Unpack Those Bags

By BERNARD MADISON

Ever been downtown on a Saturday afternoon? Then surely you have been around the campus on a Friday afternoon. No difference from where I sit.

Cabs are arriving and leaving; students are running to and fro; still warm suitcases are being reloaded for the trip, long or short, back home; dorms are rapidly becoming corridors of emptiness; and a now alive campus is becoming lonely.

What could be as terrible as spending a college weekend on the Hill. Almost anything. Most of these persons totting their luggage out of their five-day homes do not really know what a college weekend is like. Why? They have never spent one. Why? They hit the road home every Friday afternoon. Why? No one knows.

This is not the case at other similar institutions, and there is hope that it will not always be the case here.

How can a student enjoy his stay here if he must attend classes every day he is here? I am not advocating classless days, but we do have two in a week, Saturday and Sunday. Here is the chance to enjoy oneself, meet people and learn more about college life.

Weekends on the Hill are ideal times to study or get some rest from a tiring week. Weekends are the ideal times to participate in social activities or just relax at some light activity. One who suitcases it every weekend cannot realize just how much weekends can mean to a complete education.

When Sunday arrives on campus, students here have the selection of a church or other place of worship that would be envied by most persons in any city in the United States. The Bowling Green churches roll out their welcome mats to Western students and there is no better way to begin a new week than an inspirational message on Sunday morning.

Remember these advantages of a campus weekend the next time that old badly worn and tired suitcase is dragged from its convenient perch for another trip home. Lay the bags back out of the way (you will be surprised how much more room you will have) and get set for some real fun in the form of a weekend on the Hill.

Campus Infested With Insects... Litterbugs

"Don't be a litterbug, help keep the campus clean," is the plea of a letter received by the College Heights Herald from the office of College Security.

The letter is a reminder to students that they have been carelessly littering the campus.

It is the duty of each and every student to prevent this condition, and to set an example for those who carelessly forget.

Little containers are located about the hill and are placed there for a purpose. Before you unthoughtfully drop a piece of paper, THINK, and then place it in one of the containers.

Every student must cooperate in this important task. Only by this means will we have and keep the beautiful and litter-free campus we now enjoy.

Library Adjusts Hours And Space For Students

By Sue Ellen Browning

Have you been looking for a nice quiet place to study? We suggest you try the new reading room on the third floor of the library.

Because of the unusually large enrollment this fall, the library reading rooms on the second floor were crowded to overflow capacity during the first weeks of school.

To relieve this situation and provide an additional study area, the administration took immediate steps. The third floor of the library has been completely rearranged and redecorated. Three rooms joined by open archways have been converted into a new reading room with seating capacity of 100. Additional tables and chairs have also been placed in the Teaching Materials Room now seating 75.

The Library Science department class and laboratory rooms have been moved to the large room on the right side of the third floor. Though planned for this department, the room is available in the late afternoons and evenings if needed.

The library is remaining open until 10:00 p. m. four nights a week—Monday through Thursday.

This is a further step to provide opportunity for all students to have more time for working in the library.

The library and its staff are a vital part of the College. Make use of its facilities and their assistance!

Book Marks

By Sue Ellen Browning

A bequest for the purchase of books for the Western Library came to the college a few months ago. The bequest specified that $75.00 be used for books in memory of the donor's friend and teacher, Dr. J. L. Harman.

The donor, Mr. Van A. Bradley, of Tusculuma, Ala., was a student of this college when it was called the "Cherry Brothers School," in 1900. Dr. Harman, a young teacher in the faculty at that time, and his student, young Bradley, formed a close personal friendship. Mr. Bradley is a loyal alumnus of the school.

Dr. Harman remained on the faculty of the Cherry Brothers School until Kentucky established a state normal school in Bowling Green and made H. H. Cherry, one of the Cherry brothers, the president. Other faculty members also were retained for the state school, but Professor Harman, J. H. Dickey, and some others of the group separated from the state school and established a private business college. At his death in 1960 Dr. Harman was president emeritus of the Bowling Green College of Commerce.

The Western Library has chosen to use this fund in the purchase of the following books, which we believe will be living memorials to both of these Western alumni.

The Adams Papers, Series I, Part 1, in four volumes, includes the complete contents of the diary and autobiography of John Adams. The editor-in-chief of this monumental work is L. H. Butterfield. Volume I includes the introduction, a guide to editorial apparatus and the diary of John Adams, 1755-1770. The second volume includes the diary of Adams, 1771-1781, with notes of debates in the Continental Congress, 1774-1776. Volume III includes the diary, 1782-1804, with fragmentary diaries kept by Abigail Adams and the autobiography of John Adams to October, 1776. The fourth volume includes the second part of Adam's autobiography, "Travels and Negotiations," and "Peace." The last volume includes a chronology of Adam's life and public service and the Index. Other volumes are to be published later by Belknap Press of Harvard University.

Religion in American Life, edited by James Smith and Leland Jamison, is also a four-volume set. The first volume surveys the institutional structure of the four broad segments of American religion: Protestantism in its most clearly classical forms, Roman Catholicism, Judaism, and the less easily classifiable varieties of "new religions." Following this survey, it describes the course of American religious thought. The essays on religious thought summarize the major phases of "Professional theology" and examine particular periods and movements. The essays in Volume II fall clearly into two groups: the first five call attention to a series of special problems concerning the role of religion in the social and political life of the nation; the second five deal with the influence of religion in our cultural heritage. Volumes III and IV provide a critical and descriptive bibliography of religion in America that is unequalled in any other source.

Our gratitude goes to the son of the donor, Mr. Watson Bradley of Anniston, Ala., who carried out his father's bequest in this fine way.

A problem we have and a problem we will keep if we do not cooperate to remedy the situation.

Being faced with the apparently unsolvable parking problem for the present, it appears that persons parking on campus would just use one parking space. This is not the case, however. Notice the several automobiles parked outside the marked stalls around campus. This is no way to approach a solution to our problem.

If you must park on the Hill during the day, for the sake of others please use only one space. The security department is making an all-out effort to stop such goings-on, but students and others who park on campus must help.

Remember, be courteous.

HillTopic

The editorial, "Standing Room only," appearing in last week's Herald has been misinterpreted by some readers. May I say here that this was aimed at no particular department or departments, however if the situation of overcrowding can be alleviated by any department, we feel it the duty of that department to help in any manner it can.

The administration is doing everything in its power to alleviate this situation, and it is up to everyone concerned to cooperate.

HillTopic

Speaking of parking and traffic, it is the duty of every Western student to cooperate with the law enforcement officials in coping with the problems arising from the increased enrollment and expanded campus.

Do not park in restricted areas and this will prevent embarrassing situations from arising. Drive slow around the campus and watch for pedestrians. Speaking of pedestrians, may we remind these persons to cross streets only at marked areas and on the green light if one happens to be present.

HillTopic

Your class officers have been elected now. It is now your duty to cooperate and make your class the best. Whether you won or lost in the elections makes no difference, it is how you play the game from here out. (Speaking as a defeated candidate, I have the right to say this.)

Class elections were held in a wonderful manner this year and all those concerned are to be congratulated.

HillTopic

Homecoming is an experience that you will not want to miss. During this one exciting weekend, you will gain much of the true spirit attached to Western or any other institution of higher learning.

This is not the weekend to pack those bags and call a cab. If you never spend another weekend on campus, for the sake of a complete education, spend the weekend of November 4 on the Hill.

HillTopic

The Herald staff would like your opinion, as a reader, on the contents of your paper and any suggestions you have which might help us in our duty to Western and its students.

Any serious opinions or suggestions should be written and either mailed or brought by the Herald office on the second floor of the Administration Building.

In order to take care of the increased attendance at the Library later hours are now observed and more space has been allotted to reading rooms.

These are for you and you should take advantage of them as such.

Here's the story. . . . It's sad but true. . . . the week-end of Friday the 13th.

For those that remembered this superstitious date, many things swung to the left of the track. "Carry thy rabbit foot," was their motto. They tried to avoid black cats, cracks in sidewalks, mirrors, ladders, and of course, umbrellas. The latter was inevitable, as many Westerns students were to meet with many an umbrella during that rain which took the best from us all. But on with the story. . . .

There was a Junior Miss who had plans of spending several delightful hours at a party. Due to a mix up in time, a certain Mr. V. was forced to wait for over half an hour for his "lucky" date. Several noticed his lengthy stay in the lobby of Regents Hall. Several became inquisitive as to whom this newspaper-magazine reader was waiting for. Several became mad, for to keep such an attractive gentleman waiting was beyond their comprehension; but she eventually came and off they went to the party.

Upon approaching the party site, the passage through the cattle guard was necessary in order to enter the scene of the social affair. And through it was — for Miss N. twenty minutes later, she and her date were back at Regents, where she was forced to sorta revise her appearance of bruises and mud. To wait again was Mr. V.'s position. "Is that poor boy still waiting?" asked one concerned Sophomore. Of course, she didn't know the circumstances. When being informed of the Great Fall, one person said, "This is the first time a cow or girl has fallen in. Do hope this isn't to be expected every Friday the 13th."

The mishap of running into a gas pump resulted in much trouble for two freshmen. In order to keep this a secret from their parents, they proceeded to find a garage where they had hopes of discovering a fine — proficient gentleman who would possess the talent of knocking out the dents.

But despite the appearance of the "lively-jumping place", no one was there. Hence, the two Misses grabbed a couple of wrenches and hammers and eventually found one of their hidden talents. Now they say, "You can't exactly tell." So if you ever see a car that "you can't exactly tell", you will know who these anonymous freshmen are.

But that is not all. At the time of the accident they were in the process of getting gasoline; it was only three hours later before they remembered; but then it was too late. Being situated nine miles from the nearest gasoline station made things a bit difficult. One young lady, Mary Ann (not me!) when seeing an approaching car, stood on the yellow line of the highway trying to encourage the halt of the on-coming vehicle; but to no avail. Finally, they did travel those all important nine miles, which incidentally placed them in their home town. To call Dad was not on the agenda, as they reasoned he could not help anyway for, "We had his car." At last, they did get home, that is after sixteen hours of intermittent hazards.

Other unfavorable little things occurred. Tickets were given to many and I'm not referring to football passes. The teachers administered several tests, many of them being pop quizzes which were marked at the top of the mimeographed papers. . . . Friday the 13th. And let us not forget the flu plague that was egged on by late rain; the week-end was not the best for some of us.

Some forgot the importance of the "Day" and for them that "Day" and the following week-end went per usual. It was only those who remembered who were evidently the salt spillers. Hence, it is the consensus of the stirrer of Potpourri Boils, a salt spiller herself, that the number 13 when related to Friday should by all means be one those little things that should be forgotten.

Westerners Participate In UN Day Activities

By Kenneth Smith
Lawrence A. Jones

Yesterday was United Nations Day.

Today a speech will be presented to the local Rotary club at the Helm Hotel by Dr. W. M. Jenkins, head of the department of Business and Government. Along with Dr. Jenkins in presenting the speech will be Bernard Madison, Ed Hecker, and Frank Hammond.

The United Nations officially came into existence on October 24, 1945, when the charter had been ratified by China, France, the USSR, the United Kingdom, the United States, and by a majority of other signatories.

Membership of the United Nations is open to all peace loving nations which accept the obligations of the United Nations Charter and, in the judgement of the organization, are able and willing to carry out these obligations.

The original members of the United Nations are those countries which signed the declaration of the United Nations on January 1, 1942, or took part in the San Francisco Conference, and which signed and ratified the charter.

The purposes of the United Nations are to maintain international peace and security; to develop friendly relations among nations; to cooperate internationally in solving international economic, social, cultural, and humanitarian problems; to promote respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms, and to be a center for harmonizing the actions of nations in attaining these common needs.

In morning, the causes of human misery and discontent, the U. N. is making an important first step toward lasting peace.

Review Of "Thunder On The Hill" Reveals Experiment Was Success

By Don Helm

"Thunder on the Hill" was premiered at the first monthly meeting of Western Player's in Snell Hall auditorium, Wednesday night, October 11. The one-act Civil War production was produced by the Mu Lambda chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity at Western, and was directed by Maria Brandon and Chet Day, members of the fraternity.

The play opened the experimental phase of Western Player's for this season. The Player's for the past few seasons have presented to the stage several plays that members of the club have created. "Thunder on the Hill" became Maria Brandon's first contribution in the field. Miss Brandon, a senior from St. Louis, based the play upon the effects and consequences of the Civil War upon a family living in the divided state of Kentucky.

Yvonne Houchin, senior English major from Brownsville, portrayed Ma Fulcher, the central character of the story. Yvonne can be recommended for the emotional impact that she injected into the play and her accomplishment of giving the story character.

Joe Borders and Hub Lowery, graduates of Louisville St. Xavier and Breckinridge County High schools, respectively, gave the dramatic production portrayals of the military tactics centering around Bowling Green. Borders successfully appeared in character for his role as Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston and Lowrey equally filled his role as Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner.

Darlene Taylor, Judy Woodward, Ed Curtis, and Don Alexander completed the Fulcher household and gave the play the necessary family atmosphere so important in the unwinding of the plot. Peggy Houchin, Mason Ploch, Anne Talbott, Joe Gregory, and Bill Kirby completed the cast of townspeople while narrator Larry Siria put the finishing touch on the story.

The technical staff was headed by the following Mrs. Frances Dixon, advisor; Pat McEndree, script-assistant; Lois Burton, technical advisor; Don Helm, technical director; Al Young, stage set decoration; Larry Siria, sound; Gloria Cooper, lighting; Wendy Harrison, properties; Betsy White make-up; Judy Vanover, costumes; and Betty Lou Miller, publicity.

Don Alexander, Mason Ploch, Charlie Wade, Benny Vickous, Judy Oldham, Joe Borders, Joe Gregory, Charles E. Miller, Darla Siria, Kim Benson, Hub Lowery, Dinah Kessler, Judy Criswell, Mary Goble, Linda Ford, Dottie Burchie, Jean Phelps, Shirley Lanham, and Carolyn Patton composed the technical crew.

Folksinger Sings For Chapel Assembly

Miss Edna Richie, Kentucky folksinger from Viper, presented a program in chapel last Wednesday. Miss Richie, who accompanied herself on the autoharp and strung dulcimer, sang a variety of folksongs including old English ballads, love lyrics, play rings, native American ballads, and religious songs.

Dr. D. K. Wilgus, of the English department and internationally known folk expert, introduced the performer. Dr. Wilgus emphasized the importance of these songs in helping us to understand our traditional heritage as a value.

Kentucky Library Offers Bowling Green Interests

The Kentucky Library offers information about old Bowling Green in many places. In an old scrapbook, a list of interesting places to see compiled by Dr. A. M. Stickles has been found. Dr. Stickles compiled this list in 1925 for the benefit of visitors who came to the Western campus for a meeting of the Kentucky Classical Association.

He listed the interesting spots in and around Bowling Green as follows:

1. The party will leave the Helm Hotel which is on the site of the Old Morehead House built in 1847 and dismantled in 1923.
2. We will go up State street passing the First Presbyterian Church (remodeled) on the corner of State and Tenth streets which was built in 1819. The basement of this church was used by Miss Jane's School for Girls before the Civil War and was a federal hospital during the war.
3. On the corner of State and Eleventh streets, on the right, is the State Street Methodist Church (South).
4. Opposite the Methodist Church will be found the Christian Church.
5. Farther up at 1126 State street, on the left, is the site of a log house. On this site was General Simon B. Buckner's headquarters during the Civil War.
6. Westminster Presbyterian Church is on the corner of State and Twelfth streets.
7. Up Twelfth street is the Baptist Church which is the second largest church in Kentucky and the third largest Baptist Church in the South.
8. On up is Reservoir Hill, known during the Civil War as College Hill. Note the breast work used during the Civil War, the new city hospital which is being erected, and which overlooks the surrounding country from the top of the hill.
9. We will pass the residence on the corner of Fourteenth and Chestnut streets (1353 Chestnut) which is the former home of Mrs. W. A. Okenchain (Eliza Calvert Hall) who has written: "Aunt Jane of Kentucky"

Church Group Honors Miss Margie Helm

An honorary membership in the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations, United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, has been presented Miss Margie Helm, Director of Library Services. Miss Helm was presented this honor by her Presbyterian co-workers at the fall training meeting of Western Kentucky Presbyterial at the First Presbyterian Church in Hopkinsville.

She received a certificate of honorary membership and a specially designed pin for her loyal and devoted Christian service, while the commission received $50 to provide opportunities for special training for Christian leadership.

Miss Helm is now the representative of Western Kentucky Presbyterial on the "Committee 500" to assist the national executive committee of United Presbyterian Women in planning how to reach their project goals.

Seniors Should Visit Placement Service Soon

Seniors, it's time for you to visit the Placement Service. All graduating seniors should schedule a time in which they could visit the Placement Service and talk with Mr. Lee Robertson, director, or Mrs. Grace Overby, assistant director, so that they may explain the program.

The services are free to all graduating seniors and alumni. The Placement Service receives teaching jobs in all fields from all states. They also receive information on non-teaching jobs, especially in the industry and selling fields.

Seniors who wish to take advantage of this service must: 1. Fill out an information card, which remains a permanent record at the placement office; 2. Supply a picture of themselves, which serves as a guide to their prospective employer and helps the Placement Service remember the student; 3. Subject themselves to interviews with possible employers; 4. Acquire at least three letters of recommendation before graduation; and 5. Obtain a critic teacher's report.

The Placement Service is located on the second floor of the Administration Building.

Congress Debate Club Meets

The Congress Debating club held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening, October 9, in the Paul L. Garrett Student Center. During the business meeting, plans for the club's annual chapel debate were completed. Also, it was decided that all future club meetings should be held in room 300 of Ogden Hall.

After all business had been completed, the program which consisted of an informal debate on the topic, "Resolved: 'The United States Government Should Extend Federal Aid to Education,'" was presented. Senators Barbara Jackson and Jerry Taylor supported the negative side of the issue, while Senators Titus Lile and Jerry Hines spoke for the affirmative.

Cherry Country Life Club Plans For Homecoming

The Cherry Country Life Club held its regular meeting Tuesday night October 10, in Snell Hall room 102.

Billy Jo Miles, club president, presided at the meeting. Fifty members were present. Plans were discussed for the freshmen party to be given to welcome the freshmen agriculture majors and minors.

The club will construct two floats to be entered in Western's homecoming parade. In addition to the float to be entered by the club itself, the club has agreed to construct a float for the Southern Kentucky Tobacco Board of Trade. The float will be the board's entry in the local tobacco festival early in November, and will also be seen in the homecoming parade, but will not be judged in competition with other floats constructed on campus. A fee of one-hundred dollars will be paid the Cherry Country Life club for its efforts by the Tobacco Board of Trade.

THE DATING SEASON

I have recently returned from a tour of 950,000 American colleges where I made a survey of undergraduate dating customs and sold mechanical dogs, and I have tabulated my findings and I am now prepared to tell you the simple secret of successful dating.

The simple secret is simply this: a date is successful when the man knows how to treat the girl.

And how does a girl like to be treated? If you want to know, read and remember these four cardinal rules of dating:

1. A girl likes to be treated with respect.

When you call for your girl, do not drive up in front of the sorority house and yell, "Hey, fat lady!" Get out of your car. Walk respectfully to the door. Knock respectfully. When your girl comes out, tug your forelock and say respectfully, "Good evening, your honor." Then offer her a Marlboro, for what greater respect can you show your girl than to offer Marlboro with its fine flavor and exclusive selectrate filter? It will indicate immediately that you respect her taste, respect her discernment, respect her intelligence. So, good buddies, before going out on a date, always remember to buy some Marlboros, available in soft pack or flip-top box in all 50 of the United States and also Cleveland.

2. A girl likes a good listener.

Do not monopolize the conversation. Let her talk while you listen attentively. Make sure, however, that she is not herself a good listener. I recollect a date I had once with a coed named Greensleeves Sigafos, a lovely girl, but unfortunately a listener, not a talker. I too was a listener so we just sat all night long, each with his hand cupped over his ear, straining to catch a word, not talking hour after hour until finally a policeman came by and arrested us both for vagrancy. I did a year and a day. She got by with a suspended sentence because she was the sole support of her aged housemother.

3. A girl likes to be taken to nice places.

By "nice" places I do not mean expensive places. A girl does not demand luxury. All she asks is a place that is pleasant and gracious. The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, for example. Or Mount Rushmore. Or the Taj Mahal. Or the Bureau of Weights and Measures. Find places like these to take your girl. In no circumstances must you take her to an old-cracking plant.

4. A girl likes a man to be well-informed.

Come prepared with a few interesting facts that you can drop casually into the conversation. Like this: "Did you know, Snookiepuss, that when cattle, sheep, camels, goats, antelopes, and other members of the cud-chewing family get up, they always get up hind legs first?" Or this: "Are you aware, Hotlips, that corn grows faster at night?" Or this: "By the way, Loverhead, Oslo did not become the capital of Norway till July 11, 1924."

If you can slip enough of these nuggets into the conversation before dinner, your date will grow too torpid to eat. Some men save up to a half million dollars a year this way.

Practical Nursing School Enrolls Eighth Class

The Glasgow School for Practical Nurses, operated by Western Area Vocational School, enrolled its eighth class on October 16. Most of the thirty-one students in the new class come from the Glasgow and Bowling Green area.

The students were chosen from a group of sixty-five who had completed their application for the class. Students who were not chosen for the present class will be considered for the May, 1963 class.

students will be assigned to the three affiliated hospitals on a rotating basis. The three hospitals are the T. J. Sampson Community Hospital and the District Six T. B. Hospital in Glasgow and the Western State Hospital in Hopkinsville.

Future You
You're needed... just as your father and grandfather were. It's an obligation that a lot of qualified college men have to meet. If we don't...
You
All right. But what can I do for the Air Force?
Future You
The Air Force needs college trained men and women as officers. This is caused by the rapidly advancing technology that goes with hypersonic air and space flight. Your four years of college have equipped you to handle complex jobs.
You
Say I was interested... how can I get to be an officer?
Future You
You know about Air Force ROTC and the Air Force Academy. Then there's the navigator training program. You've probably heard about Officer Training School... where the Air Force takes certain college graduates, both men and women, and commissions them after three months of training.

Future You
Add it up. Base pay, tax-free allowances, free medical and dental care, retirement provision, perhaps flight pay. You don't have to be an eco major to see it adds up to an attractive package.

Speaking Of Society?

By ALLEN PARDON

Many Western students have wondered about this column. They seem to think that I talk too much about fashions and trends of fashions. Well, I got to thinking about what all Speaking of Society could include or what it could consist of.

I have had a few suggestions of what it could consist of.

There is always the standard society news that could go into the column. For instance:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Astoreca, Tenefly, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Elaine, to Wayne Hougland, son of Mrs. Joseph C. Arvin, Owensboro, and the late Walter G. Hougland.

Both Miss Astoreca and Mr. Hougland are students at Western.

A spring wedding is planned.

I could write sports into society.

The Herald's society minded sports editor, Ronnie Stuart, along with Tom Lutz, sophomore at Western, spent the summer coaching Pony league baseball. Their Madisonville team won the city Pony league championship.

A society full of congratulations to them.

Or perhaps a column of advice to the lovelorn. Thus:

Dear A. P.,

Recently, I was suppose to make a scene with Jacquinaetae. But, it seems that her girl friend came to town and wanted her to crush the prospective scene with me so that just the two of them could go out on the town. So the upcoming scene was crushed. However, the girl friend saw a boy and decided that she wanted to dig a scene with him. So, our scene became a prospective materialization again.

Well, it seems that the girl friend saw me and decided that she wanted to make the scene with me and not the other fellow. So, much to my dislike, we switch ed.

What I want to know is, "What happened?"

Signed: Dig?

Answer: No. But you were dug. Besides, what are you griping about?

Confusing, isn't it?

Psychology Students Help Disturbed Child

The students of the psychology department in the past, and if the situation presents itself will again in the future, help toward the rehabilitation of emotionally disturbed children. Children of this type have various emotional disorders. Finding the cause of their problems and working from there gives the psychology student a chance to gain practical experience as well as giving the children an enormous psychological lift.

An example of how this program has been of benefit is the case study of a nine year old boy who had an aversion to attending school. A member of one of the psychology classes at Western was asked to meet the boy, talk with him, and to try to get the boy interested in school. This was accomplished by having the boy meet new and different people and through his contact with them began to lose his inferiority complex.

At last report the boy was attending classes regularly and according to his teachers doing much improved work.

Dr. Jenkins Speaks To Smiths Grove Women

Dr. William Jenkins, head of the Department of Business and Government, spoke to the Smiths Grove Women's club at its meeting Thursday, October 19, at the home of Mrs. Joe Gray, Smiths Grove.

Dr. Jenkins' subject was the United Nations, which was part of an extended series of programs on this subject in recognition of yesterday being United Nations Day.

Or—

For the society groups that just wait to listen for a while, E. P.'s latest album is one recommended for listening to as well as "rockin'" with. The LP is from the sound track of "Blue Hawaii", a movie highly recommended.

Or I could talk about the upcoming problem of what to wear to the future basketball games. My sociological prediction is that most, if not all, of the basketball games will be crowded this year. Sometimes, what is worn to the games is not comfortable.

How many of you would rather dress casual for a basketball game? How many of you have before?

I've heard that that Western coeds would rather go in "flats" instead of "heels" to the games.

I know that sometimes a tie and sports or suit coat are uncomfortable because of the heat situation.

Some students dress up because everybody else does. But what if everybody did not dress up. Would you?

As you may see by now Speaking of Society can cover many topics. Such topics as "How to take pictures at a society function", "How to eat", and "Why coeds at the northern schools are wearing their sweaters with the sleeves tied around their necks" (I would suppose that it is to keep the sweater from falling off of their shoulders) could be discussed.

One subject that I hope to never put my time in on is "What was the guilty one wearing when he shot Cock Robin?"

Wolfe Attends KAPT Meeting

Mr. Otis K. Wolfe, a member of the Physics department, and secretary-treasurer of the Kentucky Association of Physics Teachers, attended the fall meeting of the KAPT, October 21, at the University of Kentucky. The purpose of this meeting was to call for papers primarily on research problems. Last year the organization voted to attempt to get the papers for the fall meeting on the presented program of the KAPT. Former Westerner Is Employed In T. V. Instruction

The best televised instructional program in the country is being viewed by some 5,000 New Mexico ninth grade students, according to the Institute for Education by Radio-Television.

The general science telecourse received the first award in the local production category for systematic instruction at secondary school levels.

The award was announced at the twenty-fifth American Exhibition of educational radio and television programs, which was held at Ohio State University.

George Fishbeck of the Albuquerque public schools is the teacher. The program is directed by Dr. Wayne Bundy of KNME-TV.

The science course was developed by Mr. Fishbeck and members of a science committee. Mrs. Frances Redford House, BS '59, served as a member of the committee.

The course was developed for use throughout an 8,000 square mile area. In all, some 10,000 students in twenty different schools receive the program.

Superintendent of the Albuquerque schools, Dr. Charles Spain said the award "reflects great credit on the hard work and devotion of many people—particularly George Fishbeck and members of the science committee who designed the course."

Mrs. House is the daughter of Mrs. Louis Page Redford, Bowling Green.

Kentucky Building Receives Post Card Collection

Mrs. Betty Gardner Larkings, grand-daughter of Mr. T. T. Gardner, who lived at 522 E. 14th Street has given the Kentucky Museum a collection of post cards. An outstanding card is a view of the First Baptist Church which stood in the 300 block at Main Street where the Mansard Hotel parking lot is today. This is the only view of this particular building which has been found for the museum collection.

Another interesting card in the album was a scene across the park in the center of town looking towards the present Pearson's Drug Store on the corner. This particular picture was taken when housing the Sumpter Paint Store. There were many other interesting views from over Kentucky in the collection and those which were not of Kentucky scenes will be used for enhancing material for the Kentucky Museum.

Football, Basketball, Tennis, Bowling Action Begins In Intramurals Week

Western's top-flight intramural program is now in full swing with a cast of over 500 participants.

Football
Flag football saw a lot of action in the first six games last week. Only five results have been received at this time by the Herald. In these five games the Lambdas, Kingsmen, Unmatchables, Colonials, and Sigmas snatched their opposition to record victories.

The Lambdas, led by the arm of Leon Mudd and the magic hands of Harold Chambers, trounced the Yanks to the tune of 33-6. With Mudd doing the furling, Chambers gathered in three passes for tallies. Virgil Hall scored on a punt return and George Sells carried the ball for the other six pointer.

Led by an undaunted aerial attack, the Sigmas proved too much for the unheralded Northeasterners as the Sigmas ground out a 39-6 victory over the visitors.

The Unmatchables, led by speedy Dave Browning, subdued the Lazy 8's 19-0. Browning rolled up yardage and touchdowns on 40 and 32 yard scoring runs.

With a tremendous ground attack, the Kingsmen downed Hardia County 41-0. Scoring three times in each half, the Kingsmen's goal line was threatened only once, that on a pass interception.

The Colonials, led by two TD's from each of Jim McClure and Charles Cundiff, blanked the Blanks 44-0.

The games were played on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at 4:30 p. m.

Toppers Fail To Break Jinx; Shutout By Cards

A massive University of Louisville football squad shut out a hard fighting Hilltopper team before a large homecoming crowd at the Fairgrounds Stadium, Saturday.

The Redbirds needed only three minutes to put seven points on the scoreboard with the help of a blocked quick kick, which was recovered by the Cards' Tom Montgomery on the Toppers six yard line.

The score was made by Lee Collard from the one yard line after the Toppers held for two downs. The attempt for point was good and U. of L. led 7-0 after three minutes of play.

Western struck back with a 17 yard pass from Bill Straub to end Murray, and an 8 yard run by Straub, moving Western to the Louisville 43. However, Western's chance faded on the next play with a Louisville pass interception.

With 4:32 remaining in the second quarter, Louisville struck for its second touchdown. The extra point was good making the score 14-0 at the end of the first half.

At the start of the second half a 12 yard pass to end Jim Hughes carried the Toppers to the Cardinals 41, and another pass to Hughes moved them to the 27. Western's drive was halted as Jim Daily was thrown for a 13 yard loss, giving the ball U. of L. on downs.

With this break, the Cardinals chalked up a third touchdown in six plays, the final one a 25 yard pass play from Giles to end Hockensmith.

Early in the fourth quarter Murray passed the ball to Hughes who raced 62 yards for a touchruled Murray did not catch the ball in flight and the play was called back.

The Toppers go back to O.V.C. play this week, meeting Eastern at Richmond.

Gambling Toppers Lose Heartbreaker To Tech

Western's Hilltoppers failed to make a two-point conversion with 12:06 to go in the game and on attempt for a 10 yard field goal in the last 24 seconds, and as a result fell short of victory.

The Toppers lost to Tennessee Tech 13-12, for a hard-to-take loss, leaving them 1-2 in the race for the OVC Crown.

A tremendous 79 yard quick kick by Bobby "Toast" Mitchell set up Western's first touchdown in the opening quarter. The blast carried to Tech's six yard line.

On the second play from there, end Danny McAttee gobbled up a Jim Ragland fumble. Western had it first and goal on the six.

Best rammed to the two, but then Straub lost back to the six. Best came back for two to the four. It was the fourth down, so Straub retreated a few steps and flipped a sort of a shovel pass to "Gunner Jim" Hughes, who was barely in the end zone. Clark's kick was wide and it was 6-0 after 10:26 of action.

Tech came back when Towell Smith fell on a Joe Jagers' fumble on Western's 46. Don Welch, fullback for Tech, went 23 yards up the middle and a few plays later Bob White scored on third down from a yard out.

Ragland's kick was wide and it was 6-6 at halftime.

The Eagles staged a convincing 61 yard drive with the second half kick off to go ahead to stay. Halfback Jackie Corbin and fullback Ken Fults powered this move.

Tech moved to a first and goal on the eight and needed all four plays to score. Fults spun through the middle and this time Ragland's kick was good and the Eagles led 13-6 with 9:11 left in the third quarter.

Neither team generated much of an offense until Dally, Boone, and Mitchell got the Western team moving. It was then that Dally let a thunderbolt pass leave his hand for a tremendous 54 yard air gift to Winton Boone, one of the OVC's fastest footballers, on Tech's 26 yard line. From there Boone left all defenders behind with his running ability.

The score then was 13-12 in favor of Tech. Then came the agonizing decision. With more than 12 minutes to play, should you go for a tie or for the win? A successful place-kick would have tied the score; a run or pass play, which is 2 points, would have won the game.

Coach Nick Denes replaced Dally with roll-out specialist Straub. He did roll-out only to have Tech and Rudy Schmitt trap Straub on the 20 yard line.

With that failing Tech took over but could not go. Frank Bowling punted to Western's six-yard line. The call came for Mitchell to go on the warpath, which nearly lifted Tech's scalp.

The Toppers worked the ball to Tech's 10 with 24 seconds left in the ball game. What do you do? Go for a first with fourth and six inches and maybe the touchdown or do you try the field goal?

The Toppers again gambled. They called Clark off the bench and the kick just missed.

periment in the theatre is made difficult and expensive by the fact that a play must find audience favor at once or it has no chance of finding it later. It follows that the playwright must pluck from the air about him a fable which will be of immediate interest to his time and hour, and relate it in a fashion acceptable to his neighbors. A certain cleverness in striking a compromise between the world about him and the world within has characterized the work of the greatest as well as the most successful playwrights. Through the long years of his tenure as America's favorite playwright, Maxwell Anderson succeeded in this respect - with topical satire, historical romance, and poetic tragedy.

The Western Players first experimented with Anderson in his poetic "Joan of Lorraine." Their current venture is with the melodramatic commentary on "the great depression," in the modern theatre classic, "Winterset," to be presented November 1 and 2 in Van Meter Auditorium.
