ORGANIZATIONAL HISTORY

The Twentieth Century Club was organized April 16, 1909 at the home of Corinne Barr, at the suggestion of Gertrude Anderson who had taught many of the charter members at Potter College. The purpose of the club was for the members to continue their literary study. The first president was Mary Hughes and the charter members were Martine Aull, Corinne Barr, Josephine Drake, Helen Drake, Elizabeth Duncan, Lucille Grider, Marion Hines, Effie Logan, Louise Matlock, Belle Moore, Louise Patterson, Gertrude Ragsdale, Mary Lee Smith, Rena Smith, Lucy Stark. During the first year Sarah Mitchell, Mildred Jeffries, Sarah Gilbert, Winifred Lewis and Hallie Briggs became members.

In 1912 the club joined the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. The Twentieth Century Club was interested in the study of modern life and thought and had a program each meeting that included such diverse topics as drama, modern art, modern fiction, modern poetry, the women's movement in modern dramas, the survey of medieval and modern history, the study of opera, and modern biographies of great men.

The membership of the club is limited to twenty members, two associate members and honorary members. The club meets every other Tuesday at the members' homes and lunch is served after the program. The flower of the club is the daffodil and the colors are green and white. The club has a constitution and by-laws which have been revised several times. The officers include a President, Vice-President, Second Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer who are elected at the annual business meeting in February. A yearbook is created each year which lists the officers, programs, and where the meetings are held. The club contributes to various charities in the community and discusses social and political issues that affect Bowling Green. The club is still in existence as of 2007, when this collection was donated to the Kentucky Library & Museum.
