Alumni Notes

In order that the present student body may become better acquainted with dear Ogden's Alumni, and to show them that we are likewise interested in their work, the Cardinal is devoting the greater part of the space of this issue to stating the whereabouts and the business of a number of them. The success of our Alumni is an inspiration to the entire school.

The following Alumni have been heard from during this season:

Samuel S. Daughtry, Class of '15, is now pastor of the United Presbyterian Church at Harrodsburg, Kentucky. Mr. Daughtry has made a great success while there, and has become known throughout the State by the many sermons he has had sent out in pamphlet form.

Roy Speck, Class of '15, is now serving as Clerk in the Court of Appeals at Frankfort, Kentucky. Mr. Speck always has a warm welcome for Ogden fellows who visit him because his interest in old Ogden will never die.

Roma Demumbrun, of the class of '21, is the principal of the Sharon Grove High School at Sharon Grove, Kentucky. It will be remembered that Mr. Demumbrun received his present position over twenty other applicants.

Conrad Tichenor, Class of '22 is now making a great success at the retail shoe business. He is at present operating an up-to-date shoe store at McHenry, Kentucky.

Harold Helm, Class '19, is located at New York City where he is a special representative for the Chemical National Bank. Mr. Helm has been connected with this firm since completing his course at Princeton, and is without a doubt making good.

Andrew Rose, Class of '17, is now established in the credit department of the Italian Discount and Trust Co. New York City, having been there for the past two years. We are glad to learn of Mr. Rose's success and always welcome any word from him.

Reno Renfrew, Class of '17, is now manager of the office department of the Bradstreet Mercantile Agency located in Detroit, Michigan. Mr. Renfrew's work is of the highest type and nothing but success can be the outcome.

Underwood Hines, Class of '15, is now a Lieutenant of the Junior grade in the U. S. Navy, being at present connected with the Pacific Fleet, Mr. Hines graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy, at Annapolis, Md., in 1918.

Ward Sumpter, Class of '22, since completing his graduate work at the University of Chicago, is now a candidate for the Masters degree at the University of Florida, Gainesville. He has recently been elected a member of the following organizations: National Chemical Society, Phi Kappa Phi, and of the Gamma Sigma Epsilon Chemical Fraternity. We all wish him the best of success in his chosen field.

Mansfield Hendricks '19, since attending Randolph-Macon College has settled down proper. Mr. Hendricks is now a Married man and at present is operating an attractive grocery store in Howesville, Kentucky.

Arthur L. Campbell, Class of '03, since receiving his degree from Yale, has been following the profession of an educationalist. He has taught English for three years in the New Haven Commercial High School, New Haven, Conn., in connection with this work Mr. Campbell has written and published several educational articles, dealing for the most part, with the marking problem in high schools.

J. M. F. Hays '13, is principal of the Upton High School, Upton, Kentucky.

The success and development of the school is assured with such a man at the head as Mr. Hays.

Harold Hines since receiving his degree at the University of Kentucky, has risen from the ranks of the mining engineers of the Republic Iron and Steel Co. and is now the Head Engineer of the company's mines at Rickey, Alabama.

Presley Perkins '22 is a graduate student at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Perkins is making a good showing at Vanderbilt and Ogden should be proud of his record.

Jeff Stagner, Class of '21 is continuing his profession of teaching at Cottage Grove, Tenn. As we know from experience the high type of professor Mr. Stagner is, there is no doubt but what his work is and will continue to be of the highest caliber.

Horace Huddle '18 and a member of our Faculty in 1919-20 is now located at LeRoy, Illinois, where he is teaching science in the LeRoy High School. Mr. Huddle's interest in old Ogden never reaches the point whereby his Alma Mater appears as something indistinct, but he is always a booster.

Julian A. Campbell of the class of Yale '13, is with the Union Oil Company, with headquarters at Los Angeles California. Mr. Campbell's interest in the work is illustrated by the fact of his devices being used in the Company's fields.

Rex Logan of the class of '21, since attending the University of Kentucky has accepted a position as the superintendent of a garage at Brownsville, Ky.

John R. Adsit, '22, is Professor of Languages at the James High School, Jamestown, La.

Alex. B. Witherspoon, Class of '18, who has been doing graduate work at Yale for the past three years, will re-

James A. Mitchell '17 is located in New York City, where he is in the office department of Italian Discount and Trust Co. The position is a very promising one and Mr. Mitchell will no doubt make the best success possible.

Chas. S. Peete, Class of 1915, Yale 1921, is now a member of the faculty of Principia College, St. Louis, Missouri. Mr. Peete likes his work very much and we are sure that he will make a still greater success than he has already made.

Julian Gilbreth is at present connected with the Ohio Valley Asphalt Co., with works located at Summit, Ky.

Mr. Covington's record is a commendable one and we wish that he may keep up the good

Mr. Paul T. Manchester, a member of the Ogden Faculty in 1917-18, is now head of the Spanish Department at Vanderbilt. We are glad to see that one who was once a member of our faculty has made such a splendid success in his line.

Harold Cherry '20 since receiving his degree from Yale has taken a special course for bonding salesmanship. At present a Bond Salesman for the New York Casualty Co. of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Mr. Cherry has put his heart into his work and when this is the case success is always the outcome.

O. K. Amos '19, now a married man and is making a success at scientific farming in the Oakland vicinity. We are glad that we have one of our Alumni making a success at farming and are also glad that he is so close to us.

Of our former students the Bowling Green Business University has its quota. These students and Alumni have not forgotten dear old Ogden as shown by the manner in which they support all of our activities, including many of the Chapel exercises. The Cardinal takes this means of expressing to each and all of this group the hope that success and contentment come to you. We sincerely believe that Ogden could not have a better representative group than the present one. This group is composed of the following members: Carol James, Joseph Schneider, Charles Renfrew, Bernard Sigmier, Pat Grady, Robert Causey, Kenneth Causey, Jess Spalding, Harold Leichardt, Roger Blakeman, Guy Thomas and Rural Love.

Alumni Contribute ### to Athletics

This year has marked a close friendship between Ogden and their older brothers, the Alumni. One of the contributions the Alumni has made is to our athletics. It is being made a practice for the Alumni and the College Varsity to meet in all sports namely, football, basketball and baseball.

The first event of the past year between these two bodies was a football game which resulted in the defeat of the Alumni by the small score of 6 to 0. The lone score of the Varsity was made by the star end McNally who received a forward pass in the last two minutes of play and then ran thirty yards for a touchdown. The outstanding remark of this game was by "Old Hamp Graham," Ogdens greatest football star of all time, who remarked that it was the first time he played against a team that really hit him harder than he hit them. The lineup of the Alumni was Grider, Helm, Elrod Cornell, Madison, Vaughn, Holland Blackwell, Osborne, Grubbs and Houser

Then came the basketball season when the Alumni organized a team under Captain Mottley Adams, but again failed to conquer their younger followers, as they were on the small end of a 61-27 score. Their lineup was Rudd, H. Helm, Lazarus, Porter, Adams, T. Helm, Madison, Holland. The first half of the game was exceedingly close, but due to better training and getting over their stage fright the Cardinals came back like a hurricane, making goals at will and making the Forwards of their opponents, Lazarus and Helm, look like statues in the middle of the floor.

At present the outlook is a baseball game in the near future. Joe Schneider is taking charge and has already sent in the following lineup with the information that they want a game at once. The lineup is as follows, Ray Patterson Grady, Warrenner, Grider, Burch, Spugnardi, Rudd, Ennis, Blackwell, Lazarus, and Schneider. They are all cracks when it comes to playing the game, and they seem to think that the outcome will be a different tale than has been the one told in the other sports.

From now on it is hoped that it will be able for the Alumni and school teams to meet yearly in every sport as it has been proven that it draws a closer kinship between the two bodies; it lets the Alumni keep in touch with all present College activities, while it enables the student to obtain the support of the Alumni in all activities, besides the help rendered them by volunteer coaching and other aid in athletics.

The College is now on the lookout for an all round athletic coach for next season and if any Alumni or student knows of any good prospect let him report it at once.

School News

On last Monday morning we had with us Rev. Eisenhart. As his chapel talk he made a wonderful offer to the Ogden Athletic Association. This offer consisted of the profer of the Boy Scout camp as a training camp for our football men. This offer came as a surprise to us. We had hoped to have the use of such a convenient place.

It has been noticed lately that whenever Carmichael, Tichenor and Schade sit on the back bench in American Economic History the bench seems to fall down several times during the period.

Shorty Harris was noted to take refuge in the office the other day showing signs of great fear. The poor child was so entirely unnerved that he could not tell what had happenrd. A searching party was formed and they found a ferocious poodle dog hiding behind a blade of grass at a point directly overlooking Shorty's path. The poodle was given the extreme penalty.

I publish this as a warning to other foraging poodles, that they may heed and not attack any more defenseless "Preps" like Shorty.

An Appreciated Visitor

Maurice Burton a graduate from the Prep. department of Ogden College of the class of '22 made a visit to the college this morning. He is now employed as a stenographer by the DuPont Lumber Co. of Louisville. In the speech he made in Chapel he showed how the Ogden chapels exceed those of Manuel and Male which he visited a few days ago.

In Study Hall

Most every day in Study Hall,

We hear his "Come to order" call
We all look 'round an' grin an' say,
'I hope he won't be cross to-day."
Then if someone walks 'cross the floor
We keep step with him to the door:
How can we think that he'll keep sweet.

When we make noises with our feet,
At last we settle down to work,
But soon we start up with a jerk;
For some poor simp lets out a cough
'Twould startle horses at a trough.
Then windows open with a bang
The cold wind blows on all the gang
'Till everyone begins to freeze,
And some start in to cough and sneeze
Poor teacher hoarse and sore distressed,
To make us work has done his best.
Thus every day in Study Hall
He holds dominion over all,
It may be true what teachers say
But something tells me that one day
They were all kids and did the same
So I don't think we're much to blame.

Hays T.—"Isn't it glorious to wake up early in the morning and hear the leaves whispering outside your window."

Hays M.—"It's all right to hear the leaves whisper but I can't stand to hear the grass mown."

An Indian in the Punjab writes in ink in Arabic a verse from the Koran on a grain of polished rice. The verse is written by the projected and polished finger nail of the writer and the Arabic characters are so beautifully traced that one may read them with the naked eye. The Waldes Museum in Prague is a button museum founded by a Bohemian button manufacture. It is devoted to a collection of dressfastening devices of all kinds and of all periods.

Northwestern University wants "he men" and not "she men" according to the president of the athletic association. Men and girls will not be permitted to sit together at future basketball games, because the fellows pay no attention to the sport. Students who escort their young women friends to a basketball game will be "bawled out" by cheer leaders with megaphones.

An electric motor will soon replace the bell ringers of Notre Dame the famous Paris cathedral. Because of the high wages demanded by the ringer it has been decided to introduce modern appliances. The last of a long line of head ringers, who from father to son for generations carried on the work is compiling a written manual for the guidance in the future of the electrical ringing of the bells.
