Football Camp Assured.

Through the efforts of Dr. Eisenhart, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, and the Bowling Green Rotary Club, the football management has been able to arrange for a two weeks training camp to be held at Camp Davis on Drake's Creek. The camp will start on August 20th and will continue for two weeks. This will require those who attend to miss the first week of school but as there are usually several days off for the County Fair during that week, they will miss nothing but registration and that will be arranged for later.

As this camp will be under the supervision of a man who knows football, there is no doubt but what our boys will learn a great deal that they would otherwise miss. This two weeks will also put the men in good physical shape so that they will be able to start things off with a hum.

It has not yet been decided who will coach the squad next year but several applications have been received that are attracting a great deal of attention. The coach will be connected with the faculty and will have as full authority as any member of that body.

Athletics

Ogden 4 Morton Elliott 6

The Ogden varsity baseball team has won one game and lost one. The second game of the season went to wrong side of the ledger, because of the brilliant playing of Curry, Morton Elliott's sterling second baseman. It seemed as if he were the whole team, as he played 1st, second and right field and anything else that he thought someone else could not do. The game was very close, but Morton Elliott played just a little better brand of baseball.

Evans was the star for Ogden. He played a fine game.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
M. E.	1	1	0	0	3	0	0	1	0
Ogden	1	0	0	0	0	0	3	0	0

It is hoped that in the near future we may play this team on the Ogden diamond.

To date six football games have been closed. The other four games are pending and will probably be closed very soon. The schedule will be announced in the near future. The orders for next years football togs will be let within a few days. This year for the first time Ogden will have a football camp. We secured this through the aid of Dr. Eisenhart. The camp will start on next August 20th, 1923. Every one that is thinking of going out for the team must be sure to keep this date open.

History of Ogden

Ogden College, founded in 1877, in Bowling Green, Kentucky, has the remarkable record of having trained a large number of outstanding men of state and national reputation, considering the size of the institution.

Walker D. Hines, who succeeded William G. McAdoo, as director-general of railroads in the United States, is perhaps the first Ogden graduate in degree of national prominence. Julian Potter, head of the Coal and Iron National Bank of New York City, and Kelly Graham, vice-president of the Irving National Bank, also of New York are the two former students who have distinguished themselves along banking lines. Max B. Nahm, former president of the Kentucky Banker's Association, Thomas W. Thomas former president of the Kentucky Bar Association and R. C. P. Thomas, now Regent of the college, and former Chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board are Ogden alumni, with many other scattered throughout the United States.

Due to the activities of its former students and graduates, Ogden College is receiving state and national attention usually given only to colleges much larger in size and scope. Limited in its curriculum because of its small size, its purpose is to thoroughly give the students the fundamentals leading to

Editorial

This edition is respectfully dedicated to the men who have made this paper possible. We all know the only reason any of the advertisers bought ads was so that we could have a paper to experiment on.

We may not look or act as though we appreciate it, but we really do. We hope that you are not thinking that we are wasting your money and our time on this project. Really we are getting a world of practical experience. And every one of you know that experience is one thing that comes rather high. But the way we figure it is that it is worth every thing that it cost the man that gets it. And once you have had experience, it will never desert you. It will be a lasting benefit to you for the rest of your life.

The reason of this little statement of facts is that in the future we, the staff of the Cardinal, expect to benefit by the experience you have given us. We hope in the future to be able to put out a paper of real merit. We know this one is not all that it could be. We are also aware of the fact that it is our own fault, as you made it possible. But we are not satisfied with it. And, although I have never heard any of you kick on it, I am reasonably sure it is not what you expected or rather would like to see.

Now this is our plea. You have stuck by us so far, just hang with us for the rest of this year and back us next year, and we may be able to surprise you just a little.

I am not at liberty to give out any definite facts in the case, but it is reasonably sure that the next year's Cardinal will not be the same paper or rather the same class of paper that we now have.

For one thing we will have more students next year. Another, we will have a large circulation. This we hope will give us a larger paper.

How to Kill a School Paper

Do not pay your subscription. Just let it run along.

Never hand in news items, and be sure to criticize everything in the paper.

If you are a member of the staff, go to a baseball game or the show, and get your stuff in late.

Tell your neighbor that you can get more news for less money.

Look up the advertisers—and trade with the other fellow.

Find fault with honest effort.

Major Ogden Founder

Ogden College owes its foundation to Maj. Robt. W. Ogden who, by will dated December 7, 1870, bequeathed the sum of $50,000 for the establishment of a school in Bowling Green, Kentucky bearing his name. His will also provided that the residuum of the estate, should go the College, and the sum thus received should be invested, "the interest accruing thereon to form a fund out of which to pay as far as it will go, the tuition fees of any of the young men of Warren county or the State of Kentucky who may wish to avail themselves of this fund and desire to be educated at the College."

Major Ogden was born in London county, Virginia in 1796, coming to Kentucky with a group of friends, when he was 17 years old. This party settled in and around Bowling Green.

Maj. Ogden lived on a modest little farm known as Walnut Grove, where he bred race horses. By careful saving he was able to import from Virginia a couple of blooded saddle horses, and starting with them he helped to make Bowling Green the center of the saddle horse market of o'd Kentucky.

Major Ogden died in November, 1873. Judge William V. Loving, and his son

In September, 1874, Hector V. Loving, the only one of the executors to accept the trust, selected as the first Board of Trustees for the College, the following men: Judge Robert Rodes, Hon. Henry T. Clark, Judge H. K. Thomas, Col. W. E. Hobson and Hon. D. W. Wright. Judge Rodes was elected President of the Board and Mr. Wright was appointed Secretary and Treasurer.

Wightman First President

The Board chose as the first President of the College, the Rev. J. W. Wightman, who was elected July 6, 1877, and the college was organized and opened to the students in September of the same year. Its charter granted by the Legislature, and conferring full collegiate powers and privileges, bears the date of March 9, 1878.

Dr. Wightman served as president of the institution until 1883, when he was succeeded by Major W. A. Obenchain, who occupied the position until June,

The present College Corporation follows: R. C. P. Thomas, Regent; Board of Trustees, W. D. McElroy, Max B. Nahm, John B. Rodes.

In 1878 Ogden College became the residuary legatee of Major John E. Robinson, of Bowling Green. This bequest amounted to $25,000 and was given for the endowment of a Chair of Natural Science, styled, in accordance with the terms of the will, "the John E. Robinson chair of Natural Science".

Has Charming Site

The location of the College is one of the most desirable of the many charming sites found in Bowling Green. Its campus contains over seven acres of ground, and is beautified by rare shrubbery and many varieties of trees. Its elevation affords a view of the city below and of field and forest for miles around, and insures the purity of air and the dignified tranquility that should surround every college.

Gives Free Instruction

Since its organization in 1877, Ogden College has given instruction practically free of charge, to more than fifteen hundred young men and has enabled many of them to rise to positions of usefulness and influence which, except for this aid, they could never have attained. Its graduates who have continued their studies at higher institutions of learning, or pursued courses at professional schools, have, as a rule acquitted themselves with honor. Many of the graduates have distinguished themselves in the learned professions and as officers in the United States Army and Navy, and a large number of its former students are now holding positions of honor and trust.

'Shorty' Gets Severe Dose

Robert Ennis Harris, better known as "Shorty" felt the full power of the law in the Ogden Circuit Court recently when he was found guilty of the slander charge preferred against him by the Ogden Literary Society on complaint of Claude Kinslow. The case created a great deal of interest and the courtroom was filled to capacity.

The prosecution, represented by the firm Chandler, Mansfield and McCandless, handled their case like veterans and the defense represented by the law firms of Lashmit and Temple and Amos and Logan were also well prepared.

The principal plea of the defense was that the defendant was mentally unbalanced and their star witness, Doctor Murray, of Upton, Kentucky, did much to convince the jury of this well known fact. However, the jury which was one of the best looking on record, were evidently influenced a great deal by the fiery address of attorney Mansfield and they speedily returned with a verdict of guilty. The sentence was one of the stiffest on record as Mr. Harris was sentenced to confinement in the prep study hall for a period of two weeks, to complete isolation from the girls the same period and to be able to repeat Poe's 'Raven' by the end of the fortnight.

A. A. Banquet

Great Success

As usual, the Athletic Banquet was a great success, but it may be safely said that the one that was held at the 'Y' last week was far above the average. Covers were laid for fifty-three and the crowd represented the backbone of Ogden athletics besides the best friends of this branch of the College.

The principal speakers were Coach Helm, Lucius Squiers, Mr. Henry Funk, Professor Lee and Regent R. C. P. Thomas. These gentlemen spoke on entirely different subject but the main theme they conveyed was "Progress." Toastmaster Hill then called upon a number of the students for extemporaneous talks and they also carried out the idea of the former speakers. Clean athletics was another subject that was taken up. However, this question is receiving a great deal more action than discussion at the present time.

The only business that was considered was the election of football and basketball captains for next year. J. Smith was chosen to lead the football squad while Paul McGinley was elected to lead the netmen. These gentlemen are both capable of filling these positions and they will be hard to beat. The student body is unusually pleased with these selections as both men are very popular.

The Ogden Trees

Our campus trees statuesque and still,
 With searching roots gripped fast to
 bedded rocks,
 They meet the season's change, the
 tempest's shocks.
 Untempted and serene they serve God's will.
 Dark, whispering ghosts in night and
 winter chill;
 Their vibrant life-imbibing summer
 frocks
 The moon makes magical; and endless
 flocks
 Of bird and bug and beast they house
 and fill.
 Envoys of God, His noblest agents here;
 Our race's nurse; importers from the skies:
 How this fair world were desolate and
 sere
 Without the trees, transplants from Paradise!
 Our guides, philosophers, treasured
 friends are they,
 Who greet, exhort and serve us every day.

—F. A. Hilary.

School News

Everything is O. K. so far at Ogden. Our distinguished visitor, Mr. Satterfield, has not been up to see us yet for his weekly visit. Someone said that he had been detained at the city of Bristow for few a days. This adequately explains non appearance.

An unusual accident occurred last week. It was so unusual that the gossips of the school think that it was not an accident. Our local Strongfort, Mr. Schade, pushed the stove over. The confusion was great. It cost the unfortunate lad who had to pay "Bill" the sum of twenty five cents to restore the chapel to its usual appearance.

It would appear that the crime wave that has been sweeping the country has not missed Ogden. Now there is a trial in the Prep department. Mr. Walter Schade has been making grades that were so uniformly good that suspicion has been aroused. So at the next meeting of the Prep Literary Society he will be tried for the offence. It is also rumored that Prof. Ayres is to be the chief witness for the prosecution.

Jokes

If you can't laugh at the jokes of this age laugh at the age of these jokes.

Coleman (in the midst of a big discussion) "Well if New Orleans is west of Florida, how can it be east of the Mississippi?"

Amos. "What is the 'Skin you love to touch'?"

Harris. "Sheep-skin you poor dumb"

Lashmit, in despair, "What a boy you are for asking questions, I would like to know what would have happened if I had asked my teacher so many questions."

Galloway, "Maybe you could have answered some of mine, then."

Prof. Palmer, "When I return I want to see you all at work."
 (But he came back before the miracle could be preformed.)

Old Lady- "Here's a penny for you."

Templeton- "I'll match you to see whether you make it a nickle or keep it.

Kinslow- "Generally speaking, girls are——"

Chandler- "Girls are what?"

Kinslow- "Generally speaking"

Peete- "What do you work at?"

Bray- "At intervals."

Williams- "I see you graduated from a barber college. What's your yell?"

Grad.- "Cut his lips, cut his jaw, leave his face raw, raw, raw."
