisman has various meanings for each of us, each publication having different characteristics which make it distinctive. This annual is the culmination of the vibrant personalities, not only of the staff, but of the students of Western. It is a “living” memorandum of campus activities.

We have been encouraged and aided by those to whom this 1958 Talisman is dedicated. The faculty have been entrusted with the instruction at Western, and we are proud to acknowledge their devotion to education. This “World of Leaders” has been an influential factor in our lives.

Words cannot express our appreciation for the help of everyone connected in any way with this annual. The editor particularly would like to say “thank you” to each editor and to the typist for the splendid cooperation and spirit in which they worked.

To four people especially we are indebted for faithfulness, encouragement, and cooperation during the construction of the 1958 Talisman: Dr. Whiteman, our sponsor; Bill Strode, our photographer; “Butch” Shaw, our representative from Benson Printing Company; and Miss Richards, our composition advise.

The Talisman is now before you, and with it we hope that you may associate numerous memories to last you a lifetime. This is your “World at Western.”
