COLLECTION NOTE

This collection consists of an inventory of historic and cultural resources in Warren County, Kentucky situated in the vicinity of US Highway 31W. Each folder concerns a particular property, or in some cases a historic district. The folders contain an inventory form with basic data prepared in 2000, and photographs, also made in 2000. Note that additional images may be in digital form and located on compact discs (Folders 2-11); these can be referenced by using the roll number found on the reverse of the print photographs in the folders. The compact discs also include images of historical markers (Folder 2); houses in the West Cedar Street Historic District of Franklin (Simpson County), Kentucky (Folder 11); and structures in the Dripping Spring/Rocky Hill area of Edmonson County, Kentucky (Folder 5), and in Robertson and Sumner counties in Tennessee (Folder 2).

In addition to the 2000-era material, other supporting documentation may be contained in the folders. This includes brochures; business cards; National Register nomination forms; earlier Kentucky Historic Resource Inventory forms, most commonly completed in 1978 and 1996 through the Kentucky Heritage Council; and copies of other research, usually from Irene Moss Sumpter's book Our Heritage: An Album of Early Warren County, Kentucky Landmarks (1976).
