Scholarship Funds Honor 4 Former Faculty Members

Four former members of the Western faculty have been honored by the establishment of scholarship funds at the college in their names. The amount of the funds at present is approximately $3,525.

The funds have been established by Charles R. (Roy) Martin, executive with the DuPont Chemical Co. and a 1927 graduate of Western.

The four faculty members in whose names the funds are established are Dr. A. M. Stickles, Dr. F. C. Grise, George V. Page and the late Dr. N. O. Taff.

Income from the funds will be used to provide financial awards for worthy students attending Western.

Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of Western, expressed the college's appreciation to Martin for his contribution honoring four men who figured prominently in the growth and development of Western.

Native Of Missouri

Martin, a native of Nevada, Mo., came to Bowling Green in the early 1920's as an oil operator during the oil boom in the Warren county area. He entered Western in 1924 and was graduated in 1927 with a major in history and minors in economics and science. He later joined the DuPont Chemical Co.

Previously Martin had contributed to the George V. Page Scholarship Fund which was established in 1960 by former students in the Department of Physics. Page was head of the department which he joined in 1917 from 1920 until his retirement in 1960.

Stickles retired as head of the Department of History in 1954. He came to Western in 1908 as head of the department.

Grise retired as dean of the college in 1959. He joined the Western faculty in 1913, became dean in 1927 and continued as head of the department of foreign languages, a post he assumed in 1918.

Administration of Fund

Taff came to Western in 1924. He was head of the Department of Economics and Sociology when he died in 1951.

The scholarship fund will be administered by the College Heights Foundation. A. J. Thurman is executive secretary of the foundation which administers all scholarship funds at Western, the National Defense Education Act loan program, and the College Heights

New Class Attendance Regulations In Effect

Western has instituted a new program of class attendance regulations that have already gone into effect.

The new regulations completely replace the old ones and bring more responsibility for attendance upon the students themselves.

1. Registration in a course is regarded as a contract between the students and the College, full performance of which requires regular and punctual class attendance.
2. Instructors will assist a student in making up work missed because of illness of the student, serious illness in a student's family, death in the student's family, business of the College, or for other reasons which the instructor deems justifiable.
3. A student shall present to the Office of the Dean, immediately upon his return to class, the Standard Memorandum Form CA-1, which may be obtained in Room 110, Cherry Hall.
4. A student with excessive absences because of illness or for other personal contingencies may request the Dean for a reduction in course load or may be advised to reduce his load or to officially withdraw, depending upon the length of absence and his status in the class.

5. Absences immediately preceding and following school holidays may be excused by the Dean of Students in cases of emergency. An unexcused absence of these days shall result in disciplinary action by the College.

Dr. William R. Hourigan, Dean of Undergraduate Instruction, explained the new system, saying, "Under this setup, there are actually no cuts and no excuses. The only exception, as stated in the regulations, comes in per-

Kentucky Building Is Unique Asset Of Campus

By T. J. Turner

This reporter has been amazed by the seeming lack of knowledge of one of Western's most unique assets — the Kentucky Building.

The Kentucky Building, located on the northwest slope of the Hill, is easily accessible to all interested persons. Since its opening in 1939, it has been visited, free of charge, by thousands from all parts of the world. This can be attributed to the many types of interest fulfilled by the varied collections and displays found in the Kentucky Building.

Many students have asked what the Kentucky Building has to offer them. This question can be answered by a brief cataloging of some of its unusual attractions.

The two rooms of the main floor of the museum are devoted almost entirely to fine examples of antique furniture, a splendid display of antique dishware and china, and a collection containing many facets of art, both old and modern. In the latter category, specific mention should be made of the diadisplay of paintings by Mr. Ivan Wilson, former head of Western's Art department and internationally known for his watercolors.

For those students interested in wildlife there is the largest collection of mounted specimens anywhere in the state of Kentucky. This collection includes several hundred birds, animals, and insects.

Several cases of Indian relics mirror a background of Kentucky's pre-white inhabitants, while other cases contain artifacts ante-dating the time of man on earth. There is also a representative sampling of hand weapons which will appeal to a high percentage of students.

The pioneer section seems to attract the most interest because of its large collection of equipment and utensils which indicate how our ancestors worked and lived. This same room houses numerous relics from all periods of Kentucky history, including the oldest known still in the state of Kentucky, records on which date back 182 years.

Many tourists have stated that this is the most interesting and unusual small museum they have ever seen. With this excellent cultural collection on our campus, it is unfortunate that it is not better known and appreciated by both students and faculty. Why not avail yourself of this rich experience at your earliest opportunity!

Book Marks

By Martha Rascoe

Now that classes have begun, you may be wishing you had taken that trip around the world! You can do exactly that, with Carpenter, Cooper, Green, Grisom, Schirra, Shepard and Slayton, in their book, We Seven. This book gives these men's testimonies about the hazards and uncertainty of space travel. It explains why each desired to go into space and the preparation he had to make in accomplishing this desire.

So you like to travel, but not in space. Perhaps you would like to travel in time. If so maybe you will enjoy a journey into the past. Jefferson and the Ordeal of Liberty is the third in the volume of Dumas Malone's biography of Thomas Jefferson. This book reveals Jefferson's opinions on freedom and the struggle he and others confronted in trying to attain it.

Jefferson was not the only person who faced the problem of liberty. Antislavery, edited by Dwight L. Dumond, presents another account of people faced with a struggle for freedom. This is a book for everyone interested in justice and equality under the law. It gives new dignity and importance to the Declaration of Independence. The belief, betrayal and glory in the crusade for freedom in America is depicted clearly in this book.

If you are interested in recent history you might enjoy the Four Great Battles of World War II. This book by Andrew A. Rooney, covers the invasion of Tarawa, Siege of Stalingrad, D-Day Invasion, and Battle of the Bulge. It attempts to convey with clarity the course of battle and to give the unforgettably intimate sense of knowing what it must have been like for the individual.

So you are the person who likes to relax with a book of poems. In The Clearing, by the late Robert Frost, should satisfy your longing. Some of the verses gathered in this collection, evoke the fields and farms of New England. Others speak of great deeds and universal truths. These poems are stirring examples of Frost's ability to see greatness in the familiar and simplicity in the grandiose.

If you like novels, The Movie-Goer by Walker Percy is a National Book Award Prize Winner. The hero of this novel is an avid movie-goer. The book brings out the truth, that to be a man, to be human, means to face responsibility.

For those interested in Dickens, Charles by Victoria Lincoln is a novel based on certain events in the life of Mr. Charles Dickens. The book portrays the society of London, before and during the reign of Queen Victoria. The center of the society is Dickens.

Inward Sky records the events of Nathaniel Hawthorne's life. In the book, Herbert J. Hoeltzi tries to show the relationship between the real and the ideal. Revealed in the book is the inward life of Hawthorne which found its expression and pattern in his fiction.

Knob Named Guest Conductor Of Alabama All-State Band

Mr. Edward A. Knob, of the Music department, has been selected by the Executive Board of the Alabama Band Masters Association as one of the guest conductors of the Alabama All-State Band.

The All-State Band, which has 135 members, and was selected from various high schools throughout the state of Alabama. At present Western has six students in the Music department who have previously played in the Alabama All-State Band.

The band will be divided into three sections: the red, the white, and the blue. The red band is the first band, which will be conducted by Harold Bachman from the University of Florida. The white band will be conducted by Mr. Knob, and the blue band will be conducted by John Duke from Cohn High school, Nashville.

Mr. Knob believes that he was selected as a result of a trip which the Western band took through Alabama.

The president of the Alabama Band Masters Association heard the Western band play during this trip and commented that the Western Band was one of the best college bands that he has heard this year.

Scholarships . . .

By Douglas L. Verdier

The establishment of several new scholarship funds in the names of four of Western's former faculty members will increase the financial assistance available to worthy students attending Western.

The funds, established by Charles R. (Roy) Martin, executive with the DuPont Chemical Co. and a 1927 graduate of Western, have been established in the names of Dr. F. C. Grise, George V. Page, Dr. A. M. Stickles, and the late Dr. N. O. Taff.

In addition to the new scholarships, there are a number of other scholarships and financial aids available to students attending Western.

The Ogden estate, under the control of a regent and a board of trustees, awarded annually 100 scholarships to young men and women of Warren County who desire to attend Western.

There are seven scholarships annually of $250 available to worthy high school graduates of Butler County on the basis of scholarship and need.

Several scholarships in music are granted to students on the basis of their musical ability and scholarship, financial need, and interest.

In addition to scholarships, the College Heights Foundation operates the Student Loan Fund. The College Heights Foundation was the creation of the late Dr. H. H. Cherry, who worked untiringly to build up and to make available a fund for use by worthy and needy students of Western. For 34 years the Foundation has rendered an important service to thousands of young men and women who were students in this institution.

Financial aid for outstanding students who require assistance to attend college is also available at Western through the National Defense Education Act of 1950. Federal funds can be borrowed at a low rate of interest.

A number of students may earn part of their expenses by working part time in the college cafeteria, library, book store, post office, dormitories, administrative offices, etc. More than 400 students, selected for scholarship and need, had part-time work on the campus last year.

All Western scholarship funds are administered by the College Heights Foundation under the direction of Mr. A. J. Thurman, executive secretary of the foundation. Students and prospective students interested in scholarships, financial aid, or student employment should consult the College Heights Foundation Office.

LIEUTENANT JERRY HOLLMAN, PH.D. IN ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

"If I had it to do over again, would I take Army R.O.T.C.?"

You bet I would, and I'll tell you why. Army officers live better than I expected. Take me. At the Army Signal Research Lab in Fort Monmouth, I get a chance to put my engineering background to good use. I keep on top of new developments. The experience is terrific, and it's going to pay off whether or not I stay in the Army. From Fort Monmouth I can go to a play in New York one weekend, and visit Washington the next. On my officer's salary I can afford it. Of course I have an active social life on post, too. Officers' club. Parties. Dances. You name it. My advice to you is this: if you have only two years to go for a commission, get it. Once on active duty, you'll be mighty glad you did."

Training School PTA To Hold Meeting

The general meeting of Western Training School PTA will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, February 21, in Van Meter Auditorium.

A Founders Day program has been planned. The College High orchestra, under the direction of Mr. James Godfrey, will participate.

THE CURSE OF THE CAMPUS: NO. 2

As was pointed out last week, one would think that with all the progress we have made in the education game, something might have been done by now about roommates. But no. The roommate picture has not brightened one bit since Ethan Goodpimple founded the first American college.

(Contrary to popular belief, Harvard was not the first. Mr. Goodpimple started his institution some 75 years earlier. And quite an institution it was, let me tell you! Mr. Goodpimple built schools of liberal arts, fine arts, dentistry, and tanning. He built a lacrosse stadium that seated 102,000. Everywhere on campus was emblazoned the stirring Latin motto CAVE MUSSI—"Watch out for moose." The student union contained a bowling alley, a clock, and a 16-chair barber shop.

...and as for shaving, they didn't

(It was this last feature—the barber shop—that, alas, brought Mr. Goodpimple's college to an early end. The student body, being drawn from the nearby countryside, was composed chiefly of Pequots and Iroquois who, alas, had no need of a barber shop. They braided their hair instead of cutting it, and as for shaving, they don't. The barber, Tremblatt Follicle by name, grew so depressed staring all the time at 16 empty chairs that one day his mind finally gave way. Seizing his vibrator, he ran outside and shook the entire campus till it crumbled to dust. This later became known as Pickett's Charge.)

But I digress. We were discussing ways for you and your roommate to stop hating each other. This is admittedly difficult but not impossible if you will both bend a bit, give a little.

I remember, for example, my own college days (Berlitz, '08). My roommate was, I think you will allow, even less agreeable than most. He was a Tibetan named Ringading whose native customs, while indisputably colorful, were not entirely endearing. Mark you, I didn't mind so much the gong he struck on the hour or the string of firecrackers he set off on the half-hour. I didn't even mind his singing chicken feathers every dusk and daybreak. What I did mind was that he singed them in my hat.

To be fair, he was not totally taken with some of my habits either—especially my hobby of collecting water. I had no jars at the time and just had to stack the water any-old-where.

Well sir, things grew steadily cooler between Ringading and me, and they might have gotten actually ugly had we not each happened to receive a package from home one day. Ringading opened his package, paused, smiled shyly at me, and offered me a gift.

"Thank you," I said. "What is it?"

"YaK butter," he said. "You put it in your hair. In Tibetan we call it gree see kidstuff."

"Well now, that's mighty friendly," I said and offered him a gift from my package. "Now you must have one of mine."

"Thank you," he said. "What is this called?"

"Marlboro Cigarettes," I said and held a match for him. He puffed. "Wow!" he said. "This sure beats chicken feathers!"

"Or anything else you could name," I said, lighting my own Marlboro.

And as we sat together and enjoyed that fine flavorful Marlboro tobacco, that pure white Marlboro filter, a glow of good fellowship came over us—a serene conviction that no quarrels exist between men that will not yield to the warmth of honest good will. I am proud to say that Ringading and I remain friends to this day, and we exchange cards each Christmas and each Fourth of July, firecrackers.

Sports Slants

By Larry Dykes, Sports Editor

After thirty-one years a great tradition and an "Old Era" is coming to an end. Tuesday night Western will play their last home basketball game in the old gym before moving into the new Academic-Athletic Building in December for their 1963-64 basketball season.

Housing the E. A. Diddle Arena that will seat 8,500 and can be expanded without any structural changes to a seating capacity of 13,000, this will become the new home of the Western Hilltoppers.

Beginning in 1932 the Toppers have won 304 games while losing only 35 which is a phenomenal winning percentage. Sometimes referred to as the "Red Barn," it has been the scene of some of the most exciting games in basketball history. The man who has been the landlord for the past thirty-one years is none other than Coach Diddle. He was there in the beginning and will be there not only to see it end, but to see a new beginning.

I guess the American Way is to support a winner. This is also true with students who support their basketball teams. During the recent years when Western was having more successful seasons the gym was always filled to capacity. This season I have noticed, and especially the last home game which was on a school night, only about a fourth of the student body was present. Tuesday's game with East Tennessee will be the last. If only for tradition and paying tribute to the last hurrah, let's help Coach Diddle win his 302nd game by attending the game.

Vanderbilt University may furnish the competition for the Hilltoppers in their opening game in the new Academic-Athletic Building on December 7th. The Toppers may also compete in Vandy's first proposed invitational tournament late in December.

Baker Wins $100 In Contest

Ralph Baker, Western's rugged 6-4 sophomore forward, won a $100 in a campus basketball contest. Picking nine out of ten games correctly, Baker won out over several hundred other students. "This was the first contest I've ever won," Baker exclaimed!

Trackmen Set Two School Records

Western's track team made their first mark of the track season last Saturday night when they snapped two school records to win first place in two events in the college division at the Mason-Dixon Games in Louisville.

The two-mile relay team, described by Coach Tom Ecker as one of the best in the South, shattered the old school record and set a new one of 7:51.7. All four members of the relay team broke the school mark for the half mile (2:05.3) as each ran it under two minutes.

John Noel led off with a 1:59.7. Tom Graham followed him with 1:59. Mike Oliver ran a 1:57.4, and anchor man Jermon Beazley covered the half mile in 1:55.8.

Gary Imel's vault of 14 feet was enough to assure the Toppers a first in the pole vault and he was followed by teammates Paul Woodall, second place—13-6, and Dale King cleared 13 feet for third place.

The mile relay team took third place despite a dropped baton.

Jermon Beazley had the baton knocked from his hand and still covered 440 in 57.3. Mike Oliver, (51.1), Roger Nelson, (51.7) and Bill Moore (51.6) was enough to give Western a third behind Murray and Kentucky State.

Both Tom Gard and Ron Kirk, who ran in the 70-yard dash and the 70-yard high hurdles respectively, failed to qualify, but both made excellent showings as they were competing against world record holders.

Two Receive Trophies For Fitness

Two freshmen students at Western, Thomas Bohlinger from Newport and Frank Hemphill from Cleveland, recently received trophies for physical fitness. Hemphill was acclaimed the most physically fit student at Western, and Bohlinger was selected as the most improved in his physical fitness level.

Because of a number of otherwise capable college men undergoing training at the Marine Corps Schools in Quantico, Va., being physically unfit. Coach Ted Hornback, head of the Physical Education department at Western, appointed a graduate committee to delve into the problem and report their findings. This committee was headed by Leo Magers, Captain USAF, and consisted of Dan King, Tom Ecker, John Blair, Tom Worthington, Larry Jones, and Dick Coop.

A series of youth-fitness tests were given during October to all male freshmen enrolled in a physical education activity course at Western. These tests consisted of a 50-yard dash, 600-yard run-walk, standing broad jump, pull-ups, sit-ups, softball throw for distance, and shuttle run. The same tests were repeated again at the end of the semester and all tested students who participated in the program showed a great deal of improvement.

75 Turn Out For Spring Grid Practice.

Spring football practice began February 8, with a turnout of approximately seventy-five men. Alternate captain Joe Bugle has assumed the responsibility of acting team captain. With the loss of eleven seniors, it is necessary that Coach Nick Deneke find adequate replacements for his fine men.

Western has obtained several transfer students from neighboring schools. Dale Lindsey and John Mutchler come to us from the University of Kentucky and Dave Rodgers, from Tawamba Junior College. Lindsey is a 6'2", 205 pounder. He is expected to see heavy duty as a linebacker this fall. John Mutchler is a 6'3", 215 pounder at the center position. He later may be converted to end.

He will also see action at the line-backer slot. In the backfield position, little Dave Rodgers will be a standout at quarterback. Dave is only 5'6" tall, but has the agility and finesse to compete with the best.

Along with the transfer members are the returning lettermen. At the ends are Stan Napper and Ken Waller, backed up by Glen Blackburn, Tom Carbotti, and Bob Smith. The tackles are anchored by Bob Gebhart, Harold Chambers, Paul Finneseth and Walter Hawkins. The guards are Bob Holman, Fred Miller, Ed Crum and Captain Joe Bugle. The center position is held down by Bob Westmoreland, a bulwark in the Western line, and Tom Murrell and Gary Kelley substituting. In the backfield, the Burt brothers, Jim and John, along with Carson Culler and Elmer Murray will make the passing game. Sharon Miller and Dave Rodgers will handle the quarterbacking with Jim Medley in the background.

With all this material on hand, it looks as though Western will be in for another fine season.

West Hall To Hold Golf Tournament

Preparations for a golf tournament are being made by residents of West Hall.

The golf tournament which will be called the West Hall Open, will be open to only West Hall occupants. A trophy with medals will be awarded to players with the best score. The tournament will begin sometime in April.

Play will be based on the player's handicap which will be determined in the qualifying rounds. Players will be grouped in foursomes (four players) by drawing. Entry fee will be $2.00 and each player must furnish his own equipment.

If interested see Ron Wetherell, Room 130, West Hall, or Mr. Hoagland, director of West Hall.

Buccaneers Drop Toppers 82-79 In Tight Game

East Tennessee after trailing most of the game defeated the Hilltoppers 82-79 in an OVC game Saturday.

The Toppers led at half-time 43-37 on the superb shooting by Darrel Carrier.

The second half was a give and take affair, with no team building a big lead. East Tennessee tied the score at 68-68 with four minutes left in the game. The Buccaneers surged to their largest lead of five points as the game ended.

The scoring lead by Darrel Carrier, who had 28 points, and Bobby Jackson with 17. East Tennessee's Mel Roberts and Houston Frazier tabbed 23 and 20 respectively.

Western outshot East Tennessee from the floor 40.8 per cent to 38.4, but East Tennessee led in rebounding 55-44.

Western is now 1-7 in OVC play and 3-12 overall. East Tennessee is 5-3 in conference play and 12-4 overall.

loads immediately preceding a and following school holidays.

"We feel that class attendance is really a matter of record. Absences will be recorded and these records will be used in counseling and guiding students."

In referring to the CA-1 form which should be turned in to the Office of the Dean by students following their absences, Dr. Hourigan said, "Absences, though not excused, should be explained on the proper forms to the Office of the Dean. Such explanations could prevent a student's being called in for a counseling session and possible disciplinary action following the report of his absences by his instructor."

At any time an instructor deems a student to have been excessively absent, the instructor will report that fact to the Dean's office. There is no set minimum number of absences which would require such action, other than the standards set for the individual student by his instructor.

After a student's absences are reported, he may be called to the Dean's Office for counseling, if the Dean thinks it necessary.
