FOOTBALL

The nineteen twenty-one football season was probably one of the most successful in the history of the College. The most notable in any event, because it marks the entrance of Ogden into Collegiate Athletics. This year out of eight games scheduled six were with College or University teams while the other teams were of University calibre.

The success of the nineteen twenty-one football team was due in no small degree to the able coaching of Prof. W. Y. Irwin. Prof. Irwin is a Swarthmore man and while in college besides playing football and basketball was considered one of the best track men in the East. Coach Irwin was constantly on the job and due to his splendid coaching the team always fought hard and worked like a well oiled machine.

Captain Kirby who played the Quarterback position is undoubtedly one of the best backs in this section of the country. He is a hard fighter and an able Captain and General. At the center of the line was the old reliable "Montgomery" Porter who has only been removed from one game in three years because of injuries. He is a terror at roving center on the defense and often breaks thru to block punts. At guards Williams, Logan, and Lindsay always put up a good game. Fitch, Ed. Houser, Lee and Hill were among the best tackles seen on a local gridiron this year. Bob McNally, who played a tackle early in the season, played a stellar game both in victory and defeat. On ends Spillman and Gene McNally started the season. Spillman was an adept at receiving and intercepting passes and then breaking loose for long gains. James and Thomas, who broke into Varsity harness at ends before the season closed, excelled in their defensive work.

Tichnor, "The Sorrel Top," started the season at full but was shifted to

LITERARY SOCIETY

OGDEN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Ogden Literary Society of the college department met and elected the following men as officers:

President, John Adsit.
Vice Pres., Alvis Temple.
Secretary, William Lee.
Treasurer, Joe Schneider.

The program committee is composed of Harris, Renfrew and Kinslow.

Many debates, declamations and other oratorical will be given throughout the year.

On Wednesday, December 14, an interesting program was rendered of extemporaneous speeches by members of the society on topics concerning the interests of the United States, the school and the society, also of athletics and future activities of the college.

Professor Pabner made an interesting talk on "The Present Activities in Congress." Another member of the Faculty was present, Professor Hilary, who gave an interesting lecture on the benefits and pleasures of Literary Society.

People from the different schools and the town as a whole, are urged to attend the meeting of this society on every Wednesday from eleven to twelve o'clock.

R. ENNIS HARRIS.

PREP. SOCIETY ACTIVITIES

At the first meeting of the Prep. Literary Society, the activities consisted principally of the election of officers. Nominations were conducted by the ballot system. Fred Vale was acting chairman of the occasion and the following officers were elected:

President: Fred Vale.
Vice President: John Rose.
Secretary: Harold Edgerton.
Treasurer: Harry Holland.

BASKETBALL

Football season is now past and basketball reigns supreme. Ogden's team has been at practice for about three weeks and has developed into a machine. They work together, their passing is nearing perfection and their offense and defense are hard to beat.

Mr. Renfrew, the manager of the basketball team, has closed games with Goldberg's, the champion team of Louisville last year, Cumberland University, Southwestern Presbyterian University, Morton-Elliott. He also has several other teams under consideration but he has not been able to close contracts with them.

Foeman Rudd, a former V. T. S. star will be with the team after the holidays and will give someone a good race for one of the forward positions. It is hoped that "Dizzy" Madison will come out soon for a center is needed very bad according to Coach Irwin. Charlie Spillman and Roy Porter, two of last year's team will be back in the near future and some more strength will be added to the team.

The team at present is composed of Dong, Smith and Vale at forwards, Schneider (Capt.) center, and Jack Smith and Houser at guards. This quintette is light but fast as greased lightning play well together.

To win these games something more is required than the skill of the players. The entire student body and people of the town must stand behind the team, believe in it and support it. When these games come off assemble at the "Y" and make it manifest that you are for your team. With such a spirit as this behind them the old home five will go in and make everyone proud of old Ogden.

Editorial

For several years Ogden has not had a College paper, so to let the outsiders know something more of Ogden, we are publishing the first issue of The Cardinal; and it will be published from now on fortnightly.

The purpose of this paper is to act as a mirror to the people of Bowling Green and to all friends, reflecting the College spirit of both class room and the athletic field, and all organizations of the College. To let all know that every one in school is a booster for old Ogden, no knockers are allowed. We want our friends to know of the things we do and just how and why we do them.

Another purpose of The Cardinal is to serve as a connecting link between the College and the Alumni. We want them to know that we are still upholding the high standards of the old College. And we hope when they glance over these pages that they will see therein, the same old Ogden spirit, and may it remind them of many a happy day when they were Ogden students. We want them to always be with us in spirit, and we feel sure they are. But we hope, by The Cardinal, we may be brought more closely together.

Still another purpose of our paper is, that it will be an avenue through which the voice of the whole College will have open sway. And by it a healthier ratio than is common will exist between the inlet and the outlet, between the reception of information and the individual reaction and expression. Thereby maintaining a proper balance between love of appreciation and joy of creation.

We wish to thank all who have aided us in publishing The Cardinal. Especially do we thank those whose advertisements you see in this paper. Without their aid it would have been impossible for The Cardinal to have been published. And if you see anything good in these few pages please tell someone else. Your subscriptions and interest will be appreciated.

COLLEGE SPIRIT.

Noah Webster says that the meaning of spirit is enthusiasm. We usually think of enthusiasm as a wave of emotion that carries everything before it for awhile and then gradually dies down. If this is the correct definition of the word, college spirit is by no means enthusiasm. It is neither temporary nor changeable.

College spirit finds its place in the heart of the student, while he is still a Freshman, and sticks with him the rest of his life, making him loyal to his business undertakings, as well as to his old Alma Mater. This spirit keeps him as one of the boys, although he may have been an alumnus for many years. He rejoices in the victories and sympathizes in the defeats of the various school enterprises, just as he did years ago. To him, graduation was merely a ceremony. He is still with the college in mind and spirit.

When we see a group of students rooting while their team is being defeated, we may safely say that the spirit of the institution that they represent is near one hundred per cent. We may corroborate our statement by following them back to their college. By associating with them we easily observe that their classroom work is excellent. They are still doing their part in upholding the traditions of their school. We also notice that none of these students smear mud upon the good name of the institution. When a student loses his respect for the honor of his school we know that his college spirit is beginning to associate with ghostly spirits. Before leaving the campus of this splendid college we notice that its student body is willing to support any activity that may bring credit to the school. This is true college spirit.

After our observation of this college, we find that college spirit is the life of the institution. Without it, the school would die a living death, and grind along for years and years, turning out an almost worthless product at the end of each year. Truly college spirit is the greatest asset of any institution.

Society was held on Wednesday, December 14. The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting. After several suggestions the society decided upon "It Grows as It Goes" as its motto.

The following literary program was rendered:

Debate: "Resolved That the Honor System Should be Confined to the College Department." The speakers on the affirmative were: John Rose, Frank Taylor and St. George Carmichael. The speakers on the negative were: Maurice Burton, Ross Coleman and Victor Logan.

All of the debaters made brilliant speeches to great effect and all showed fine material and preparation. Each speaker was given three minutes and two minutes rebuttal was given to the first speaker on each side. The decision of the Judges was two to one in favor of the affirmative.

It was suggested to offer a prize to the winning basketball team in the Preparatory League. It was decided to offer a Loving Cup to the victor of a series of inter-class games to be played during the next few weeks.

half. He was a consistent gainer thru tackle or around ends and the best forward passer on the squad. "Jack" Leidecker, who played a half-back position is without doubt a player of university calibre. No one who saw him dodge thru the entire S. P. U. team, slip twice in the mud and finally run sixty yards for a touchdown, can deny his running ability. Raymond Gilliam, who also played a halfback, was one of the most versatile players on the team. Probably the lightest back on the team he was one of the most consistent plungers and an excellent safety man. Houser, who played the regular fullback position part of the season, is a consistent, heady player and an excellent fullback. Jack Smith, who played at end, quarter, half and full, is one of the scrappiest players who ever wore an Ogden uniform. Pickles, Holland, C. Gilliam and Vale also broke into several games and deserve credit for their work.

The following men received their honorary O's at the football banquet: Capt. Kirby, Porter, Williams, Logan, Fitch, Hill, Ed. Houser, Lee, Spillman, Thomas, James, Tichenor, Leidecker R. Gilliam, Smith and Student Manager Edw. B. Stout, Jr., Pickles, Holland C. Gilliam and Vale also received the O. A. A.

Prospects for next year are very bright. Football is in Ogden to stay. Heretofore Ogden has had a good team for several years and then all of the players would leave and an inexperienced team would be the result. That day is over. Next year some nine letter men will return. While Ogden is proud of her five victories out of the eight games this year she should be able to build an even better team next year around this nucleus and go thru a perfect season.

INTER-CLASS BASKETBALL

Since the opening of the basketball season the excitement of the inter-class games of the preparatory department has been steadily growing. The highest mark was reached when the literary society of the Preparatory Department offered a loving cup for the winner of the series of games.

The cup is to be the property of the College and to be kept in the office of the College. Each year after the series are won the cup will be held by the winning team until the next year, when it is to be contested for again.

The Department has been divided into two parts, the first and second year classes against the third and fourth year. The teams are out for practice now and there are bright prospects for two good teams.
