RUSSELLVILLE SQUAD
SMOTHERED BY LOCAL COLLEGE BASKETTEERS

Visitors Succumb to Attack of Ogdenites By Score of 74 to
2 In Fast Game Here

Throwing baskets almost at will and presenting a 5-man defense that was impregnable, the net tossers of Ogden College Saturday night at the Y'-gymnasium completely smothered the Athletic Club of Russellville by a score of 74 to 2.

Not a field goal was registered by the visitors during the "slaughter," their two points being caged on the free throws following the only two fouls called on the Red and Green performers.

The Russellville team came here fresh from a victory over Elkton, and it was on the strength of this victory that the game was scheduled.

Several easy shots from under the goal were missed before Jack Smith finally shot the ball through the straps for the first basket of the game after two minutes of play.

"Doug" Smith, the sorrel-thatched forward, and Amos, the pivot man, then in quick succession, sent the ball spinning through the straps for four more points. It was not until this point of the game that the Red and Green quintet opened up with their criss-cross passing which sent the ball directly under the goal where a performer would unerringly toss it into the basket.

McGinley and Cole gave a great exhibition of floorwork throughout the fray, time after time gaining possession of the ball under their opponent's goal and passing it to safety with great accuracy. At the end of the first half the score stood 34 to 1.

A steady stream of substitutions was sent in during the second half by Coach Helm and they continued the dizzy pace, set by the first team, caging baskets from all angles.

The score:
Ogden: Smith, D. F. Mosley
Smith: C. King
McGinley: G. Watson
Smith: J. G. Garwell

Russellville—Reynolds for Sawyer, Waldron for King.

THE VALUE OF
AN A. B. DEGREE

In all things there should be a goal to which one can work. Especially is the A. B. degree found valuable to the student and to the school as a goal, for it gives something more tangible than the word education to strive for. It signifies that a territory of learning has been covered in order to get this symbol of a liberal education. It is a standard in colleges and universities which is reached by four years of persistent study. A degree then seems to be a rigid test for 'the survival of the fittest.' Figuratively speaking, the degree is likened to a beautiful luscious fruit high in the tree, many branches have to be passed before the fruit can be taken in hand and eaten. So it is that paths of narrowness, ignorance, and selfishness must be reached and obscured before the clearer conception of life is obtained.

The value of an A. B. degree is realized in regard to its worth as a reference. The employer knows where the applicant has been for the last four years and also that, by the process of work, training, and environment, a determining factor in his life has been formed. The value, then, either to the employer or employee, is the possession of a large vocabulary, good English, and a knowledge of social functions which other degrees most probably omit, because it is not deemed a necessary factor of an education.

The possessor of the degree knows how to act, when to talk, and when to be silent. He knows how to manage, work with, and deal with the common affairs of men and women in groups, by his study of the social sciences. By his culture, he has power to express high ideas, and to talk with men thru his insight and vision of beauty. He again is found to have covered a large portion of the unlimited paths of his mother language in combination with social factors of programs.

SPANISH CLUB

Lack of time, caused by the mid-winter examinations and the recent play put on by the students, compelled the Spanish Club to omit its meetings for the past three weeks.

Tuesday afternoon, however, the officers of the club met in order to make plans for the remaining term.

Besides plans which will interest the members of the club others were made which will prove of interest to the entire student body of the College.

A Spanish play has been chosen by the members of the program committee, and will be given by the members of the club at chapel.

Arrangements have been made with the Y. M. C. A. to hold social meetings at that place. This is chiefly for the purpose of giving the members an opportunity to learn to eat properly (in Spanish.)

An interesting program has been arranged for the next meeting Tuesday, February 6. A debate, "Resolved that Man is More Intelligent than Woman," is to be given by six new members who are very fluent in the use of Spanish. At this meeting new members will be taken into the Club thru the usual thorough initiation ceremonies.
WITH OUR PREPS

We are really proud of our Prep department. To some of you that may sound strange, but it is the truth. We are perhaps the proudest of our Prep debating team. Last year they fought their way to Frankfort but were beaten there. This year there is held out to us the hope that OUR Preps will be the State Champions. They have had the advantage of last years experience, and we are backing them to the limit.

The rest of this week will be devoted to debating. The whole Prep department will be put thru its paces, and the best of the bunch will then be drilled until the appointed time.

It has always been a question as to whether the High School could train a boy as well as Old Ogden. Well, there is to come a time of testing. Our boys will meet the High School first in their debating contest. If we win, and I think that we shall, we will then meet the out-of-town teams.

The debating this year seems to be more universal in its appeal than it was last year. There certainly are a lot more schools interested so there will be more glory to the winner, may it be Ogden.

We have one of last years debaters back with us. He is Mr. Milliken, and altho he only made alternate last year, he is sure to be on the regular team this time.

COURSES IN MATHEMATICS DURING THE SPRING TERM

The new courses offered in the Mathematics Department for the Spring term are as follows: Integral Calculus, Surveying, and Trigonometry. The course in Integral Calculus deals with the simpler cases of integration, enabling the student to build and solve the integrals found in the natural sciences as well as the usual type forms.

The course in Plane Surveying is an attempt to present to the student the essential of land and topographic surveying together with sufficient laboratory work to enable him to make land surveys, plot the ground, compute areas and run lines of levels.

The course in Trigonometry is designed to acquaint the student with the methods of solving plane triangles with particularly attention to its application to surveying, navigation, astronomy, physics and many of the other natural sciences.

The Department attempts, in so far as is possible, to meet the demands of both the students who attempt to continue in the vast field of higher mathematics and those who intend working after completion of their college course. To this end many applications of the subjects are introduced without losing sight of the mass of facts needed by those who continue in the field of pure mathematics.

THE OGDEN PLAY

The Ogden production, "Hello Algy," was a two-fold success. Artistically speaking, it was the best thing of its kind that the people of Bowling Green have ever seen. The scenery was all new, and gave the most life-like appearance to the stage. All the costumes were well made and looked as if they had been made just especially for this cast.

Then the show was a huge success from the financial view point. Our Athletic Board was in the hole, but thanks to Algy, Continued on Page Four

A CHANGE IN THE CHAPEL SCHEDULE

It was announced at chapel this morning that the first period was to be moved up fifteen minutes. This was done in order that once more we might have with us at chapel the talent of Bowling Green. For the last year or so, chapel has been rather a short affair. It consisted of the reading of the Bible and a short prayer. But the older boys will hark to the days when Professor Manchester and the members of the Senior Class ran things. Then there was a speaker or a musical number at chapel nearly every morning.

We are glad to see this old custom come back into life. It means that we will get over the old idea that a business man is a powerful creature that thinks only in dollars and cents. We will realize that he is human, and has his ups and downs just as we do.

And I think that it is an inspiration to hear a little music just before the work of the day is begun.

All the older boys will be glad to welcome this custom back and I think that the new ones will soon learn to like the new order of things, even if they do have to get up a little bit sooner.

THE OGDEN PLAY

It is now on its feet and going strong.

Fellows, we had just about hit rock bottom, when we put over the play. We were not only financially embarrassed, we had a bad case of dry rot. We were looking toward the past, not the future. We were thinking of the glory that Ogden had once won, and trying to make her old record excuse her present one.

But now we are on the upgrade. We have a winning Basketball team. Next year we hope to have a winning Football team. And in the meantime, we have a President that is behind athletics heart and soul. He is trying to put our finances on a solid basis. He is imbued with the idea that a school must have athletics, but he also realizes that in order to have them there must be some money expended. So he has gone to work to see where the money is to come from. The first thing that he did was to secure the play. That made some money, but it won’t last forever. So he made arrangement with the American Legion for a per cent on all the tickets that we sold for them. And that is not all that this new president has done for us. I know, tho he made me promise not to tell what they are, that he has some three or four other plans where the “unobtainable” may be obtained.

So, fellows, it is still up to you. In the past Ogden used to do one thing well and then rest for a year or more. But the spirit of the times has changed. We have done a good deed, but let us go on and do another. So I say, it’s still up to you. If you will back Professor Whittle to the limit, we will have the best financed athletics in the State. But if you don’t, things will slide along as they have for the last ten years.

A. B. DEGREE

Altho his degrees does not include much of a professional nature, it gives such a quality of work that it makes him prepared to take up any line of work with some parts of scientific or professional preparation. He excels his fellowman by his power of foresight and knowledge of the ethics of life.

In the end, when a man has taken the course of liberal arts, he has had an uplifting introduction into the romance languages for the service of the diplomatic and political world. In his battle with books and problems, he has reached the goal of his college life, learned the ethics of life, trained his conscience, and in times of adversity or prosperity, has become a God fearing citizen of the world.
