Sen. Morton Addresses Chapel

Thurston B. Morton, United States Senator from Kentucky, spoke in chapel last Wednesday on "You, The Young People of America—Our Hope of the Future." Senator Morton pointed out several things that should be changed if we intend to have an even better government in the future.

He emphasized the importance of we, the people, having more interest in politics because the government will not be any better than the people that do the voting. He said this is where the term "dirty politics" comes from. He urged the students to take more interest in the political party of their choice because of the great need for representation by the people.

He also complimented Coach Diddle and the Hilltoppers on winning the OVC championship and wished them good luck in the NCAA March 12.

The speaker was introduced by H. Bemis Lawrence, vice-chairman of the Board of Regents and a personal friend of Senator Morton.

Western Players To Do 'The Skin Of Our Teeth'

Each of Thornton Wilder's contributions to the American theatre has been unique. From the hilarious My Darling Clementine to the fragile and tender Our Town to the bawdy Matchmaker to the fantastic The Skin Of Our Teeth, his progress has always been upward as he has garnered every award and prize in the business: Tonies, the Pulitzer Prize, and the Critics' Award. His unmatched originality has distinguished him as one of the greatest contributors to the theatre of our time. All of this brings us to the newest choice of the Western Players for their next major production — The Skin Of Our Teeth. Having presented thus far on their annual program, a modern classic, Winter, and a melodrama, Missouri Legend, this enterprising group turns now to a third type of theatre with the selection of Mr. Wilder's fantasy, The Skin Of Our Teeth.

The Skin Of Our Teeth employs most of the tricks of vaudeville and broad comedy — many

Self-Studies Are Worthwhile!!

By Bill Hyatt

The faculty and administration are presently engaged in a self study of the college. This self-study program, in its simplest form, is merely a long look in the mirror.

The self-study is an attempt to find what changes, additions, and improvements can be made to insure the continued progress of this institution in present-day society. This certainly does not mean that any major policies are being drastically changed. Quite to the contrary, it is an attempt to make the minor changes and refinements which all systems, even the best, must occasionally have in order to keep them running smoothly and efficiently.

As the faculty and administrators seek to measure the qualities of the management and administration of the school, perhaps now is the time for us, as students, to make our own personal self-study.

In the not-too-distant future is that warm, sunny season called spring. This is a time when we want to play golf or tennis, go swimming, or just for a ride in someone's convertible. Since this is the existing situation, now might be a good time to evaluate ourselves academically. Are we putting off doing that math review or research paper until next week?

It is good to remember that when that tomorrow, next week, or next month gets here it will also be that warm, sunny time when there are so many other things to do. Will we be willing to sacrifice dates, tennis and golf matches, or convertibles to lock ourselves in our rooms and do the work we should be doing now?

Those with good will-power may, but time has shown that the majority often lacks the initiative to do all we should when spring begins to exert her over-powering influences. However, with a little judicious preparation and thought, these trials could easily be avoided. If we can catch up on that required work now, and perhaps even get a little ahead, then we will find ourselves in a position to enjoy all the activities that spring has to offer, and of most importance is that we will be able to do this and still be able to achieve what should be our most important objective while in school — the achievement of a good academic record.

A personal self-study of our academic progress may reveal our weak points. These weak points being corrected, we can welcome spring and all her playmates.

Book Marks

By DIANNE HOWARD

Have you ever wondered how hobbies were started? A most interesting display of Russian stamps can now be seen in the exhibit case of the library's second floor reading room.

This stamp collection, belonging to "Skip" Drobocky, a junior pre-med major from Bowling Green, has a fascinating beginning. Skip, who lived in the Ukraine and in Europe most of his pre-teen years, became interested in stamps about eight years ago when he moved to the United States. He wrote to the People to People Program, sponsored by former President Eisenhower, asking for names of people who were interested in stamp collecting.

Skip has now acquired an unusual correspondence with a boy in Estonia and one in Germany. These boys send Skip the new stamps issued by their countries and Skip, in return, sends them United States stamps.

Skip buys United States stamp catalogues and orders stamps from them, also. Fortunately, our library has a world stamp catalogue that he uses.

Skip explained to me the difference in the United States and Russian envelopes. The United States uses plain white envelopes, while Russia uses an envelope with a cachet. The cachet is a colorful picture covering the left side of the envelope. This may also be called the cover.

A fascinating cachet in Skip's collection, sent to him by his Estonian pen pal, is the Russian "Moonshot." This is in the display case in the library.

Other interesting stamps and stamp covers in Skip's collection are three United States Stamps. One of these is the "Sea Dragon" cover that was stamped when the submarine went under the North Pole. Another interesting cover is from the '59 Anarctic expedition "Operation Deepfreeze." Skip wrote to the fleet post office and asked the postmaster to forward the letters on to the submarines. The submarine postal clerks canceled the covers as the subs went under the North Pole and the South Pole.

An interesting German stamp and cover in Skip's collection is the German army occupational cover issued from 1942-1944.

On display in the library are different Soviet stamps, catalogues printed in the United States, a USSR magazine published by the Soviet Embassy in the United States, and an Australian stamp collection that was voted the best engraved set of stamps in 1959.

The feature of the display is a comparison of the United States stamps and the USSR stamps issued in 1961. An interesting fact about these stamps is that the United States only published 18 stamps in 1961, while the USSR published more than 100 in the same year.

Through the cooperation of Skip Drobocky, this interesting collection will be on display in the library for the next few weeks.

Relic Room Of Kentucky Bldg. Is Renovated

In the relic room of the Kentucky Building, work is going forward on placing new pegboard backs in the built-in wall cases. In addition to helping with the lighting problem, when this work is complete it will allow for considerable expansion of the museum displays.

It is hoped that out of these will come an arrangement to show some of the Civil War items currently in storage.

HILLTOPICS

By WILLIAM E. HOCKER

Writing a column of this kind, week after week, can lead to a great problem. The problem is that after awhile you run out of something to say, and you find yourself adding length to the column by making announcements and plugging "The Coming Attractions."

Since I have no opinions to air this week, I will get to the business at hand.

HillTopic

The dates for The Skin of Our Teeth have been set for March 21-23. This will be the third major production of the Western Players. Casting has been completed, and rehearsals are now in progress.

HillTopic

The Leiper English club and the Western Players will have a joint meeting on March 14. The program for the joint meeting will be Robert Penn Warren's Brothers to Dragons. The public is invited to see this drama.

HillTopic

Tonight and tomorrow night the Community Players are presenting as a Civil War classic Uncle Tom's Cabin. This play has often been listed as a factor that led to the war between the states. This production offers a unique experience for each Western student.

HillTopic

The placement service offered to seniors at Western is a fine opportunity to acquire a job after graduation. Appearing in this issue is a schedule for interviews. These interviews are for both teaching and non-teaching positions.

The Alumni office would like to remind graduating seniors of the college's alumni program. If you are interested in joining the Alumni Association, contact Mr. Lee Robertson or Mrs. Grace Overby.

Female Suggestions On Dormitory Building

By SIDNEY WARDLE

Multi-colored and multi-purpose will describe the new girls' dorm if the advice that has been given is followed. A few days ago, girls in some of the dorms were asked to make suggestions for the new dorm. Some of the suggestions made were very good:

- (1) A buzzer system to call girls to the lobby
- (2) Restrooms on the first floor for guests.
- (3) Sound proof ceilings
- (4) No class bells in the dorm
- (5) Elevators
- (6) A community kitchen
- (7) More electrical outlets in each room
- (8) A varied color scheme
- (9) A coin changer
- (10) A better place to entertain male guests
- (11) Have the piano and the television set in different rooms
- (12) Self-service, individual mail boxes
- (13) Water fountains on each floor
- (14) Phones on each floor
- (15) A cigarette machine
- (16) A television pajama lounge
- (17) Two chests of drawers in every room

Now wouldn't it be nice if some of these suggestions could be put to use in the old dormitories as well as the new?

Anyone wishing to make suggestions for the new dorm should speak to his dorm director.

'Uncle Tom's Cabin' To Be Presented Tonight

One hundred years after Bowling Green, which had been fortified and established as the Confederate capital of Kentucky, was evacuated by the Confederate forces under the command of General Albert Sydney Johnston and occupied by the Southward-bound forces of the Union Army under General Ormsby Mitchell, in one of the greatest strategic victories of 1862, the event is being commemorated. The presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in Perry Snell Auditorium tonight and tomorrow night represents the Bowling Green Community Players' contribution to the Civil War Centennial commemoration program in Warren County.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" was designed with inflammatory purpose by its author, Harriet Beecher

Stowe, an abolitionist. Its circulation reached "best seller" proportions almost immediately. The pathetic story it tells of human bondage is generously laced with tragedy, sentimentality, melodrama, and spiced with humor. Its large cast includes about 35 characters. Some of them have become unforgettable bits of Americana — Uncle Tom, Eliza, Topsy, Little Eva, and Simon Legree, to mention only a few.

Mrs. Stowe has written a melodrama that belongs to the historical period in which the abolitionist movement precipitated the Civil War. Her purpose shows through all the sentiment she lavished on the writing.

In the cast for this revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin", Director Russell H. Miller has chosen a cast that includes Frank S. Hammond, Paul J. Clark, Sherrill Scanlon, Sandy Griffin, Sara Rodes, Hank Brosche, Robert Alexander, Maria Brandon, David Phillips, Lester D. Reeves, Frank Atkinson, Lois Burton, Lee Brian Reeves, Glenn Ford, Jim Dyehouse, Cyril Wantland, Ed Kammer, Joe H. McFarland, and Linda Cowan.

Also members of the cast are Patsy Dyehouse, Ruth Southard, Gene Prather, Bennie Vickous, Stan Billingsley, Martha Lee Atkinson, Chuck DeWitt, Carolyn Billingsley, Martha Beville, Darlene Taylor, Elaine Reithel, Joyce Miller, Frances Hoagland, Kathy Prather, Warren Kessler is Stage Manager and Director's Assistant. Larry and Darla Siria are in charge of Sound and Music.

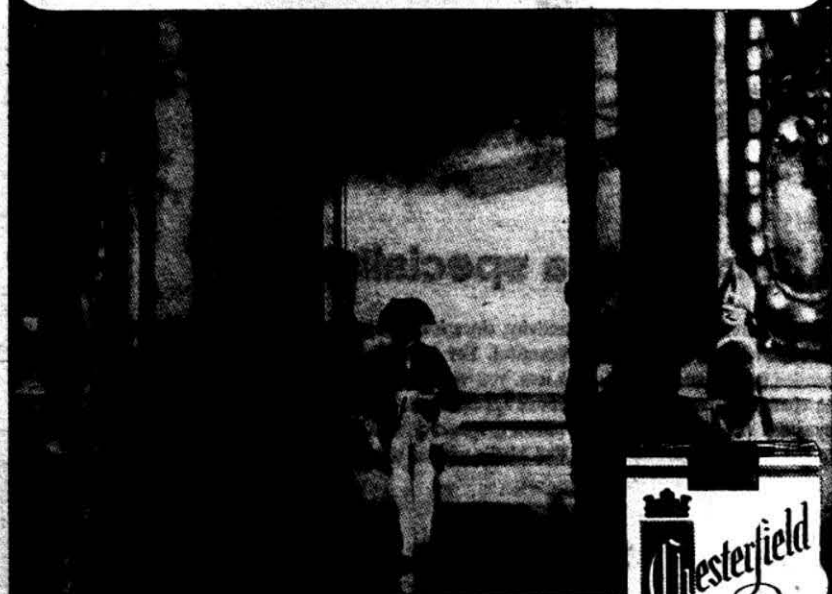

Mr. Miller has emphasized the historical aspects of the play in this revival. In these days an evening of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is a rare theatre experience.

Article By Dr. Gordon Wilson Published

Dr. Gordon Wilson, former head of the English department at Western, has recently had an article in the current issue of the Kentucky Warbler, entitled Birds of South Central Kentucky. This issue represents a list of birds seen in this vicinity over a period of approximately fifty years.

Of the interest to those who visit the museum is the fact that Dr. Wilson indicated which of the many birds listed in his article are represented by one or more of the mounted specimen in the Western Museum's collection. This number runs approximately seventy-five per cent.

LESSON 8- Becoming a specialist

Experienced girl watchers, for whom routine watching has lost some of its excitement, often become specialists. (This is definitely not recommended for beginners. However, it may be practiced as a change-of-pace by more advanced students.) They may spend an entire field trip concentrating on one part of a girl. This tends to step up activity, since it does not require that the whole girl be beautiful. For example, if you decide to specialize in knees, you watch only beautiful knees. (The doorman above appears to be an ankle specialist.) Whatever your watching specialty, make sure your smoking specialty is Pall Mall's natural mildness—it's so good to your taste.

of its situations are farcical—its symbolism, satire, and burlesque at times are amazing. Yet, out of all its wildest fancies Mr. Wilder holds to his point—that Man is indestructible—and he has every example of history and legend to help him prove it. The play has a timeliness in its choice—today Man lives in the shadow of another holocaust that may be precipitated by a misuse of atomic power. But Mr. Wilder is an optimist believing that as long as man has the will to survive, nothing can bring about his complete destruction.

In the large cast that Director Russell H. Miller is assembling are veterans and new players including Charles Logsdon, Al Young, Stan Billingslea, Robert Alexander, Ed Curtis, Charles Pattenon, Bennie Vickos, Millie Wood, Carolyn Patton, Bette Miller, Polly Jacques, Elaine Reithel, Patricia Ann Lewis, Ann Downing, Sylvia Salem, Sarah Wigginton, with other roles to be cast.

They have now finished on top three consecutive years, a first for the league. The Toppers turned an apparently close game with Morehead into a rout early in the second half. Senior guard Doug Smith sparked the defense while the superb shooting of Jim Dunn, Bobby Rascoe, and Darel Carrier yielded 59 of the total 77 points scored by Western. This win insured the Toppers a berth in the NCAA Tournament.

The first round of the tournament will be played in Memorial Coliseum on the University of Kentucky campus. The Toppers will meet the University of Detroit Titans, led by 6-6 All-American candidate, Dave DeBusschere.

DeBusschere averaged 22.1 points per game last season and was listed on several pre-season All-American teams this year. Detroit has a 15-4 record with DeBusschere picking up where he left off last year. This will be the second game of a double-header beginning at 9:30 (EST). The first attraction features Bowling Green of Ohio against Butler University.

Notice to all track participants. Coach Elrod urges all boys who would like to run track this spring to begin working out on their own. A call will be issued sometime in March as to when regular practice is to start.

Coach Frank Griffin's golf team has been taking advantage of the spring-like weather and has begun practicing at the Indian Hills Country Club. Coach Griffin is starting his 17th year as golf coach and the linksmen have yet to finish lower than third in the OVC. They have also won more OVC championships than any other team.

Five lettermen form the nucleus of this year's team. They are Joe Jagers, Denny McAtee, Mickey Dale, Smity Taylor, and Jerry Jones.

Baseball Coach Nick Denes announced that March 1 would be the day that anyone wanting to come out for baseball could do so. Assistant Coach Dan King will work with the team until Coach Denes has finished with spring football drills.

Some OVC Statistics: Western guard Bobby Rascoe has taken over the scoring lead in the OVC. He scored 25 points against Morehead while the Eagle's Granny Williams was held to 10. The team scoring leadership has also changed hands with the Toppers moving ahead of Morehead. This marked the first time of the basketball season that the Eagles have been out of the lead in team offense. Morehead ranked 11th nationally in team offense while Western was 18th.

Let's Show Good Sportsmanship. Last week during the Xavier game I noticed that several paper cups were thrown onto the court when fans objected to calls by officials. Let us remember that we, as college students, should act in a respectable manner and this includes good sportsmanship. Let's practice it!!!

Basketball Banquet Set For March 8

The annual Basketball appreciation Banquet honoring Western's basketball squad will be held this year on Thursday, March 8, at 7 p. m. in the main dining room of the grill located in West Hall.

The Civic president also announced that the principal speaker for this year's banquet will be Joe Creason, widely known feature writer for the magazine section of the Courier-Journal.

Tickets for the banquet priced at $3.50 each, went on sale last week. All members of the Civic club have tickets for sale. Tickets will also be on sale at the Chamber of Commerce Office, Western Hills Restaurant, and the College Business Office in the Administration Building.

Only two OVC conference games stand between the Hilltoppers and the OVC championship and the Championships tournament. On Saturday night, February 24, Eastern's Maroons will invade the Hill and the league campaign will be completed on February 25 against East Tennessee.

The Hilltopper basketball team will close the regular season on March 7, against the University of Louisville in Freedom Hall.

UNITED WE STAND

The entire academic world is agog over the success of the Associated Colleges Plan—ACP, for short. I mean, you go to any campus in the country these days and you will see students and faculty dancing on the green, blowing penny whistles, grabbing each other by the elbows and yelling, "About that ACP, Charley—like wow!"

And who can blame them? The ACP is a plan not only simply brilliant, but also brilliantly simple. All it is, is a loose regional federation of small colleges. Let's say, for example, that in a given region we have a group of small colleges, each with its own academic specialty. Small College No. 1, let's say, has a fine language department; Small College No. 2, let's say, has a fine science department; No. 3 has a fine music department; etc., etc.

Well sir, under the ACP these various colleges federate. A student in any one of the colleges can take courses in the specialty of any of the other colleges and—here's the beauty part!—he will receive credit for the course at his home college. Thus he enjoys all the advantages of a big university without losing the comfy coziness of a small college!

Well sir, you can see what a good idea the ACP is. I respectfully submit, however, that just because a thing is good is no reason not to try to make it better. Like, for instance, Marlboro Cigarettes. Marlboros were good from the very beginning, and people found out quickly and sales zoomed. But did the makers of Marlboro say, "Okay, we've got it made. Let's relax"? Well sir, if that's what you think, you don't know the makers! They did not relax. They took their good Marlboros and kept improving them. They improved the filter, improved the blend, improved the pack. They researched and developed tirelessly, until today Marlboro is just about the most admirable cigarette you can put a match to. There are, in fact, some people who find Marlboros so admirable they can't bear to put a match to them. They just sit with a single Marlboro in hand and admire it for ten, twelve years on end. The makers of Marlboro are of course deeply touched by this—except for E. Rennie Sigafos, the sales manager.

But I digress. The ACP, I say, is good but it can be better. Why should the plan be confined to small colleges? Why should it be confined to a limited region? Why not include all colleges and universities, big and small, wherever they are?

Let's start such a federation. Let's call it the "Bigger Associated Colleges To Encourage Richer Intellectual Activity"—BACTERIA, for short!

There are still a few bugs in BACTERIA

What a bright new world BACTERIA opens up. Take, for example, a typical college student—Hunrath Sigafos (son, incidentally, of the Marlboro sales manager). Hunrath, a bright lad, is currently majoring in burley at the University of Kentucky. Under the BACTERIA plan, Hunrath could stay at Kentucky, where he has made many friends, but at the same time broaden his vistas by taking a course in constitutional law at Harvard, a course in physics at Caltech, a course in frostbite at Minnesota and a course in poi at Hawaii!

I admit there are still a few bugs in BACTERIA. How, for instance, could Hunrath attend a 9 o'clock class at Harvard, a 10 o'clock class at Hawaii, an 11 o'clock class at Minnesota, and still keep his lunch date at Kentucky? It would be idle to deny that this is a tricky problem, but I have no doubt American ingenuity will carry the day. Always remember how they laughed at Edison and Fulton—and particularly at Walter Clayville who invented the collarbone.

Three cheers for American ingenuity, which gave us the ACP, the collarbone and MGM... that's the Mighty Good Makin's you get in Marlboro, the filter cigarette with the un-filtered taste. Settle back and enjoy one. You get a lot to like.
