COLLECTION NOTE

In conjunction with the National Endowment for the Arts, the Kentucky Historical Society, the Kentucky Heritage Council, the Kentucky Oral History Commission, Berea College, the Department for Libraries and Archives, and the Appalachian Museum, the Kentucky Folklife Program conducted oral histories of folklife along the Kentucky River throughout the summer of 1989.

The results of the Kentucky River Folklife Project were presented to the public in two formats; a traveling exhibit and narrative stage presentations. This collection documents the creation process of the Kentucky River Folklife project traveling exhibit from 1989 to 1992. The exhibit was made available initially to town halls and libraries in counties along the Kentucky River, and then traveled across the state through the "Museums to Go" program of the Kentucky Historical Society.

Kentucky counties documented in the survey include Anderson, Carroll, Clark, Estill, Franklin, Garrard, Henry, Jessamine, Lee, Madison, Mercer, Owen, Powell, Rockcastle, and Woodford.
