BIBLIOGRAPHIC RECORD

SC LAWLESS, William E., 1862
3609 1843?-1924

Letters, 13 and 31 August 1862, of William E. Lawless, Springfield, Illinois, written while serving with the 7th Illinois Infantry encamped near Corinth, Mississippi. Sending his pay to his correspondent, he instructs him on the settlement of certain debts and complains about the lack of letters from home. His second letter describes the supply of fruit from local citizens and expresses satisfaction with his pay and training as a drummer. Concerned about the destruction of railroad tracks by guerrillas, he nevertheless resolves to send his pay home rather than risk spending it on "trash." He also comments on two contemporaries, his correspondent's son and son-in-law, who have stayed home rather than enlist.
