200 Visitors Expected For State Principal's Meeting Here Tomorrow

Approximately 200 elementary school leaders from across the state are expected to attend the annual conference program of the Department of Elementary School Principals of the Kentucky Education Association meeting at Western tomorrow and Friday.

Registration for the conference, which has as its theme "The Elementary Principal Accepts His Leadership Role", will begin at 8 a.m. (CST) Thursday, November 9 in Van Meter Auditorium.

The two day program will include general meetings of the group on both Thursday and Friday; a program of visitation of local elementary schools in the area by the principals; luncheons; various assembly meetings; and a banquet.

Featured speakers during the principals' conference will include Dr. Harold Drummond, professor of education and chairman of the

Seminar On Radiation To Be Held Here

The first of five seminars in the state on atomic radiation will be conducted here, November 13.

The purpose of the seminars is to inform news media, teachers, and other officials about radiation.

The meeting will be sponsored by the advisory committee and the Atomic Energy Commission. The chairman will be Attorney General John Breckenridge, of the Kentucky Advisory Committee on Nuclear Energy.

Film Library Gives Aid To Over 20,000 Students

Students throughout this area of Kentucky will reap the benefits of many hours of planning and work by use of film now on file in the Third District Film Library here at Western.

Western Plans Participation In Literary Festival

Western will be one of 27 colleges represented at the Southern Literary Festival planned at Converse College, Spartanburg, South Carolina, next spring.

The festival is an organization of four year colleges designed to promote undergraduate writing. The spring meeting will feature four nationally known authors, Eudora Welty, Andrew Lytle, Cleanth Brooks, and Flannery O'Connor.

Meet Bernadette Ng

"I had never seen snow before, until I came here." This was one unusual difference noted by Bernadette Ng, a second semester freshman at Western who is originally from Hong Kong, China. Bernadette has only been here for a year, but she learned to speak English in Hong Kong.

Because she is a medical technology major, Bernadette is especially pleased with the facilities at our new Science building. She hopes to go to New York to finish her studies and plans to stay there rather than return to her native country. She says that she has many friends from Hong Kong who are in New York now. Three brothers and two sisters of Bernadette's remain at home. When asked what her family thought of her staying in America, she said that they not only didn't mind but "My brothers and sisters would like to come here too!"

"People are friendlier here. They speak and say 'Hi' even if they don't know you." In fact, Bernadette went so far as to say that friendliness had given her her best impression of Western.

Big Red Day! What was the reason? Just a warm-up for homecoming season!

Pre-homecoming festivities got underway last Wednesday with a giant pep rally in the gymnasium and "Big Red Day." Students and faculty members were seen everywhere in red attire.

President Kelly Thompson opened the program by stating that "we are gathered here with one thing in mind: that by 4:00 p.m. Saturday this college will be celebrating one of its greatest successes."

Also on the program were band director Ed Knob, head football coach Nick Denes, the

Herald Breakfast Sets Record In Attendance

A record breaking number of 118 former staff members, guests and present staff members attended the annual College Heights Herald Homecoming Breakfast held in the Cafeteria of the Paul L. Garrett Student Center, 8 a.m. Saturday.

Mr. Robert Cochran, Director of Public Relations, served as host.

President Kelly Thompson opened the program with a greeting to the Alumni and guests. Other speakers on the program were: Miss Frances Richards, instructor of journalism and faculty advisor, Ed Hocker and Bernard Madison, present Co-Editors of the Herald.

A moment of silent prayer was given for the late George Grise, who was killed in an automobile accident last year. This was the first Herald Breakfast in several years not honored by his presence. Mr. Grise was the son of Dr. Finley C. Grise, former Dean of the College.

Alumni present were: Mr. Don Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hornback, Helen Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Huddleston, Mr. Luther B. Keen, Mr. Joseph Lafferty, Mr. Owen Lawson Jr., Mr. Jerry Parker, Mr. Quinn Pearl, Mr. Howard W. Robey, Mrs. James Richardson, Mr. Robert Richardson, Mr. Sam Steger, and Mr. Tom Tichenor.

Spontaneous Pep Rally Cited For Its Spirit

"The rain can't put out the bonfire in our hearts." This statement chanted by Western students was the theme of the pep rally held Friday evening in Van Meter Auditorium. Forced to retreat to the shelter of Van Meter because of a cold, drizzling rain the students outdid themselves in participating in one of the most Inspiring homecoming rallies in years.

The cheerleaders with their usual zest and zeal led cheer after cheer with the band and students lending a helping hand. Supporters bearing signs of victory and confederate flags paraded among the gathering.

Addresses by President Kelley Thompson and Coach Denes were highlights of the event. Also, speaking for the team was senior Denny McAtee, who predicted the inevitable victory over Morehead.

Yes the "Bonfire" burning in the hearts of all Western students was far too much for the visiting Eagles as the Big Red rolled to victory again.

Homecomers Welcomed In Sat. Chapel

"Welcome Alumni", was the theme for the annual Homecoming Chapel held in Van Meter Auditorium Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Dr. H. L. Stephens, chairman of the Homecoming committee, presided over the occasion. The invocation was given by Mr. Dero Downing, followed by President Kelly Thompson's welcome to the Alumni.

President Thompson gave the credit for Western having the finest group of students in its history to the loyalty of the Alumni.

The response from the Alumni was given by Dr. Carol Brooks of Bowling Green.

Sat. Parade Largest In H'coming History

Western's annual homecoming parade was held Saturday morning, November 4. This year the parade was held in conjunction with the Southern Kentucky Tobacco Festival, making it the largest parade in homecoming history. The winning floats, entered by Western organizations, were first place: Pershing Rifles float, second place: Scabbard and Blade float, and third place was taken by the Beta's float.

Other entries representing Western in the parade were: Pershing

A HOLE IN FOUR . . . Joe Jagers (with ball), Western fullback, found a hole in the Morehead defense on the fourth down as he plunged for Western's lone touchdown in the Topper Homecoming thriller, Saturday. The play, which took place on the one yard line, produced the only touchdown made by either team during the contest. Aiding Jagers in the late first quarter play off right tackle are end Lee Murray (right, on ground), and tackle Jim Taylor (No. 73). Halfback Sam Clark made the extra point to give Western the 7-0 winning score.

Looking Forward

By Nancy Shearer

Thursday, November 9. . . . A state wide meeting of elementary school principals will be held on campus. It is up to the student body and the faculty to welcome these visitors.

Saturday, November 11. . . . Western's gridders will close their 1961 season against Murray State College in the Western Stadium. Senior gridders will be making their final appearance in this outing. If you did not suitcase last weekend, try for two in a row; if you did "go home", try for one in a row with this weekend.

Monday, November 13. . . . Another group of welcomed visitors will visit the campus. These will be here for the State Department of Education Conference.

Friday, November 17. . . . The State Convention of the Kentucky Music Educators Association will open on campus.

Saturday, November 18. . . . Approximately 15 debate teams from Kentucky Colleges and surrounding states will be on campus for the Western Kentucky Debates. Any interested person may hear these intercollegiate debates.

Wednesday, December 13. . . . On this date, the Western Players plan their second major production of the year. If you did not see 'Winterset', mark this date down as a must-see. If you did see 'Winterset', you will not want to miss this one.

Saturday, December 16. . . . Western's Hardwood Hilltoppers will begin competition in the Bluegrass Tournament in Louisville. Mark this event down as one which promises basketball at its best.

Wednesday, December 20. . . . Christmas Holidays begin at 12 noon. Prepare now for a safe and sane Christmas. Be sure to keep those studies in line so as to prevent working over Christmas.

Art Exhibits To Continue Through November 23

Many people who raced over the campus this past weekend in an effort to take in all the activities of Homecoming soon learned that this was impossible. For those who missed the formal opening, this is the one Homecoming event that you can still enjoy. The exhibit in the Art Gallery will remain up until November 23.

The show includes lithographs, silk screen prints, etchings, wood block prints, and several drawings by Dante Vena. Mr. Vena, a native of Italy, received his B. A. from Wisconsin State Teacher's College, Milwaukee and his M. A. and M. F. A. from the University of Wisconsin, Madison. He was visiting instructor at Nazareth College for 1960-61 and is presently teaching at Bellemine College.

Pottery by Mr. William Weaver of the Art Department and faculty and student sculpture is also being exhibited.

On display are the cartoons of Mr. William Sanders, a Western alumnus who is now the editorial cartoonist for the Greensboro Daily News, Greensboro, North Carolina.

Mrs. Sanders was present Saturday morning at the open house which is an annual event of the Art Department. Also present was Mr. Ivan Wilson, a former member of the art staff.

Students were on hand to give tours of the new Art Department and also to demonstrate work in the various fields.

Life In Diddle Dorm Teems With Activities

By Danny Day

How is life in Diddle Dorm? This is a question asked by many students on the Hill. Well, after having lived here for over two years, I will try to give you a rough idea of just how we live.

Every morning at 7, or thereabouts, the door flies open and you hear a sweet little voice shout, "Get out-a-there, Ridley! Day! Smith! You going to sleep your life away?" These are the voices of managers Jimmy Foulke and Cecil Steen. Even though you ache from the practice session on the day before, you roll out and try to get a good position in the wash room, at the end of the hall. We just have three wash basins and things are quite crowded at that time in the morning. Some of the worst bruises I have received since coming to Western have not been on the basketball floor, but there in our tiny washroom.

Many times after the managers have made their morning rounds, a few of the sleep yheads may try to catch an additional wink or two before arising. Soon a yap - yapping is heard heralding the arrival of Betty Boo (the coach's dog) who is followed closely by the coach himself, that is the time to hit the deck!

Every member of the team must do his part in keeping his room neat and ready for inspection. Also, everyone has specific duties to perform around the dorm. There is a cleanup detail of two, that has the task of seeing that their floor, and the area surrounding the dorm are spic-n-span and acceptable to the coach.

Two years ago one of the rooms was remodeled into a TV, "bull-session", and study room. This room has afforded countless hours of pleasure and enjoyment for the round-baller.

Coach Diddle, being a strict disciplinarian, believes that rest plays an essential part in having a well conditioned team. This is why all players living in the dorm must abide by the curfew which has been established. The varsity is limited to 9 p.m. during the week and 12 p.m. on the weekends. This time-limit is the earliest of any dorm on the hill, so don't feel too badly, girls, when you have to go in at 9:30.

Even though we have many rules and regulations to follow, most of the boys feel that after four years in the dorm, they will be better qualified to face the future problems of life.

Confusion Rules In Dorm Rooms Before Big Event

By Nancy Shearer

Bzzzz. . . Where is that alarm clock? . . . Would have sworn it was under the bed. . . no-here it is under my dress. There, 5:30 — Geepers-look at those bags under my eyes. Well, what can I expect after the dance last night? Woops! I wish I had put my shoes away-another bruise to cover up — oh, well what's one among so many? I really racked myself up at that snakedance last night. Got to get my hair washed and get under the dryer before anyone else gets it. I should have known better than to get my hair fixed. It always rains after I do more money down the drain. Hey roomie, mind rolling the back of my hair while I do my nails. . . Thanks-I'll do the same for you some time. . . . What? I can't believe this many people are waiting for the dryer. How long have you been waiting? Since 5 o'clock!! I think I'll go up and try to get the room ready for the 9:00 inspection. Boy, we sure are a messy two. Is it 6:30 already?

I have to help put up the homecoming decorations. 1-2-2-Heave! Just one more shove-Oops-well, that fixes that nail. How do the decorations look? It was a good idea anyway.

It can't be 7:00 already-I have to dry my hair and get ready for the Herald breakfast by 8:00. Let me check on the dryer again. It's almost my turn—Think I'll start getting ready while I'm waiting. You mean I can have the dryer now? Really? . . . Almost ready. . . . Now, let's see—Breakfast, Chapel, and then the parade—I'll still have time to hem the dress I'm wearing to the game after that. . . . I hope. . . . Whew, it's 11:30—I still have 1½ hours until time to leave for the game. What's this? A note? The room didn't pass inspection? I think it looks pretty good—most of my clothes are under the bed and out of sight. I don't know when they expected me to clean it—No time to worry about that now, though.

Think I'll check on my mum. Not here? OK. Brother, something has to be done with this mop of hair. I think I'll just roll the top. Is my mum here yet? I hope it gets here on time. Hey, anyone got a black purse I can borrow? But I have to have one! you will drive me down town? Good! What's holding up the traffic? Oh, the parade is still going. What am I going to do about my purse? I knew those pockets would come in hand some time.

My room still isn't here? What time is it? 12:45!! I have to leave in 15 min. Darn. . . I completely forgot about that hem. Now, what am I going to wear? But that's your good dress—OH. If you're sure you don't mind. It sure is nice to have a roomie the same size.

You mean my mum's finally here! I can't believe it. Is that my buzzer? Well I guess he'll just have to wait a couple of minutes. Are you sure my hair looks alright? How about my make-up? Is that my buzzer again? Is he ever impatient! I'm only 15 min. late.

Now, for one last check in the mirror. Is that a run in my hose? It can't be. . . I don't have another one. Guess I'll just take this one off and hope no one notices I'm only wearing one. This is one day I'll have to put my best foot forward.

Have you noticed the huge ball that is completed for the new women's dormitory? If you look close enough you will see an American flag flying from the top of this structure. This was placed there due to the architect regulations.

This may seem amusing, but if we all realize that the American flag represents everything we believe in, maybe more of us would display it in more prominent positions at times.

Homecoming has come and gone and can be spoken of only in past tense, but something else is coming. This coming event will not be as pleasant and exciting as homecoming, but it will require a lot of preparation. The event I speak of is none other than mid-semester exams.

This may come as a surprise to some of you, but mid-semester is upon us with all its grind and suffering. Go to these exams prepared and the suffering will be put at a minimum.

Why Not More Often?

By BERNARD MADISON

Suppose we coin a 'new' phrase. Let it be denoted as "Practice Makes Perfect." Perhaps this does not sound original and it may even sound a little trite, but it still applies to a certain extent.

Suppose all upperclassmen had been attending chapel every week. This is out of the question, but it is not out of reason to suppose that several upperclassmen had been attending the weekly chapel program. If this were true, would be chapel program of this past week not have a larger audience? This was the initiation of homecoming and was denoted as "Red Day." It was red for several students and would have been red for others had more students been in the habit of attending these weekly sessions. They are now out of practice.

What was the difference between this "Red Day" and that of the homecoming of a year ago? There was a capacity crowd in this similar meeting for the 1960 homecoming. Admitting that the training school students were subtracted from the audience of last year, we still see quite a deficit in the attending students. Why is this apparent lack of interest and hence, school spirit coming about? Simply because upperclassmen are not getting the chance to exercise their school spirit in the weekly attendance to chapel.

Do not interpret this as an assertion that this "Red Day" was not a success. Quite to the contrary, it was such a success that it brings to the attention of some the need for more chapel programs where upperclassmen can have a place to sit. Many successes could be seen as the results of much sessions.

The promotion of school spirit is not the sole contention in support of adoption of meetings as "Red Day." Chapel holds more for upperclassmen than for the attending freshmen. This is the only time when announcements are made. Most of these announcements concern upperclassmen more than they do freshmen. Noted speakers are brought to the campus for chapel programs. At present only freshmen are allowed to hear these speakers. On several occasions the content of these programs would mean more to sophomores, juniors, and seniors than to freshmen.

Upperclassmen will not push the point of attending chapel as such, but given the chance to attend, there can be no doubt that quite a number would attend, especially when an important event was taking place.

There is a solution to this problem as was clearly demonstrated by this year's "Red Day" program. There is no apparent reason why a program such as this one or the regular weekly chapel program could not be presented in the gymnasium. From the appearance of the gymnasium at Red Day, there was not an extensive face lifting job performed in preparation for regular chapel. Perhaps if this cannot be done for every chapel program, plans can be made for more programs similar to Red Day at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

'Medicine For Melancholy' Cast Receives Praise

"Medicine for Melancholy" a one-act farce set in renaissance London was the choice of Western Player's for their second studio production presented at Snell Hall auditorium, Tuesday night, October 24. The play, directed by Larry Siria, was adapted from Western Player's by the late Richard Oakley from a short story by Ray Bradbury.

The story evolved around Camilla, a young lady of the Renaissance who, at the story's opening, was suffering from some unknown ailment. All diagnosing by the doctors of London had proven to be futile in deciding the young lady's cure. Camilla's parents, in desperation, decided to place her in the courtyard where, they prayed, some passer-by could diagnose the case and effect a cure. After many unhelpful suggestions a Dustman-Troubadour enters the story and presents the cure suggested in the title.

Elaine Riethel, a sophomore from Los Alamos, N. M., vividly portrayed the role of Camilla. In a likewise commendable manner Nelson Ploch, freshman from Henderson, took the role of the Dustman-Troubadour. Charlie Wade, a senior from Princeton, and Peggy Houchin, senior from Brownsville, played successfully the role of the distressed father and mother, respectively.

Other members of the cast included Dinah Kessler, Ann Lovell, Kim Benson, David Williams, and Ron Goodwin.

Mr. Robert Wurster of the English department was advisor for the play. The technical staff included Ron Goodwin, Evonne Houchin, and Roger Futrell, lights; Everett Ragland and Darla Siria, sound; Ron Goodwin and Charlie Wade, set construction; Ann Lovell and Pat McEndree, and Barbara St. Clair, costumes; Betsy White, Darla Siria, Rita Hernandez, and Betty Jo Atkinson, make-up; Billie Jean Henson, Betty Lou Miller, Carolyn Patton, and Judy Wilson, publicity; and Darla Siria and Betty Jo Atkinson, typists.

A note of sadness prevailed at the premier of the play because of the absence of Richard Oakley, author of the play. Oakley was involved in a serious accident a week prior to the opening of the play.

Bids On A&A Bldg. To Be Opened In Frankfort Thurs.

Bids on Western's proposed $2.5 million academic-athletic building are scheduled to be opened at Frankfort, November 9. The bids are to be opened at 2 P.M. in the Division of Purchases' offices of the Department of Finance.

If the bids are accepted by state and college officials, ground will be broken for the huge, circular structure almost immediately.

Representing Western at the opening session will be President Kelly Thompson, business manager Billy Smith and physical plant administrator L. T. Smith. The plans and specifications were approved weeks ago by the engineering staff of the Department of Finance, which then sent out invitation to bid.

Reports from Frankfort state the dramatic design and multiple functions of the structure have attracted interest from some of the nation's biggest contractors.

Snake Dance Held To Continue Spirit

An annual event in homecoming history is the snake dance following the bonfire. This year the bonfire was cancelled but the snake dance was again a part of the homecoming weekend.

Although somewhat smaller and much shorter in time, the dance did not lack its usual enthusiasm. The participants paraded around the campus and paid their expected visit to the girls' dormitories, and thus this important tradition refused to die.

Potter Hall Wins In Dorm Decorations

Western's campus was all ablaze this weekend with fall colors and homecoming decorations. Several hundred alumni returned to find that Western "ain't what it used to be". They found a new West Hall, Kelly Thompson Science Building, new names for some of the dormitories, and the greatest enrollment ever.

The winning dorm decoration were:

First Place — Potter Hall with the slogan, "Strike 'Em Dead Big Red" exemplified by a bowling alley with the pins and the bowling ball.

Second Place — White Stone Hall's battle cry was "Stomp 'Em Western" with a Morehead player ground under a Western Football shoe.

Third Place — Regents Hall was "All Keyed Up For Victory" with a musical staff held up by two Western football players. A musical background played Western's fight song.

1400 Attend Festive Reception

Some 1,400 persons attended the festive reception in the Paul L. Garrett Student Center after the homecoming game Saturday.

A special invitation was issued to the retired faculty members, and many of them attended.

Most of the guests were alumni, friends of the college, and faculty, but there were a few of the students present also.

Refreshments were served.

Butler Co. Club Hears Bennett

Mr. James Bennett, a member of the History department, spoke to the Butler County club at its meeting in the Student Center Wednesday, November 1. The business session was conducted by Betty Young, president.

Vice-president Gene Hunt Vaughn, in charge of programs, presented Mr. Bennett to the club.

Mr. Bennett spoke on the subject of history. He emphasized the fact that the biggest problem of historians is change. We live in a world of changing ideology. He used as an example of this theory the statements made by Dr. Vandinhush of Vanderbilt, that Kentucky history should be abolished in the teaching curriculum of Kentucky schools.

Eleven Cadets Designated As Distinguished

Eleven senior ROTC cadets have been designated as Distinguished Military Students for the school year 1961-62 by Lt. Col. James F. Marquis, Professor of Military Science.

Presented with the DMS award on October 26 were: Stephen B. Crider, biology major from Midletown; Clyde R. Cunningham, agriculture major from Cadiz; John P. Fourqurean, agriculture major from Gracey; Jesse H. Henon, biology major from Pleasure Ridge Park; William G. Lawrence, agriculture major from Cadiz; David R. Mackey, biology major from Calhoun; William F. Mize, agriculture major from Cadiz; Duncan E. Sanford, agriculture major from Russellville; Robert D. Smith, English major from Bowling Green; Melvyn L. Vogel, commercial education major from Louisville; and Harry R. Zimmerman, English and history major from Louisville.

Distinguished Military Students who, during their senior year, attain a high standing in military subjects, are in the upper half of their class academically, and possess outstanding qualities of leadership, high moral character, and and military aptitude may be designated as Distinguished Military Graduates upon graduation and may be offered a commission in the regular Army.

Student Dabbles In Politics... Runs For Mayor

From newspaper boy to mayor. This is the goal of Obie Shields, physical education major from Morgantown. Obie states that he doesn't think that this goal is too far out of reach because he knows the system of politics of Morgantown (the city in which he attempts to become mayor) and being a native of that town is familiar with most of the inhabitants.

His major problem at this time is finding time to study. Serving as a laboratory assistant and studying for eighteen hours of course work does present a problem.

Obie, 25 years old and married, has taught in the Butler County Elementary School. His primary interest in this field is adding more recreational facilities to Morgantown.

Obie's success or failure in his goal was determined yesterday in Morgantown. No results are presently available for the Herald. He ran on the independent ticket and was relying on the younger voters for support.

Freshman Coed Wins Cash Award In Vicks Contest

LaRebos Tabor, a freshman English major from Scottsville, recently received a cash award after winning the first round of national competition in Vick's "Personality of the Month" contest.

A photo of the former "Miss Allen County" was submitted in the contest which the Vicks Company conducts to find a typical teenager to represent them in advertisements.

Miss Tabor is a 1961 graduate of Allen County High school where she participated in many social activities.

While in her senior year of high school, she received the "Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow" award, was the Allen County winner of the "I Speak For Democracy" contest, and was named the school's "Outstanding Orator."

Miss Tabor currently holds the titles of "Allen County Dairy Princess" and "Allen County Farm Bureau Queen."

Cartoonist Works Shown In Cherry Hall

The Art Department proudly announces that the work of a former Western student, Mr. William (Whitey) Sanders is now on display in the Art Gallery on the ground floor of Cherry Hall.

Mr. Sanders, and Mrs. Sanders, who is the former Joyce Wallace of Munfordville and a Western cheerleader attended Homecoming activities on campus this weekend. Mr. Sanders is a former "W" club member and was a star football player from 1951 to 1954. He has since become associated with the Greensboro Daily News, Greensboro, North Carolina, where at present he is the political cartoonist for the paper.

Mr. Sanders' work, which went on display last Saturday, will remain in the gallery for approximately three weeks, according to Mr. William Loy of the Art Department. The exhibit contains some 30 cartoons, all dealing with timely political issues.

Mr. Loy invites everyone to the gallery to see the work of a former Westerner who fondly remembers his alma mater.

roduced the Royal Nominees.

Dr. Merrill Schell, in the absence of Mr. E. A. Diddle, "Western's number-one cheerleader", made the salute to the Hilltoppers. Dr. Schell is the son of Mr. M. E. Schell, retired mathematics instructor.

Dr. Wood Speaks To English Club

Dr. Willson Wood, head of the English department, was guest speaker at the Loper English club meeting Thursday night in the faculty room in the Kentucky building.

Dr. Wood's subject was "Literary Places in New England". This past summer Dr. Wood visited many famous birth and death places which he told about to those attending the meeting. Pictures were taken for the Talisman.

President Jenny Rossetter adjourned the program until the December meeting.

POVERTY CAN BE FUN

It is no disgrace to be poor. It is an error, but it is no disgrace. So if your purse is empty, do not skulk and brood and hide your head in shame. Stand tall. Admit your poverty. Admit it freely and frankly and all kinds of good things will happen to you. Take, for instance, the case of Blossom Signafos.

Blossom, an impecunious freshman at an Eastern girls' college, was smart as a whip and round as a dumpling, and scarcely a day went by when she didn't get invited to a party weekend at one of the nearby men's schools. But Blossom never accepted. She did not have the rail fare; she did not have the clothes. Weekend after weekend, while her classmates went frolicking, Blossom sat alone, saved from utter despair only by her pack of Marlboro's, for even an exchequer as slim as Blossom's can afford the joys of Marlboro—joys far beyond their paltry price: rich, mellow tobaccos, lovingly cured and carefully packed, and an exclusive selectrate filter. Croesus himself could not buy a better cigarette!

However, Marlboro's most passionate admirers—among whose number I am paid to count myself—would not claim that Marlboro can entirely replace love and romance, and Blossom grew steadily morose.

"Accept these Gifts from Tom."

Then one day came a phone call from an intelligent sophomore named Tom O'Shanter at a nearby men's college. "Blossom," said Tom, "I want you to come down next week for the barley festival, and I won't take no for an answer."

"No," said Blossom. "Foolish girl," said Tom gently. "I know why you refuse me. It is because you are poor, isn't it?"

"Yes," said Blossom.

"I will send you a railroad ticket," said Tom. "Also a hard-boiled egg in case you get hungry on the train."

"But I have nothing to wear," said Blossom.

Tom replied, "I will send you one suit of cashmere, two gowns of lace, three slacks of velvet, four shoes of calf, five socks of nylon, and a partridge in a pear tree."

"That is most kind," said Blossom, "but I fear I cannot dance and enjoy myself while back home my poor lame brother Tiny Tim lies a-bed."

"Send him to Mayo Brothers and put it on my tab," said Tom.

"You are terribly decent," said Blossom, "but I cannot come to your party because all the other girls at the party will be from rich, distinguished families, and my father is but a humble woodcutter."

"I will buy him Yosemite," said Tom.

"You have a great heart," said Blossom. "Hold the phone while I ask our wise and kindly old Dean of Women whether it is proper for me to accept all these gifts."

She went forthwith and asked the Dean of Women, and the Dean of Women laid her wise and kindly old hand on Blossom's cheek and said, "Child, let not false pride rob you of happiness. Accept these gifts from Tom."

"Oh, bless you, Wise and Kindly," breathed Blossom, dropping grateful tears into the Dean's reticule. "I must run and tell Tom."

"Yes, run, child," said the Dean, a smile wrinkling her wise and kindly old eyes. "And ask him has he got an older brother."

Toppers Top Morehead To Complete Homecoming

Some 6,500 spectators braved the damp, dreary weather Saturday to see the Hilltoppers defeat Morehead 7-0 and cinch a tie for third place in the Ohio Valley Conference.

Tremendous kicking by Bobby Mitchell — who got off boots of 60, 50, 40, and 39 yards and punted dead once on the Morehead four yard line — and a strong defensive effort by the Toppers line, accounted for the first shut-out this season by any team in the O.V.C.

After the game, Morehead coach Guy Penny called Western "the best team in the league now."

Western's defense was headed by Lee Murray and Jim Hughes, tackles Jack Poynter and Jim Taylor, linebacker Billy Booker and corner backs Mitchell and Carson Culler.

Western had not gained a yard and the game was deep in the first quarter when quarterback Joe Druga astonishingly got the touchdown drive underway from his own seven yard line.

The sophomore gathered in a punt there and sailed past the relaxed Eagles who hadn't expected Druga to field the ball. He sped up the sideline to the 36 where the last defender nailed him.

Freshman Jim Burt hit for 15 yards and then for six more. After Jagers picked up one yard, Burt got four more. The ball was on Morehead's 39 now.

The big play came next. Daily handed off to Burt going right. Burt handed off to Culler going left. Trapped by the sucked-in defense, Culler pitched back to Daily.

The 6-4 quarterback hobbled behind a wall of blockers to the two.

Burt hit to the one. Jagers then carried three straight plays, picking up a foot at a time and finally drove into the end zone on fourth down. Clark's placement was perfect, although he had to kick from the 14 as there was a delay-in-the-game penalty.

Western's only other serious threat came in the third stanza. They drilled from their own 32 to the Morehead six before being stalled. Clark missed a field goal attempt from the 12.

Western won the battle of statistics as well as the ball game. The Toppers had a 12 to 8 edge in first downs, 76 to 51 in rushing yardage, and 75 to 19 in passing gains.

The Toppers were trapped for losses totaling 76 yards themselves — but 42 of those yards came on the final play of each half as Daily and Staub ran around their own backfield killing the clock.

It was Western's Homecoming first shutout since 1939 when the Toppers shut out Louisiana Tech 20-0.

Next is Murray here at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Victory in that one would give the Toppers a final 6-3 record, best since 1954.

Little Noticed Line Praised For Season Play

Football is a game of size, size of the heart. Nowhere is this so true as it is in the line. In the line, the big boys fight their most savage (and least noticed) battles. Gains here are measured in inches, not yards, and those who pave the way for our fleet backs must use their own special methods to obtain them.

Few people ever notice the savage play, Western guards, Joe Bugel and Fred Miller, lead the way for our fleetfooted backs. Jackie Poynter and Jim Taylor are the tackles who have helped to hold our opponents to minus yardage on many occasions. All O.V.C. candidate Jim Hughes and his running mate Lee Murray have been outstanding on defense by putting pressure on opposing quarterbacks. Never forget our defensive specialists Bill Booker, John Barriolo and Bob Westmorland, three of the hardest tacklers in the O.V.C.

It is the Western line, well coached by Mr. Frank Griffin that will help lead Hilltoppers to our third place birth in the O.V.C.

Seven Senior Gridders To Close Out Career Here In Saturday's Tilt

Considered by his coaches as Western's outstanding pass receiver is end Jim Hughes. Jim is 6-2, 205 pounds, and comes from Louisville where he played football for Coach Denes at Male High school.

Jim came to Western after playing one year at Kilgore Junior College in Texas, where he was an outstanding player on defense and the team's leading pass receiver.

Jim led the team his sophomore year in pass receiving with 11 completed passes for 85 yards. In his junior year, he was third in the OVC in pass receiving and received an honorable mention as an all-OVC performer. This year he is leading the team in pass receiving with eight passes caught for 81 yards and has scored three touchdowns.

Jim plans to return to Louisville to coach. He is married to the former Rebecca Erwin.

Poynter

For a man his size, Jack poynter can do his duty as a tackle extremely well. Jack is 6-2, 190 pounds, and graduate of Owensboro Senior High.

Jack missed considerable action last year due to injuries, but has played every game this year. What he lacks in size he makes up in determination and desire to win.

Jack plans to coach after graduation.

McAtee

Another man in Western's line who lacks size but makes up this deficit in speed and determination is end Denny McAtee.

Denny is 5-10, 170 pounds, and hails from Ft. Thomas where he played his high school ball for the a'lways-tough Highlands High school.

Denny is as valuable as any man on the team with his ability and experience. He is a good pass receiver and excels on defense. An all-round athlete, Denny is also a stalwart on the Western golf team.

Johnson

A fine guard, Keen Johnson can be counted on the play at any time needed. Keen is one of the best back-up men on the team and has gained valuable experience for the past three years.

Keen is 5-9, 185 pounds, and comes from Mt. Sterling.

Boone

Known as the fastest man in the OVC, halfback Winton Boone covers one hundred yards in 2.8 seconds.

Winton is 6-0, 170 pounds, and played high school football at Corbin. Running in the halfback position last year, he can go when he gets the ball.

This year Winton is averaging 3.8 yards per carry and has scored four touchdowns, three of these

Intramural Football And Bowling Results Listed

With weather conditions preventing play October 30, and some of the games not reporting in, only two scores in flag football have been recorded. On Tuesday, October 31, powerful running combined with a stout defense helped the Kingsmen remain in the undefeated ranks by shutting out the Northeastern 28-0. Paced by the running of Tom Eddleman and the tremendous defensive efforts of Jack Frick, Bill Mulkins, and Rod Williams, the Kingsmen were able to jump to a quick 14-0 lead, never to be threatened.

On Thursday, November 2, powerhouse Bobby Noy led the unmatchables to a hard fought 19-8 victory over the unpredictable Hordin County club. With the Hardin Countians striking first on an Iki Owens aerial to Jerry Rodgers, an upset looked likely. H. C.'s lead was short lived, however; as the hardnose Noy pile-driving with line plunges scored touchdowns in the first and second halves to put the U M's ahead to stay.

Intramural bowling is in full swing with Barbara Mitchell bowling a 159-144-132 equals 435 series and Steve Spires a 163-186-207 equals 555 series to lead their league respectively in top scores for the week.

Standings as of November 1, are as follows:

Toppers To Close Season With Murray

Western will close-out the 1961 football campaign Saturday on their home field against long-time rival Murray.

The game will be the final for seniors Jim Hughes, Winton Boone, Bill Booker, Jack Poynter, Gary Brunson, Denny McAtee, and Keen Johnson.

Murray will go into the game with a conference record of two wins and two losses and an overall record of four wins and three losses.

Both Murray and Western have proved the 1961 predictions wrong. Murray has not lived up to expectations to be in the number one spot of the OVC, while Western was expected to be last but is now in third place.

Western is ranked as seventh in offense and first in defense in the OVC, while Murray is fifth in offense and fourth in defense.

The series record between Western and Murray is even at 11-11 and five tie games. If previous game scores are a comparison the game should be a thriller. With these scores and the rivalry between schools, this game should end the season with a bang.

County, Caverna Independent, Logan County, Todd County, and Russellville City Schools.

With the eight school systems enrolled, fifty-five schools will be eligible to secure film, thus benefiting 21,654 students over the included area.

The film library is financed through assistance from the National Defense Act, which pays one-half, and the remaining half to be paid by the school systems participating.

Films covering many different areas of study are on file in the library. To obtain such a film, the library is notified as to the desired subject being requested from the school. The librarian then checks the list of available film and ships it to the school. The library made its first shipment on January 15, 1961, and at the close of the school year ending May 30, a total of 321 films were on file.

Jim Coles, director of East Hall, was named acting librarian, and has served in that capacity since the establishment of the library in January.

Also instrumental in its establishment were Ralph Harold, a representative of the Encyclopedia Britannica; and Herman Cole, who is with the Coronet Film Company.

being passes.

His outstanding play of the year was against Tennessee Tech. Quarterback Jim Daily threw a thunderbolt pass for 54 yards on Tennessee Tech's 26 yard line. From there he left all defenders behind with his tremendous running ability and went on to score.

Brunson

A hard-charging fullback is Gary Brunson of Evansville, Indiana. He is 5-9, 170 pounds, and means business when he's got the ball.

Gary led the Hilltoppers last year in ground gaining with a 4.4 yards per carry average. Currently he is averaging 4.7 yards per carry. A good all-round player, he plays hard on both offense and defense.

His best play of the season was at Middle Tennessee when he intercepted a pass on Western's 38 yard line and carried it back to the Raiders' 10 on a veering, cross-field gallop to set up Western's only touchdown.

Booker

Western's great defensive ace is Bill Booker of nearby Franklin. Bill is 6-0, 190 pounds and has the size and speed to live up to the reputation as the best middle linebacker in the OVC.

Bill was Western's top scorer last year with three touchdowns and an average of 3.3 yards per carry. This year he is averaging 3.8 yards per carry. He knows the fullback slot and has the power to slash the line for the extra yard.
