The Third District Tournament Is Great Success

THE NEW TRAINING SCHOOL WILL BE AN INSPIRATION TO STUDENTS ON THE HILL

What a Training School Should Mean to Both Teachers and Students is Outlined for the Readers of the College Heights Herald.

ORGANIZATION OF SCHOOL

The Training School is Divided into Four Sections. Which Gives a Thorough and Comprehensive Course for the Student Teachers.

Self-discipline, health of the body, the mental development of the child, skill in fundamental processes, and the appreciation of the higher things of the world.

The specific things that are looked after in the health of the child are: graded health instruction, health inspection, health exercises, supervised play, folk dancing, etc.

Underweight and undernourished children are induced to take a mid-morning lunch, and a record is kept of their advancement in the normal condition.

For the Child
As for the social nature of the child, the entire atmosphere of the Training School is kept so bright as it is possible to have any human beings work, play, and grow stronger.

Teachers and comrades are vigorously alert and sympathetically stimulating. There are rigorous tasks such as at contests for individual achievement, aptness, and general good.

Trains, automobiles, and Ford brought to Bowling Green and to College Heights on March 6-7, nineteen of Kentucky's splendid high school basketball teams, eleven boys' teams and nine girls' teams. The purpose of this season was to contest for the basketball championship of the third district and to select the winning teams for the state contest to be held at Lexington, Kentucky, on March 14-16.

Third Year
This is the third year that the tournament has been held on College Heights, and each year, general interest in the tournament, says that it was by far the biggest and best that has been held.

NEW ACTIVITY ORGANISED ON HILL

Administrative Research Club Organized by Students in First Class of the Kind in State of Kentucky.

An Administrative Research Club consisting of nineteen students, some of whom are county superintendents who are especially interested in school administration, was organized Tuesday evening, February 17. This is the first school administrative club organized in the state of Kentucky and has as its purposes: (1) to promote a professional and scientific spirit of research among our young administrators; (2) to further the "spirit of the Hill" by encouraging graduation; (3) to promulgate the principles of expert opinion and modern procedure in the administration of the schools of Kentucky; (4) to produce a spirit of brotherhood and service among the members of the club; (5) to provide a means for the "getting to know" of the members of the club. With the assistance of Mr. H. W. Wilson, instructor in school administration and faculty supervisor for the club and Dr. G. C. Starnes, Dean of the Faculty, the club expects to make a research study of school administration and to develop in members a further state of administrative interest.

Mr. H. W. Wilson was elected president, Henry M. Clay, vice-president, and D. B. Lutz, secretary.

FORMER STUDENT HONORED

Arthur D. Kirk of Hartford, is Appointed U. S. Commissioner by Judge Charles I. Dawson.

Arthur D. Kirk, of Hartford, Ky., yesterday was appointed United States Commissioner at Louisville, by Judge Charles I. Dawson.

Judge Dawson announced the appointment from the bench. The members of the club, organized by the appointment of the firm of Joseph A. Clark, several weeks ago, pay approximately $10.00 a year in fees. It was said. It carries no special salary.

Mr. Kirk, an attorney, had the endorsement of Judge Charles I. Dawson, who recently became a Justice in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

After making the announcement, Judge Dawson instructed J. G. Ronald, Clerk, to immediately draw up the order of appointment. It

U. OF C. RECORD ENTERTAIN VISITORS

The "Get-together" Meeting of University of Chicago Students is an Elaborate Success.

One of the most delightful gatherings held on the Hill for some time was the University of Chicago "Get-together" meeting, February 21, 1925. Western Kentucky State Teachers College was fortunate in having Dr. William E. Dodd, during the Rural Life Conference, who was a member of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Dodd, as he always does, in his interesting and effective way, instilled into his audience a greater appreciation for the great leaders of American history who have stood and fought for the fundamental ideals and principles of our nation even though they may have failed, for the time being, in accomplishing the things which they championed.

Eighteen Present
Around the banquet table were seated eighteen alumni, former students, and friends who were eager to glean every bit of news concerning the great university and her work.

Elaborate Menu
The delicious dinner was prepared and served by Miss Charlotte Day, head of the Home Economics department, and two of her students, Misses Grace Hillis and Bessie Hightower. The dining room was decorated in American flags and the national colors were carried out through the entire dinner. In the center of the table was a large blue basket filled with red velvet cake and strawberries. The

WHAT THE LOUISVILLE NORMAL SCHOOL THINKS ABOUT US

Mr. Henry Clay Anderson, Western Kentucky State Normal, Bowling Green, Ky.

My dear Mr. Anderson:

In answer to your request that we read and criticize your paper, The College Heights Herald, we are glad to be able to make the following criticism:

It has been a pleasure to read it. It struck me most forcefully as a "newspaper" which is judged by its name, you intended it to be.

Several articles, we noticed, besides being of direct interest to your school, have been of widespread interest to all Kentuckians.

With such an excellent start in this work we know that you will make long strides in improvement and will soon be one of the leading college papers in the country.

We should like to have a criticism of "The Quill." As you know our school is a small group as compared with yours; hence our paper may seem quite insignificant to you. We, however, are intensely interested in making it better.

Very sincerely,
CLARA LEE LONG
Exchange Editor

MRS. COOLIDGE AND COLLEGE HEIGHTS OF NEWEST SONG

Mrs. Coolidge, wife of the President, introduced the new song.

It will be remembered that on the occasion of the Memorial Service, the first in the series of beautiful pink roses were sent from Washington by Mrs. Coolidge to be used in the Memorial exercises. From the stems of these roses Miss Elizabeth Woods has succeeded in raising three, which have come through the winter in fine condition and will later on in the spring be put into permanent beds in the campus.

On Wednesday, March 4, another of our school songs was introduced. Miss Mary Frances Bradley, daughter of the composer of "Lullaby, That's All," was the author. The music was to have been written by Professor Strubing, but knowing that the author's father was a musician, Mr. Bradley was asked by the committee to set the music to his daughter's song. Miss Bradley played her song.

The members of the faculty and student body who were going to the coming meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association to be held in Louisville April 22-25, will be interested to know that she has already filled with twenty-five.

The College Heights Herald has been able to secure special rates at one of the leading hotels and will be glad to make reservations for its readers.

Call at the Herald office for further information.

Personals

Mr. Leiper
Mr. Leiper spent Monday in Nashville, where he visited Peabody College. He informs us that Mr. A. L. Crabb, a former teacher of the Teachers College, will receive his Ph. D. from that institution this summer.

E. B. Weathers Dies
Mr. E. B. Weathers, Jr., died in Louisville Sunday, February 2. Mr. Weathers was formerly superintendent of Franklin schools and has conducted many teachers institutes in Kentucky. For the past few years he has been in the insurance business and not only ranked as one of the greatest educators of Kentucky, but also as one of her greatest salesmen. The cause of his death was influenza.

Visitor
Mr. W. P. Bessley, a graduate of the life class of '24, spent the day on College Heights on February 6. He has been teaching in Washington County for the past few months.

Who'll Get B'ang?
The warm days are bringing the bees out of their winter homes which are located just back of the building. Lindos says that you can get out of your will when you have a good B'ang.

Students at B. G. High
Miss Leona Parlane and Miss Zebina Patterson have been acting as substitute teachers in the Latin department of the Bowling Green High School for the past week.

Illness
Miss Dovey Brittain has been ill for the past few days.

Nurse Smith
We are happy to inform the students that Mr. Bert Smith knows something of the technique of being a nurse. He informed his technique class that he was engaged as nurse last Tuesday while his wife kept her engagement with the dentist. Presumably he received his knowledge from Hall Quisenberry's "Nursing Study."

Practical Cherry
President Cherry is a member of the Kentucky State Committee of the American Legion and was the guest of Judge Bingham at the recent banquet in Louisville.

Operation
Miss Annand Stone, a student of College Heights, is enrolling on the "Hill" this week. Mr. Cahoon will be an addition to our baseball team.

Visitor
Miss Bess Mullins, a member of the life class of '24, attended the annual life conference. Miss Mullins is a teacher in the Munfordville High School.

J. H. Mills, who is teaching at Water Valley, Kentucky, is making a special study of "The Cause of Failure in Graded and High Schools." Mr. Mills will graduate in this year's degree class.

A. L. Crabb
Prof. A. L. Crabb, who is away on a leave of absence working towards his Ph. D. degree, was seen on the Hill last week-end. Prof. Crabb is now in Peabody College, but he is expected to return to College Heights next September to resume his place as teacher.

Rex Lee May has been called to his home in Utica on account of the illness of his mother.

Mrs. E. A. Diddle spent last weekend with her parents in Glendale, Kentucky.

Clarence Carson, former football and basketball player for Western, was here with his Cave City team for the tournament.

R. T. Cahoon, Jr., a former Bethel College student, is enrolling on the "Hill" this week. Mr. Cahoon will be an addition to our baseball team.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Spillman are the proud parents of a young son, Donald Omar. Both Mr. and Mrs. Spillman were graduates of the life class of '23.

Harry (Pap) Glenn, star athlete in football, basketball, and baseball was called to Sumner, Kentucky, Wednesday to coach the high school team for the tournament which was held at Munfordville, Kentucky. "Pap" displayed his ability as a coach too. His team defeated them five points.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS OF TRAINING SCHOOL CHILDREN

Dr. Jennings and Miss Housewald from the State Board of Health were here from Louisville and made physical examinations of the Training School pupils in the Elementary School and the Junior High School, February 27, 1925.

As weight is one important factor in a child's physical welfare, the children were weighed and their actual weight and height and age were recorded. The majority of the children were found to have practically normal weight. There was found to be a high efficiency in sight and hearing among the majority of the Training School pupils. Nearly all of the Training School pupils have been vaccinated. In making examinations for throat defects the results were remarkable in that the majority of the children who had needed tonsil operations were found to have defective tonsils removed. Posture defects were noticed among several of the children and remedial work was suggested. About one-third of the children were found to have teeth which needed attention.

On the whole the children were found to be far above the average physically.

Dr. Jennings and Miss Housewald were assisted by students and members of the Training School Faculty in recording individual records. These individual records were sent to the home, while a room record was left for the different class rooms.

While examinations were being made for defects in nutrition, tonsils, teeth, posture, posture, eyes and nose disease the room teachers were with the Jennings and Housewalds, and the children were found to have defective tonsils removed. DIRECTOR MAKES TRIP

The Schools of Barren and Hart Counties are Visited by Extension Director.

W. M. Pearce, Director of Extension, spent last week in visiting schools in Barren and Hart Counties. He makes the following report:

Superintendent Palmer and his high-school principal, Mr. Ridley, both degree graduates of last year's class, have a very splendid school at Glasgow. There are twenty-seven high-school seniors, ten of whom expect to teach in the near future. Fourteen of the twenty-three teachers in the Glasgow schools are former students of this institution. Two study center classes were organized, one in General Psychology and one in Class Management. The total enrollment for both classes is thirty-five. Superintendent Totty, of Barren County, stated that he and most of his teachers expect to be in school here next summer term. Mumfordsville

Superintendent H. R. Ridley, degree graduate of our school in last year's class, has a splendidly organized school in Mumfordsville, and Mr. M. P. Botta, another graduate of last year's class, has charge of the Smith-Hughes work in the Mumfordsville High School. Seven of the eight teachers in the school are former students of this institution. Superintendent Ridley has twelve high-school seniors, many of whom are expecting to be in college next year.

Horse Cave
Superintendent D. H. Lyon, of Horse Cave High School, and the principal of the high school, W. B. Owen, are also graduates of this school. Mr. Owen, in addition to the other duties, is directing the athletic activities of the school. There is a fine spirit of work and enthusiasm in the school. Eight teachers are former students of this school. There are fifteen high-school seniors, many of whom will be in college next year.

Cave City
Superintendent D. P. Curry, in the opinion of the citizens of Cave City, has the best school that they have known for a long while in that splendid little town. He has eleven high-school seniors and seventy-one enrolled in high-school work. All the teachers and teachers are enthusiastic and energetic. Six of the seven teachers in the Cave City High School are former students of this institution.

Outlook Encouraging
In general the educational sentiment in Barren and Hart counties is very encouraging. The two counties offer equal opportunities for high-school education to all boys and girls. Both counties will send large delegations of students to this institution in April and again in the summer term.

HISTORY CLUB REGULAR MEETING

Interesting Paper Delivered by Miss Richards. Regular Order of Business and Social.

The April M. Stickler History Club met in Cabell Hall on Saturday evening, February 28, at seven thirty o'clock. The meeting was called to order by the president, and a paper on "Roman Literature from the Time of Christ to the Abolition of Dictatorship" was read by Miss Frances Richards, one of the members of the club. Matters of business were then attended to, after which the meeting adjourned for the social part. Every person enjoyed the time program and anxiously looks for the next meeting.

Monroe County Delegation Give a Reception and Welcome all New Students to the Institution.

Under the supervision of Miss Lotta Day, the sponsor for Monroe County, the former members of the Monroe County Delegation gave a Valentine reception in Cabell Hall to honor of the incoming students. Cabell Hall was beautifully decorated with hearts, cupid, bows and arrows, and vines. There in charge of the decorations were Miss Lotta Day, Misses G. E. Strickler, W. B. Kerr, and Herman Spears.

The reception line consisted of Prof. Bert Smith and J. R. Alexander, Misses Lotta Day, Annie Puckley and Leona Pardon, and Messrs. W. B. Kerr and G. E. Strickler.

After special music by Messrs. Jordan White and M. S. Hutchins, and Misses Mary Dudley Coleman and Elizabeth Bryant, Miss Day and Prof. Alexander and Smith gave very interesting and worthwhile talks. Several Valentine tests and stunts were then enjoyed. Those present were: Misses Clara Downing, Elizabeth Short, Mary Connor, Delpha Evans, Amy Duncan, Elizabeth Bryant, Edna Eagle, Jewel Richardson, Lena Lawrence, Lockett Silver, Bess Hope, Mary Dudley Coleman, Hattie Lee McMullen, Chas. Miller, Leona Pardon, Annie Puckley and Lotta Day. Mesdames Levy Gerber, Annie Lee Gillenwater, Lee Wilbourne, W. R. Kerr, Hiram Shirley, Prof. Bert Smith, Prof. J. R. Alexander, Herman Spears, Jordan White, Floyd Holder, W. B. Shirley, Faye Shannon, Luther Downing, Roger Newman, James Newman, Orvil Evans, Winburn Swan, and H. R. Brown. Delicious refreshments were served, and everyone felt that the time had been well spent.

We are glad to note the overwhelming increase in the number of new students from Monroe County. The number of students now enrolled is more than double what it has formerly been at any time within the history of the institution. This we attribute to the earnest efforts of Mr. G. E. Strickler, W. B. Kerr, and Prof. Bert Smith who made a trip to that county last semester in the interest of this institution.

The professor was discussing the characteristics of a fool's mind. Bored Student: "What is a fool, anyway?"

Professor: "He is a fool who can ask more questions than a hundred wise men can answer."

Student: "Now I know why we look on so many young men."

PRINCIPLES OF STUDENT CONDUCT

Established ideals and principles are necessary as a guide to the conduct of individuals in any organization. We the students of Marion High therefore, subscribe to the following ideals and standards of conduct.

Each student will strive to make Marion High the best high school in the state.

He will prepare his lessons faithfully each day.

He will be studious and attentive in the classroom.

He will be polite and courteous at all times.

He will not mar and deface the school furniture or the school building.

He will be quiet and orderly in the corridors and will not require constant watching while at leisure.

He will not use vulgar or profane language when he is not being watched.

He will be sportsmanlike on the play grounds and maintain a high standard of play.

He will be dependable at all times.

He will not run, sing, or whistle in the corridors.

He will not loiter in conversation and then arrive at the classroom breathless to tell the teacher that he has forgotten to get his tablet or note book.

He will take pride in his school plant. It is his pride and he should keep it as clean, as neat, and as beautiful as possible.

He will be careful of the rights of others at all times. The Golden Rule will be his principle of conduct.

He will at no time disturb the school. If he has no work to do, he should leave the building.

THE FACE

A Fantasy
Eunice Catherine Thurman

For a hour a feeling of the most intense physical discomfort had possessed Brandon. Now this had passed away only to be succeeded by an equally intense mental agony. The service over dinner, and last he could keep his mind on it no longer. Brandon studied the Gothic vaulting, but even it did not seem natural.

As it rounded a curve the train of thought deepened into blackness of a tunnel. It was late, and many of the passengers were sleeping in their seats. There was no conversation for the first who were awake either looked with uneasy eyes at persons in neighboring seats or stared out into unbroken darkness.

Brandon was in the latter group. He wondered how long it would be until morning and whether the coming of light would relieve him.

This unutterably guilty feeling was nerve-racking but he could not seem to remember exactly what his terrible crime had been. Brandon's conscience on past occasions had become the source of much trouble, and he felt that unpleasant results would follow if he did not pull himself together and escape this dreary "far-awayness."

The other passengers did not seem to be bothered as he was. They were each peculiarly prone to be travelling in any way. Why, every one of them was wooding around in the most unstable manner. Brandon found his mind not to look at the again, and turning to the window, stared into the mysterious blackness.

There it was! The face! It was a school in delirium on his memory and he had tried in vain to forget it. He could not get rid of the haunting eyes.

Where? Where? Where? He tried to remember but even so the face was so very real.

The face was so very real. He tried to remember but even so the face was so very real.

The face was so very real. He tried to remember but even so the face was so very real.

REPORTS FROM

BULLITT;
LARUE

Many Good Things Said of Schools in these Counties after Visit by Mr. Pearce of Extension Department.

Last week, Mr. W. M. Pearce, Director of Extension, visited schools in Laffee and Bullitt counties. Superintendent J. H. Munter, of Shepherdsville, a very progressive and loyal leader, has 125 enrolled in his high school. He has one of the largest senior classes in comparison with the high-school enrollment to be found in any school. He has eight splendid teachers, seven of whom are former students of Teachers College.

Superintendent H. M. Wesley, who has been in charge of the Seneca High School for three years, has just completed a modern, well-equipped gymnasium. He has an enthusiastic enrollment of 62, with fifteen high-school seniors. Two members of the Teachers College faculty, Miss Jeffries, and Miss Mason, are natives of Seneca. Superintendent Wesley has six teachers in his school, five of whom are former students of this institution.

Superintendent Hanson of Hodgenville has sixteen seniors and eight teachers. Five of his teachers are former students of Teachers College. Hodgenville has sixteen seniors and eight teachers. Five of his teachers are former students of Teachers College. Hodgenville has a very splendid building, a fine school spirit and a capable faculty.

Many of the teachers in these schools will be here during the summer term, as well as several of the high-school graduates. Superintendent W. B. Matthews and his faculty of the high school, W. B. Matthews, are very good.

SEEK WAY TO USE LEISURE FORMER STUDENT BECOMES A BENEDICT

The next "pressing problem" to be attacked by the Carnegie Foundation is the study of how the increasing leisure of the average American can best be employed. The new topic was announced by Frank P. Keppell, president, who said a series of special studies would be made of the question. What shall be done with this new-found leisure? He called it one of the "most vital" problems facing the world today and one of the "fastest growing."

Mr. Keppell told the trustees in an annual meeting at New York that $1,000,000 had been spent by the foundation during the past year, and that the original endowment had amounted to more than $13,000,000. He further announced that in the future the public would be asked to participate in the work of the institution and that widespread advice on educational topics would be asked.

Fundamental subjects of the curriculum are taught, and taught well. Children are made to realize that specific things must be attained in each subject in early grades. Standardized tests are frequently applied, and the pupils are as much interested in the showing of their group of the old-time subjects as are the teachers. When deficiencies are shown both teachers and pupils set to work with a will to remove those deficiencies. More than this, the teachers make use of all improved methods by which the learning process may be made more swift and more reliable, but through it all they make clear the principle that personal endeavor is the great factor in this as in other attainments.

Subjects Taught

With all of their insistence upon good habits of thinking, and a good group of the fundamental subjects, the teachers of the Training School still realize that life is not complete without some field for leisure enjoyment, where the spirit may be refreshed. They learn picture study, nature study, music, and literature, in order to add to the greater things of life.

The Training School teachers are at work upon a modern course of study which after its completion may be used in any school in the state. Through research, experimentation, and experience, they have compiled data upon the fundamental subjects which have been disseminated into an available volume. They are now at work upon a volume entitled "Large Units of Teaching" which deals with the problem-projects in the grades. This material will be ready for distribution in the autumn of 1925. Special teachers in the college are preparing a volume entitled "Arithmetic in the Grades." This also will be ready in the autumn. It will treat in detail arithmetic, home economics, and manual training for the grades.

Four Sections

The Training School is divided into four sections. The first of these is the primary section, where the child makes wide contact with a variety of subjects without any artificial barrier between them. The second section is the intermediate section, where the child makes contact with a variety of subjects without any artificial barrier between them. The third section is the junior high section, where the child makes contact with a variety of subjects without any artificial barrier between them. The fourth section is the senior high section, where the child makes contact with a variety of subjects without any artificial barrier between them.

Skill Acquired

In the intermediate grades the child should acquire skill in the fundamental processes because at that stage he is interested in skill, and these are the skills required for the foundations of our modern life. In the junior high section, the child is emerging into a greater social consciousness and is becoming aware of his participation in a larger world. At this stage the social studies are stressed, and if possible the child should be introduced to many of the occupations of the world. In the senior high the youth should be led into intelligent choices of subjects based upon his wide experiences in the junior high. A degree of specialization should appear at this stage. The youth should know whether he is inclined toward the practical or the theoretical vocations.

These are some of the aspects of teaching which the Training School is stressing now.

day and Thursday, which consisted of instrumental solo, vocal solo, and duets, classical dancing, musical readings and ukulele music.

Special Program

One morning the entire program was given over to a mock chapel, with some act or announcement to the students. President Cherry and his efficient faculty, Mrs. Travelstead led community singing, with Pock Strahm at the piano. After a third attempt, all moved in rising together to place President Cherry before Ruth Beckwith.

Dr. Gamble and members of the faculty made announcements. Mr. Horton recited "Hymns on the Rhine," Mrs. T. C. Cherry gave a reading and Dr. Stickles continued his yawning and stretching. President Cherry introduced distinguished visitors, and L. C. Carter sang.

After the program, the school was closed for the day.
