BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Charles Edward "Charlie" Whittle, Sr. was born 7 January 1900 in Edmonson County, near Silent Grove, to Elijah Emerson and Mossie (Stephens) Whittle. He attended the Silent Grove public school until age ten when his parents moved to Brownsville after his father's election as county court clerk. His father soon died and he moved to Bowling Green with his mother and maternal grandparents so that he could complete his education. He graduated from Ogden Prep School at age 15, Ogden College at age 18, and Yale University at age 19. He returned to Kentucky to teach at Ogden College and in 1923 was named president of that institution. He resigned in 1925 to run for Edmonson County attorney, having previously studied law under Marvel Mills Logan and passed the Kentucky bar exam. He served in this capacity until 1930. Although he ran unsuccessfully as the Republican candidate for Congress in 1926, he continued to be actively involved in state and local politics while maintaining his law practice. He was assistant campaign manager for Simeon Willis in the 1943 governor's race. During the Willis administration he served as legal counsel to the Department of Agriculture, as a member of the Tax Commission, and as a member of the State Fair Board. He was also appointed to the Kentucky Public Service Commission for the term 1946-1950, serving as chairman from 1946 to 1949. He was appointed county attorney in 1970 and elected to the position in 1971, serving until his 1973 death.

Charlie Whittle's interests were wide ranging. He was an authority on Edmonson County history writing Baker Iron Furnace on Nolin, Post Offices and Postmasters of Edmonson County, Kentucky for 1825-1928, Brief Sketches on Members of the Edmonson County Bar at Brownsville, Kentucky (1909-1971), and Sketches in Edmonson County: Flashlights in Folklore. His other works include No Laughter in the Courtroom, Collectible Commentaries and the Trial of Jesus. He also wrote poems, editorials, and essays and was widely known as a storyteller.

He married Lillian Skaggs in 1929 and fathered a family of nine children. Charlie died 28 January 1973 and is buried in the cemetery of Brownsville Missionary Baptist Church where he was a member.

COLLECTION NOTES

The bulk of this collection relates to Whittle's activities in Kentucky Republican Party politics. There is information regarding his own campaigns of 1925 (county attorney) and 1926 (U.S. Congress), as well as correspondence, editorials, news clippings, and campaign material related to political issues and state-wide elections from the 1920s to the 1960s. The collection also reveals his devotion to his native county. Five folders in Box 2 contain partial manuscripts of his history of Edmonson County as well as writings about incidents and people in the area. Also included are a short play and miscellaneous poems and essays by Whittle. Box 2, Folder 13 contains two political cartoons rendered by Whittle.

Box 2, Folder 14 contains a small notebook in which Whittle recorded "Tid Bits" related to his life and times. It includes a piece of doggerel in which Whittle discusses the deportment of a proper Ogden College student in 1917; it notes that this was written for the 1917 annual. It also includes a 1917 school composition entitled "All for Himself," in which Whittle records "a character study of an old gentleman" in Bowling Green. The penultimate item in the notebook is a speech given at the Father and Son Banquet at Bowling Green's YMCA on 26 February 1918. The last item in the notebook is a biographical sketch of Whittle's great-great grandfather, Jackie Whittle.

Box 3 contains a scrapbook that has been disassembled. Its contents include poetry, political news clippings, small printed items, notes, postcards, and quotations clipped from various sources.
