COLLECTION NOTE

This collection consists almost exclusively of interviews with Kentuckians conducted between 1967 and 2005 by students in American and Kentucky history classes at Western Kentucky University (WKU). The interviewees are chiefly family members or personal acquaintances. Subjects discussed in the interviews typically include childhood memories, education, rural life, civil rights, the Great Depression, military service (usually World War II or Vietnam), and work such as farming, teaching and coal mining. In most (but not all) cases, the interviewer submitted a summary paper, complete or partial transcript, and audio cassette. In a few cases, a videocassette was submitted.
