Groups find fun serving

Two campus organizations, founded upon the principle of serving school and community, are leaving a significant mark of service upon the University and the Bowling Green area.

Alpha Phi Omega and Gamma Sigma Sigma are proving that serving others can be rewarding as well as being beneficial to the communities they serve.

Serving the community, APhiO sponsors a Boy Scout Troop at Potter Orphanage and an annual Greek Carnival which raises money for the Boys Club. They also assisted in the recent "mock" disaster in Bowling Green. The fraternity promotes VISTA and the Peace Corps and sponsors the Ugly Man On Campus contest with the proceeds going to either national charities or local needs.

Only a year and a half old, Gamma Sigs at Western have already lived up to their goal of service. During the fall semester, members worked more than 1,500 hours on service projects. They raised money to buy heaters for the day-care center and acted as "mothers" collecting for the March of Dimes. In December they held a Charity Ball on campus and had parties for children at Delafield School, the Potter Orphanage and for hospital patients at Ft. Knox.

Among the service projects both groups undertake is ushering at concerts and lectures on campus.

Students should be appreciative and grateful for the many worthwhile activities of these two service organizations.

The Herald salutes the Alpha Phi Omega and Gamma Sigma Sigma for their service.

The Beginning

2/10/70

A Gamma Sig pledge is a nursing student, a junior math major and an undecided freshman. She is four foot eleven, five-foot four, and five-foot ten. She is a blond pixie, a brunette sophisticate, and a sweet redhead. She is a finder of new service projects, a planner, a worker.

A Gamma Sig pledge reads to the blind, works in the stacks at the library, bakes cookies, and acts as a secretary to the sisterhood president. She makes roses, looks up registration cards, makes phone calls, sings at a convalescent home, and works at the Bloodmobile. She designs posters, ushers at concerts, composes songs, takes quizzes, and types minutes. She is a collector of signatures, a painter of paddles, and a maker of pledge books. She pushes projects, co-chairs the March of Dimes drive, attends executive board meetings, and makes favors for a party at a children's home.

A Gamma Sig pledge is ready to serve whenever called upon. "Unity in Service" is her password, and the principles of service, friendship, and equality are her ideals.

What is a Gamma Sig pledge? The only way to find the best possible answer is to pledge Gamma Sigma Sigma - for most of all a Gamma Sig pledge gives herself.

PLEDGE MANUAL

Pledgeship shall last for a period of ten weeks. The following schedule has been set up with standard requirements that you must meet each week.

- 1st Week Signatures of all actives and advisors
- 2nd Week Ten conferences
- 3rd Week Ten conferences
- 4th Week Ten conferences
- 5th Week Ten conferences
- 6th Week Ten conferences
- 7th Week Ten conferences
- 8th Week Ten conferences
- 9th Week Ten conferences
- 10th Week Ten conferences

What is a Conference? An appointment should be made ahead of time with an active for a scheduled conference. On the first conference with an active you will have to receive the following information about her: name, local phone, residence, classification, major, high school, birthday, home address, and interests. Conferences thereafter will only require the signature of an active after you have met and talked with her for at least 15 minutes. You must have two conferences with each active. If you are able to schedule more than ten conferences in one week, you are allowed to do so; and the additional conferences will be counted in on the following week. You must also schedule an appointment with the advisors to obtain their signatures. Also during this appointment you should receive the following information about them: name, school phone, office phone, office number, home address, home phone, birthday, and interests. There are two conferences required with each advisor.

Service Hours. A minimum of twenty-five service hours is required during pledgship. Service hours may be obtained by working on projects selected and voted upon by the pledges or ones the actives have set up for the pledges.

Fees. There will be a $2.50 initiation fee and a $6.00 national fee. Each girl should turn this amount into the pledge class treasurer before the deadline date set up by the pledge class.

Election of Officers. The pledge class shall nominate the following officers to be in charge during their pledgship: President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Historian.

Demerits. A demerit system has been set up in order for the pledges to meet certain standards during pledgship. If a girl receives more than 15 demerits she will not be able to continue pledging. (There is a list of reasons for demerits and the number of demerits to be received listed on the following page.)

There will also be twenty signatures of Alpha Phi Omega's required. These will be due two per week along with your other conferences.

There will be a $.50 assessment everytime you do not have a valid excuse for missing a meeting or dinner. The Executive Council has set up the following as valid excuses: death in the immediate family, having to attend a class, illness--laziness is not included.

Each active sincerely hopes that you will strive to do your part as a pledge and will continue as an active in serving your school, community, country and fellow associates.

Gamma Sigma Sigma is our sorority;
I shall not change.

Sharon Maeth me to walk in the rushing home; Nancy Leadeth me in the (Girl Scouts) Girls' Club

$\Gamma\Sigma\Sigma$ restoreth my spirit, $\Gamma\Sigma\Sigma$ leadeth me in the service to humanity for the development of friendship.
Yea though I walk through pledge-ship, I will fear no evil: for the activities are with me, thy signatures and thy conferences, they comfort me.

Thou preparest a place for me in the presence of the activities; thou anointest my head with demerits;
my pledge book runneth over.
Loving service, friendship, and equality shall follow me all the days in $\Gamma\Sigma\Sigma$; and I will dwell in the sorority of $\Gamma\Sigma\Sigma$ forever.
— thy Faith Guide

Dear Little Sister,

Although you don't know who I am now, I hope that through this Big Sister and Little Sister relationship, we will become good friends and great sisters.
I will try to be a good Big Sister. Please feel free to come to me with any pledging problems. I may not always know the answers but when I can I'll try to help.

Good luck during pledging!
