SENTINEL ECHO
London, Kentucky

Bowling Green, Kentucky, April 26, 1948--Miss Anna Jo Cooke and Miss Betty Jo Cooke, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Cooke, Main Street, were chosen as campus favorites at Western Kentucky State College Friday night during the annual Talisman Ball held in the Western gymnasium.

The twin cheerleaders were selected by the entire student body at the college during class meetings held a month prior to the dance which is the outstanding social event at Western during the Spring term. The selections were made by secret vote and the winning candidates were not announced until the coronation ceremonies Friday night when the Talisman King and Queen were crowned and other class representatives announced.

Four other girls were chosen from the entire student body as campus favorites along with the Cooke twins to serve as ladies-in-waiting.

Each year in the spring the Talisman Ball is held at Western during which time the class representatives, the Talisman King and Queen, and the person to whom the Talisman is dedicated are announced. The Talisman is the year book published each year at Western giving the year in review at the college and picturing the outstanding students.

This year the Talisman was dedicated to L. T. Smith, head of the Industrial Arts department at Western.

Dee Gibson was crowned the king and Miss Betty Topmiller reigned as his queen.
