200 Expected Here For Regional Speech Meet

More than 200 students are expected to compete in the annual Regional High School Speech and Debate festival on Saturday, March 24, at Western, according to Dean of Students Charles A. Keown, manager of the event.

Students from twelve high schools in this region will participate in the individual speech events, while eight of these same schools will also enter debate teams in the competition.

Students earning a superior rating in the speech events here will be eligible to participate in the State Speech Festival at the University of Kentucky on April 16-18. The two top debate teams chosen in the regional event will also go to the State Festival, as well as the person judged the best public speaker in this region.

Registration for the Regional festival will begin at 8 a. m. on Saturday in the foyer of Van Meter Auditorium. A general assembly will convene at 8:15 a. m. in the auditorium. All speaking events will be held in the Paul L. Garrett Student Center.

The twelve schools that are students to compete in the festival are Bowling Green; Caverna; College High; Franklin-Simpson; Glasgow; St. Joseph of Bowling Green; St. Joseph Preparatory of Bardonia; Warren County; Al County; and Scottsville. The first eight schools listed are also entering debate teams in the festival.

Students will participate in a total of nine speech events including public speaking, oratorical declamation; discussion; interpretative reading; poetry reading; extemporaneous speaking; radio speaking; interpretative reading (junior high); and poetry reading (junior high).

All speaking events are to be judged by Russell H. Miller, director of speech and drama. Judges for the other events are yet to be named.

This is the forty-second year that the State High School Speech and Drama Activities Program has been scheduled. In addition to the regional event, there are eight other regions in the state which send entrants to the State Speech Festival at Lexington.

PRs Take Three Firsts In Regimental Meeting

Western's Company B-3 of the Pershing Rifles took top honors in three of four events to win the annual Regimental Drill Meet held at the University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill., March 9 and 10.

Winning first place in Individual Drill competition was Ellis D. Morrow, junior agriculture major and sophomore ROTC cadet from Coopersville. Morrow was victorious over more than 100 PR drillers representing 11 colleges from the Third Regiment. A member of the ROTC color guard, Morrow placed fourth in last year's Regimental Individual Drill competition.

The Exhibition drill team, led by Drillmaster Tom Lewman, sophomore industrial arts major from Venice, Fla., executed an eight-minute precision drill sequence to seize the first place trophy for exhibition drill. The

Debate Team Captures Top Spot In Murray Meet

A team of Western debaters topped top honors in the Murray State Tau Kappa Alpha Invitational Debate Tournament held Saturday at Murray State College. The team composed of Gary Gardner, junior from Cave City, and Bernard Madison, senior from Rocky Hill, went undefeated for four rounds to top all teams in the meet.

The record of this team is: Round I: Western 32 Southern Illinois University 27.

Round II: Western 27, Murray State College 22.

Round III: Western 28, Murray State College 26.

Round IV: Western 34, Vanderbilt University 31.

The first round victory over Southern Illinois marked the only defeat for that team. The Vanderbilt team's record was 2-2. The wins over Murray kept the per-

Eva Le Gallienne, Faye Emerson To Appear Here In "Elizabeth The Queen"

By LOU LANIER

The National Repertory Theatre is presenting Eva Le Gallienne, Faye Emerson, Scott Forbes, Frederic Worlock and a distinguished company in the world-famous play "Elizabeth The Queen" coming to the Van Meter Auditorium for one performance on Tuesday, March 27.

Eva Le Gallienne, America's most distinguished dramatic actress, will play Elizabeth, and Scott Forbes, handsome English star, is appearing in "Elizabeth The Queen" as Lord Essex in the play of the last great love in the life of Elizabeth I of England, and every woman in the audience envies her!

Their's is a love story that shocks a nation, and has fascinated poets and historians for centuries.

An aging Queen, surrounded by self-seeking sycophants, she was weary of the battle to preserve her nation, secure in the admiration of her subjects, that longed only for love as a woman. She had attracted many men, been loved by some, but never had she been so beguiled as by the young Essex.

He was ambitious to the point of recklessness; vain, violently jealous, possessed of a quick temper, and he loved and bullied Elizabeth as though she were a commoner instead of a mighty Empress. He made her feel alive and young as no other man had ever done, and she loved him more than all the rest.

Finally, their strong wills and clashing tempers brought them to an impasse from which neither could prevent his death rather than beg forgiveness; and Elizabeth died a thousand deaths waiting for the word which would set him free and save her pride and position.

It is one of the great historical love stories, and as Maxwell Anderson has written his play "Elizabeth The Queen" it comes alive with sweep and majestic forces.

Faye Emerson, lovely star of the theatre, films and television, will play Penelope Gray in "Elizabeth The Queen". Miss Emerson has become so famous for her many appearances on television the last few years, many people do not know that she has been a star of stature both in the legitimate theatre and in films.

Fredric Worlock will appear as Lord Burleigh in the play. Starting his stage career with a small walk-on part in Shakespearean repertory when he was 12, he has had one of the most notable careers in the theatre playing opposite nearly every great female star of the American theatre.

Dr. Wilgus To Preside Over Folklore Meet

With Dr. D. K. Wilgus, a member of the English department, presiding, the annual meeting of the Kentucky Folklore Society will be held April 6 at the First Unitarian Church in Louisville. This is the 50th anniversary meeting of the society since its founding in 1912.

Dr. Gordon Wilson, Emeritus head of the English department, is the honorary president, having served actively from 1947 to 1953. Dr. Wilgus, who is editor of the Kentucky Folklore Record, is presently serving his first term as President of the society. The group meets at the same time and in conjunction with the K. E. A.

The program, worked out by Wilgus, should prove to be one of the better programs presented by the society. It will begin with greetings from the president, D. K. Wilgus, from the only living founder, E. C. Perrow and from the honorary president, Dr. Gordon Wilson. Introductions, by Wilgus of the guests will follow. The

Dr. Cappannari Tells Of Unique Living Conditions

Dr. Stephen C. Cappannari, though admittedly tired from his tedious speaking schedule, proved that he didn't lack a sense of humor accompanying his diversified knowledge relating to man and his culture, as he addressed a State and Local Government class, Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. William Jenkins' 2 p. m. government class was the seventh in a series of eight oratorical appearances (sponsored by various departments) Tuesday and Wednesday held by Dr. Cappannari, Ph. D. recipient from the University of California, and was to take place in room 203 of Ogden Hall but had to be moved to Snell Hall Auditorium because of the group's increased size.

The speaker humorously described a small, culturally isolated city in Southeastern Italy, which still retains a flourishing belief in witches, werewolves, and witchdoctors.

He told of how the 3000 people are divided into two distinct sectors in the town (One, the Upper Town; the other, the Lower Town) and speak two completely different dialects, neither of which is recognizable with Italian.

"The people subsist on their own ingenuity and produce all they eat from a small tract of land which has been in the family for years," explained Cappannari, and though it may be hard to believe, they sleep on beds large enough to hold eight to 15 people.

Dr. Cappannari, presently a division head in the School of

'Mother Of The Year' To Be Crowned

Mrs. Harry W. Peters of Trenton, state chairman of the American Mothers Committee, has announced plans to have the annual meeting of the Kentucky Mothers Association at Western Saturday, March 31.

Nominees for the 1962 "Mother of the Year" will be presented and their families recognized. All will be presented with certificates of merit for their outstanding examples of Mothers.

Western has seen lots of "queens" and the college and Bowling Green will delight in seeing the crowning of another one here, the "queen" of the Kentucky home.

The public is invited to see the crowning of the top "Mother of 1962."

Players Production To Run Tonight Through Fri.

"The Skin of Our Teeth," Thornton Wilder's antic comedy that traces mankind through the ages, will be presented tonight through Friday in Van Meter Auditorium. Acclaimed as one of the great comic masterpieces of the American Theatre, one critic wrote of the original production that "it's so cock-eyed even a Sphinx would die laughing at it." The play subsequently has been chosen to represent this country at international drama festivals and for a State Department cultural tour headed by Helen Hayes and Mary Martin.

"The Skin of Our Teeth" is a comedy about George Antrobus, his wife and two children and their genial utility man. Antrobus is John Doe or George Spelvin or the Average American at grips with a destiny that is sometimes sweet, sometimes sour. The Antrobuses have survived fire, flood, pestilence, the Ice Age, the pox, plagues of locusts, several world wars, depressions and the double feature. They are the true offspring of Adam and Eve and all the ills that flesh is heir to. Wilder's comic lark is his tribute to their indestructibility.

Heading the large cast will be Al Young and Bette Miller as the man and wife from Excelsior, N. J. who live through the catas-

Perhaps, If There Had Been Another Way.....

By Bernard Madison

Demonstration? Riot? Protest? Mob? March? Parade? Rebellion? All these have been used to describe the events which took place on campus and downtown last Wednesday between the hours of 3 p.m. and 12 midnight.

It appears that the term used to describe the actions of Western students depends upon the position and the attitude of the person who refers to the events. Perhaps any of these viewpoints have some justification, but there are still some basic facts to be considered. (1) The students had a desire that they felt needed or deserved some attention. (2) There appeared to be no definite procedure to channel these desires to the intended recipients. (3) This basic desire was in line with the College's policy.

This unprecedented action on the part of the student body was aimed at the declaration of a "holiday" in order that the Western-Ohio State basketball game might be attended. At the time of the action, the students, outside of the freshmen, were depending on mere rumors for their information about the College's decisions concerning the event to take place the following Friday evening. Rumors were circulating that a double penalty would be applied to anyone who missed classes on the following Friday. Many instructors had scheduled exams for the date in question and thus a student would have no choice except attend or be severely penalized. The students disagreed with such a policy and a large group felt that it was unfair, to say the least.

This forms a motive or an excuse for some action. Various students were confronted with the question of what could be done. No one responded with a logical and promising solution. The action that was taken appeared to be the only alternative. Thus it was initiated. It snowballed into a larger and larger demonstration. Whether or not the resulting action was ethical does not seem all-important when the basic facts are given just consideration.

Most certainly no one, student, faculty, or administration official would condone violence or disorderly conduct in such matters, but it remains a prime contention of the students that there was no other way to have their views heard. Perhaps this is a problem of communication or understanding between the student body and the faculty and administration. In any event, there seems to be a basic underlying problem from which this action stemmed.

Looking back over the entire affair, there seems to be no permanent or real damage done. The entire event took the form of support of the Hilltoppers in their upcoming encounter with powerhouse Ohio State. The action did not become disrespectful or uncontrollable. Not one person was bodily injured or severely inconvenienced. It succeeded to a certain extent in that, if nothing else, it cleared up the policy of the college concerning the absence from class on Friday, March 16.

The question of future events now demands some consideration. The recurrence of the acts of March 14 is surely not advocated by any individual or group concerned. Thus, an alternate route must be established, because if a desire as strong as this arises again, as it will, procedural steps must exist. It is clear that this must be a method wherein the students have a right and a way to express themselves in policy-making which concerns them as much as the recent event did. This is within the realm of feasibility since students of this college are supposedly mature enough to think rationally. Most of them have a voice in electing the officials which control our governments.

Issue is not taken in this work with the College policy toward the event of March 16. It is merely pointed out that perhaps this wouldn't have taken place if there had been another way.

Three Presidents Have Occupied Campus Home

By KEN HELM

The large home that stands on the campus is the home of President and Mrs. Kelly Thompson. This every one knows, but the facts that a few students know, I will try to reveal to all.

The type of architecture is very close to Williamsburg Colonial, and the architect was Captain Brinton, Davis of Louisville, now deceased. The house was built in 1931.

All of the former presidents of Western have lived there. Dr. H. H. Cherry lived there from 1932 until his death in 1937. Dr. Paul L. Garrett occupied the home from 1937 until 1955, and Dr. and Mrs. Thompson have lived there since 1955.

The house was completely re-decorated in 1955 when President and Mrs. Thompson moved in. The furniture was stored in the Agriculture Pavilion while the work was being done. This re-decoration was mostly replastering and painting.

Recent renovations include the closing of the back entrance and a fire escape from the third floor. The closing of the back entrance was to make the back more beautiful and make a family entrance. This was done year before last.

The house contains 16 rooms, five full baths, two one-half baths, a patio, and a half basement. The first floor consists of a library, reception-living room combination, formal dining room, office, kitchen, recreation room, and a family dining room. The second floor has five bedrooms and the third floor contains two bedrooms.

The main floor has champagne wall-to-wall carpet and celadon green walls and damask drapery. Practically all interior decorating was designed and carried out by Mrs. Thompson.

The furniture is basically provincial and most of it is antique, some having a very unique history. The woods are cherry and mahogany and blends of these two.

The library is used mainly for a sitting and reading room. The President's books and encyclopedias are kept here in book shelves in three walls. The fire-place, one of three on the first floor, has a hand carved front and antique brass andirons. A hand carved gold leaf mirror, one of a pair acquired by President Thompson in Atlanta, hangs over the fire-place. The upholstery is beige, grey pale coral and tones of olive green. One French provincial chair is done in mauve velvet.

The reception room is used for receiving lines at social functions. The room contains four paintings that are part of the Perry Snell collection given to the college. The chairs are Victorian antique side chairs that were there when President H. H. Cherry was in occupancy. A marble fireplace helps set off the decor. A Baldwin grand piano in dark mahogany is near the front door. The glass that surrounds the door is also antique.

The formal dining room has a banquet end table with the insert next to the walls. The second mirror of the pair of gold leaf mirrors hangs over the fireplace. An antique sideboard with a bow front is the remaining large piece. The chairs are antique reproductions. The silver is in a "Joan of Arc" pattern by Mr. William Loy, of the Art department, helps decorate the walls.

The office of the home is used mostly by Mrs. Thompson. It contains a large desk, chair and an arm chair.

In 1955 the kitchen was completely renovated. The walls are light turquoise. Birch cabinets are on two walls, and there is an electric stove and refrigerator. The family dining room adjoins the kitchen. It is furnished with hepplewhite drop-leaf table and chairs in cherry.

The sunporch was converted into a family room in which the family can relax and read or study or watch TV.

The five bedrooms on the second floor are used by the family. One of the bedrooms has been converted into a study room for the boys.

In 1955 there were few accessories such as silver, lamps, vases, and glassware. Most of these items have had to be purchased by Dr. and Mrs. Thompson.

The house was built on contract in 1931 at a cost of $26,050.00. (James P. Cornett, "A history of Western Kentucky State Teachers College.")

In the house there is an ornamental frieze around most of the ceiling and wall borders. A total number of 56 windows plus storm windows are in the house.

Mrs. Thompson has a maid four days a week and a maintenance man for the grounds once a week.

I would like to express my thanks to President Thompson for giving me the details of the home and Mrs. Thompson for showing me through their beautiful home.

HILLTOPICS

By BERNARD MADISON

So Sorry!

In the last issue of the College Heights Herald, in an article under the by-line of Cheryl Rose, a statement was made concerning the treatment of snow-stranded Western students who were homeward bound from the NCAA tourney in Lexington. This article stated that the Munfordville merchants charged outrageous prices for their merchandise.

This is misleading. The residents of this fair city opened their doors to the students, cashed personal checks, and, get this, opened the Baptist Church and fed the stranded students free of charge.

The town of Bonnieville was lauded in this article for its reception of the students. Although the movie theater was opened in Bonnieville, the students who were stranded there (I was there) found out later that many more things were being enjoyed by the students in Munfordville.

A word of thanks to both towns would be in order.

With 'spring fever' hitting the Hill with all its mystifying forces, the collegian tends to turn his thoughts to many and varying things. Perhaps that which occupies the minds of many now is an escapade to the wilds of Florida.

When the collegian journeys to the cold and barren beaches of that fair state, there can be no doubt that he is regaining full strength after a flurry of mid-semester exams (next week). Most likely his thoughts will be of how to improve his academic standards for the remaining nine weeks of this semester.

In any event, those who do undertake the safari to the wilds should remember that many a danger lurks on the highways.

Hocker Receives Mention In Woodrow Wilson Award

William Eddie Hocker, English major from Statesville, N. C., has been placed on the Honorable Mention list for the 1962-63 awards by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, as announced by Dr. Paul Hatcher, campus representative for the Foundation.

Concurrently, 1,058 fellowships were awarded, each covering a full year's tuition and fees at a graduate school of the Fellow's choice and a living allowance of $1,500. This year's winners of fellowships were elected by fifteen regional committees from 9,975 candidates nominated from 965 colleges. Of some 2,500 candidates, 1,407 who had been invited for an interview but who did not win a Fellowship were awarded Honorable Mention. "Since their names are made known to other agencies awarding fellowships, it is possible that the majority of this group will receive alternate awards enabling them to begin graduate study in the fall of 1962," explained Dr. Hans Rosenhaupt, National Director of the Foundation.

The 1,058 awards for first year graduate work represent the culmination of the first five-year program made possible by a Ford Foundation grant of $24,500,000 in 1957. With the new awards, some 5,000 college graduates will have started on careers leading to teaching. Of those previously appointed, 80 per cent are either teaching at the college or secondary level or are continuing in graduate school.

Two hundred and twenty of the winners intend to become professors of English and another 140 hope to be teacher-scholars in History. Those who expect to teach foreign languages number 112. "Because of the critical shortage the increase in the number of prospective language teachers is most welcome," Sir Hugh Taylor, Foundation President, commented. The numbers of newly elected Woodrow Wilson Fellows in other leading fields are: mathematics, 86; political science, 76; philosophy, 75; physics, 63; economics, 53; psychology, 36. Among other fields represented are American studies, art and archaeology, biological sciences, chemistry, classics, geography, geology, religion, and sociology. Professional fields such as law, medicine, engineering, are outside the scope of the program.

Commenting on the election of Fellows for 1962-63, Dr. Rosenhaupt said, "The telling distinction bestowed by the program upon future college teachers comes with the first step in the competition nomination by a faculty member. Out of every 100 college seniors throughout the United States and Canada only one or two are nominated; every single one of the 9,975 nominees should be encouraged to enter graduate school."

"This year's candidates presented such strong claims that several regional selection committees asked for permission to exceed their assigned quotas. Unfortunately, the budget under which we operate provides only for 1,000 Fellows a year," Dr. Rosenhaupt explained.

Apprenticeship Training Conf. Held At Western

An apprenticeship Training Conference was held at Western Area Vocation School Monday night, February 26. The meeting was attended by the local trade committee, composed of both labor and contractors. Arthur Rigelwood, business agent, represented the former, and Charles Campbell of the Campbell Construction Company represented by the latter.

Albert Geiser, apprenticeship representative and Robert S. Bowman, state supervisor of Bureau of Apprenticeship, were present, working in behalf of the U.S. Department of Labor. Phillip Hampton, director of the Vocational School, Michael Bardin, and R. H. Matthews, Teacher Coordinators, assisted in the proceedings and offered full cooperation in the future development of the apprenticeship program.

The purpose of the Conference was to develop a better working organization by enlarging the labor Committee. This would create a broader field of prospects for an increased apprentice training program.

The committee is also hopeful of being able to indenture more apprentices for a full four years of work and training. They feel that such an approach will be helpful to the apprentice individually, and will, in the long run, guarantee a greater number of better qualified journeymen.

One of the oldest approaches to training young people for the arts and trades has been through the apprenticeship method. Through the centuries, literally millions of these apprentices, under the guidance of masters of the arts and trades, have been trained to fill the need and demand for more and more journeymen.

ALL-AMERICA Bobby Rascoe is congratulated for being selected on the honorable mention squad of the Associated Press by Woodie Crum, basketball coach at Bowling Green High school. Rascoe was also named to the United Press International's All-America squad. He was named yesterday to the East squad for the annual East-West Shrine game. Billy Bokker, president of the 'W' club looks on. The honoring of Rascoe took place last week at a 'W' club meeting.

Ohio State Overpowers Western, Todd Injured

Ohio State overpowered Western 63-73 in the NCAA's Midwest Regional Tournament March 16 in Iowa City.

Three-time All-America Jerry Lucas was held to only 9 points while Western's Bobby Rascoe took game scoring honors with 26 points.

The Hilltoppers played on an even keel with the mighty Buckeyes until the last 6 minutes of the first half. Western led 26-27 at this point. The Hilltoppers went cold and could score only 3 points while Ohio State poured in 17. This left Western trailing 43-30 at halftime. Jerry Lucas was removed from the game with 3 personal fouls with 10 minutes remaining in the first half.

Western's defense for the game worked fine against Ohio State's big 3 in scoring as Lucas, John Havlicek and Mel Nowell were held to 36 points which was 17 below their per-game average.

Scoring in double figures besides Rascoe for Western were Jim Dunn and Harry Todd with 12 each and Bob Jackson had 11.

Harry Todd was removed from the game with a jaw injury but came back a few minutes later with it taped to finish the game. X-rays later showed that he had a chipped jawbone.

The Ohio State defense was the major factor in the second half as it slapped down Western's shots and grabbed free balls to fast break to victory. Their defense also caused Western to make several floor errors.

Another factor in the loss was the field goal percentage as Western hit 27 of 69 attempts for a .391 percentage. Ohio State hit 38 of 83 shots for a .458 percent.

Doug McDonald led the Buckeyes' scoring with 21 points. Also in double figures for Ohio State were Havlicek with 17, Dick Reasbeck with 12, Nowell and Gary Bradds each had 10.

Ohio State led in rebounds 40-37. Lucas was high for Ohio State with 13. He was followed by Bradds with 7, Dunn led Western with 11 and Todd collected 8.

Western hit a better percentage of their free throws hitting on 19 of 24 attempts for a .719 percentage. Ohio State hit 17 of 26 for a .630 percentage.

Bob Rascoe Named To All-Tourney

Bobby Rascoe, Western's flashy guard from Owensboro, was named to the All Mid-East Regional NCAA Tournament team in Iowa City, March 18. Rascoe was top scorer in the tournament with 55 points in two games.

In addition to Rascoe, Jerry Lucas, John Havlicek, both of Ohio State, Cotton Nash and Larry Pursiful, of Kentucky, were named to round out the team.

Lucas was named as the 'most valuable player' in the tourney.

College Hi Soph. Gets Hole-In-One

Harry Gilbert, College High sophomore, scored a hole-in-one last Thursday while practicing with the College High golf team. Gilbert had a brother, who was a member of Western's golf team, known as the Four Aces a few years back. Craig Clark, another College High linksman, had a hole-in-one in the regional tournament last year. Gilbert's Ace came on 135 yard par 3 hole at the Covington Woods Municipal Golf Course.

TRACK PRACTICE

Official track practice will open today at 3 p.m. All interested persons should report to Coach Turner Elrod's office at this time.

The first track meet will be at Austin Peay on April 20.

Butler's Free Throws Top Hilltoppers In Overtime

Butler slipped by Western 87-86 in an overtime to win the NCAA Midwest Regional Consolation game March 17 in Iowa City.

Senior guard Bobby Rascoe fired a 50-footer as the final horn sounded but it missed the mark by inches, thus ending his college career. Rascoe scored 29 points and Darel Carrier added 22. Jim Dunn 19, and Bobby Jackson 14. The Hilltoppers were playing without the services of center Harry Todd who was on the sidelines because of a cracked jawbone.

Western led 40-31 at halftime but the Butler Bulldogs came on with some incredible shooting hitting 27 of 38 field goal attempts for a .710 percentage the second half. Western hit 40 of 77 shots for a .519 percentage for the game. Butler sank 39 of 75 tries for a .520 percentage.

The game was the final for Rascoe and Doug Smith who started in the game and played without relief.

Western led 50-41 with 17 minutes to go when Butler began its scoring streak. The Bulldogs hit 11 points while Western hit only 1 and took the lead at 52-51 on a lay up by Tom Bowman, who scored 21 points. Gerry Williams was high scorer for Butler with 23, and Jeff Blue collected 18 as they were the only Bulldogs in double figures.

The lead switched hands several times and the score was tied 76 all with 1 minute and 48 seconds remaining. The Bulldogs froze the ball until the final 6 seconds when Williams missed a shot and Jackson cleared for Western. The Hilltoppers failed to get a shot off before the regulation time expired.

Butler never trailed in the overtime breaking an 80 all tie on a field goal by Blue. A goal by Bowman made it 84-80 and a single by Williams gave Butler a 5 point edge.

Smith connected on a lay up. Dunn stole the ball and Carrier sank a 15-footer to bring Western within one point of Butler.

Western held the rebounding

"We Cater To Students"

Chocolate Box And $20 Form South Hall's WPKC

With a $20 transmitter and their controls placed in a Nestles Chocolate box, two students in South Hall have begun operating their own non-profit radio station, WPKC.

WPKC, operating at 1600 kilocycles, started four weeks ago in its experimental stage, with the actual show beginning two weeks ago. Since the station has only limited power, it is permissible with the Federal Communications Commission. The station has only one transmitter at the present time, but the managers, Arnold Petrus and Jimmie Stith, hope to have a more powerful transmitter in the near future.

Students in South Hall are the only ones who are able to pick up WPKC because of the station not having a permanent antenna. Before each broadcast, the antenna, a thin wire, is placed outside the building and after each broadcast is brought in again. When the power is raised, there will be clear reception at 300 feet. West Hall should be able to pick up the station easily. Power can be doubled by use of a longer and permanent antenna.

The station has no commercials and its purpose is "Music to Study by." Listeners are steadily accepting this type of music. The station will not broadcast any country music.

WPKC operates three nights a week with "Summer Place" as the opening theme and "Exodus" as the closing theme. On Tuesday night, the station is on from 9-11 p.m., with Ray Lynn and "Best in Classics" at 9 p.m., with Ronson Barlow following at 10 p.m. with "Curtain Call." On Wednesday night, the station is on from 9:30-11 p.m., with Ronnie Barton, Jim Whitman, Bob Skakel, and two guests conducting the program "Survey." The program starts off with past hits, popular music, and music from all other WPKC shows. A News Editorial held on major news is conducted by Bob Skakel during the show. Music on "Survey" is by request. The station is on from 9-11 p.m. on Thursday night, with Red Topp and the "Rocket Show" at 9 p.m., followed by Cy Synthel at 10 p.m. with the "Jaguar Show". WPKC is now staying on until midnight due to the fact that the local radio stations are going off the air at 11 p.m. each night.

Seven students are working for the station — without pay. The disc jockeys are Arnold Petrus (Ronnie Barton), from Ottawa, Illinois, Jimmie Stith (Jim Whitman), from Vine Grove, Ronnie Hoffman (Ray Lynn), from Louisville, Bill Akin (Ronson Barlow), from Louisville, Roger Futrell (Bob Skakel), from Hopkinsville, Stan Zeidel (Red Topp), from Brooklyn, and Cyril Wantland (Cy Synthel), from Louisville.

The biggest problem of the station is people walking in and out of the room and the fact that the disc jockeys and the engineers cannot work together, but time is expected to take care of that. Since the station is in the experimental stage, the trial and error method is used quite extensively, with the engineers getting electrical shocks frequently.

Experimental Theater To Present Play

The sixth production of the Western Players Experimental theatre will be "Gonzo the Lancer," a play of the Japanese Kabuki Wednesday, April 18, at 7:30 in Senll Hall Auditorium.

The Kabuki is the traditional popular drama of Japan. It is a stylized spectacular designed to appeal to the populace rather than the over sensitive aristocracy. The word Kabuki means "song, dance, and drama," and all of these elements are present in any production. The stories used for Kabuki are often either adventure tales or sentimental romances.

Over ten centuries a variety of types of plays have appeared on the Kabuki stage so that today a typical evening of Kabuki includes plays and dances of many moods. However, throughout all the pieces runs an undercurrent of melancholy, lightening to gentle laughter or deepening to real tragedy as the situation of the play demands.

Miss Sally Rodes of the English department is the director of the play, and Larry Siria is the assistant director. The cast thus far includes Ann Downing, Don Alexander, Byron Danis, Lary Sampson, and Ed Curtis.

COTTON
SHEATH

The new look for summer is embodied in this pale and pretty sheath. Here is stunning leno cotton—exciting fashion on its own—made even more flattering by a colored lining. Color shows again in the corded edges and waistline bow that help make this a delectable warm weather fashion. Sizes 8 to 16.

EDUCATIONAL TV: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

A great deal of nonsense has been written about educational television. Following is my contribution:

It has been said that television allots no desirable viewing hours to educational and intellectual programs. This is simply not so. For instance, you can see "The Kant and Hegel Hour" every day at 4 a.m. This excellent show is followed at 5 a.m. by "Kierkegaard Can Be Fun." For such lazy scamps as lie abed beyond that hour, there is a splendid program on Sunday mornings at 7:15 called "Birds of Minnesota, Except Duluth."

So much for the myth that TV gives no prime time to educational programs. Now let us deflate another canard: that TV is not eager to inject intellectual content in all its programs. If you have sat, as I have sat, with a television planning board, you would know that the opposite is true. I was privileged recently to witness a meeting of two of TV's topmost program developers—both named Binkie Tattersall.

"Binkie," said Binkie to Binkie, "if there is one thing I am bound and determined, it's that we're going to have intellectual content in next season's programs."

"Right!" replied Binkie. "So let us put on our thinking caps and go to work."

"I forgot my thinking cap in Westport," said Binkie, "but I have a better notion: let us light a Marlboro."

"But of course!" cried Binkie. "Because the best way to think is to settle back and get comfortable, and what is the cigarette that lets you settle back and get comfortable?"

"I said Marlboro," answered Binkie. "Weren't you listening?"

"A full-flavored smoke is Marlboro," declared Binkie. "Rich tobacco, pure white filter, a choice of pack or box. What is better than a Marlboro?"

"A Marlboro and a match," replied Binkie. "Got one?" Binkie had, and so they lit their good Marlboros and settled back and got comfortable and proceeded to celebrate.

"First of all," said Binkie, "we are going to avoid all the old clichés. We will have no domestic comedies, no westerns, no private eyes, no deep sea divers, no doctors, and no lawyers."

"Right!" said Binkie. "Something offbeat."

"That's the word—offbeat," said Binkie.

They smoked and celebrated.

"You know," said Binkie, "there has never been a series about the Coast and Geodetic Survey."

"Or about glass blowers," said Binkie.

They fell into a long, torpid silence.

"You know," said Binkie, "there's really nothing wrong with a cliché situation—provided, of course, it's offbeat."

A cowboy, a deep sea diver with a law degree plus an M.D.

"Right!" said Binkie. "So let's say we do a series about a guy who's a family man with a whole bunch of lovable kids who play merry pranks on him."

"Yeah, and he's also a cowboy," said Binkie.

"And a deep sea diver," said Binkie.

"With a law degree," said Binkie.

"Plus an M.D.," said Binkie.

"And he runs a detective agency," said Binkie.

"Binkie," said Binkie to Binkie, "we've done it again!"

They shook hands silently, not trusting themselves to speak, and lit Marlboros and settled back to relax, for Marlboro is a cigarette not only for celebration, but for settling back with—in fact, for all occasions and conditions, all times and climes, all seasons and reasons, all men and women. © 1962 Max Shulman
